

IDAHO FAVORED TO MAKE 'MOORE' HISTORY

Idaho is the 5-2 favorite for the Canadian Int'l | WEG/M Burns

Sunday's GI Pattison Canadian International S. at Woodbine will certainly live up to its moniker, as four talented runners from abroad are on site to challenge five North American-based horses for the lion's share of the C$1-million purse.

Michael Tabor, Derrick Smith and Mrs. John Magnier's Idaho (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) was made the 5-2 morning-line favorite to become the first sophomore to beat his elders since Joshua Tree (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) for the same connections in 2010. A victory by Idaho, who most recently dislodged Seamie Heffernan at the three-furlong mark when favored at 2-3 in the G1 Ladbrokes St Leger Sept. 10, would give jockey Ryan Moore a remarkable fourth straight success in the International, but first for trainer Aidan O'Brien. Sir Michael Stoute has sent out the last two winners of the International in Hillstar (GB) (Danehill Dancer {Ire}) and Cannock Chase (Lemon Drop Kid) in 2014 and 2015, and will be represented by The Queen's Dartmouth (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}).

Four of the five remaining entrants exit the Sept. 17 GI Northern Dancer S., a farcically run affair won by The Pizza Man (English Channel) in a blanket finish from Wake Forest (Ger) (Sir Percy {GB}) and World Approval (Northern Afleet). Fifth that afternoon was Danish Dynaformer (Dynaformer), who was inconvenienced by the slow pace that afternoon, but looks up against it yet again in what looms a sit-sprint International.

VANCOUVER TO REVERSE SHUTTLE TO U.S.

'TDN Rising Star' Vancouver (Aus) (Medaglia d'Oro), who completed a perfect 2-year-old preparation with a smooth victory in the 2015 G1 Golden Slipper S., will reverse shuttle from Coolmore Australia to the farm's Ashford Stud in Versailles, Kentucky, for the 2017 breeding season.

"I saw Vancouver in Australia last week and he's an exceptionally good-looking individual who should sire both racehorses and sales horses," said Ashford manager Dermot Ryan. "I think U.S. breeders will be very impressed when they see him. He's by a very good sire in Medaglia d'Oro and is proving extremely fertile with nearly 50 mares already scanned in foal. Our sire sensation Uncle Mo was also an unbeaten champion juvenile at two, as was Shanghai Bobby whose first yearlings were very well received this fall and who Vancouver very much reminds me of. It all bodes very well for the future."

Victorious in the Listed Thoroughbred Breeders Plate on career debut, Vancouver added the G3 Canonbury S. at second asking, then broke the Rosehill juvenile track record in the G2 Todman S., stopping the timer in 1:08.83 for the 1200 meters. The 3-2 favorite for the Slipper while backing up on just two weeks' rest, Vancouver was taken on from both sides in the final furlong and a half, but proved 3/4 of a length too good in the finish (video).

Owned by Chuck Zacney's Cash Is King LLC, the Maryland-bred Cathryn Sophia recorded her first breeze since the Cotillion effort Wednesday, covering a half-mile in :47.46 (2/14), but the move was not enough to sway trainer John Servis.

"Her white blood count was a little high after the Cotillion," the conditioner commented. "I watched her very closely after the race and actually she recovered from that remarkably fast. I gave her a little work [Wednesday] which I thought was solid, but I really wanted to see spectacular. Horses of this quality are a rarity and you have to take care of them. Her Oaks win was the kind of performance you never forget as a trainer. It is a great feeling to see her end the year healthy and happy."

Added Zacney: "What a ride this has been, I mean she has won six of nine races for us by over 50 lengths. We have been so blessed in the horse business with Afleet Alex and now Cathryn Sophia. "

Prior to her sensational score beneath the Twin Spires, Cathryn Sophia romped in the GII Forward Gal S. and the GII Davona Dale S. and was third in the GI Ashland S. She also rounded out the trifecta in the GI Acorn S. and has current earnings of $1,229,720.

Cathryn Sophia is consigned by Taylor Made Sales Agency as hip 113 to the upcoming Fasig-Tipton November Mixed Sale in Lexington.

DI PIETRO HOPES TO BE DANCING AT FASIG

by Jessica Martini

When Dancing Rags (Union Rags) crossed the finish line first in the Oct. 7 GI Darley Alcibiades S., she not only gave Maryland breeder David DiPietro his first Grade I winner, but also provided a timely update for her Tiznow half-brother who will sell at the upcoming Fasig-Tipton October Fall Yearlings Sale in Lexington.

"It was very exciting--I've bred a couple of stakes winners, but this was my first Grade I winner," DiPietro said, before admitting he was forced to celebrate the career highlight completely on his own.

Dancing Rags | Coady Photography

"I was at my business school reunion in New Hampshire, I was by myself and I flipped on TVG just in time to watch the race," he laughed. "I was with a whole group of people later who had no idea about horse racing at all, so I had absolutely zero people to talk to about it with until I got back to Maryland on Sunday. But it was a thrill nonetheless."

DiPietro, a former senior executive of Deutsche Bank and former president of the investment banking firm Signal Hill, followed racing from a young age before partnering with fellow racing enthusiast George Bolton on his first racehorse.

"I always had an interest in it as a kid," DiPietro said. "I grew up in Maryland and would go to the Preakness every year. My aunt worked at Pimlico part time as an accountant, so I would follow it and watch the big races on television. Then when I was in my business career, I got connected to George Bolton, who was a good friend and a co-worker, and I really got into the business with him. I bought a yearling with him at Saratoga and I've been at it ever since--a lot of times with him and more recently I've done a fair amount on my own."

A member of the board of Maryland Horse Breeders Association and a former president of the Maryland Million Ltd., DiPietro currently has five broodmares--two based in Kentucky and three in Maryland.

David DiPietro

"I'll keep a couple of horses in training in Maryland and I have one horse in training in Kentucky," DiPietro explained. "But the primary focus for me is really to breed and to sell."

Even the horse in training in Kentucky was bought with an eye towards a future broodmare career.

"I actually bought her as a broodmare prospect as a yearling just because I really liked her," he said. "I work pretty closely with [bloodstock agent] Larkin Armstrong and we were talking about it and decided we would take that approach for this one and so she is in training, but was really purchased with the idea of having her be a broodmare at some point down the road."

It was Armstrong's name on the ticket when DiPietro purchased Dancing Rags's dam Home Court (Storm Cat) for $110,000 at the 2012 Keeneland November sale. The then-11-year-old mare, who had sold for $1.4 million at the 2005 Keeneland November sale, was in foal to Lookin at Lucky at the time and the two men saw nothing but upside in the purchase.

