

OBS JUNE SALE STARTS TUESDAY

Hip 15 | Tibor Szlavik

by Jessica Martini

The Ocala Breeders' Sales Company's June 2-Year-Olds in Training and Horses of Racing Age Sale, the final major juvenile sale of the season, gets underway Tuesday, with the first of 769 catalogued horses scheduled to go through the sales ring at 10:30 a.m.

The June auction has produced sale-record toppers the past two years, with a colt by Candy Ride (Arg) bringing top price of $680,000 in 2015 and a colt by City Zip selling for $800,000 in 2016. Those results, plus the exploits of recent graduates like Grade I winners Celestine (Scat Daddy) and Haveyougoneaway (Congrats), have helped bulk up the sale's reputation.

"The June sale has certainly evolved over the last number of years," confirmed OBS Director of Sales Tod Wojciechowski. "It has grown into its own market. Before, it was maybe an afterthought, but now it's not just an afterthought to buyers and sellers, it's a good place to sell your horse."

While the 2016 June sale featured a catalogue of 1,224 head and was held over four days, there were 696 originally entered into the 2017 June sale and that number increased to 769 with supplemental entries. There are 755 2-year-olds and 12 older horses cataloged and the auction will be just two days this year, with sessions Tuesday and Wednesday. Cont. p4

COALITION LAUNCHES TO REPEAL SPORTS BETTING BAN by Ben Massam

In a move that could have a significant impact on the racing industry and its position in the gambling market as a whole, the American Sports Betting Coalition (ASBC) was launched Monday in an effort to repeal the 25-year-old Professional and Amateur Sports Protection Act (PASPA), which prohibits sports betting outside of Nevada. Spearheaded by the American Gaming Association (AGA), which announced the launch of the coalition's website Monday, the group consists of law enforcement personnel, state and local policymakers and gaming industry members. While the legalization of sports betting could have a positive impact for racetracks as an alternative revenue stream, NTRA President and CEO Alex Waldrop noted that the industry must take a close look at the issue from a variety of angles.

"We're aware of it, and we have met with the American Gaming Association," Waldrop said on a Monday evening phone call. Cont. p3

Waldrop continued, "It does appear that their goal is a repeal of PASPA, which would do nothing more than put it back to a state level, where they would decide, much like casino gambling. We have begun conversations with our members about their position on the repeal, which is not the same as legalization of sports betting. It simply opens the door for states to make their own independent determination. Nor does it preclude any group of racetracks from being part of any authorizing legislation at the state level."

An ASBC mission statement, which stresses the importance of deferring to individual state governments, reads: "Federal law prohibiting sports betting has failed. Out of step with American attitudes, it has created a massive illegal gambling market without any rules or protections. It's time to end the federal ban on sports betting."

Alex Waldrop | Horsephotos

Among the notable members of the coalition are Brad Schimel, Attorney General of the state of Wisconsin; Mick Cornett, mayor of Oklahoma City; and Ed Davis, a former Boston police commissioner. With a heavy emphasis on the empowerment of law enforcement, the ASBC cites the need to curb illegal sports wagering as a driving force behind the push for legalized and regulated sports betting with greater transparency for customers.

With Monmouth Park and the state of New Jersey poised to move forward with an attempt to nullify PASPA at a Supreme Court level, a repeal of the ban that returns the decision to the states would undoubtedly be a welcome sign for the track as it searches for an alternative stream of revenue. Nevertheless, there are concerns that the advent of new sports betting facilities could have a negative effect on racetracks competing for the public's wagers.

"This is exactly what Monmouth needs, so from that perspective, there are certainly going to be people in the industry who are very supportive of it," Waldrop continued.

“I think there are going to be others who sit back and say, ‘How will this effect us? Do we need to negotiate something in return?’ So we’re taking a look at it from a variety of perspectives. We haven’t taken a position as the NTRA. We’re going to be taking up the issue with our board at the next board meeting. I don’t think this is imminent by any stretch.”

Waldrop added that the NTRA would likely reach a stance on the issue at some point in the next six months after their discussion period with members. While the formation of the ASBC represents the largest initiative yet to repeal PASPA, the coalition must still find a way to overcome significant opposition in Congress, as well as the prospect of continued resistance from the sports leagues--primarily the NFL. Waldrop said he believes that the issue is coming to a head with the rise of daily fantasy sports, which is widely supported by sports leagues.

“The view of some is that there’s a level of hypocrisy on the part of the sports leagues, who want to oppose sports gambling, but they somehow are going to tolerate daily fantasy,” Waldrop observed. “It seems inconsistent.”

Although it appears that the ultimate goal of the ASBC is to enable brick and mortar sports betting operations at existing casinos and racetracks, the NTRA’s stance on the matter could take a drastically different turn should the possibility of online sports betting enter the discussion. With horse racing essentially having a monopoly on the market of legal, online pari-mutuel wagering in the form of ADWs, the introduction of off-site sports betting would likely conflict with the interests of the racing industry, according to Waldrop.

“If this was an online play, we as an industry, because of our online wagering platforms--ADWs--would have to approach this very differently,” Waldrop concluded. “We would have to be much more reluctant and make greater demands.”

According to the AGA, the ASBC initiative will attempt to educate “policymakers, law enforcement and all relevant stakeholders” about the impact of illegal sports betting in an effort to bolster support for legalized wagering. The AGA represents the U.S. casino industry, with its members including Penn National Gaming Inc., Boyd Gaming Corporation and Greenwood Racing Inc.--all of which operate racinos.

“It’s a combination of factors,” Wojciechowski said of the shortened sale. “Our March sale was a little larger this year, so some of those horses got absorbed into March. But I think it’s the natural ebb and flow of the market.”

Despite the record sale topper a year ago, the June sale registered declines in both average and median. During the four-day sale, 619 juveniles grossed $17,930,900 for an average of $28,968 and a median of $13,500.

The June sale will be the third juvenile sale of the year at OBS and follows a record-setting April sale that produced strong results from top to bottom.

“We certainly hope [the June sale carries on from April’s results],” Wojciechowski said. “There are still a lot of nice horses on the grounds. Hopefully there are people out there still looking for quality horses.”

OBS conducted a four-session under-tack preview of the June sale last week and, while Wednesday’s first day was delayed multiple times by rain, Wojciechowski called the week a success.

“We were extremely pleased with the breeze show,” he commented. “The weather certainly created some obstacles, but we are well-prepared to handle it and our track took the water exceptionally well. Everybody had a fair shake to show their horses off. Probably in hindsight, the overcast cloudy days have been kind on everyone weather-wise.”

