GHOSTZAPPER FILLY TOPS F-T OCTOBER OPENER

Session-topping Hip 96, a filly by Ghostzapper, in the ring | Fasig-Tipton

by Jessica Martini

LEXINGTON, Ky - Samantha Siegel's Jay Em Ess Stable paid a session-topping $275,000 to secure a filly by Ghostzapper as the four-day Fasig-Tipton October Fall Yearlings Sale kicked off with a solid day of selling on a rainy day in Lexington Monday.

"We saw pretty solid trade with a diverse group of buyers in play," Fasig-Tipton president Boyd Browning, Jr. said at the close of business Monday.

Of the 363 yearlings catalogued for Monday's session, 322 went through the ring and 230 sold for a total of $6,479,500. The average was $28,172 and the median was $10,000. The buy-back rate was 28.6%

During the first session of the three-day 2016 October sale, 246 of 416 yearlings catalogued yearlings sold for $8,306,400. The session average was $33,766 and the median was $12,750. The 2016 three-day average was $33,065 and the median was $10,000.

Twenty two yearlings sold for $100,000 or more Monday. That figure was 21 during last year's opening session.

"I think it's too early to tell much," Browning said of the comparison figures. "The average is down a little bit, the median is down a little bit from the overall total sale numbers last year."

THE BEVERLY LEWIS YOU DIDN'T KNOW

by Bill Finley

Beverly Lewis passed away Friday at the age of 90 after a lengthy illness. To everyone in the sport, her passing is a sad occasion as, along with her late husband, Bob, she was a part of one of the top racing stables of an era. The Lewises were all about class. They raced the very best horses and were as gracious and as enthusiastic as any owners who ever played this game.

But the reputation that the Lewis stable enjoyed was, really, all about Bob, who passed away in 2006. He was the gregarious one, the one who did all the talking. At least publicly, Beverly rarely said a word, and her willingness to blend into the background made her somewhat of a mystery. Both were born in an era where many still believed that the man was in charge and that the wife was just along for the ride. Cont. p9 (click here)

"But I would be hesitant to make any dramatic statements about the marketplace, other than to say, if you talk to the consignors and the buyers, it's the same song we've heard over and over," Browning continued. "The buyers are saying it was really tough to buy the quality horses and the consignors are saying it was pretty tough to sell the horses who weren't perceived as quality offerings. I think we saw the same kind of balanced marketplace that we've seen throughout 2017 and for the most part 2016 as well."

Ocala horseman David Scanlon was busy scouring the sales grounds for pinhooking prospects Monday and agreed competition was stiff for the prized offerings.

"There are a lot of horses to go through, but there are some good horses," Scanlon said. "It's typical of the market we've seen, the good ones are bringing good money and the other side of the market struggles. But there are good horses here, you just have to pick through them and hang in there until you get one."

The October sale continues through Thursday, with sessions beginning daily at 10 a.m.

Samantha Siegel | Fasig-Tipton

Ghostzapper for Siegel

Samantha Siegel was forced to miss last month's Keeneland September Yearling Sale, so she was trying to make up for lost time when she purchased a filly by Ghostzapper for $275,000 during Monday's opening session of the October sale.

"Unfortunately, I had to miss the Keeneland September sale--I was a vet scratch--but I would like to have a few more horses to fill out my group, so I came here," Siegel said after signing the ticket on hip 96 in the name of her Jay Em Ess Stable.

"She's a pretty, well-balanced filly and a New York-bred," Siegel said. "We know Ghostzapper can get a good filly so, as they say, she ticked off all the boxes."

Siegel expects to continue shopping at the four-day October sale.

"I have no set number in mind," she said. "I just would like to get nice horses and we'll see how things fall and see what we get. But, unfortunately, good taste is expensive. It's a tough market for a good horse. Nowadays, you have to pay a decent amount of money for a good horse. You just have to steel yourself to that, pick your number and be prepared to go a little bit above it and be flexible."

Hip 96 was consigned to the October sale by Tommy Eastham's Legacy Bloodstock on behalf of her breeder, Dr. Jon Davis's Milfer Farm. Davis purchased Princesa de Papi, with this foal in utero, for $70,000 at the 2015 Keeneland November sale.

"[Milfer Farm] raise a nice horse and they've been kind enough to be with me for a long, long time," Eastham said. "It's nice to do well for people that have gone through good sales and bad sales and have been your biggest cheerleader through good times and bad. It was a really satisfying sale."

The yearling had originally been targeted at the Fasig-Tipton Saratoga New York-bred sale, according to Eastham.

"We were actually going to go to Saratoga, but we saw her developing and most of her developing came after June," he said. "She was kind of plain, but then she kept on developing. So we thought she wasn't ready to sell and we would have a better horse to sell in a few months."

Of the dark bay filly, Eastham continued, "She's a big-walking horse. She handled this process very well. She had a big nostril and was a typical Ghostzapper with a great mind."

The consignor admitted the market continues to be competitive and at times unforgiving.

"I've got a barn of 25 and I think half of them are going to do real well," the consignor said. "Penalties are severe. If you have a little chip that in previous markets was a 20% chip, those chips are now 80, 90 maybe 95% of your total value. The horse business is good, though. There is a lot of interest, a lot of phone calls and lots of volume at the barns. A lot of people that weren't as good didn't survive [the recession of] 2008. Everybody who is in the business now, from consignors to buyers and farms, is pretty good. They know what they're looking at."

Mathis Restocks on Tapit

While Mathis Stables' stakes-winning filly My Miss Tapit (Tapit) is catalogued in next month's Keeneland November sale, the family operation added another daughter of Gainesway's leading sire to its roster when bloodstock agent Liz Crow purchased hip 131 for $250,000 Monday at the Fasig-Tipton October sale.

Liz Crow | Fasig-Tipton

"She had one of the better pedigrees in the sale and I thought she had one of the better physicals," Crow said after signing the ticket on the chestnut filly. "She looked like one of the more athletic fillies I saw on the sales grounds and we're thrilled to have the pedigree page to back it up."

Out of Raffishing Look (Kingmambo), the chestnut filly is a half-sister to Winning Cause (Giant's Causeway), who was trained by the Mathis's primary trainer Todd Pletcher.

The yearling was bred and consigned to the October sale by Gainesway, which purchased the mare for $400,000 at the 2013 Keeneland November sale. The filly had been entered, but scratched from the Keeneland September sale.

Crow admitted she was pleasantly surprised by the filly's final price tag Monday.

"I was thrilled to get her at that price point," Crow said. "The market is so strong right now. It just seems like anything that has a pedigree page and a physical is bringing about 20-30% more than I've been willing to pay for it all year. So I thought I was happy to finally get something bought at a price that I was comfortable with."

A Fein Ghostzapper

Superfine Farms owner Ron Fein purchased a colt by Ghostzapper for $180,000 to top early returns during Monday's first session of the Fasig-Tipton October sale. The dark bay colt (hip 63) is destined for a return trip through the sales ring next spring, according to Fein, who did his bidding out back while standing alongside pinhooker Ciaran Dunne.