Graded stakes placed on the track, Home Court is a daughter of champion Jewel Princess (Key to the Mint). Just months before the November sale, her Tapit yearling sold for $300,000 at the Keeneland September sale. That colt went on to be 2014 GII Amsterdam S. winner and GI King's Bishop third-place finisher Coup de Grace. Cont. p6

“I’m not a swing-for-the-fences kind of player in this business, I try to be pragmatic,” DiPietro explained. “Home Court was an incredibly well-bred mare who had sold off-the-track for $1.4 million. She had been bred to some very good stallions, for sure, and without any really big horses coming out of that. So I think people grew a little leery of her. She was in foal to Lookin at Lucky and we just felt like if we could get her for that price and in foal to a first-year stallion who might be popular, that we would have pretty limited downside. We both loved the pedigree and her yearlings had all sold really well, so we were pretty confident that we would probably do reasonably well with her without any huge expectations. It was just a really good value at the time and we loved the pedigree and she was a nice-looking mare who threw nice-looking foals.”

The decision to send Home Court to GI Belmont S. winner Union Rags was based largely on their physical match-ups.

“The one thing about Home Court, with the matings we were, and still always are, trying to put a little more leg onto her,” DiPietro commented.

“She is a little shorter and so we thought Union Rags fit that bill nicely. We tried to breed her back to Will Take Charge last year and we loved the physical match there. And then we went to Tiznow for some of the same reasons--an established sire who might throw a good physical. That was sort of the thinking in terms of the physical match and Larkin has been great at keeping his eyes out for horses that suit her.”

Dancing Rags sold for $80,000 at last year’s Keeneland September sale before bringing $210,000 from Chadds Ford Stable at this year’s OBS March sale.

“There were a lot of Union Ragses in the Keeneland catalogue last year and I would say that I think our strategy was sound, but she ended up not being as big as a lot of the other Union Ragses,” DiPietro recalled. “He didn’t really stamp himself as much on her as he did on some of the other horses in the sale and I think we suffered a little bit as a consequence.

She was a beautiful filly, very well put-together, but being in the first book, I think the bar is so high and there were so many other ones to choose from, that despite Coup de Grace’s success, we thought we would do really well, but I think maybe she wasn’t exactly the physical type that the buyers were looking for, particularly relative to other Union Ragses that were available. Cont. p7

LANE'S END

He added, “I was a little bit disappointed at what she brought, but I had made up my mind to let her go and hopefully she would end up in good hands where she would help the mare out.”

Dancing Rags had made only one start for Chadds Ford and trainer Graham Motion, a third-place finish in an Aug. 5 Laurel maiden, when her yearling half-brother by Tiznow made his first appearance in the sales ring at last month’s Keeneland September sale. The youngster was led out unsold at $70,000.

“I think we were all—one of the people involved used the word speechless—at what happened when he went in the ring [at Keeneland],” DiPietro admitted. “There was so much pre-sale interest and activity and vet work and re-looks, so we thought we were in pretty good shape and well, well north of what happened in the ring. I wasn’t there, but it seemed like the sale started off kind of funny—it seemed to get stronger as it went on. So I think it was one of those things where we just fell through the cracks because there were no specific knocks on the horse. He’s a big, flashy, strapping colt who vets really well. The buyers on that day were maybe looking for something different and we didn’t want to let him go.”

The yearling will return to the sales ring on the third and final day of the Fasig October sale, which runs from Oct. 24 through 26, as hip 1237 through the Lane’s End consignment.

“I wasn’t interested in selling him for that price [at Keeneland], but hopefully now he’ll get a little more attention and there really isn’t much to knock him for,” DiPietro said. “I’m hoping he’ll get a lot more interest, particularly with the update.”

As a native Marylander, DiPietro has plenty to be excited about as the state continues its racing renaissance.

“We are very excited down here,” he confirmed. “We went through a lot of tough years and we lost a lot of momentum, but the numbers have started to turn up and some nice new stallions have come into the state. The owner and breeder program, which really rivals the best programs out there right now, has made a significant difference. It’s been very lucrative to the active breeders.”

He continued, “And of course, our purse structure has improved and it’s attracted quite a bit of interest from trainers outside of the state, so the racing has gotten meaningfully more competitive. Being as close as we are to Fair Hill [Training Center], we are getting a lot of entries from a number of great trainers who are based there. So I actually think with these maiden races down here at $40,000 plus a very good bonus program, breaking your maiden at Laurel is actually quite good because the competition is pretty stiff. Dancing Rags may have been one of only a handful of horses who were Maryland-bred in her maiden race, so there are quite a bit of people shipping in and running here.

The other thing that has been great is the facilities that the owners have started to pump a lot of money into, particularly Laurel and hopefully Pimlico down the road. So it has made it a more pleasant experience to go the races. I hope it lasts. Things can be pretty volatile in this business, but I think for now, we are trying to capitalize on it and sustain it for as far into the future as we can.”

A ROYAL INVASION AT WOODBINE

by Michael Adolphson

The Crown is advancing on North American soil for the first time in centuries--except this time the United Kingdom's current monarch, Her Royal Highness Queen Elizabeth II, will simply be sending a pair of talented thoroughbreds to do battle for her in a pair of Grade I events that top a smashing Sunday card at Woodbine in greater Toronto.

Practicing a bit of sovereign privilege over a former realm, Her Majesty stands an outstanding chance to have her iconic royal purple-and-scarlet silks in the winner's enclosure after both races.

"I find it actually nice to have horses [running for The Queen] and I'm very proud to represent her," said Kerry Jones, assistant to trainer Sir Michael Stoute. "There can be pressure, but we train the horses the same and you try to put it in the back of your mind. [The Queen] is a great ambassador for the sport and she knows her horses. We treat them like any other owner's horses, but sometimes at the end of the day we do kind of think 'Oh, please win for The Queen', of course.

"I wouldn't say we are over-confident, but we are not here to sightsee, especially for an owner like The Queen," Jones continued. "We're here to race. [Stoute] knows what type of horse he wants to bring out here and we've made stepping stones to these races."

Dartmouth | WEG/Michael Burns

Two Stoute-trained offspring of top international sire Dubawi (Ire) will don those colors on Sunday, including Dartmouth (GB), a Darley-bred who will likely be one of the favorites in the featured C$1-million International over 12 grassy furlongs. Impressive when out-gritting one of the top turf horses in the world, Highland Reel (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), in the G2 Hardwicke S. at Royal Ascot, the bay 4-year-old was a late-running third in the G1 King George & Queen Elizabeth S. over the same trip behind that rival in late July. Pointed toward the International since, he prepped with a game second in the G3 Legacy Cup at Newbury Sept. 17 over tiring ground.

"Dartmouth was a little more boisterous out of the box after shipping," Jones said. "He being a 4-year-old colt took the trip a little better and just wants to get on with it and do his job. He just looks so well. We knew he had a little bit to work on and needed the Newbury run. After Ascot we gave him a little break and put some condition on him. The [Newbury] ground was very soft and we were so pleased with how he ran. By the looks of it, he has come on tremendously well.

"He also will love this faster ground," she continued. "Many of the Dubawi's need firmer ground to do their best running and that's one of the reasons we are here. As far as the trip, he can sit anywhere and you can honestly do anything with him. He can sit behind and that suits him just fine. He's very straightforward and not one to sit on the bridled. He will settle right off it and let the rider put him where they need to. Fingers crossed."