In racing, we hear the word Normandy and immediately think Deauville, Arqana Sales, the lovely Clairefontaine Racecourse, Calvados, apple tarts and caramel. But to the world, of course, three-quarters of a century ago, Normandy represented something far more seminal; the largest invasion in history and by the time the battle of Normandy was over, more than 50,000 Allied troops had given their lives in an effort which resulted in the turning point in the war. In this edition of TDN Weekend, we offer advice on exploring Normandy's World War II history while you're in Deauville for your equine pursuits this summer. PEDIGREE INSIGHTS

by Andrew Caulfield

ABEL TASMAN

To say that making a stallion is very much a numbers game is too simplistic, as the quality of the mares covered can be far more relevant than their quantity. That said, it can be very hard to compete against the most in-demand stallions, who enjoy the benefit of both quantity and quality. For example, several relatively high-priced stallions featured among last year's busiest stallions, with Uncle Mo covering 253 mares, Into Mischief 218, American Pharoah 208 and Kitten's Joy 201.

It can be done, though. You have to go all the way down to 80th place on that 2016 list to find Quality Road, who covered 112 mares at a fee of $35,000 in his sixth year at Lane's End. This tall son of Elusive Quality now has four crops of racing age and in those four years, his book fluctuated from 149 mares in his first year to 91 in his second, then back up to 136 in his third before dropping back down to 110 in his fourth. Consequently, the number of foals in these early crops has never been higher than 110 and has been as low as 68, with his current crop of 2-year-olds numbering 78.

China Horse Club's Teo Ah Khing (r) and Abel Tasman (Quality Road) after her win in Saturday's GI Acorn S. | Sarah K. Andrew

I am looking forward to watching his fifth-crop yearlings later this year, as they come from one of his biggest crops, at around 115 foals. Also, they were conceived in 2015, soon after he had taken the title of champion first-crop sire in 2014.

Despite his fluctuating popularity, Quality Road currently ranks as high as seventh by American earnings this year. He is doing especially well with his 99-strong third crop, which has already produced the terrific total of six graded winners, plus the Grade II-placed Majestic Quality, the listed winner Sashimi Blaster and the recent Plate Trial S. winner Guy Caballero.

For the record, this crop's six graded scorers are Abel Tasman (GI Starlet S., GI Kentucky Oaks and GI Acorn S.), 'TDN Rising Star' Klimt (GII Best Pal S. and GI Del Mar Futurity), Cowboy Culture (GIII Arlington Classic on turf), Guest Suite (GIII Lecomte S.), Long Haul Bay (GIII Bay Shore S.) and Salty, the GI Gulfstream Park Oaks winner who pressed Abel Tasman hard in the Acorn S. before settling for second.

This crop is already outperforming Quality Road's fine first crop, with its four graded winners. He owed his very bright start to Hootenanny (GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile Turf) and the dual Grade II winner Blofeld, who respectively earned weights of 122 and 119 on the Experimental Free Handicap. That first crop quickly showed that high-class two-year-olds were not all that Quality Road has to offer. A second Grade I-winner emerged when the four-year-old Illuminant won the Gamely S. a year ago. Illuminant remains in good form this year, as she showed in winning the GIII Monrovia S., and two other 5-year-olds who have been flying the flag for Quality Road are the mare High Ridge Road (GII Barbara Fritchie S.) and Follow Me Crev (runner-up to Cupid in the GI Gold Cup at Santa Anita).

SOMETIMES RETIREMENT IS A SECOND CAREER.

Former racehorses can become jumpers, police horses, eventers and dressage horses. But too many horses who come off the track are comfortably pasture sound, but not sound enough to be ridden.

At 10 correctional facilities around the country, these pasture-sound horses help train inmates in the TRF's Second Chances Groom Elite program and they, in turn, provide compassionate care for the TRF's herd.

There was also a graded winner from Quality Road's small second crop, in the form of Frank Conversation, a Grade II winner on turf in California. With Hootenanny also having excelled on turf, it was tempting at that time to pigeon hole Quality Road as a potential turf specialist, especially when his sire Elusive Quality made his mark in Europe and Australia with the likes of Raven's Pass, Elusive Kate, Sepoy, Elusive City and Certify.

However, Elusive Quality was versatile, as he showed by siring Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner Smarty Jones and Quality Road. The latter was another dirt specialist--a winner of the GI Florida Derby, GI Donn H., GI Metropolitan H. and GI Woodward S. who never ventured onto turf or all-weather during a 13-race career. There is now enough evidence to show that Quality Road has inherited Elusive Quality's versatility as a sire, with his 11 graded winners dividing into seven dirt horses and four turf performers, with each category featuring a pair of Grade I winners.

Quality Road | Lee Thomas/Lane's End Farm

It is hardly surprising that Abel Tasman belongs firmly among the dirt contingent. Her broodmare sire Deputy Minister was another dirt specialist, who spent his entire 22-race career on the main track. Deputy Minister's stallion career also centred firmly on the dirt, yielding a pair of sires' championships, and his legacy included a very successful stallion son in Awesome Again and plenty of very effective broodmare daughters.

Deputy Minister's finest achievements included those outstanding distaffers Go For Wand and Open Mind, who jointly won 22 of their 32 starts. Coincidentally, Open Mind--like Abel Tasman--won the Kentucky Oaks and Acorn S, before going on to win the GI CCA Oaks and GI Alabama S. The Alabama has been mentioned as a likely target for Abel Tasman too. There was also a famous Kentucky Oaks winner--the future Belmont S. heroine Rags To Riches (A.P. Indy)--among the many other Grade I winners with a dam by Deputy Minister.

One interesting aspect of Abel Tasman's pedigree is that her dam Vargas Girl was foaled when Deputy Minister was 24 years old. In fact, Deputy Minister was still very active as a 25-year-old in 2004, when he got more than 60 of his 71 mares in foal. However, his career could certainly be used to add strength to the argument that elderly stallions become less effective as they become veterans.

Deputy Minister became champion sire at the ages of 18 and 19 in 1997 and '98, thanks largely to progeny conceived when he was between the ages of 13 and 15. Altogether he sired 17 Grade I winners. As many of 14 of them were conceived when he was 15 or younger. Only one of the 17--the Personal Ensign S. winner Miss Shop--was conceived after Deputy Minister had passed the age of 20 (he was 23). I tend to think that one contributing factor was that he came into competition against numerous popular stallion sons.