"I liked everything about him. First of all he was a Ghostzapper, second of all he had beautiful movement and good size. And Ciaran Dunne liked him, that was important," Fein explained. "He'll probably go to either Miami [Fasig-Tipton Gulfstream Sale] or [OBS] March." Cont. p6

(c, Overanalyze--One More Wild Ride, by Wildcat Heir)
Buyer: Hartley/DeRenzo Thoroughbreds
Price: $90,000

"He is by a hot sire who is off to a great start. And I liked that he was out of a Wildcat Heir mare who showed speed. So I thought, especially for pinhooking, he was a really good horse as far as pedigree. And he also had a great physical, a big hip, looked fast and was a really pretty horse. I thought he was well-bought."

Cairo Prince Colt Quick Starter for Brewster

A dark bay colt by hot first-crop sire Cairo Prince was the first horse through the ring during Monday's first session of the October sale, but being first was nothing new to the yearling. His dam Ocarson (Olmodavor) was covered Feb. 18 by Cairo Prince, one of the first mares bred to the Airdrie stallion, and he was his sire's first foal when born Jan. 24, 2016.

"I hope they have an appropriate name for him because he really is used to being first," laughed breeder Clark Brewster after the New York-bred yearling (hip 1) sold for $100,000 to Harold Lerner/AWC Stables, Webb Carroll Training Center, agent.

The sale was a very successful result for Brewster. The Oklahoma-based attorney purchased Ocarson, with this yearling in utero, for just $1,500 at the 2015 Keeneland November sale.

"I wasn't at the [November] sale, but [bloodstock agent] Patrick Morell was there and I had given him some instructions on buying a half-dozen mares or so for our New York breeding program," Brewster explained by phone Monday afternoon. "He was shooting me texts and reporting back on the mares that he got bought. She had walked in and he saw that it was an early cover and he bought her for little to nothing. He said, 'I know she wasn't on your list, but I bought her for you.' So I said, 'Fine. I'm happy with that.' So we sent her to foal in New York with a bunch of others and she just had a lovely foal."

Clark Brewster | Coady

Of the colt's six-figure final price tag, Brewster said, "I really felt that around that price, he would be a racing candidate for me. Obviously, in this game, when you can see a profit, you want to take it. But on the other hand, I would have been fine with keeping him."

Cairo Prince, who had a colt sell for $900,000 at last month's Keeneland September sale, has had 58 yearlings sell for an average of $166,862.

"We all knew that he was a great racehorse and a really good physical specimen," Brewster said of the young stallion. "He has every right to be a really good sire."

Brewster has a broodmare band of 27 head spread from New York, Oklahoma and Kentucky and participates in all facets of the racing game.

"I think my wife and I have had about 280 starts as owners this year," Brewster said. "We're very active in the racing part of it. We participate in the breeding side and we'll buy a few yearlings, as well, and a few 2-year-olds. So we're active at several different levels of the game and have been for more than 25 years."

Brewster still has three yearlings to sell through the Hidden Brook consignment this week in Lexington. Hip 386 is a colt by Fed Biz who Brewster purchased in utero for $11,000 at the 2015 Keeneland November sale. At that same sale, he acquired a filly by Afleet Alex (hip 441) in utero and a colt by Awesome Again (hip 1405) in utero, both for $25,000.

Brewster won't be on hand to watch the group sell.

"I don't think I've made a single sale this year," he admitted. "I'm a trial lawyer, so a lot of my time to go to a sale is dictated by my schedule. We're locked down in hearings and depositions here in Tulsa, Oklahoma today." Cont. p8

Catalyst Shakes Things Up

Chris Knehr wasn't really expecting to shop for himself at the 2015 Keeneland November Sale, but he struck when the opportunity presented itself to purchase the mare Rupert's Promise (Capote), in foal to Shakin It Up, for $2,500 from the Allied Bloodstock consignment. The investment paid dividends at Fasig-Tipton Monday when Knehr's Catalyst Bloodstock sold the mare's Shakin It Up yearling (hip 195) for $120,000 to Moss Group.

"Honestly, it has a lot to do with Bert [Welker] and Clark [Shepherd] at Allied," Knehr said of purchasing the mare. "I've known them for a while and they are such good guys. I was in the back ring talking to Clark and trying to buy mares for other clients. I was out of money and I needed a mare and he said, 'I really like this mare and the Old Fashioned out of her is really nice--they are keeping her to race. I think she's a good buy.' So that's why I bought her."

Knehr ran the purchase past his wife Erin and admitted he wasn't planning on paying too much for the then 11-year-old mare, who is a half-sister to Chilean group-placed Nada Mas Queda (Scat Daddy).

"I called my wife, because we weren't going to buy anything until January, but we were looking for a mare for Sky Kingdom," Knehr recalled. "She asked me how high I was going to go and I said $2,000. The final bid was $2,500 and when I called her back she said, 'You had better have been the $2,500.' We weren't planning on giving too much for her at the time, but I liked the mare a lot. I liked the way she moved and she's big and pretty and a good-looking mare who I thought had some upside to her."

Knehr's original plan was to sell the dark bay filly from the first crop of GI Malibu S. winner Shakin It Up at this year's Keeneland January sale.

"I had her in the January sale and had no action on her whatsoever," Knehr said. "I really liked her a lot, so we scratched her from the sale and held on to her because we thought she was a better filly than what the reception was for her in January."

He continued, "The market has shifted pretty dramatically in the last six months, but I wasn't expecting what she sold for. I thought she would do well and I had pretty solid reserve on her for my wife and I. She exceeded that."

Rupert's Promise produced a colt by graded stakes winner Sky Kingdom in 2017 and was bred back to Dialed In.

Of his broodmare band, Knehr said, "I have a small farm--it's only 12 acres--so we only have four right now. I've raced two in partnership, but usually we breed to sell. It's handy, especially because I have the consignment. And we have the farm, so I can prep them and raise them as well."

"Originally we had a no-mare rule on the farm," he laughed. "But that since has changed because it's hard to buy weanlings. And mares kind of work for me."

Because of the way she came across and comported herself, Beverly Lewis sometimes gave you the impression that she was nothing more than a silent partner who had little say in how the stable was run and may not even have been that enthusiastic about the sport.

The TDN spoke Monday with the two trainers, Bob Baffert and Wayne Lukas, who were most closely associated with the Lewises' success and both said few knew the real Beverly Lewis. They described her as someone who was very passionate about the sport, was very much involved in the day-to-day operation of the stable and, when it came to business decisions, wasn't a stand-by-your-man kind of woman.

"She had a feisty side to her that few saw," Lukas said. "And she loved the game. Bob was always the one who was out front, but she loved the game every bit as much as he did."

And she knew how and when to put her foot down.

Lukas said that there came a time when Bob Lewis had decided to sell Serena's Song, who, while a good broodmare, was not a superb one.

"This was when Serena's Song was about 14," Lukas recalled, "and Bob said to me, 'Wayne, maybe we should hedge our bets and send Serena's Song down the road.' I'll always remember him saying that because 'send her down the road' was not an expression you hear every day. We were at dinner and there was a long silence and then Beverly said, 'Bob, if you send Serena's Song down the road, you're going with her.'"