A victory by Dartmouth would give Stoute his fourth victory in the International, making him the winningest conditioner in the race's storied history. His victories include the previous two years with Cannock Chase (Lemon Drop Kid) and Hillstar (GB) (Daneshill Dancer {Ire}), as well as 1996 with the exceptionally versatile Singspiel (Ire) (In the Wings {GB}). It may worthy to note that the last time that the race was three weeks out from the GI Breeders' Cup Turf and won by a Stoute trainee, said pupil [Singspiel] wheeled back to run a bang-up second over the track in America's richest grass event--a race in which he is the second-winningest trainer.

Diploma (GB), a 3-year-old Royal homebred, heads to the C$500,000 GI E. P. Taylor S. over 10 furlongs as an improving type who also seeks firmer ground, not too dissimilar from the way subsequent champion and Stoute trainee Dank (GB) (Dansili {GB}) was prior to shipping to North America to claim victories in the GI Beverly D. S. and GI Breeders' Cup Filly & Mare Turf in 2013. Cont. p9

Very close to Jones' heart, the listed winner has blossomed under her care as head lass to the filly and will try to improve upon an unplaced effort as the favorite in the G3 Strensall S. at York against older males Aug. 20.

"She is special, especially with being The Queen's homebred," Jones explained. "She has been a little more subdued since arriving than [Dartmouth], but that isn't unexpected. We've been trying to step her up [in class], but the ground has been a factor. She lost position in the race against colts and that hurt her, but we are here because she's capable of going into Group 1 company. We would have done this at home, if not for the ground.

"We'd like her to be properly on the pace a bit," she continued. "She enjoys it there and if you drag her back, she can get a little bit disappointed. We would like to see her more involved, in third or fourth, and then see what happens. She has the talent, so hopefully she runs her race."

It may only be fitting that one or both of The Queen's first horses to compete at Woodbine prove victorious at the venue that hosts its marquee event, the Queen's Plate, every summer in her honor.

Before the Hammer

Presented by
KEENELAND

Before the Hammer is a series presented by Keeneland that will spotlight consignors, their stories of success and their featured offerings at the upcoming Keeneland November Breeding Stock Sale.

TAKING CHARGE OF THE FUTURE AT THREE CHIMNEYS

by Amanda Duckworth

Three Chimneys Farm has been in a transition period recently, and as a result, has made very specific selections when it comes to what it will offer at this year's Keeneland November Breeding Stock Sale. Many of their mares on offer come from a turf background, as the farm is moving toward more dirt-centric pedigrees.

"We looked at the mares that we have and took a lot of the grass ones and put them on offer because we want to have around 50 dirt pedigree families," said Case Clay, the farm's chief commercial officer.

The reason for this new direction is because Three Chimneys is looking toward the future at the type of stallions it wants to stand.

"In America, dirt stallions are what people want to breed to," said Clay. "That's not taking anything away from the great stallions in Kentucky that produce grass horses - we had Rahy and Dynaformer - but we really want to focus on the Will Take Charge-types that produce dirt horses.

"It is difficult to just go buy a stallion prospect, so we are going to try and play in every market. Maybe we can buy one off the track, maybe we can breed a dirt horse, and maybe we can buy a dirt yearling or weanling. The classics here in America are on dirt, so that's what we are going to try and produce. If we have grass in the family of the mares, it is harder to produce a dirt stallion."

Case Clay | Photos by Z

Among the mares in the Three Chimneys draft this year is Wild Wind (Ger) (hip 107) the Group 1-placed Danehill Dancer (Ire) mare comes with an impressive pedigree, as her third dam is champion and exceptional broodmare Miesque.

"She has it all in my opinion," said Clay. "She has the form, the family, and the produce to be a really exciting mare."

Three Chimneys acquired Wild Wind in France at the 2012 Arqana December Breeding Stock Sale for €1.175 million ($1.5 million) and is only offering her now because of its move toward dirt pedigrees. Other mares being offered include Grade I winner Summer Soiree (hip 75), who is by War Front, and the Grade III-winning Tapit mare Tapicat.

"It helps that this is an international sale because these are some international pedigrees," said Clay. "It should be a good market for these mares."

Like it has in the past, Three Chimneys will also be offering some high-profile weanlings. Amongst them is Summer Soiree's colt by Will Take Charge.

"It is a market play," said Clay.

"We were pleasantly surprised by the September market, and we feel like this might be a good time to sell a special weanling and the market would be receptive to it. The weanlings on offer are less grass related, and more market driven."

The yearling market has been a good one for the farm as well, as according to Clay, of the 20 yearlings to sell for $1 million or more at Keeneland in the last two years, five of them came from Three Chimneys.

"Three Chimneys has made a big change over the last few years in regards to ownership, and it shows that the market is receiving our product well," said Clay. "It's been rewarding in that regard. That stat was through three different consignors. We are working well breeding, raising, and selling horses the market is receptive to."

Clay's family owned Three Chimneys for decades before selling the majority of it to Goncalo Borges Torrealba in 2013. When it comes to the Keeneland November Sale, there is no doubt that Three Chimneys has certainly had its share of success both before and after the farm changed hands.

In 2004, the farm offered a multiple Grade I-winning mare, who as unlikely as it sounds, turned out to be a bargain when she was hammered down for $4.2 million.

Take Charge Lady wins the GI Ashland at Keeneland | Horsephotos

That mare, Take Charge Lady, won more than $2.4 million during her career. Many of her biggest victories came at Keeneland, where she pulled off the hat-trick of winning the Alcibiades S. (then a GII, now a GI), Ashland S. (GI), and Spinster S. (GI), the latter of which she won twice. When she entered the ring at the Keeneland November Sale, she was carrying her first foal.

The resulting foal, a filly named Charming, had a modest racing career but went on to produce the Eclipse Award-winning filly Take Charge Brandi. Take Charge Brandi sold for $6 million at Keeneland's 2015 November Breeding Stock Sale to be the highest-priced horse sold at public auction worldwide last year. Take Charge Lady, meanwhile, subsequently produced Grade 1 winners Take Charge Indy and Will Take Charge, the latter of which was named 2013 champion 3-year-old colt and now stands at Three Chimneys. Take Charge Lady was named Broodmare of the Year shortly thereafter.

"We consigned Take Charge Lady for Jerry Bach, and what she has gone on to do is pretty neat," said Clay. "You can sell a high-priced one and maybe they don't produce, but to be attached to her is special. She has gone on to do such great things, and having Will Take Charge on the farm as a young stallion now is wonderful."

Just one year before, Three Chimneys sold GI Breeders' Cup Distaff winner Spain for $5.3 million. Her weanling Storm Cat colt followed her into the ring, and he brought $2.4 million, which at the time was a record price for a weanling at the Keeneland November sale. Three Chimneys had consigned both the mare and her son on behalf of the late Prince Ahmed Salman's The Thoroughbred Corporation.

Another popular race mare, multiple Group I winner Life At Ten, was consigned by Three Chimneys at the 2011 November Sale, where she sold for $1.95 million.