Miss Vargas's career could have been used as evidence that the veteran stallion wasn't what he used to be. She raced eight times over three years and never managed to reach the first three, eventually retiring with the paltry earnings of $1,439.

Fortunately for Vargas Girl, she was out of Wheatly Way, a stakes-winning mare with a fine record as a broodmare. Wheatly Way's Prospector's Gamble colt Bevo had excelled as a juvenile, winning the GII Saratoga Special and GI Futurity S., and her Carson City filly Moonlight Sonata had won the GIII Arlington-Washington Lassie S. Moonlight Sonata has since added considerably to the family fortunes by producing the Grade II winners Beethoven and Wilburn, to Sky Mesa and Bernardini respectively.

Vargas Girl is also playing her part in boosting this family, as Abel Tasman is her second graded winner, following Sky Girl (Sky Mesa), winner of the GIII Dogwood S. over seven furlongs.

KELLY BREEN: DETERMINATION TO PREVAIL

Kelly Breen | Horsephotos

by Jessie Oswald

For the select group of trainers fortunate enough to win the recently renewed GI Belmont S., a race of its magnitude offers the unique opportunity to validate the life decisions that got them there. That was the case for Kelly Breen six years ago when his first Belmont S. entry, longshot Ruler On Ice (Roman Ruler), won the race and elevated the trainer to the national stage. “Dug in with good determination to prevail,” is a line from the racing chart describing that Belmont win, but the same might be said of Breen.

Breen, who experienced another strong spring after training Miss Sky Warrior (First Samurai) through a five-race win streak culminating in Aqueduct's Apr. 8 Gil Gazelle S. before she was caught in a speed duel, lost a shoe and faltered to an eighth-place finish in the May 5 GI Kentucky Oaks, spent this year's Belmont day at his home base at Monmouth Park, sending out a pair of entrants to second and third-place finishes.

Growing up in Old Bridge, NJ, 20 miles from Monmouth, Breen is the youngest of four--his closest sibling eight years his elder. His father labored in Manhattan's Steamfitters Local 638 to support the family and relaxed by playing the ponies at local tracks like Aqueduct, the Meadowlands and Monmouth Park. Trips to the track with his father sparked a passion for racing in the young Breen and a goal to make racing a career.

“I wanted to be a jockey,” said Breen, 48. “We went to the racetrack and I thought I could do what these guys here are doing.”

A petite and agile athlete in school, Breen excelled in soccer and wrestling's lightweight class. He knew he was the size to be a jockey, he just lacked one thing--he'd never ridden a horse.

But Breen was determined to do whatever it would take. He gave up sports and began riding lessons on hunter/jumpers at Baymar Farms in nearby Morganville, mucking stalls in the mornings before school to pay for lessons in the afternoon. Soon Breen was riding racehorses for Ralph DeSantis, a Thoroughbred trainer at a farm down the road.

By the time Breen could get a jockey's license at age 16, he had learned as much as he could with DeSantis and left for a job at the racetrack, exercising horses for trainer Walter Reese. But when Breen hit a growth spurt 18 months later and couldn't control his size, he realized that despite his hard work, he would never be a jockey.

“When I got too big, it was heartbreaking,” said Breen.

Trainer Scooter Dickey offered Breen a job as his assistant and a chance to keep the dream of a career in horse racing alive. A year later, Breen was with John Forbes, exercising horses and assisting with the stable. Seeing the uncertainty of a sustainable career in racing, Breen split his time over the next few years between Forbes's barn and the family business, steamfitting.

“Whatever he was going to do, he was going to do well in,” said Dan Breen, Kelly's older brother, who followed in their father's footsteps as a steamfitter. “Either becoming a jockey and then all of a sudden becoming a trainer--or even with steamfitting.”

Breen worked with his father and completed three years in a five-year apprenticeship with the steamfitters union in New York, becoming one of the top apprentices in his class. It was also during this time that he won his first race as a trainer with Contarito, a horse he claimed for owner Ricky Gallo. Into his early 20s, it was time for Breen to make a decision about his future.

“The winning keeps you going,” said the competitive Breen. “When I was doing construction with my dad and I worked in the World Trade Center back in the ‘90s, it was kind of neat to put in the air-conditioning unit, the sprinkler system, whatever it was and when you were done you were like, ‘Hey, we built that.’ But it wasn’t winning.”

Breen dove back into racing full-time and took an assistant trainer’s position with Ben Perkins, Sr. Over the next eight years Breen learned the ropes from Perkins, who showed him not only how to prepare the horses in the barn, but what to look for at the sales and how to bring in new horses.

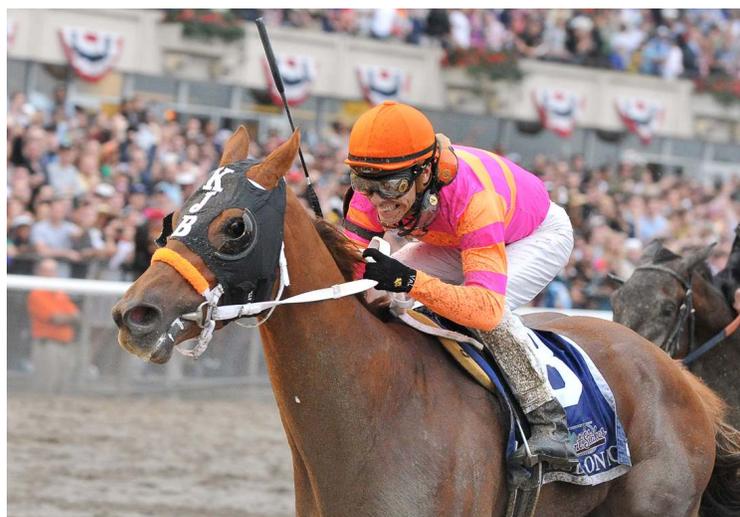

“We really had a good rapport,” said Breen. “He’s the person that really taught me the most and allowed me to observe the most with some nice horses.”

With Perkins, Breen was involved in the development of many stakes-winning horses like Appealing Skier (Baldski), who took the pair to the Breeders’ Cup twice in the mid ‘90s.

“I knew he learned the right way,” said the now 84-year-old Perkins. “I could tell the way Kelly was breezing the horses and the type he was getting at the sales, he did terrific. He’s still doing good and he’s going to keep doing good.”