Craig Bandoroff, who served as an advisor to the Lewises, was also involved in the Serena's Song decision. He flew to California to try to talk Bob Lewis out of selling her, but never had to give his pitch.

"I got off the plane, he picked me up and said not to worry about a thing," Bandoroff recalled. "He said, 'I can't sell Serena's Song. Beverly would kill me. Let's go get a Whataburger.'"

Baffert trained Silver Charm, the first of two GI Kentucky Derby winners to carry the Lewis colors. Like Lukas, he said the Beverly Lewis he knew was on top of everything when it came to the horse business.

"Absolutely, she was involved," he said. "She knew everything that was going on and it was never like she first found about it by reading it in the paper the next morning. They were partners in the stable and Bob always told me he thought Beverly was the best partner anyone could ever have."

She also had a frugal side that Bob Lewis may have lacked. It appears she kept him from overspending on a yearling many a time. On at least one occasion, however, she wasn't there to tell her husband to stop raising his hand.

"We were sitting in the boxes at Santa Anita and Bob says to me, 'Wayne, let's you and I go to the sale tomorrow at Pomona,'" Lukas said. "She said, 'Bob, we don't need any more horses and you can't go there with Wayne.' He said that was OK and that he just wanted to go to socialize. She looks at me and says, 'Wayne, promise me you won't let him buy a horse.' The next thing I know, he bought a horse for $750,000. I said, 'Bob, how are we going to handle Beverly?' He said, 'Don't worry, I'll handle Beverly.' I asked him the next day how it went and he said, 'Wayne, I could tell you exactly what she said, how fast or slow she said it, but why bother? I think you already know the answer.'"

While Beverly Lewis shied away from the spotlight, it was always easy to tell that she was much like her husband: a kind person who saw the best in everyone.

"They may have been the only owners in racing who no one ever minded losing to," Baffert said. "They were both so well liked and such nice people. Beverly was a sweetheart."

The Lewis stable campaigned four Classic winners and raced six Eclipse Award champions. Lukas and Baffert agreed that Beverly Lewis's favorite horse was Serena's Song. She won 11 Grade I stakes, including a victory over males in the GI Haskell, and is in the Hall of Fame.

When Bob Lewis died in 2006, the stable went in another direction. Bandoroff believes that Beverly Lewis knew she could never match her husband's drive and was reluctant to fully take over or spend the type of money she knew it would take to keep churning out Grade I winners. She brought in her son, Jeff, and the two of them would make the decisions going forward. The racing part of the stable was de-emphasized and more attention was paid toward breeding.

"There were a couple of problems," Jeff Lewis explained. "The formula that Bob and Wayne used in the '90s and the early part of the 2000s, which was to spend a lot of money on good-looking yearlings, started to catch on with a lot of other people. That made it harder to find the right horses for the right prices. For the first 13 years my parents were in the business, they made money. After my father died, there were two straight losing years and those were with horses he had bought before he passed away. Honestly, I also think he took his magic pixie dust with him." Cont. p10

So Beverly and Jeff Lewis decided to downsize the stable, but one thing was off limits. Not only would Serena's Song never be sold, but neither would any of her daughters. It was very important to the family to keep her legacy in tact. Though she has been pensioned as a broodmare, there are daughters and granddaughters of Serena's Song still owned by the Lewises and they represent the cornerstone of what's left of their operation. Jeff Lewis said his family still owns 12 horses, four broodmares, four racehorses and four yearlings or weanlings. All, in some way, are connected to Serena's Song.

One of those horses is the filly Miner's Cat (Mineshaft). Her dam is Pure Symmetry, who is by Storm Cat out of Serena's Song. Saturday, the day after Beverly Lewis died, Miner's Cat won an allowance race at Keeneland (video).

"That happened one day after my mother went to heaven," Jeff Lewis said. "I can see my parents up there cheering her on and my dad using his magic pixie dust. I like to think he made it happen."

While some have described the passing of Beverly Lewis as the end of an era, her son disagrees. He says he has no plans to increase the size of the stable, but is not about to let it go out of business. He said he would like to maintain the sort of numbers they already have and keep the focus on preserving Serena's Song's bloodlines.

You can bet that's a plan that was made with Beverly Lewis's input and blessing before her death. Now that we know what we know, it seems obvious that she would not just stand on the sidelines and quietly acquiesce without having a say. Not her.

Q & A WITH CORMAC BREATHNACH

by Sue Finley

On August 1, after a longtime stint at Adena Springs, Cormac Breathnach took up a role in stallion nominations at Airdrie Stud. Breathnac's arrival is not the only change at the dynamic farm, which has acquired at least one new stallion to stand at stud in each of the past four years, recently adding American Freedom (who covers his first mares in 2018), Upstart (2017), Summer Front (2016), and Cairo Prince and Mark Valeski (2015) to their existing roster of Include, Majesticperfection and Creative Cause. When they announced stud fees last week, Cairo Prince, the #2 first-crop yearling sire in 2017, saw his fee rise to $25,000, and the farm is waiting until after the Breeders' Cup to announce Creative Cause's fee. The second-crop sire, who has eight black-type winners to tie Union Rags atop the list, has three Breeders' Cup hopefuls, Significant Form (Juvenile Fillies Turf), Pavel (Classic) and My Boy Jack (Juvenile Turf). The TDN's Sue Finley caught up with the 42-year-old Irish native and University of Kentucky Gluck Research PhD. graduate last week to talk about how the new job was going, Airdrie's young roster, and the upcoming sales.

TDN: You spent eight years at Adena Springs. What's different about this job?

CB: It has been a privilege to be involved with two of North America's perennial leading breeders. There are differences in the way they've gone about achieving their success. Frank [Stronach] typically bred and sold a lot of mares to get the product out to different clients and has been very successful getting business that way. The focus here has been more on commercial sales and building female families.

TDN: Has your commute gotten better or worse?
CB: Better! It's about 15 minutes shorter, and coming to work in the morning, I drive on one of the most beautiful roads I've ever been on, Old Frankfort Pike. I couldn't complain about that.

TDN: When Cairo Prince retired to Airdrie, Sid Fernando wrote, "For as long as it's been around since the early 1970s, Governor and Mrs. Brereton C. Jones's Airdrie, in Midway, Ky., has made a name for itself with moderately priced stallions, but common threads were race records and physiques first. It's a formula that's worked for Airdrie." As a new member of the marketing team, I'd like you to comment on that.
CB: I think the focus is on giving breeders the opportunity to be successful, not just in the marketplace, but also in breeding horses to race. That's the goal with the stallions we've recruited: to get horses who are attractive and well-bred and well-performing enough to be appealing to the commercial breeders as well as end users. The other thing that they've done so well over such a long time is that they've supported the stallions with large numbers of quality homebred mares, so Governor Jones is about female families as much as any breeder around. By building those families, you get to know what those families need, what they do and what they produce and you can use them then strategically to enhance the chance of a young stallion.