Handling dispersals is one of Three Chimneys strong suits, and just last year, in addition to its normal offerings, Three Chimneys was entrusted with Regis Farms dispersal. Both of the farm's top lots came from that group of horses, and as it happens, they were both Tapit fillies-Royal Obsession, who brought $1.15 million, and Shook Up, who sold for $1.65 million.

"Last year's Regis dispersal was a big package of horses, and it went really well," said Clay. "We've had some good dispersals here for clients, and November has been a really good niche for us as consignors."

NY FOAL CROP HOLDING STEADY

By Mike Kane

New York's 2016 foal crop will exceed 1,600 for the third straight year, according to statistics compiled by the New York State Breeding and Development Fund.

Tracy Egan

Tracy Egan, the Fund's executive director, said that her field team has recorded 1,614 foals that were dropped in New York and qualify for the state's incentive programs. That figure is just short of the 1,629 foals that the fund recognized in 2015. Egan said that late registrations might push the final figure beyond last year's total and a fifth straight season of growth.

Nevertheless, she said the up-to-date foal count shows that New York's program remains strong and vital.

"Since 2011, our foal crop has increased about 35%," Egan said. "It's another good year."

The Breeding and Development Fund's annual report for 2015 shows that the state's foal crop plummeted during the world-wide economic depression that began in 2008 and reached a nadir of 1,225 in 2011. The recovery coincided with the overall improvement of the economy and the opening in late October 2011 of the Resorts World Casino with video lottery terminals (VLTs) at Aqueduct Racetrack operated by the New York Racing Association. By law, some revenue from the casino flows to New York's Thoroughbred racing and breeding industries. The Breeding and Development Fund, based in Schenectady, registers foals and bloodstock, administers the breeding and racing awards programs and promotes breeding in the state.

"The program doesn't exist in a vacuum," Egan said. "NYRA is offering excellent purses. Let's face it, the promise of the VLTs has been fulfilled because there is that money from the VLTs that NYRA is putting into purses so that New York-breds are running for really good purses, whether they are New York-sired or Kentucky-sired."

In its annual breeding statistics report issued by The Jockey Club in September, which shows where foals are conceived, New York's figure of 940 was down 3.59% from the 975 of 2015. Egan said that The Jockey Club number synchs with the fund's overall figure because typically, about 45% of New York's annual foal crop is produced by out-of-state stallions.

According to Egan, some of the pregnant mares bred in other states and sent to New York to foal New York-breds--the bulk of that group is from Kentucky--can stay in New York long enough to be bred to New York-based sires and establish residency. Egan said that there usually is an influx of pregnant mares purchased at the November bloodstock sales.

"What they are coming here for are the generous breeder awards and the fact that we have a lot of racing opportunities," she said. "In 2015, NYRA wrote 825 restricted races for New York-breds. We also have Finger Lakes Racetrack, which offers bountiful opportunities to race."

Egan said the fund is nearing the completion of a project that will make video of every stallion standing in New York available through an on-line link. The videos will also show picturesque scenics of the state's stud farms.

CASINO VOTE STRICKEN FROM ARKANSAS BALLOT

by T.D. Thornton

Opponents of an Arkansas ballot measure to legalize three new casinos by amending the state's constitution have won over the Supreme Court of Arkansas in their effort to have the question stricken from the Nov. 8 vote.

A state supreme court ruling issued Oct. 13 agreed with anti-casino petitioners that the title of Issue 5 was "legally insufficient" because one line in the measure includes a reference to accepting wagers on "sporting events," which the justices interpreted as a violation of federal law.

One of the petitioners in the suit was a group called Committee to Protect Arkansas' Values/Stop Casinos Now. According to the Arkansas Ethics Commission, a lead donor to that coalition was Oaklawn Park Racing & Gaming, which gave $59,500 through Aug. 30 to the anti-casino cause. The parent company of Southland Park Gaming and Racing, which formerly was a stand-alone greyhound track, gave $50,000.

Although both Oaklawn and Southland are legally allowed to conduct poker, blackjack, roulette, craps, and electronic gaming, the Arkansas Department of Finance and Administration considers neither a "casino." Rather, they are allowed to operate such forms of betting under 2005 "Games of Skill" legislation that is exclusive to the state's only two pari-mutuel venues.

In wiping the question off the statewide ballot, the concurring justices cited the federal Professional and Amateur Sports Protection Act, which, in their interpretation, prohibits Arkansas or any other state from legalizing sports betting.

Associate Justice Karen Baker wrote in the majority opinion that, "The ballot title does not inform the voters that the Amendment violates federal law...The voters are entitled to a ballot title that is honest, impartial, and intelligible and will give them a fair understanding of the issues presented...We conclude that the ballot title of the proposed Amendment is insufficient. It fails to convey to the voter the scope and import of the proposed measure.”

Because the election is only 3 1/2 weeks away, pro-casino sponsors have been given a shortened time frame of just five days to ask for a re-hearing on the matter.

Arkansas election officials have already been ordered to neither count nor certify any votes on the casino measure.

BASHA (c, 2, Uncle Mo--Lemonette {SP-Ger & MGSP-US, $217,852}, by Lemon Drop Kid) overcame traffic issues and flew home in the final furlong to get up at Gulfstream Park West and start his career two-for-two. A dominant victor first out Sept. 11 at Gulfstream, the $230,000 OBS March buy was crushed down to 1-10 in this spot and stalked from fifth early on before getting shuffled back to last after a quarter in :22.64. Moving through an inside seam on the top half of the turn, the dark bay floated five wide by the top of the stretch and closed relentlessly to reel in frontrunner Red Crescent (Overdriven) and score going away by 1 1/2 lengths. The winner's dam is responsible for a yearling filly by Candy Ride (Arg) named String Section and foaled a Street Sense filly this term before being bred back to Carpe Diem. Breaking alertly, the homebred pressed the pace in close range from third through a strong :21.85 quarter. Drawing on even terms three deep passing the five-sixteenths marker, Who's the Lady kicked clear at the furlong grounds and held sway late for a neck graduation over fast-closing Nothin But Trouble (Biondetti). BONDURANT (c, 3, War Front--Ivory Empress {GSP, $189,402}, by Seeking the Gold) graduated at second asking over course and distance last October and followed that up with a narrow allowance victory Nov. 20 at Churchill before going on the shelf for more than nine months. Resurfacing in a sprint Sept. 3 at Kentucky Downs, the homebred had a bit of a trip and rallied to be a close fifth. Backed down to 31-10 here from a 15-1 morning line quote, the bay broke a step slowly and dropped out to run last of 11 heading around the clubhouse turn. Beginning to advance three deep going into the far bend, Bondurant swung six wide at the top of the lane and kicked on strongly once switching leads in midstretch, sweeping to the front just outside the sixteenth marker en route to a two-length triumph.