When Perkins retired in 2000, it was an opportunity for Breen to go back out on his own. By 2005, he had won the leading trainer title at Monmouth Park and repeated the feat in 2006. The same year, he got his first graded stakes win when Dean DeRenzo and Randy Hartley’s Praying for Cash (Songandaprayer) took Monmouth Park’s Gill Long Branch Breeders’ Cup S. Breen was making a name for himself in New Jersey and people were taking notice.

George Hall, a New York investment mogul and horse owner, gave the up-and-coming trainer a shot. The duo found success early on and campaigned stakes-winners like West Side Bernie (Bernstein), Pants On Fire (Jump Start) and Bern Identity (Bernstein), to name a few. But in 2011, Ruler On Ice took both men to a new level, giving each his first Grade I win.

Ruler on Ice wins the Belmont | Sarah K. Andrew

While a recording of Frank Sinatra’s “New York, New York,” a song the Breen family grew up listening to, blasted over the Belmont grandstand, Breen was gathered with his wife and kids, father, brother, sisters, and in-laws to witness the validation for years of hard work and determination he had put into his chosen career.

In five weeks, Breen was able to take the talented yet immature Ruler On Ice, who missed the Kentucky Derby because he lacked the earnings to qualify, from beaten favorite in Pimlico’s Federico Tesio S. to Grade I winner in Belmont Park’s most prestigious race.

“Probably one of the best days of my life,” Breen said with the emotion of the moment six years earlier still audible in his voice. “I don’t think I’ve had that much of my family at one race ever.”

Today, Breen may not have the name recognition of a Todd Pletcher or Bob Baffert, but the kid from New Jersey has become a regular player on the national stage, with more than 600 career wins and earnings of over $28.7 million. He continues to aim high and plot a path to achieving his goals, which include seeing success in his three children, taking his wife of nearly 20 years golfing in Hawaii, and securing victory in another Triple Crown race.

Monday's Results:

7th-DEL, $34,750, Msw, 6-12, 3yo/up, 1 1/16mT, 1:44.54, fm. DOUGLAS ROAD (c, 3, The Factor--Board Battle, by Seeking the Gold) took a sneaky amount of money first out to be 8-1 for owner/trainer/breeder William Harrigan Apr. 21 at Keeneland and ran third despite a wide draw behind Kitten's Karma (Kitten's Joy), who came back to repeat Sunday at Churchill. Privately purchased and switched to this leading local barn in the interim, the bay was dispatched as a 2-1 favorite and led through dawdling fractions of :25.01 and :50.57. Challenged by Brookline (Tapit) approaching the quarter pole, the favorite shook that foe off soon after and edged clear under mild urging to a 1 1/2-length graduation. General Patton (War Front) overhauled Brookline for second late. The winner's dam foaled a colt by Bodemeister last term before being bred to Fed Biz. 4th-PID, $28,275, Alw, 6-11, (NW3L), 3yo/up, 1m 70y (AWT), 1:43.51, ft. AMIGO'S AFFAIR (g, 4, Senor Amigo--Mountain Affair {GSW, $260,133}, by Mt. Livermore) was second by a half-length in his debut Feb. 17 at Tampa and beat up on $50,000 maiden claimers Apr. 14 at Keeneland before wiring an allowance group sprinting on this oval May 23. Hammered to 1-2 favoritism in this first route try, the bay stumbled coming out of the blocks, but made the lead easily nevertheless, clicking off splits of :24.60 and :49.12. Challenged by a pair of rivals nearing the top of the lane and collared briefly in mid-stretch, the chalk battled back to reassert command at the sixteenth pole and skip clear to a 2 3/4-length success. What's On Tap (Hansen) completed the exacta. The winner is a half to Mountain Forum (Open Forum), MSW, $225,269. He is the final foal out of a dam who captured the 1995 GIII Miss Grillo S. SHADESLAYER (g, 3, Northern Afleet--Lucy Diver, by Academy Award) graduated on debut in the Mahoning Valley mud Nov. 30 and was given an 11-2 chance to stay unblemished off the bench here. Bobbling a stride or two out of the gate, the homebred found a midpack spot at the fence through a :22.08 quarter. Checked twice in tight on the top half of the turn, he advanced into contention at the furlong grounds, idled off heels once again at the sixteenth pole and surged late between rivals to earn a head decision. Ouray (Tribal Rule) was second by another head. The winner has a 2-year-old Forestry half-brother named Super Cool Dave and his dam was bred to Indy Wind last spring. Lifetime Record: 2-2-0-0, $32,508. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton. O/B-Bruce K. & Nancy A. Hudson (OH); T-William D. Cowans.

KENTUCKY

Kristufek Named New Ellis Park Analyst:

Joe Kristufek, currently in his third year as the Churchill Downs paddock host, will be the analyst, odds-maker and author of program selections at Ellis Park's upcoming summer meet, it was announced Monday. Kristufek, who has also served as a Kentucky Downs paddock host and a leader in a fan education initiative, made Ellis Park selections for Brisnet.com last summer.

"You don't get better credentials than Joe Kristufek," said Ellis racing secretary Dan Bork. "He is the complete package: studious, insightful handicapper with a real passion for getting people to embrace the sport he loves so much. Joe immerses himself into a track and is a terrific ambassador for racing. Here's a sure bet: the Ellis fans will be as delighted as we are to have Joe."

Kristufek added, "I'm excited. The purses are better [at Ellis this year], and we've seen a lot of good 2-year-olds come out of there. It's nice for me to do Churchill, go right into Ellis and pick up where I left off. Now that I've been here three years, I have a much better handle on the horses, the trainers and how they operate. I'm looking forward to it."

MIRACLE MARCH (g, 3, Unusual Heat--Logical Single {SW, $222,488}, by Singletary) dueled on the pace before fading late to be sixth in his hillside course unveiling May 13 and was let go at 37-5 switching to the main track here. Away well, the chestnut quickly made the point before being confronted by an inside challenger past a :21.69 quarter. Edging clear of that foe at the five-sixteenths pole, he kicked away strongly by the furlong grounds and came home a comfortable 4 1/4-length victor. Narrow favorite Desert Law (Desert Code) was up late for the place. The winner is the first foal out of a dam whose subsequent produce is a juvenile Acclamation colt named Sound Logic, a yearling filly by Clubhouse Ride and a Grazen filly foaled May 23. Lifetime Record: 2-1-0-0, $32,745. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton. O-Harris Farms, Inc. & Per Antonsen; B-Harris Farms (CA); T-Dean Pederson.