TDN: How many mares do the Joneses own, and how many are on the farm?
CB: They have a little over 150 mares. It's a big broodmare band, and what I've enjoyed so much in coming here is to see that there are several generations here. Some of the mares we have now are third, fourth generation or more, tracing back to the mares that he started with. I think when you look at the really top breeders in the world, that's a common thread, and developing families helps you control a lot of the variables that exist in the breeding game. We don't board but for a few close associates, so there aren't really a lot of outside mares. There might be 170 mares on the entire farm.

TDN: Who are some of those families you've come across that have struck you?
CB: Governor Jones bred Lucy Sims, named after his and Libby's daughter. She has produced Don't Trick Her, who produced GI winners Include Me Out and Check the Label, and listed winner On The Menu, and Kittery Point, the dam of Grade I winner Sam's Sister and the $900,000 Cairo Prince yearling we sold at Keeneland September, as well as Another Vegetarian, the dam of Grade I winner Sweet Talker.

He claimed Pacific Spell and her second foal was Grade I Kentucky Oaks winner Proud Spell. Pacific Spell is also the dam of the graded stakes-placed Proud Pearl and the stakes-winning No Distortion. In turn, Proud Spell is the dam of Indian Spell, whose first foal is the undefeated 2-year-old stakes winner Dak Attack, and just had a nice Creative Cause winner last weekend in Japan for her new connections.

He also bought Witness Post and bred the graded stakes winner Hello Liberty and the stakes-winning Pious Ashley out of her. He still owns her other daughters Churchbythesea, the dam of Significant Form, who won the GIII Miss Grillo and who has a big shot in the GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies Turf, as well as the graded stakes-winning Hay Dakota, and Incarnate Memories, whose Cairo Prince yearling sold for $400,000 in September.

So when something good happens in a pedigree, you see the effect in a lot of other daughters and sisters and nieces, and that really helps.

TDN: Is there more of a focus on end users at Airdrie, as opposed to commercial breeders?
CB: I wouldn't say there's more of a focus, per se. We really try to balance both aspects. Governor Jones himself is a big-time end user. Winning races is what it's all about here. The industry depends on a lot of small or medium-sized breeders who need commercial returns to stay in the game. We really try to strike that balance. It's a difficult thing to do but it's important to try.

TDN: Has the farm been more aggressive acquiring new stallions recently?
CB: There has been one new horse a year for the last few years. Airdrie stood and developed really good established stallions like Indian Charlie and Harlan's Holiday that were longtime, very successful racehorse sires that we lost too soon. Cont. p12

At the same time, there has always been a focus on bringing something in that is commercially viable and has the race record and the ability that we look for. So there has been a push and the way the chips have fallen, we currently happen to have a young roster.

Creative Cause is doing so well, and looks like he could be our next big horse. He has four 2-year-old stakes winners this year, which is tied with Into Mischief among active U.S. stallions, so hopefully he's going to carry us forward as a young rising stallion. Creative Cause's fee is still to be determined for next year. He just keeps coming up with these really nice horses, and has three live chances in the Breeders' Cup. And with horses like Cairo Prince, Summer Front, Upstart and American Freedom following year-on-year after him, we are very optimistic about the future. They all fit the mold of what the focus is here. They are very attractive, had real genuine talent and have been very well supported internally and externally so far. They all started at the $10,000 price point and have represented real value. Hopefully they'll be around a long time.

TDN: How does Cairo Prince fit into that Airdrie mold?

CB: He is what you hope and dream for. I know that the team of the Governor, Bret, Tim and Ben worked really hard to get him here and it was a very exciting day when they entered into the partnership with Darley. And now we can all see why. He's an extremely classy horse with size, scope and a beautiful walk, and he passes on those attributes. His progeny have his free-moving, athletic walk and they have such good minds. They take to the sales environment very well. They don't turn a hair, they're very classy, and as a result they've been extremely well received. He was an excellent 2-year-old, and it's fair to expect some precocity in his progeny, but to me he still looks like a Classic two-turn 3-year-old type. A lot of his yearlings have that scope and stretch and will hopefully be fast early and train on.

TDN: In what figures to be a very competitive first-foals year, with the first foals of American Pharoah, Constitution, Honor Code, Liam's Map and Tonalist coming to market, among others, Airdrie offers the first foals of Summer Front.

CB: I'm optimistic he can take the commercial torch from Cairo Prince. We have quite a few on the farm and we'll have a nice group at the November sales. They're very attractive, with leg and scope, good-moving foals–just what the market should want.

TDN: He's the farm's first son of War Front, and was a turf horse. Is it a different sell?

CB: It's always a different sell for a turf horse, but the industry is getting more responsive to them. You've got new turf courses going in at Aqueduct and Woodbine, turf racing generates a lot of handle, the public likes it, and they often generate competitive full fields which are appealing to watch. Summer Front was very talented and had a blistering turn of foot. He was an undefeated dual stakes winner at two, and won Graded races as a 3, 4 and 5-year-old, and was just touched off in a Grade I at 6. Mike Ryan bred him, and he's out of an El Prado (Ire) mare who also produced [GISW] Laragh, and his deeper family is predominantly dirt. We think there is every chance that he will throw some quality dirt horses. Physically he's all of 16.1 and very attractive. He's a bigger, scopier type of War Front and he has right at 100 registered foals in his first crop. I'm hopefully not jumping the gun, and there are a lot of prestigious first-crop stallions in this class, but I think his foals are going to make people take notice.

TDN: You have a PhD from UK's Gluck Equine Research Center. Do you use it in your work?

CB: I primarily studied the EHV-1 virus (equine herpesvirus) and vaccine development during my PhD. It provided me a strong background in genetics which I think is something that really comes into play in the breeding industry. Beyond that, PhD degrees help develop critical thinking skills which might be the most valuable thing, in my opinion.

Breaking the furthest outside of the five Jeremiah Englehart entrants, the $150,000 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic purchase calmly sat just off the leaders going down the backstretch. She, along with favorite Wegetsdamunnys and Stone Cold Flirt (Yes It's True), made it three across the track at the quarter pole, clear by three lengths from their closest rival. Indy's Lady continued her run under strong urging from John Davila Jr. and pulled away to a 2 1/4 length score. Wegetsdamummy was clear by another 2 1/2 lengths, completing the all-Englehart exacta. Sept. 18 in her first try against graded stakes company. Monday marked her first start over the main track since July 2015. The bay was in tight between horses in the early stages before getting into the clear sitting just a length off the lead. Pretty Perfection moved to the outside of pacesetters Shaunna Alexandra (Go for Gin) and Sky Gold (Successful Appeal) and kicked in another gear, opening up the lead and was 4 1/2 lengths clear at the line geared down. Longshot She's Hot Wired (Cable Boy) sat the perfect stalking trip, but had to settle for the place spot at 40-1. POINT SYSTEM (f, 3, Broken Vow--Brownie Points {GSW, $951,230}, by Forest Wildcat) graduated at second asking over this course in May and finished a good third in a one-mile allowance test at Monmouth June 11. Victorious in a nine-furlong event rained off the turf at Delaware Aug. 7, the bay found stakes company over Kentucky Downs's undulating turf course a bit too steep, checking in a well-beaten seventh in the Sept. 10 Dueling Grounds Oaks over 1 5/16 miles. Sent postward at a touch over 5-1 odds while cutting back in distance here, Point System trailed the field in the early stages and began to gain steam on the outside departing the far turn. The filly finished with a flourish and reported home 1 3/4 lengths ahead of Wind Tartare (Fr) (Air Chief Marshal {Ire}). Brownie Points, winner of the GIII Ouija Board Distaff H., is responsible for Synchrony (Tapit), MGSP, $168,102. The 4-5 favorite settled into stride on the lead heading into the first turn with Moe Trouble (Uncle Mo) right alongside. The two of them alternated the advantage up the backstretch, six clear of their closest competitor. Prince of Hempt began to showcase his ability on the far turn, taking over at the three-eights pole and never looking back, finishing strong all the way to the wire for a 5 1/4 length victory. A tiring Moe Trouble held second over Gloves Off (U S Ranger). The winner's dam has an weanling filly by Revolutionary and was bred to Monba this year. Sales history: $30,000 Ylg '15 EASOCT. PA HBPA Launches Videos on Industry Health and Welfare:

The Pennsylvania Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association (PA HBPA) has launched three videos that center on the health and welfare of racehorses in Pennsylvania.

"We're pleased to share these videos about Pennsylvania racing," PA HBPA Executive Director Todd Mostoller said. "We're proud that the commonwealth has these safeguards in place to promote the integrity of racing and helps to ensure the well-being of our competitors, both human and equine."

The videos cover PETRL, Pennsylvania's research and testing lab, veterinary oversight and horse identification.

KENTUCKY

KEEP's Equine Industry Conference Looks to Kentucky's Future:

The push to have equines treated the same as other agricultural livestock, the potential to use the lure of horses to further expand the commonwealth's considerable tourism industry, the effort to cultivate a trained workforce and how historical horse racing is growing the industry were among the topics examined at the Kentucky Equine Education Project's second Equine Industry Conference last week.

"Our second Equine Industry Conference highlighted many of the most important issues Kentucky's horse industry faces," said Joe Clabes, KEEP's Executive Director. "Bringing industry leaders and policymakers together to discuss how we capitalize on recent gains and address ongoing challenges is critically important to the betterment of the Commonwealth's signature industry.

"Kentucky is seeing growth in its horse industry, across many breeds and disciplines, at a time when the vast majority of other states are moving in the opposite direction. These discussions will help us continue to build on that success."

THE WEEKLY WRAP

Frankel closes out his unbeaten career in the 2012 G1 Champion S. | racingfotos.com

By Emma Berry

Despite the hell-and-high-water predictions of Storm Brian ahead of QIPCO British Champions' Day, Ascot got off pretty lightly on the weather front and served up a day of outstanding action with multiple storylines to savour.

The name Frankel (GB) has never been far from conversations surrounding Champions' Day since the reworked version was first staged at the Queen's racecourse in 2011--the year Frankel himself was a 3-year-old and brought the curtain down on his season with a four-length victory in the G1 Queen Elizabeth II S. He of course concluded his career in the same spot the following year when winning the G1 QIPCO Champion S., the race which has now provided him with a first European Group 1 winner as a sire via Cracksman (GB).

Frankel and Nathaniel (Ire) were exact contemporaries on the racecourse, beginning and ending their careers in the same races at Newmarket and Ascot, respectively, and now members of their first crops, Cracksman and Enable (GB), racing for the same stable, have been two of the outstanding 3-year-olds in Europe this season. The only headache their trainer John Gosden will have next year is how to keep them apart in the major middle-distance races of the season.

And of course the man who gave his own name to the champion racehorse, the late Bobby Frankel, has been very much in the minds of racing folk in the last few weeks as Aidan O'Brien closed in on his record of 25 top-level wins in a season. In fact, O'Brien, who on Saturday received his British champion trainer's trophy from Gosden, equalled the record that day with a win from Hydrangea (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) in the G1 QIPCO British Champions Fillies & Mares S., and rather ominously has 22 entries in this Saturday's G1 Racing Post Trophy.

De Sousa The Humble Hero...

In many ways Champions' Day is made for Frankie Dettori, and vice versa. The world's most recognisable jockey was in his element, flying through the air in trademark fashion after winning the last two big races on the course at which he posted his first Group 1 win aboard Markofdistinction (GB) in 1990.

The real champion of the weighing-room, however, is Silvestre de Sousa, whose second jockeys' title has been achieved without hullabaloo but with a Herculean amount of hard graft. Cont. p2

De Sousa has none of the showman qualities of Dettori but every bit of his talent. His aim for the season, apart from reclaiming the champion jockey crown from Jim Crowley, was to ride 200 winners. This he achieved, plus one for luck, setting a personal best in the process and finishing 56 wins clear of Luke Morris in second.

"He can often be found at the minor meetings, opting to go where a full book of rides will help push his tally higher still, his lack of retainer with a major stable meaning that he is at no one's beck and call."

One would naturally expect a jockey with de Sousa's voracious appetite for riding winners to be in demand at every showcase meeting throughout the summer. Oddly, he can often be found instead at one of the minor meetings, opting to go where a full book of rides will help push his tally higher still, his lack of retainer with a major stable meaning that he is at no one's beck and call.

Indeed, a key to his success appears to be that he treats every race just the same--his determination to win a seller just as great as it would be in a Classic. I have the good fortune to own a filly on whom he won four times this season--once riding her at Yarmouth during Glorious Goodwood--with her last victory coming in the Bath Stayers' Final, which offered a much higher level of prize-money than she'd raced for previously.

Reflecting on the filly's season on Saturday, de Sousa said sheepishly, "You'll crucify me for this but I had no idea how valuable that race was until after she'd won."

Conversely, I believe this is what sets him apart. How many jockeys go out to ride without knowing what their winning cut might be? Simply, every possible opportunity for victory matters to de Sousa, and it shows.

While racing undoubtedly needs characters such as Dettori to appeal to a broader audience outside the sport, a modest, hard-working champion should be admired and lauded by those of us who follow racing on a daily basis.

Born To Ride...

On the subject of jockeys, David Egan would have been an obvious pick to succeed on breeding. This season's champion apprentice is the son of jockey John Egan and Sandra Hughes, who recently relinquished her training licence after enjoying a couple of fruitful seasons when succeeding her late father Dessie Hughes, who was also a top-class jockey. Cont. p3

Continuing the list of successful riders on the page is the young Egan's uncle Richard Hughes, while John Egan's cousin is Paul Mulrennan.

Even with such a heritage, there's never any guarantee of success, as we see all too often in the world of Thoroughbred breeding. Egan, however, looks as if he was made for no other role but to be on board a racehorse, his lightweight frame and balance making him a natural. Furthermore, his quiet assuredness and polite disposition will doubtless be to his advantage in his next big step from apprentice to senior jockey. We certainly haven't heard the last of him.

Acclamation's Growing Influence...