Croninthebarbarian (Stroll) was up late for second. The winner's 2-year-old half-brother McCracken (Ghostzapper) scored on debut Oct. 2 at Churchill. Churchill Announces Horse Naming Contest:

Churchill Downs has launched a social media contest for the public to name the horse that the Churchill Downs Foundation is donating to the Mounted Patrol Unit of the Louisville Metro Police Department in partnership with the Louisville Metro Police Foundation. Contest details are available here.

The public may submit names for the horse on Churchill Downs' Facebook, Twitter and Instagram pages from now until Oct. 23, when five names will be selected. From Oct. 24 until midnight of Oct. 27, the public will be able to vote for their favorite of the five names. The winning name will be announced when the horse is officially presented to the Louisville Metro Police Department at Churchill Downs Racetrack on opening day of its Fall Meet Oct. 30.

“The contest is a fun way to involve the community in the work of the Churchill Downs Foundation and the Louisville Metro Police Foundation,” said Lauren DePaso, President of the Churchill Downs Foundation. “Once the contest is over, we hope everyone will know the horse’s name and say hello when they see him out on patrol in our community.”

BURKE REFLECTS ON RECENT SUCCESS

Trainer Karl Burke has built a reputation of turning inexpensive purchases into top-class runners | Racing Post

TDN Q&A by Chris McGrath

Quiet Reflection (GB) (Showcasing {GB}) seeks her third Group 1 prize of the season in the Qipco British Champions' Sprint at Ascot on Saturday. Only beaten twice in nine career starts, she is the latest bargain buy to consolidate a remarkable revival in the career of her trainer Karl Burke.

Suspended for 12 months in 2009--he admitted naivete over new rules, having talked horses with a banned former patron and business associate--Burke was obliged to hand over his licence to his wife Elaine.

Since the end of that ban, their historic Spigot Lodge stable in North Yorkshire has produced a Derby runner-up in Libertarian (GB) (New Approach {Ire}), a dual Group 1 winner in Odeliz (Ire) (Falco) and now an outstanding sprinter in Quiet Reflection. All were very cheaply bought--at 40,000gns, €22,000 and £44,000, respectively--and Burke has been busy at Tattersalls this week trying to unearth the next gem. Nonetheless, he took time out for a chat with TDN earlier this week.

MARES MAY HOLD SWAY IN CAULFIELD CUP

While only two mares have won the G1 BMW Caulfield Cup in the past 15 years, Saturday A$3-million staying contest could provide another with Ciaran Maher's G1 Victorian Oaks winner Jameka (Aus) (Myboycharlie {Ire}) the current favourite, while Darren Weir's multiple stakes winner Real Love (Aus) (Desert King {Ire}) looks to have conditions to suit for adding the prize to her already impressive record.

A winner two starts back in the G3 Naturalism S. at Caulfield, Jameka progressed to finish second to leading G1 Cox Plate contender Hartnell (GB) (Authorized {Ire}) in the G1 Turnbull S. next time out with a gap of over three lengths to Tally (Aus) (Street Cry {Ire}) in third. At seven runs of 2000 metres or further, the lightly raced mare has never finished further back than fourth, highlighted by Group 1 placings at every attempt.

TDN  Q & A

WITH KARL BURKE

TDN: How do you juggle your different tasks at this time of year, being so busy here at the sales even while preparing a Group 1 favourite for the weekend?

KB: Yes, it's a hectic time. I'm here at the sales now but we're driving back tonight to see Quiet Reflection work and then we'll be heading back in the morning. But for me this is the most important part of the job--so much so that it can get a bit frustrating when the phone doesn't stop ringing. I like to be totally focused here, I can get a bit blinkered. Obviously there are still horses at home with owners who need to know what's going on. But what I'm doing here is so very important. Because it doesn't matter how good a trainer you are, if you don't buy the right horses you're not going to have winners.

TDN: Well, you've obviously been buying the right horses, judging from this series of horses so outperforming their price tags. Would you say that upgrading the value of such horses has become the brand for your career rebuild?

KB: I'd always bought cheapish horses but always tried to sell most of them on. Over the last four or five years luckily we've been in financial position to keep a leg here, a half there, and it's worked out when we've sold them on. If anything, we've almost become a victim of our own success. Now a lot of owners are wanting us to keep a stake--and obviously that can soon add up to an awful lot. We've always got to keep trading some in. We bought a filly here last year for seven-grand and kept a half. She won first time out, and we got a really good deal from America. But that all goes straight back in: filling the holes left by the ones that don't make it, while hopefully leaving a little left over to re-invest in the structure of the business. Everything we've been able to do is on the back of the sale of horses. Just this year, another barn has gone up and we've also spent a quarter-million pounds converting some lads' accommodation. So yes, it's all a big investment. But we've a great lifestyle, we live well without having loads of money in the bank, and hopefully one day--when we wind down--we'll be able to reap the rewards. Cont. p3

TDN: In trying to keep that balance right, presumably there are times when it can all get a bit precarious?

KB: For sure. That's there all the time. But I try to be fairly strict. Every month I sit down and list everything we own, the percentage in each horse, and set a fire-sale value if I had to walk away quick. Even that valuation gets pretty frightening, as it adds up. But we've made it work for three or four years, and if we can make it work for another three or four we'll be alright.

TDN: You mention being a victim of your success. Is there an element of that also in being associated only with cheaper horses?

KB: Of course, the guys who are more established than us have the owner-breeders who can afford to go to the Galileos or Dubawis and the rest. Every trainer is trying to break into that level. But I'm very satisfied with what we've got, and it's just a matter of keeping it going and showing the kind of job we can do so that eventually, hopefully, we might be sent those well-bred Derby contenders.

TDN: It was a less obvious Derby type who got you rolling again, in 2013 runner-up Libertarian [albeit strictly Elaine still retained the licence then]. Is it right that you were only able to get your hands on him after he breezed "like a snake"!?

KB: Yes, he was bought here at the Breeze-Ups for £40,000 by Lars Kelp and myself and Hubert Strecker, who was the owner. We sold him [to Godolphin] for a bit more than that! It was a sad day to see him go, because he was a bit of a character. Obviously we all look at our own horses through rose-tinted spectacles, to a degree, but I do think that the Derby could have been run 10 different ways than the way it was and we'd have probably won nine. We just needed that strong pace. Typical Aidan [O'Brien]...Everybody thought they would go a fast pace to take on Dawn Approach (Ire) (New Approach {Ire}), and he did the opposite and went steady. It didn't suit us, and we were always three or four lengths farther back than ideal as a result. It wasn't anybody's fault. When the jockey wanted to go forward, he would have had to pull too wide. But it was still a great run. Godolphin were good enough to leave him with us for the Irish Derby but the ground was very quick and, hand on my heart, I'd say if Hubert still owned him I don't think he'd have gone there.

He was a little bit quirky at home and had shown signs that he'd had enough for the time being. I do think he might have won the St Leger for us [he finished fourth] but that intends no slight whatsoever on the Godolphin operation. I did say to Simon Crisford and John Ferguson at the time that I didn't think he was a Newmarket horse. He was quirky, as I say, and we'd got to the best side of him.