+GLOBALIZATION (g, 3, Globalize--Beautiful American, by Quiet American) showed a steady series of stamina-building workouts on this oval before tightening up with a half-mile spin in :48 2/5 (2/20) June 7, and was made the 11-5 favorite for this debut. Hustled to the fore through a :22.54 quarter, the homebred was headed by Rule Number Eight (Good Journey) on the latter half of the turn, but fought back resolutely in an entertaining stretch battle to deny that foe by a head on the line. The winner's second dam is a half to MGISW Schossberg (Broad Brush). Beautiful American is responsible for a juvenile colt by Many Rivers named Mediumwhite T and she foaled a Fury Kapcori colt Feb. 18. INDUSTRY INFO

NMRHOF to Offer Raffle for Larry Dodd Wheeler Painting:

The National Museum of Racing and Hall of Fame will be holding a raffle for an original Larry Dodd Wheeler painting of a Saratoga Race Course scene, it was announced Monday. Raffle tickets are $20 each and are available for purchase in person only at the Museum (cash only) between July 1 and Nov. 30. The drawing will be held on Friday, Dec. 1 at the Museum. The winner does not need to be present. The painting is valued at $5,000 and all proceeds will benefit the Museum.

Wheeler, who lives in the vicinity of Aiken, South Carolina's horse country, has been active in the world of equine art for more than 40 years.

"When I first saw this painting by Mr. Wheeler, I was so impressed with its beauty and how it perfectly captures the aura of the Saratoga barn area," said Cathy Marino, director of the National Museum of Racing and Hall of Fame. "The Museum is most grateful to Mr. Wheeler for this generous donation."

Fourth Annual Jockeys and Jeans Event Brings Raised Funds to Over $250,000:

With the totals in for the June 3 Jockeys and Jeans event at Parx Racing, proceeds from it and an earlier Stallion Season Sale total a record $252,000, it was announced Monday. This tops the previous record of $235,000 raised by the group for the Permanently Disabled Jockeys Fund (PDJF) in 2016. Since its inception in 2014, the all volunteer group, founded by five former jockeys, has raised over $715,000. Some 300 visitors were on hand to mingle with 14 Hall of Fame Jockeys, while six catastrophically injured riders were honored.

"All of this is simply a testimony to the concern and generosity of the racing community and those who love this sport," said Jockeys and Jeans President, Barry Pearl. "Donors, volunteers, Hall of Fame riders and fans joined hands to honor and support those men and women whose catastrophic injuries may have disabled their bodies, but has not diminished their spirits. [We] are truly humbled by the response."

THE WEEKLY WRAP

Glorious Journey | Emma Berry

by Emma Berry

In Newmarket, the baton-switch from late spring to early summer has been completed with the movement of racing from the stark openness of the Rowley Mile to the more bucolic charms of its sun-dappled neighbour. Where better, then, to take in what on paper appeared to be one of the smartest maidens of the season to date?

Saturday's curtain-up at the July Course featured not only siblings to Group 1 winners Arabian Queen (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) and Cursory Glance (Distorted Humor), but also a recent expensive acquisition for Phoenix Thoroughbred Limited, the $800,000 breeze-up filly Take Me With You (Scat Daddy), and last year's Tattersalls October Book 1 co-topper Glorious Journey (GB), a son of Dubawi and Philippa Cooper's homebred G1 Coronation S. winner Fallen For You (GB) (Dansili {GB}).

Unleashing such a noteworthy colt as Glorious Journey brings its own pressures and, coming at the end of a week which saw the resignation of Sheikh Mohammed's right-hand man John Ferguson, it was hugely important that the 2.6 million-guinea purchase represented the Godolphin blue in a positive light. This he did with aplomb, despite looking physically behind some of his rivals in the paddock--a factor which should be to his benefit as the season unfolds.

PRECIEUSE SOLD TO WHITE BIRCH FARM

by Emma Berry

Precieuse (Ire) (Tamayuz {GB}), winner of the G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches last month for her owner-breeders Brendan and Anne Marie Hayes, has been sold to continue racing for Peter M. Brant of White Birch Farm. The filly, who will continue to be trained in Chantilly by Fabrice Chappet, is expected to be supplemented for next Friday's G1 Coronation S. at Royal Ascot.

Brendan Hayes, who bred Precieuse at his Knocktoran Stud in Ireland, commented, "We are very happy that she has gone to Peter, who really loves his racing, and in the long term she will be joining a high-class broodmare band and be offered the best possible matings in her career as a broodmare. She remains in training with Fabrice Chappet who has done a great job with her."

THE WEEKLY WRAP by Emma Berry

Cooper, who returned last year to the sales ring after a lengthy absence, plans to retain Glorious Journey's yearling half-brother by Frankel (GB), but will again be offering a batch of her Normandie Stud yearlings this autumn through Norris Bloodstock, including two close relations to Glorious Journey, both from the first crop of Kingman (GB).

She said, "I didn't go to watch him on Saturday--it's probably best for breeders to stay out of the way once they have sold a horse--but it was very exciting to watch on television. I've never even had a runner over six furlongs. It was a huge ask for him so it was a thrill to see him win. As a young horse we never really knew he was there because we never had a single problem with him."

Charlie Appleby will be hoping for similarly plain sailing as Glorious Journey continues on a racing quest that will almost certainly see him boosted to Pattern company for his next outing.

"He showed us signs early on that he had ability but about eight weeks ago he went a little backwards on us," noted the trainer. "We backed off him and in the last few weeks he's come back to us and I decided it was time to allow him to go out there and do it on the track. He's still maybe a bit weak behind and through his neck and we'll wait to see how he goes in the next few weeks before we decide whether or not he will come back here for the July meeting."

Frontiersman | Racing Post

As Appleby may well have expected, he was quizzed about Godolphin's turbulent week, replying with his usual politeness that he is employed by the operation to train horses rather than to comment on personnel changes. Initially thrust into the spotlight on the back of the Mahmood Al Zarooni doping episode, Appleby, who has spent much of his working life with Godolphin, has never shied away from speaking openly to the press from the day he took on what is on one hand a golden opportunity to train a large number of well-credentialed thoroughbreds, and on the other a role that is under constant external scrutiny.

The trainer's likeable level-headedness has no doubt helped him to continue to focus on the positive, and for him that has clearly always been the horses in his care. At a time when plenty are wondering what happens next for Godolphin, Appleby can take deserved pride in the fact that his stable boasts a 30% strike-rate leading into one of the most important weeks of the racing year in Britain.