New stallion announcements are coming thick and fast, and one of the most welcome in the past week has been the news that the National Stud has gained another new name who looks to have great commercial appeal. Martyn Meade's first Group 1 winner, Aclaim (Ire) (Acclamation {GB}), bred in partnership by Meade's son-in-law Dermot Farrington and Canning Downs, will remain in Newmarket to stand alongside the Southern Hemisphere recruits Spill The Beans (Aus) (Snitzel {Aus}) and Tivaci (NZ) (High Chaparral {Ire}).

Aclaim winning the Prix de la Foret | Scoop Dyga

Acclamation, a son of the Royal Studs' veteran Royal Applause (GB), is now 18 himself and the Rathbarry resident has not only enjoyed a terrific year with his runners but also a dramatic expansion of his own particular branch of the vast Northern Dancer dynasty.

His most prevalent son at this stage is Dark Angel (Ire), whose popularity appears to know no bounds, and who notched another Group 1 winner on Saturday in Cheveley Park Stud's Persuasive (GB). Dark Angel also has a growing army of young sons at stud, including Heeraat (Ire), Alhebayeb (Ire), Estidhkaar (Ire) and Lethal Force (Ire). Cont. p4

Acclamation's top-rated son, the dual Group 1-winning sprinter Equiano (Fr), continues to be a dependable sire for Newsells Park Stud and has G1 Diamond Jubilee S. winner The Tin Man (GB) and G3 Prix du Petit Couvert winner Lady Macapa (GB) among his best representatives this season. Harbour Watch (Ire), meanwhile, is on the Tweenhills roster and has produced the G2 Prix Robert Papin winner Tis Marvellous (GB).

The winner of seven of his 15 starts, including the G1 Prix de la Foret and G2 Park S. on his last two outings, Aclaim, whose dam is a half-sister to the G1 Irish 1,000 Guineas winner Again (Ire) (Danehill Dancer {Ire}), is being managed by the new partnership of John Ferguson and Mark McStay. The latter has recently left Godolphin to form McStay Bloodstock and will work on selected projects with his former boss.

In Bloom All Year Round...

It has been a heady fortnight for owner Tony Bloom, who has enjoyed high-profile victories at both ends of the distance spectrum on consecutive Saturdays.

The one anomaly on Newmarket's Future Champions' Day is usually the historic and grueling 2m2f Cesarewitch H., but this year's race may fit the label that is really meant for the accompanying 2-year-old races on the card. The winning jockey Silvestre de Sousa was a champion in the making when steering home Bloom's favourite Withhold (GB) (Champs Elysees {GB}) who, with only 10 races under his belt, could well be a future champion of the staying ranks.

A week later it was the turn of Librisa Breeze (GB) (Mount Nelson {GB}), who relished the soft ground at his beloved Ascot to deliver a dogged victory for Bloom and trainer Dean Ivory in the G1 QIPCO British Champions Sprint.

While these may be his biggest wins on the Flat this year, Bloom also enjoyed success at the Cheltenham Festival back in March when the Willie Mullins-trained Penhill (GB) stormed to victory in the GI Albert Bartlett Novices' Hurdle.

Like Librisa Breeze, Penhill is a son of the versatile Mount Nelson and was also bred by Newsells Park Stud.

As the chairman of Brighton & Hove Albion Football Club, however, Bloom may well consider his greatest sporting achievement of the year to be the promotion of the 'Seagulls' to the British Premiership in April.

PEDIGREE INSIGHTS

CRACKSMAN

Having an enormously famous parent can be tough, as many a child with a superstar father or mother has discovered to their cost. Fortunately, though, exceptional talent does occasionally pass down the generations, as the racing world has witnessed with Galileo.

When Galileo retired to stud it was surely expecting too much that he--or any other stallion--would even come close to matching the record of his sire Sadler's Wells. This extraordinary stallion had notched up an unprecedented total of 14 sires' championships in the space of 15 years. However, Timeform considered Galileo superior to his sire as a racehorse and he is now well on his way to matching Sadler's Wells's record, having secured his ninth championship in the space of 10 years.

So what can we expect of Galileo's son Frankel? He was an even better 3-year-old than his dual Derby and King George-winning sire, with Frankel's Timeform rating of 143 being 9lb higher than Galileo's. Of course, Frankel's rating rose even higher, to an unrivalled 147 as a 4-year-old.

When I last wrote about Frankel in this column, following his first group success from Fair Eva in July last year, I explained that I understood that Frankel "is on a hiding to nothing, in that he cannot seriously be expected to sire anything better than himself. Indeed, he would do extremely well to sire anything which gets within hailing distance of his Timeform rating." Cont. p5

In which case, Frankel is doing extremely well. When his son Cracksman powered seven lengths clear in the G1 QIPCO Champion S., he achieved a Timeform rating of 136, which is indeed within hailing distance of the 143 posted by Frankel at the same age. And the consensus is that Cracksman--like his sire --will continue to improve from three to four.

The Racing Post has awarded him top position among this year's European horses, just 2lb above his celebrated stablemate Enable, and equal to the top-ranked dirt horse, Arrogate. Needless to say, Enable and Cracksman are both by sons of the phenomenal Galileo, who enjoyed a four-timer at group/graded level last week, including a double from Order Of St George and the wonderfully versatile Hydrangea on British Champions Day.

Maybe I'm biased, as bloodstock consultant to Juddmonte, but hopefully Frankel has now done more than enough to silence the critics who have been sniping at him virtually from the moment his first foals were born. Fairly typical was a Racing Post piece following Fair Eva's Group 3 victory, headlined "Sire defying expectations by looking real deal"

"Expectations of what Frankel might achieve with his first 2-year-old runners were tempered by some sobering truths," it read.

"Yes, he was the outstanding talent of the modern era on the track, but we knew that the majority of stallions fail, that his stock had received mixed reviews at auction and that many of his runners, owned by their breeders, would be in no hurry to grace a racecourse."

Cracksman | Racing Post

Frankel did his best to quell such criticism, ending 2016 with a total of six individual group/graded winners, headed by Japan's champion filly Soul Stirring. Since then his first crop, which numbers 111 Northern Hemisphere foals, has boosted its total of black-type winners to 17, with 13--a world-class 11.7%--winning at group level. He has his first Classic in the bag, thanks to Soul Stirring in the G1 Japanese Oaks, and it's possible to argue that Cracksman was rather unlucky not to have won the G1 Irish Derby. Timeform concluded, after studying the sectional times, that "sectional analysis points to the runner-up Cracksman being the best horse in the race, even without allowance for his having to come widest of all."

I have absolutely no desire to diminish Galileo's wonderful achievements, but it is worth pointing out that he has a lot more ammunition than Frankel, and that his fee has been considerably higher than his son's £125,000.

Galileo's 2014 crop numbers around 160 foals, compared to Frankel's 111, and the figures for their 2015 crops stand at over 130 for Galileo and 106 for Frankel. There is also a sizeable difference in the sizes of their 2016 and 2017 crops. However, Frankel's first 2-year-olds did so well that he was in much greater demand this year, so Frankel's name could be as ubiquitous as his sire's in a few years' time.