TDN: Quiet Reflection was another you found at the Breeze-Ups. It was the page that drew you to her first, wasn't it?

KB: Yes, I'd trained the granddam Clare Hills (Ire) (Orpen) to win the Hilary Needler and finish fourth in the Queen Mary when it was run at York. Probably at the time she was the best horse we'd had. So that attracted me, and then we'd had Toocoolforschool (Ire) (Showcasing {GB}) from the sire's first crop and won the Mill Reef with him. So I was keen to look through everything by Showcasing (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}), and when I saw that cross I was very interested. Yes, she breezed nicely enough, but it wasn't over-convincing and Tom Whitehead, who sold her, knew that he didn't have too many people on her. To be fair to Tom, he said he'd keep a leg if we bought her and that obviously helped. And the rest is history.

Karl Burke & Libertarian | Racing Post

TDN: Even given the changes in the sprint programme that have helped bring the 3-year-olds through, it is very rare to find such a consistent achiever in this discipline. How is she shaping up for Saturday?

KB: We have had a bit of coughing in the yard but I think we're through the worst and, touch wood, she hasn't been affected. Please God she runs the same race on Saturday as she has all year because if she does, she'll be the one they've got to beat. And if she does, it will be great credit to the team at home because we've kept her on the go all year. She was in work before Christmas, in fact, because we knew we had the G3 Prix Sigy at Chantilly in April as her starting point and didn't want to send her over there half-cooked. She had a short break after the July Cup, but that's all she's had. Third to Limato (Ire) (Tagula {Ire}) there was a great run on ground we know is plenty fast enough for her and, though I wouldn't have said she'd given any sign of reaching the end of her tether, Dougie [Costello, jockey] did say coming in that even going down he felt she wasn't quite herself, that she felt a little jaded.

So all credit to the filly, she's so tough she still went out there and ran her heart out. And that's what she is all about. If she's 95% on Saturday she'll try 110%. She's a beautiful filly to deal with, as kind as you'll ever get in the box, and just goes about her business the same every time, whatever you ask of her.

TDN: In his days as a jump jockey, Dougie can never have imagined that he would ever take a pull halfway through a Group 1 sprint, the way he did at Haydock. His role is a nice part of this story, isn't it?

KB: Yeah, it is. Dougie's a great guy and we were struggling for consistency with riders, especially with maidens and 2-year-olds coming though towards the better races, when Jim Crowley or Danny Tudhope would have to be jumping off to ride for their stables. That was getting frustrating and while Dougie wasn't the first we asked, he was the first to commit to the yard and it's worked out really well.

TDN: After Libertarian, Odeliz also made an important contribution to your rebuild, didn't she?

KB: We bought her as a yearling at Arqana October. She was huge, and I think that's why we got her so cheap because she was a lovely specimen otherwise. That kind of size will put a lot of people off. But we gave her a lot of time and she didn't run at two. Actually I did have her in the French Guineas through the winter. I remember our French travelling head lad sitting on her and saying, "This is all right, this will win a French claimer no problem." I didn't like to say that I'd just entered her in the French Guineas. We owned 50% of her and sold her to stay in the yard to Barbara Keller. That was a great deal for us--and turned out to be a fantastic one for Barbara as well. [Odeliz was sold privately after failing to reach her reserve at 950,000gns at Tattersalls last December.]

TDN: Not having been brought up in the game, how do you account for this priceless knack for spotting value prospects at the sales?

KB: The basics can be learned, but after that you have to develop your own feel. I can remember coming home with some tremendous mistakes when I first started.

There's nothing like putting your own money down and getting it wrong to sharpen you up next time. I was coming to the sales all the time even when I was riding, 30 years ago: I always loved the whole scene. Sometimes I think I'd rather be a bloodstock agent, because it's not a bad lifestyle. A lot of good judges say they just buy the horse [i.e. ignore the page] and that's fair enough, but I do love looking through the catalogue and when I see a cross I'll have a vision in my mind--whether it's going to look a speedy type, or whatever--even before I see the horse. Sometimes it doesn't work out but every now and then you'll come across an unusual cross and think to yourself: "Well, that might just work," And so you see the animal, though it doesn't look obvious on paper and a lot of people won't look at it. I do think that's quite often how we've pinched some.

TDN: Though clearly most unwelcome at the time, the way things have turned out can you see any benefits from your enforced career break?

KB: Definitely, in hindsight. After the initial shock of being banned, after those first few weeks I'd be lying if I said I didn't enjoy the rest of the year off, with all the traveling I did: Australia, Hong Kong, Singapore, Dubai. It was Elaine and the girls who bore the brunt of it, who had to keep the show on the road. For me, even just behind the wheel of the car I wasn't rushing any more, my whole perception changed, I wasn't cursing and tearing around. So when I started back training, I wasn't pushing the horses. I wasn't thinking: "Oh no, this race isn't filling, I've got to have a runner." Sometimes I notice myself slipping back a bit, but the break did make me better at sitting back a little. We'd got up to virtually 100 horses before, but certainly not to the same depth and quality we have now. When I got banned, within a month we were down to 25 to 30 horses and I'd say maybe 18 of them were ours. So all credit to the girls, as I say. They were determined to keep it going. They were able to keep the nucleus of staff on, as well--most of whom are still with us now. But if you said to me when the ban finished that I'd be in the position we are now, I'd have said there's no chance of that. And I think most other people would have said the same.

CHAMPION ATTRACTS 11; 2015 TRIFECTA DRAWN WIDEST

Saturday's G1 Qipco Champion S. has attracted a field of 11 following Thursday's declaration stage for this year's renewal of Ascot's 10-furlong contest. Last year's hero, Fascinating Rock (Ire) (Fastnet Rock {Aus})--who was forced out of his engagement in Chantilly's G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe earlier this month--has been allocated 10, while last year's second Found (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), who overcame a wide gate to claim Arc glory in her most recent go, is drawn widest of all. Her stablemate and G1 Epsom Derby runner-up US Army Ranger (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) is drawn in two, the pair seeking to provide Aidan O'Brien with a belated first win.

Fascinating Rock | Racing Post

Last term's third Jack Hobbs (GB) (Halling) bids to get back in the groove, having been pulled up in Newmarket's Apr. 30 G2 Jockey Club S. in his only subsequent start, and is alongside his old foes in nine. Almanzor (Fr) (Wootton Bassett {GB}), who annexed a stellar edition of last month's G1 Irish Champion S. in impressive fashion, bids to cement his position at the head of Europe's sophomores exiting the inside box.

LIMATO OUT OF CHAMPIONS SPRINT

This season's dual Group 1-winning sprinter Limato (Ire) (Tagula {Ire}) has been removed from Saturday's G1 Qipco British Champions Sprint S. at Ascot due to soft ground concerns. The 4-year-old will re-route to the GI Breeders' Cup Turf Sprint at Santa Anita Nov. 5.

"It's just the ground. He'll go to the Breeders' Cup now," confirmed trainer Henry Candy, who will still saddle Twilight Son (GB) (Kyllachy {GB}) in the 1200-metre contest, which also includes sprinting standouts like Quiet Reflection (GB) (Showcasing {GB}), Shalaa (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}) and Mecca's Angel (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}).