Glorious Journey's opening-race triumph on Saturday was swiftly augmented by wins for another two of his Dubawi colts, the juvenile Folk Tale (Ire) and Culturati (GB), who returned from a lengthy absence to force himself into the reckoning for the Wokingham H. at Royal Ascot. Of course it is the big races that matter most, so perhaps another son of Dubawi, the well-related Frontiersman (GB), can add to Appleby's group-race haul before too long, and maybe as soon as next week in the G2 Hardwicke S.

The Butler Did It...

Sir Mark Prescott taking to tweeting is about as unlikely as Theresa May remaining ensconced in Number 10 until Christmas but, just as the world of politics has continued to astound us for the last 12 months, there appeared on Twitter recently the handle @HeathHouseNkt. Don't be fooled, however. While the loquacious baronet can still be relied upon to recount a stream of side-splitting anecdotes from his vantage point on Warren Hill before most of us have even had breakfast, it is his long-time assistant William Butler who is the driving force behind the stable's recent embracing of social media.

Butler spent last week overseeing a rare runner for the stable in America, where St Michel (GB) (Sea The Stars {Ire}) was a fast-finishing second to the Andreas Wohler-trained Red Cardinal (Ire) (Montjeu {Ire}) in what was a European-dominated GIII Belmont Gold Cup. The first four home represented Germany, Britain, France and Ireland, with the winner and runner-up now likely to head even farther afield to Australia for the G1 Melbourne Cup in November.

"He was grand after the race and hasn't missed a beat," reported Butler of the 4-year-old St Michel. "The trip to Belmont was very much a recce to see if he's the type of horse to take to Melbourne. Jeremy Nosedo was very kind and gave us plenty of help with the arrangements for Belmont and I imagine we may well be calling on Luca Cumani as we start to plan for Australia."

As lovingly as Prescott has preserved the historical aspect of Heath House, with commemorative plaques to all 12 previous trainers lining the wall of the entrance, the meticulous planner naturally has an eye on his stable's future. For 18 years now, Butler has been first pupil assistant and then assistant trainer and has been well groomed to take the reins at the central Newmarket yard.

William Butler & Sir Mark Prescott | Emma Berry

When that handover will be only Prescott knows, but loyalty is a quality the trainer values as highly as punctuality and in Butler he has found a worthy successor whose tenure at Heath House is outranked in longevity only by the semi-retired Colin Nutter, Prescott's former head lad of 46 years' service.

A recent TDN visit to the yard underlined the great store Prescott sets by his staff's allegiance and ability to follow orders. He warned, "If I said to Colin, 'Mrs. Berry is arriving at 6.15, take her into box 20 and shoot her', you'd be dead by 6.18 and at lunchtime he'd ask me what I'd like him to do with the body." Point taken.

Pearce Legacy To Continue...

St Michel's owner-breeder John Pearce died in January at the age of 98, but his blue and white racing silks will still be seen on the racecourse for seasons to come thanks to the endeavours of his great nephew Edmund Bush and advisors Rupert Bentley and William Huntingdon. The trio will oversee John Pearce Racing and Breeding, maintaining four mares and their followers at Lanwades Stud and around 10 horses in training.

"We will carry on with John's aim to breed mile-and-a-half horses," said his longstanding friend Huntingdon, who, along with Geoffrey Brooke, Doug Smith and Geoff Wragg, previously trained for Pearce.

Though never succeeding in his desire to race a Derby winner, Pearce came agonisingly close with Dragon Dancer (GB) (Sadler's Wells), who was beaten just a short-head at Epsom by Sir Percy (GB) (Mark Of Esteem {Ire}) in 2006.

His racing colours have long been synonymous with good stayers, not least the Ascot Gold Cup winner Arcadian Heights (GB) (Shirley Heights {GB}), so a crack at one of the world's most famous staying races on the other side of the world with St Michel would be a fitting way to usher in a new era for an owner-breeder operation which is happily continuing for the foreseeable future.

No Silencing Dabirsim...

Dabirism (Fr) (Hat Trick {Jpn}) romped through his juvenile season in 2011 unbeaten, making a name for his young trainer Christophe Ferland when closing out the year with back-to-back Group 1 strikes in the Prix Morny and Prix Jean-Luc Lagardere. Standing his first two seasons at stud at Gestut Karlshof, he was Germany's busiest stallion on his retirement in 2009 and maintained a three-figure book the following year before being returned to the country where he was trained. For the last two seasons he has been based in Normandy at Haras de Grandcamp.

Dabirsim | Emma Berry

His runaway early success as a racehorse is currently being emulated in his fledgling stallion career, with five of his first seven runners being winners, including Cead Mile Failte (Fr), who has won both his starts for owner Theresa Marnane and trainer Matthieu Palussiere. It's a furious strike-rate to maintain but, judging from some of Dabirsim's yearlings at last year's sales, they won't all be early types, so it's reasonable to hope we will start to see some progressive representatives emerging as the season continues.

The French breeding community has flirted with sons of Sunday Silence in the past, but none broke through to any meaningful degree despite the fact that Divine Light (Jpn) provided Stefan Friborg with the 1000 Guineas heroine Natagora (Fr) before being shipped off to Turkey. Sunday Silence's grandson Dabirsim gives a glimmer of hope that the sireline can at last take root in Europe.

The Weekly Wrap will return after Royal Ascot.

Brant, who bred and raced Gulch (Mr. Prospector) and was also the owner of the outstanding Tryptich (Riverman) in the latter stages of her racing career, made a significant splash at Goffs last year when buying a number of horses from the Wildenstein Stables Dispersal. More than €1 million was spent during the Orby Sale on a Dansili (GB) yearling filly and three horses in training bought in the name of White Birch Farm.

One of two in-training purchases through Northshore Bloodstock, Parauari (Fr) (Lawman {Fr}), provided White Birch Farm with a win last week when sent to Dieppe by Alain de Royer Dupre. The spending continued at the November Sale, at which 15 broodmare and foal purchases included Classic winner Beauty Parlour (GB) (Deep Impact {Jpn}) at €1.6 million and Amerique (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) for €975,000.

Precieuse is the second high-profile purchase in recent weeks by Brant, who is now the co-owner of G3 Prix Penelope winner Sistercharlie (Fr) (Myboycharlie {Ire}). The Henri-Alex Pantall-trained filly is an intended runner in Sunday's G1 Prix de Diane Longines.