Frankel's 2015 crop has already produced three group winners in Elarqam, Nelson and Rostropovich and two daughters--Veracious and Contingent--who were recently named 'TDN Rising Stars', following impressive victories. I am personally looking forward to seeing Zarkava's daughter Zarkamiya, who has been described by trainer Alain de Royer-Dupre as "absolutely ravishing, beautiful to look at and a very good mover."

Of course, Zarkava was an exceptional Group 1 winner, as was Elarqam's dam Attraction, and Nelson is out of an G1 Irish Oaks winner. Juddmonte's impressive debut winners Herculean and Contingent are also out of Group 1 winners. Cont. p6

Frankel | Asuncion Pineyrua

They are just some of the Group 1 winners which Frankel earned with his brilliant achievements on the track. But don't make the mistake of thinking that a clutch of Group 1-winning mares is an automatic route to stallion success. According to the Blood-Horse's 2010 study of 65,196 American mares, Group 1-winning mares were indeed the most productive category but, even so, they produced no more than 5.77% graded stakes winners and 2.44% Grade I winners. In other words, fewer than 1 in 40 becomes a Grade I winner.

Frankel's Classic-winning daughter Soul Stirring is also out of a Group 1 winner in Stacelita, but a listed race victory represented the peak of success for Rhadegunda, the dam of Cracksman. Trained by John Gosden, this daughter of Pivotal managed only one start as a juvenile, when only seventh in an all-weather maiden at Lingfield in September. The patience paid off with Rhadegunda developing into a triple winner from 7.6 to 9 furlongs during a consistent 3-year-old campaign. Most of her starts were on ground softer than good and her listed victory came on very soft ground. Like many of Pivotal's progeny, Rhadegunda clearly wasn't inconvenienced by testing conditions and neither is Cracksman. Nor is Hydrangea, another of the Group 1 winners on British Champions Day, who also has a dam by Pivotal.

Although Rhadegunda didn't break her maiden until the August of her second season, she has the distinction of having produced Fantastic Moon, who became the only 2-year-old group winner ever sired by Dalakhani when he won the G3 Solario S. in 2012.

Cracksman was bred by Anthony Oppenheimer's Hascombe and Valiant Studs, as was Oppenheimer's Golden Horn, who was European Horse of the Year in 2015. Any breeding operation would be proud of producing two horses of this calibre in the space of only three years, but Oppenheimer has done so with a comparatively small number of broodmares.

Remarkably, these two top-class colts stem from the same female line, both having the Lorenzaccio mare Lora as their fourth dam. Lora's first foal Loralane, a winning daughter of Habitat, is the third dam of Golden Hind, while her second foal, the G1 1000 Guineas and G1 Sussex S. winner On The House, is the third dam of Cracksman.

Prior to Golden Horn, the Loralane branch was best known for the G1 Coronation S. winner Rebecca Sharp, a half-sister to the dam of Golden Horn. Cracksman is comfortably the best winner produced by the On The House branch of the family, but this female line had been producing top-notch winners for a very long time. His 10th dam is Lady Josephine, who found lasting fame as the dam of those legendary broodmares Lady Juror and Mumtaz Mahal.

It is the latter who ranks as Cracksman's ninth dam and the two are connected by Mumtaz Begum (dam of champion sire Nasrullah), Sun Princess (dam of top sire Royal Charger), Tessa Gillian (runner-up in the 1000 Guineas), Courtessa (dam of the King's Stand S. winner D'Urberville), Lora and On The House, with the last two links being the Green Desert mare St Radegund and Rhadegunda. Cracksman's fourth dam Lora was sired by Klairon's son Lorenzaccio from Courtessa, which made her a three-parts-sister to Klairessa, the Klairon mare who produced the brilliant sprinter Habibti.

Bearing in mind that the sires of Rhadegunda and St Radegund were Pivotal and Green Desert, it could be considered surprising that Cracksman has no problems with a mile and a half, even though Frankel was never asked to tackle much more than a mile and a quarter. Cont. p7

However, a certain amount of Galileo's stamina is emerging in some of Frankel's progeny, and it is worth adding that Galileo's progeny out of Pivotal mares are led by Hydrangea, The United States, Rhododendron, Gospel Choir and Flying The Flag, all of whom have enjoyed group success over a mile and a quarter or more. Galileo also sired the G1 Oaks winner Was from a Green Desert mare.

It was always on the cards that Frankel would sire some middle-distance stayers. He is bred to the same pattern as Teofilo, whose first crop of 3-year-olds included four winners at two miles or beyond, including the future G1 Irish St Leger winner Voleuse de Coeurs. His second produced that admirable long-distance performer Quest For More and Teofilo has even sired a two-mile listed winner from an Oasis Dream mare.

It could be relevant too that Cracksman's five generation pedigree features five lines to the GI Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer, with two of the lines in the fifth generation coming through Danzig.

DIFFERENT LEAGUE ADDED TO TATTS

Con and Theresa Marnane's 2-year-old filly Different League (Fr) (Dabirsim {Fr}--Danseuse Corse {Ire}, by Danehill Dancer {Ire}) has been added to the Tattersalls December Breeding Stock Sale on Dec. 4-7.

Different League (yellow) winning the Albany | Racing Post

Led out unsold at £14,000 at Doncaster last summer after being bought by Marnane for €8,000 as a foal, Different League won the G3 Albany S. at Royal Ascot, her third straight win. She has since placed twice in Group 1 company, when 1 1/4 lengths third in the G1 Prix Morny and when 1 3/4 lengths second in the G1 Cheveley Park S.

"The Marnane family have campaigned Different League impeccably and she is without doubt one of the most exciting 2-year-olds to be offered at the Tattersalls December Sale for a very long time. Genuine Group 1 2-year-olds seldom appear at public auction and Different League is a rare opportunity for buyers to acquire a serious contender for 2018 Classic honours."

"Being involved in the stud careers of Cape Cross and Dubawi from the very start and watching horses such as Barney Roy, Harry Angel, Pleascach and Ribchester at home and on the track in recent years has been highly fulfilling. I've always enjoyed both the breeding and commercial aspect of the industry so going out on my own was the next step."

Of his partnership with Ferguson, McStay said, "It's a natural one: we worked closely and successfully together for many years. Listed Silver Tankard S. Cont.

Having beaten the useful Westerland (GB) (Frankel {GB}) by six lengths when breaking his maiden over seven furlongs at Sandown Aug. 2, Connect was sent to the G3 Solario S. over that course and distance a month later but faded when attempting to make all and finishing sixth. Keen initially anchored behind the leading trio as he returned from a subsequent break, the bay was sent forward through a gap turning for home and responded by grabbing the lead with two furlongs to race and asserting for an authoritative first black-type success.