Limato | Scoop Dyga

Limato is the 2-1 favourite for the Breeders' Cup Turf Sprint coming off a win in the G1 Qatar Prix de la Foret Oct. 2. He also won this year's G1 Darley July Cup before finishing second to Mecca's Angel in the G1 Nunthorpe S.

BOOK THREE RECORD FOR KODIAC COLT

By Emma Berry

Smashing the record price for Book 3, Ballyhimikin Stud's smart son of Kodiak (Ire) (lot 1549) was the highlight of a buoyant first session of the sale, with Charlie Gordon-Watson out-trumping Richard Brown at 200,000gns.

Out of an unraced sister to the late Danetime (Ire) (Danehill), the late April colt represented a decent pinhooking success for James and Charlotte Hanly, who bought him at Goffs for €25,000.

"He's a beautiful colt who did really well. We just loved his pedigree, there's a lot of early speed and hopefully he'll be one for the Tattersalls sale race this time next year," said James Hanly.

"Edmond Mahony asked us to support this sale as Tattersalls put up a lot of money and make a big effort for that race, so we hand-picked this colt to come here. We wish the buyer lots of luck with him."

That buyer is as-yet unnamed, but Gordon-Watson confirmed that he is for a long-standing owner with Ed Dunlop. He added, "He's a very good-moving horse from a very good farm and he stood out a mile. Ed Dunlop will train him. We also bought Red Cadeaux at this sale--he cost 55,000gns and ended up winning £5-million."

With four horses sold for 271,000gns, Ballyhimikin Stud ended day one as leading vendor by average, while

Gordon-Watson was the leading buyer, with four bought for 339,000gns, including the National Stud's first-crop son of Havana Gold (GB)

Session-topping Kodiak colt | Tattersalls

(lot 1374) for 60,000gns on behalf of Chinese owner Dr Johnny Hon.

Despite the fact that 66 fewer horses were offered and 69 fewer sold than on the same day last year, turnover wasn't far short of last year's tally at 4,447,000gns (-2%), and both the average and median improved dramatically at 22,689gns (+32%) and 17,000gns (+26%). The clearance rate was down from 84% to 79%.

Equaling last year's top price and the only other six-figure lot of the day was a colt by Sir Percy (GB), who sold to trainer Dean Ivory for 115,000gns with Gordon-Watson this time forced to play underbidder. Lot 1514, a half-brother to one of Harbour Watch (Ire)'s first winners, Miss Sugars (GB), was bred by Chippenham Lodge Stud and offered for sale through the Castlebridge Consignment. He will replace another son of Sir Percy at Ivory's yard, as his 105-rated dual juvenile winner Twin Sails (GB) is heading towards the Horses-in-Training Sale later this month.

"My father found him and will take a share in him," said Ivory, whose father Ken was also a trainer. "He's a really good-topped colt by a solid sire who walks well. We're delighted with him." The colt's Australian-bred dam Three Sugars (Aus) (Starcraft {NZ}) is a winning daughter of GIII Natalma S. winner Hoh Dear (Ire) (Sri Pekan) from the family of GI Northern Dancer Turf S. winner Wigmore Hall (Ire) (High Chaparral {Ire}).

Kodiak was also responsible for another couple of the more expensive yearlings of the day, with Acorn Stud's colt out of listed winner Kindling (GB) (Dr Fong) (lot 1388) being the top selection for agent Jill Lamb at 75,000gns. Charlie Hills will train the colt for Julie Martin.

"We've been trying to buy all week and found things too strong, but we are delighted to have bought this colt. He looks strong, has a lot of quality and one we can get on with," said Lamb. "I've been associated with a couple of good Kodiak colts and this horse looks quite similar--let's hope he is as fast."

Four lots previously, Rathasker Stud's Kodiak filly (lot 1384) was claimed by Willie Browne for 70,000gns, having been bought in the same ring last December for 15,000gns by Maurice Burns and Peter Kelly.

"She looked like a real 2-year-old--a proper one for the sales race. A lot of people liked her and those ones are always easy to sell," said Burns.

The filly is the first foal of the 86-rated juvenile winner Katevan (Ire) (Heliostatic {Ire}), a daughter of the G3 Prix de Psyche-placed Lesgor (Irish River {Fr}).

Peter Kelly and Maurice Burns | Tattersalls

The Iffraaj (GB) yearlings sold well through Book 2 and one of his daughters became the co-top price for a filly in Book 3 after Darren Bunyan went to 70,000gns for lot 1448. The chestnut filly is out of a Bertolini unraced half-sister to former champion 2-year-old Seazun (Ire) (Zieten), winner of the G1 Cheveley Park Stud S.

The trainer said, "She is for the Straight For Victory syndicate, which has been lucky. She is a lovely filly, a stand-out for me today. She ticks all the boxes and has a great pedigree."

The members of the Straight To Victory syndicate enjoyed Group 3 success on The Curragh in August when Hit The Bid (GB) (Exceed And Excel {Aus}) won the Curragh S.

Few trainers would peruse the stock of Thewayyouare yearlings as keenly as Jamie Osborne, who trained the GI Breeders' Cup Classic runner-up Toast Of New York by the same sire, and he added another by him to his stable on Thursday.

Lot 1408, sold by Genesis Green Stud, is a half-brother to the G3 Round Tower S. winner and young stallion Cappella Sansevero (GB) (Showcasing {GB}) and was bought through agent Federico Barberini for 60,000gns.

Overbury Stud's Delegator has made an eye-catching start with his first runners this year--his current tally standing at seven winners from 20 runners, including G3 Firth Of Clyde S. winner Delectation (GB)--and a colt from his second crop (lot 1365) provided an early highlight during the first day of Book 3 when selling for 58,000gns to Richard Brown of Blandford Bloodstock. Shrewd pinhookers Peter Kavanagh and Michael Downey came up trumps again, having bought the son of the Pursuit Of Love (GB) mare Heartsease (GB) for just 5,500gns at the December Foal Sale.

"We thought Delegator was a little under the radar when we bought him," said Kavanagh, who consigned the colt through his Kildaragh Stud. "He was always a good racehorse in a vintage generation, and he's a good-looking horse who gets nice stock. We've supported him every year with a handful of mares. He's done well with his first runners and people are waking up to him now as he has a lovely pedigree. This colt had a lovely attitude and a great swing to him and plenty of people seemed to like him."

Brown, who couldn't name his client, agreed with the vendor's assessment, adding, "The stallion has had some decent winners from not many runners and he was a classy racehorse himself, finishing second to Sea The Stars (Ire) in the 2000 Guineas. He gets a good-looking horse and I really liked this colt."

Book 3 continues at 10am today and is followed directly by the 84-lot Book 4, which concludes the October Yearling Sale.