TERRAKOVA EYES DIANE

Freddy Head has high hopes for Terrakova (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) in Sunday's G1 Prix de Diane at Chantilly. The 'TDN Rising Star' is one of the best bred horses in training being by champion sire Galileo and out of Head's great race mare Goldikova (Ire) (Anabaa), a three-time winner at the Breeders' Cup among many other Grade/Group 1 successes. So far Terrakova is living up to her pedigree, winning a maiden on her only start at two before overcoming trouble in the running to win the G3 Prix Cleopatre on her return at Saint-Cloud. Head has always had this race in mind for his unbeaten filly, but feels she will stay further later in the campaign.

"I think she is very good," said Head. "She's got a good cruising speed but also she can quicken. I know the family well, they are not too precocious, so I didn't want to over-face her last season. For the moment 10 furlongs is her trip, but she finished off her last race very strongly and I'm confident she'll stay a mile and a half."

"She didn't have the clearest of runs that day, but she found another gear, she's smart," he continued. "I've also left another filly in, Listen In (Ire) (Sea The Stars {Ire}), but I'm not sure she'll run. I just want to see who else is running first."

Terrakova is one of 24 fillies still in the mix for the Group 1 heat, which is also known as the French Oaks. John Gosden's unbeaten 'Rising Star' Shutter Speed (GB) (Dansili {GB}), winner of the G3 Musidora S. at York last month, is one of just two British-trained possibles at this stage along with Charlie Appleby's fellow 'Rising Star' Sobetsu (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}), who won the G1 The Gurkha Coolmore Prix Saint-Alary in France last month, but disappointed in the G1 Oaks at Epsom.

Aidan O'Brien has left in his G1 1000 Guineas and Oaks runner-up and G1 Fillies' Mile heroine Rhododendron (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), 'Rising Star' Roly Poly (War Front) and Pocketfulofdreams (Fr) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}) while Andre Fabre could run G3 Prix de Royaumont victress Kitesurf (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}).

'ROY' IN FINE FORM FOR ROYAL ASCOT

Godolphin's Barney Roy (GB) (Excelebration {Ire}) breezed seven furlongs in company with Britannia S. bound Son Of The Stars (GB) (Delegator {GB}) over Kempton's Polytrack Monday morning in advance of Royal Ascot, Racing Post reported. One of Godolphin's main hopes for the Royal Meeting June 20-24, the G3 Greenham S. hero was only a length behind Churchill (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) in the G1 2000 Guineas at Newmarket in early May.

"Barney Roy went to Kempton this morning with Son Of The Stars and had a nice breeze over seven furlongs around the right-handed bend," trainer Richard Hannon told Racing Post. "James Doyle rode and was delighted with him. I think he'll go very well next week [in the G1 St. James's Palace S. June 20]. The track will suit him and I've been very pleased with him since Newmarket. We might have been tempted by the Derby, but I'm really pleased that we kept him fresh for this."

Added Hannon, "Son Of The Stars goes for the Britannia [June 22]. Kieran O'Neill rode him and he went well too."

GOLDREAM ON SONG FOR KING'S STAND

Robert Cowell reports Goldream (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}) be to be in tip-top form ahead of his bid to regain his sprinting crown in the G1 King's Stand S. at Royal Ascot on June 20. The son of Oasis Dream lifted the five-furlong feature on his favoured fast ground in 2015, but missed the race 12 months ago. The 8-year-old has shown he is still laden with ability with two fine runs in May. Third to G1 Prix de l'Abbaye heroine Marsha (Ire) (Acclamation {GB}) on his return in the G3 Palace House S. at Newmarket May 6, he subsequently finished second to Priceless (GB) (Exceed And Excel {Aus}) in the G2 Temple S. at Haydock despite being uncharacteristically slowly away last out May 27.

"He's ready and in absolutely brilliant form," said Cowell. "I don't think I've had him better. He looks perfect and it's all systems go for the King's Stand."

WELD PATIENT WITH 'AMORE'

Expensive purchase Tocco D'Amore (Ire) (Raven's Pass) will try to build on her debut success in a few weeks' time. Trainer Dermot Weld's objective is to get black-type for the Moyglare Stud-owned 'TDN Rising Star', who cost €2 million at Goffs Orby Yearling Sale in September 2015. She made a belated racecourse bow at Naas in April, when hacking up by six lengths in a 10-furlong maiden.

"Tocco D'Amore is fine and we could look for something with her in a few weeks," commented Weld. "The main aim with her would be to get some black-type. She loves a good dig in the ground, and we were thinking of a campaign later in the year as she is a slow-maturing filly. We didn't think the weather would be so unsettled and the ground would be like it is at the moment."

BHA APPOINTS NEW DISCIPLINARY PANEL

A total of 23 people have been appointed to the new Disciplinary Panel and Licensing Committee for the British Horseracing Authority, His Honour Brian Barker C.B.E. QC, Judicial Panel Chairman for the BHA announced Monday. The panel will be in charge of holding enquiries under the Rules of Racing, hearing appeals against the BHA's racecourse stewards' decisions and, where appropriate, imposing penalties in accordance with the Rules. The new panel was appointed following the recommendation of independent regulatory expert Christopher Quinlanc QC, who reviewed the structure, composition and operation of the BHA's Disciplinary Panel, Appeal Board and Licensing Committee. The appointed chairman and members will start on July 3 (unless stated otherwise) and will serve for three years. Cont. p7

“The appointment process for these important positions has been an extensive one,” said Barker. “I’d like to thank everyone for taking the time and effort to apply and we were very fortunate to have such a high number of quality applications. I’m pleased that we have been able to put in place a panel which combines greater diversity of skills and experience, combining significant legal expertise with in-depth horseracing knowledge.”

Appointed by the Judicial Panel Chairmen following an open, competitive process, judged against published criteria, an emphasis was placed on former jockeys and trainers whose direct experience of the sport could make them ideal candidates to assist in the formulation of disciplinary verdicts. Among the new members on the panel are Grand National and Cheltenham Gold Cup-winning trainer Jenny Pitman OBE and former jockey Philip Robinson, who rode over 30 Group 1 winners internationally. For a full list of the new panel members, click here.

“Implementing in full the recommendations from the recent Integrity and Quinlan reviews remains a core priority for the BHA this year, and the appointment of this august and talented panel brings us another step closer to that objective,” added a pleased Nick Rust, Chief Executive of the BHA. “We aim for the BHA to be at the forefront of sporting regulation best practice and the appointment of this panel reflects a further step in this direction.”