The dam's first winner turned out to be the useful Atlantic Sun (GB), a full-brother to Connect who was runner-up in the Listed Heron S. She is out of the G3 Rockfel S. scorer Germane (GB) (Distant Relative {Ire}), whose son Lucky Chappy (Ire) (High Chaparral {Ire}) ran second in the GII Virginia Derby and third in the GI Hollywood Derby. This is a family that Clive Cox has already had success with courtesy of the listed-winning filly Perfect Star (GB) (Act One {GB}), who produced last year's G3 Prestige S. scorer Kilmah (GB) (Sepoy {Aus}) and another of Cox's past stable representatives in the listed-placed Tears of the Sun (GB) (Mastercraftsman {Ire}). Also from the family of the G2 Blandford S. and G3 Blue Wind S. winner Four Sins (Ger) (Sinndar {Ire}), Robema has a yearling colt by Swiss Spirit (GB) to come. Click for the Racing Post result. DRUMMORE (IRE) (c, 2, Dubawi {Ire}--Rahiyah {GSW-Eng & G1SP-Fr, $116,304}, by Rahy), fourth when last seen over seven furlongs here on testing turf Oct. 7, was settled in second early. Initially wanting to hang to his right when asked to get the front-runner inside the final quarter mile, the 7-10 market-leader was straightened to gain the advantage at the furlong pole and assert for a 1 3/4-length success from The Gates of Dawn (Fr) (Iffraaj {GB}). Rahiyah, who captured the G2 Rockfel S. at two before finishing third in the G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches, has one black-type performer to her credit so far in stablemate Decathlete (Medaglia d'Oro) who was runner-up in the G3 Prix la Rochette. Like this year's Listed Prix Saraca winner Sonjeu (Fr) (Intello {Ger}), Drummore who has a yearling half-brother by Teofilo (Ire) and foal half-sister by Dark Angel (Ire) boasts as his third dam the G1 Coronation S. heroine Golden Opinion (Slew o' Gold) who like Rahiyah was also third in the Poule d'Essai des Pouliches. GHERYAF (IRE) (f, 2, Invincible Spirit {Ire}--Mrs Dubawi {Ire}, by Dubawi {Ire}), only 10th over a mile on debut at Bordeaux-le-Bouscat Sept. 26, was settled with two behind throughout the early stages. Delivered with a smooth effort down the outer to gain command with 150 metres remaining, the 14-5 second favourite asserted for a cosy two-length verdict over Spotless Mind (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}). Cont. p11

The winner is the first foal out of a daughter of the stakes winner Lucky Lune (Fr) (Priolo), who was also second in the GIII All Along Breeders' Cup S. and GIII The Very One H. and who produced the G1 Prix Saint-Alary third Nonsuch Way (Ire) (Verglas {Ire}). Also connected to the G3 Prix Penelope and G3 Prix de Flore scorer Celimene (Ire) (Dr Fong) and Ask For the Moon (Fr), another daughter of Dr Fong who was successful in the G1 Prix Saint-Alary before throwing the G1 Epsom Derby third Astrology (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), the dam has a yearling filly by Australia (GB) to follow. OBSERVATIONS on the European racing scene

2.00 Yarmouth, Cond, £7,000, 2yo, f, 8f 3yT

HAMEEM (GB) (Teofilo {Ire}) debuts for Hissa Hamdan Al Maktoum and John Gosden and cost Shadwell €500,000 at last year's Arqana August Sale. The half-sister to four black-type performers headed by the MGSW Tres Blue (Ire) (Anabaa Blue {GB}) meets another with strong connections in Michael Tabor, Derrick Smith and Susan Magnier's Hourglass (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), a Marco Botti-trained half-sister to Shamardal and the G2 Beresford S. scorer Geoffrey Chaucer (Montjeu {Ire}).

6.45 Kempton, Cond, £5,000, 2yo, 6f (AWT)

ERAAD (IRE) (Dark Angel {Ire}) debuts for Sheikh Hamdan bin Rashid Al Maktoum and Charles Hills and is a fascinating newcomer as a 500,000gns TATOCT first foal out of the G3 Abernant S. and G3 Sandown Sprint S. scorer Tickled Pink (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}). The February-foaled colt is therefore related to Ballydoyle's wellspring of Group 1 success Halfway To Heaven (Ire) (Pivotal {GB}) and her daughters Rhododendron (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) and Magical (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}).

WORLDWIDE NEWS

CHAMPION ALINGHI DIES

Four-time Group 1 winner and champion 2- and 3-year-old filly Alinghi (Aus) (Encosta de Lago {Aus}--Oceanfast {Aus}, by Monde Bleu {GB}) died during foaling at Arrowfield Stud on Monday. The 16-year-old mare's Not A Single Doubt (Aus) foal also died.

"It's a sad day for all of us, losing Alinghi and her foal," said Arrowfield Chairman John Messara. "She was a magnificent racehorse and after more than 11 years with us at Arrowfield, very much part of all our lives. We're immensely grateful for the joy she gave us, co-owners John Leaver and Alan Jones, her breeders, trainers, original owners and many others, and for her contribution as a broodmare. She has also left us five daughters, four of them already breeding for us, and a gorgeous yearling filly by Deep Impact we'll now keep."

Arrowfield Stud announced the sad news that their four-time Group 1 winning mare, Alinghi, passed away on Monday morning due to complications during foaling. She is pictured above with her 2016 filly by Deep Impact. Alinghi's legacy lives on with this filly as well as her four other daughters who reside at Arrowfield Stud. | Arrowfield Stud

Trained by Lee Freedman, Alinghi was named Australia's champion 2-year-old filly of 2003/04 off wins in the G1 Blue Diamond S., G3 Blue Diamond Prelude and G2 Reisling S., and was third in the fastest-ever G1 Golden Slipper. She added the G1 Thousand Guineas, G1 Robert Sangster S. and G1 Newmarket H. at three before being purchased privately by Arrowfield, Leaver and Jones and sent to the U.S. to join trainer Bobby Frankel. Alinghi won her American debut, the GIII Ballston Spa Breeders' Cup H. at Saratoga, but suffered a tendon injury after finishing eighth in the G1 Keeneland Turf Mile.

Returning to the paddocks at Arrowfield, Alinghi has produced two winners, including the dual stakes producer Line Honours (Aus) (Hussonet). Her lone colt, America (Aus) (Snitzel {Aus}), sold for A$1.8 million at Inglis Easter in 2015. Alinghi will be buried in the Arrowfield cemetery.

CONNOLLY BANNED UNTIL 2020

Ben Connolly, former racing manager to suspended trainer Ciaron Maher, has been banned from any involvement in racing until January 2020 for his involvement in an ownership scandal involving Group 1 winner Azkadellia (NZ) (Shinko King {Ire}) and four other horses, according to Racing.com. Connolly had been the owner on record for the five horses, and in 2014 Maher became aware, and reported to stewards, that there was other potential involvement in the horses included convicted conman Peter Foster and his niece Arabella Foster. Connolly failed to rectify the situation and in 2016 stewards slapped the horses with a ban from racing which still stands. The Racing Appeals and Disciplinary Board also on Monday revoked the estimated A$241,000 earned by the five horses in racing in Victoria, and it is expected other racing jurisdictions will follow suit.

Connolly had earlier pleaded guilty to charges of improper and dishonest conduct and giving misleading evidence. Maher, who last month pleaded guilty to charges of conduct prejudicial to racing's image, was suspended six months.