Subway Dancer, who graduated at Wissembourg in a low-grade May 1 maiden, ran second at Vichy Aug. 16 and at Fontainebleau Sept. 2, and arrived here off a conditions score going 10 furlongs at Compiègne Sept. 29. Sent to the front passing the judge first time and maintaining control thereafter, he was kicked into clear lead off the home turn and kept on relentlessly inside the final quarter-mile to deservedly register a career high.

2.50 Redcar, Mdn, £5,000, 2yo, 6ft

KHAMAARY (IRE) (Tamayuz {GB}) debuts in the Shadwell silks carried by her G1 Middle Park S. and G2 Mill Reef S.-winning half-brother Awzaan (GB) (Alhaarth {Ire}). Like that unbeaten juvenile of 2009, the homebred--who is also kin to three other black-type performers--represents the Mark Johnston stable.

FINAL SHOT

Friday's G2 Criterium de Maisons-Laffitte comes late in the season for the 2-year-old sprinters, but it offers the last chance for the category members to achieve something notable before the curtain comes down. It is a shame that the unbeaten G3 Firth of Clyde S. winner Delectation (GB) (Delegator {GB}) is a non-runner, but the representation from Britain remains typically strong as that country seeks a sixth renewal since 2005. Ibrahim Araci's Koropick (Ire) (Kodiac {Ire}) boasts the best form among them, having followed a second to The Last Lion (Ire) (Choisir {Aus}) in the G3 Sirenia S. over this trip on Kempton's Polytrack Sept. 3 with a fifth in the G1 Middle Park S. also at this distance three weeks later. Charlie

Sans Equivoque | Scoop Dyga

Fellowes sends Moonlit Show (GB) (Showcasing {GB}) into action on the back of her win in the Listed Blenheim S. at this trip at Fairyhouse Sept. 27 and he said, "She's in good form and has definitely come on for it. I've just put a pair of cheekpieces on, though. I just felt in the last half a furlong she was idling and pricking her ears. There's good and bad points to that. It's good because it tells me she had a fair bit left in the locker, but it's bad because if anything is close enough to take advantage if she does it again, she'll be caught out."

Pick of the French could be Sun Bloodstock's acquisition Sans Equivoque (Fr) (Stormy River {Fr}), who beat the subsequent G1 Prix Jean-Luc Lagardere fifth King of Spades (Fr) (Foxwedge {Aus}) by a head in the G3 Prix Eclipse over this course and distance Sept. 21.

GMAASH (GB) (f, 2, Dubawi {Ire}--Maids Causeway {Ire} {G1SW-Eng, $644,496}, by Giant's Causeway), who was worn down late when fourth on debut over an extended seven furlongs at Wolverhampton Sept. 27, crept to the lead from her high draw by halfway. Perhaps idling when in the clear with a furlong to race, the 6-5 favourite was fortunate the line came in time to hold on by a short head from Desert Mark (Ire) (Approve {Ire}). Maids Causeway, who captured the G1 Coronation S. staged at York after finishing runner-up in the G1 1000 Guineas, has a yearling colt by New Approach (Ire) and a filly foal by Frankel (GB) to come. She hails from the distinguished Wildenstein family of top-level performers Verveine (Lear Fan), Vallee Enchantee (Ire) (Peintre Celebre), Volga (Ire) (Caerleon), Vetheuil (Riverman), Vespone (Ire) and Purple Moon (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}). Earning the lead approaching the furlong pole, the 5-1 shot stayed on to secure a half-length verdict over Bolt Phantom (Exchange Rate). Thaaqib is the first foal out of a granddaughter of My Emma (GB) (Marju {Ire}), a dual highweight who was successful in the G1 Prix Vermeille and G1 Yorkshire Oaks and is a half-sister to the G1 St Leger and G1 Gold Cup-winning sire Classic Cliche (Ire). Sent to the front with 1 1/2 furlongs remaining, the 9-4 joint favourite held on to win by a neck from Cliffs of Capri (GB) (Canford Cliffs {Ire}). He was successful in the G2 Vintage S. and G1 Prix Jean-Luc Lagardere at two and went on to place in the G1 Sussex S., G1 Poule d'Essai des Poulains and G1 Prix du Moulin de Longchamp twice as well as winning Italy's G1 Premio Vittorio di Capua and G1 Premio Roma. CHABELITA (GB) (f, 2, Lawman {Fr}--Chabelle {GB}), by Shirocco {Ger}, only ninth on debut over seven furlongs at Mont-de-Marsan Sept. 7, started at 6-1 and broke best to lead for the initial 100 metres before being headed off by Galinka (Fr) (Soldier Hollow {GB}). Outstaying that rival after passing her with a furlong remaining, the €150,000 ARQAUG yearling asserted to win by two lengths. Chabelle, who is a half to the G1 Vincent O'Brien National S. runner-up Chabal (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), was represented well by her first foal after More Than a Dream (Ire) (Halling) finished second in the G3 Prix Noailles. One of two entries for the team, Godolphin's Scottish (Ire) (Teofilo {Ire}) could be the one to watch of the international contingency. A win over Exospheric and a second to Highland Reel (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) at his most recent 2400 metre start could see the Charlie Appleby-trained 5-year-old give Kerrin McEvoy and Sheikh Mohammed their second victory in the race since All The Good (Ire) in 2008.

"I'm delighted with barrier seven; it gives Kerrin plenty of options," stated Appleby. "If we can get a nice clear run into the race we are hopeful of being very competitive."

In search of his first Caulfield Cup victory, Chris Waller will saddle up G2 Avondale Gold Cup winner Sacred Master (NZ) (Mastercraftsman {Ire}). Recording very good finishing sectionals last time out in the G1 Metropolitan H. when fourth, jockey Tommy Berry will be able to take up a good position from barrier eight in search of his first win in the time-honoured race.

While getting on in age, last start Metropolitan H. winner Sir John Hawkwood (Ire) (Sir Percy {GB}) should prove an interesting runner for trainer John Thompson from barrier five. With three wins and two second-placed performances from seven attempts at the 2400 metres, including his impressive last start win, The Waratah Thoroughbreds-owned gelding is one to watch at odds.

Mares May Hold Sway In Caulfield Cup cont. from p1

With three runners in the race, Jameka looks the leading chance for the Maher stable, who will also saddle up Group 1-winning mare Set Square (Aus) (Reset {Aus}) and last start Group 3-placed Pemberley (NZ) (Darci Brahma {NZ}).

"This race is one of the big three that we all dream of as a trainer to win," Maher said.

"Hopefully one of my three can do the job."

Eight-time stakes winner Real Love produced an impressive three-length victory in the G3 JRA Cup on Sept. 30, and with two stakes wins at the trip plus a significant drop in weight, last season's champion trainer Darren Weir could taste victory in his first Caulfield Cup come Saturday.

The race will see four international runners having their first Australian starts, with Sir Isaac Newton (GB) (Galileo {Ire}) from the Aidan O'Brien camp and the Lee and Anthony Freedman-trained Exospheric (GB) (Beat Hollow {GB})--previously finishing fourth and fifth, respectively, to Postponed (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) in the G1 Juddmonte International--highlighting their class.