'ISLAND' DISQUALIFIED FROM CARNARVON

Former Richard Hannon trainee Log Out Island (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}), a winner of the Listed Toronado Carnarvon S. on May 14, 2016, has been disqualified under Rule (A)74 Ground 3 from that race following a ruling by the Disciplinary Panel of the British Horseracing Authority (BHA), which held an enquiry on June 9. The Godolphin colourbearer's urine, after analysis, contained O-desmethyltramadol, a metabolite of tramadol, a substance which may be legitimately used in horses in training, but is a prohibited substance on raceday, pursuant to Schedule (G)1 paragraph 7 of the Rules of Racing. It is the third positive finding for O-desmethyltramadol in a period of 12 months for Hannon. The Disciplinary Panel accepted an admission from Hannon that he was in breach of Rule (G)2.1 and fined him £5,000. Afandem posted 9 1/2-furlong tallies at Deauville Oct. 17 and at Chantilly on sophomore return Mar. 10, and registered a career high in this turf bow after an enforced absence. Settled third for most of this initial try at stakes level, he loomed large on the bit to challenge passing the quarter-mile marker and was ridden out in the closing stages to gain a narrow verdict. "He was scratched on the morning of the [Apr. 9 G3] Prix la Force [at Chantilly] as he was among Jean-Claude Roget's band of sick horses," explained racing manager Rupert Pritchard Gordon. "He returned today after that extended break so it is most satisfying to see that he can perform at such level and remain undefeated. We will see what's next for him, but the [July 16 G2] Prix Eugene Adam [at Maisons-Laffitte] is a likely option."

Afandem, half to a 2-year-old filly by Most Improved (Ire), is the first black-type scorer out of a winning daughter of the stakes-placed Uryale (Fr) (Kendor {Fr}), who in turn produced last term's G1 Grosser Dallmayr-Preis victor Elliptique (Ire) (New Approach {Ire}) and MGSP three-time stakes scorer Cicerole (Fr) (Barathea {Ire}). The family also includes MG1SP sire Majorien (GB) (Machiavellian) and G1 Melbourne Cup-winning dual champion stayer Americain (Dynaformer). Click for the Racing Post result. Normandel backed up an Aug. 19 debut score at Clairefontaine with a second in Chantilly's Sept. 8 G3 Prix d'Aumale, but was off the board in the G1 Prix Marcel Boussac back there Oct. 2 and again in Maisons-Laffitte's G3 Prix Imprudence on seasonal bow Apr. 10, and lined up for this task coming off a May 10 conditions fifth back at Chantilly once more May 10. Stalking a sedate pace in second until inching closer on the home turn, she was sent wide at the top of the straight and kept on well under mild urging in the closing stages to assert superiority for a career high. "We thought she had good quality after her win at Clairefontaine last year, but we hadn't really figured out the best way to ride her," revealed trainer Pia Brandt. "After today's race, I think we now know what to do with her. Like her [half-] brother [and former stablemate] Mont Ormel, she won on debut at Clairefontaine and he also won on this card [in the Listed Prix Ridgway] last year. We'll follow a similar pattern and now go for a 12-furlong race and, for her, it will be the [July 2 G2] Prix de Malleret [at Saint-Cloud]."

Normandel is a half-sister to last year's G1 Juddmonte Grand Prix de Paris-winning French highweight Mont Ormel (Fr) (Air Chief Marshal {Ire}) (races as Helene Charisma (Fr) in Hong Kong), Hwt. 3yo-Fr at 11-14f, G1SW-Fr & GSP-HK, $698,288; and to the hitherto untried 2-year-old filly Hocquigny (Fr) (Rajsaman {Fr}). WORLDWIDE NEWSSHE WILL REIGN RETURNS TO TRACKWORK

She Will Reign (Aus) (Manhattan Rain {Aus}), winner of the 2017 G1 Golden Slipper S., returned to the Warwick Farm track Saturday morning (video), according to Racing and Sports. Trainer Gary Portelli was pleased with his filly's development.

"She has come back a lot stronger and we're excited to see her back in the camp," Portelli told Racing And Sports. "She was pretty excited to be back at trackwork too. She was straight back into her normal stable routine. Our foreman said she went out looking like a young girl and has come back looking like a young woman. She has an older looking head on her, is stronger through the shoulder and neck and has thighs on her like you wouldn't believe. He has a massive hindquarter."

Portelli is contemplating several options for his G2 Tab Silver Slipper S.-winning filly, with a long-term goal gaining a spot in the A$10-million Everest at Randwick in October.

TURTLE BOWL DEAD IN JAPAN

Group 1 winner Turtle Bowl (Ire) (Dyhim Diamond {Ire}--Clara Bow {Fr}, by Top Ville {Ire}), sire of Classic winner Lucayan (Fr), passed away due to a heart attack at Shadai Stallion Station in Japan, Racing Post reported Monday. He was 15. A winner of the G1 Prix Jean Prat and G3 Prix de la Jonchere, the son of German highweight and Group 3 victor Dyhim Diamond was the 2007 G1 Prix d'Ispahan bridesmaid and also placed third in that year's G1 Queen Anne S. at Ascot and G1 Prix du Haras de Fresnay-le-Buffard-Jacques le Marois at Deauville. Turtle Bowl Dead in Japan Cont.

In the frame in an additional three group stakes during his racing days, Turtle Bowl retired to Haras de Montaigu in France for the 2009 season, having accumulated $732,524 and sporting a record of 21-7-6-3.

At stud, Turtle Bowl's first crop was an immediate success, despite standing for only €5,000, with the aforementioned 2012 G1 Poule d'Essai des Poulains hero Lucayan and French Fifteen (Fr), the 2012 French sophomore highweight at seven to nine furlongs, who landed the G1 Criterium International and was runner up in the G1 QIPCO 2000 Guineas across the Channel. Purchased by Shadai Stallion Station in November of that year, Turtle Bowl's oldest Japanese runners are currently 3-year-olds. He is credited with a champion in Austria and five black-type winners to date.

A half to G3 Derby Trial victory and G1 Gold Cup runner-up Age of Aquarius (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) as well as the French MGSW Turtle Bow (Fr) (Turtle Island {Ire}), who also ran second Stateside in the GI Flower Bowl Invitational S., Turtle Bowl is also a half-brother to French MSP Whitton Court (Ire) (Cardoun {Fr}). This is the extended family of Group 1 winners Kartajana (Ire) (Shernazar {Ire}), champion Khariyda (Fr) (Shakapour {Ire}), and highweight Caerlina (Ire) (Caerleon), while G3 Prix Djebel winner Al Wukair (Ire) (Dream Ahead), was third in this season's G1 QIPCO 2000 Guineas.
