

CECIL LEGACY STILL SHINING AT ASCOT

Sir Michael Stoute tips his top hat after setting the outright trainers' record at Royal Ascot | Racing Post

By Chris McGrath

When you race here, you run against both the quick and the dead. That's the real point of all this tradition, all this history: not the millinery and processions and car park picnics. Because the horses and people that contest a place in the vivid, teeming annals of Royal Ascot will also be measured against spectres that never fade.

It still hurts to think that these should now also include the man who, until yesterday, shared the status as the most prolific trainer in the meeting's history. For while Sir Henry Cecil vested the last of his genius in the horse of a lifetime, he is not embroidered in the Royal Ascot pageant merely as the stoical wraith who saddled Frankel (GB) (Galileo {Ire}) to a second success at the meeting in 2012.

In yesterday claiming the record outright with his 76th and 77th career wins here, beginning with Poet's Word (GB) (Poet's Voice {GB}) in the featured G1 Prince of Wales's S. and followed by Expert Eye (GB) (Acclamation {GB}) in the G3 Jersey S., Sir Michael Stoute will doubtless have thought back to the pomp of his old rival and neighbour.

For the majority of Cecil's 73 winners other than Frankel were prepared by a character who achieved the same seamless, with the tapestry of Victorian Ascot, as he did between his own nature and the gorgeous flourishes--the buttonholes and Hermes ties and all the rest of it--that would have seemed superficial in anyone else.

So much for the immortal dead. Stoute also had to beat the deadly quick, aptly enough in the form of a champion from the first crop of Frankel himself. Cracksman (GB) appeared a daunting obstacle in the G1 Prince of Wales's S., not least after a treble on the opening day had reiterated the way John Gosden, in recent years, has rather supplanted Stoute as the premier public trainer in Newmarket.

It reflects well on Gosden that he retained more courtesy and eloquence in the shock of defeat than most others manage in victory. This time his "crack" horse was all widening fissures, plainly not on the ball from the moment the gates opened.

THE PROVEN
SOURCE OF SPEED

COMING INTO THIS RACE, THIS WEEK,
EVERYONE WAS SAYING THAT CRACKSMAN COULDN'T BE BEATEN.
BUT I JUST THOUGHT THAT WITH MICHAEL IN CHARGE,
IT COULD HAPPEN.

Charlie Gordon-Watson

Cecil Legacy Still Shining At Ascot Cont. from p1

Cracksman had been excused a laboured success at Epsom last month on account of the track, but now a closer look needs to be taken at his own idiosyncrasies. Perhaps he is becoming inattentive or idle, as Gosden speculated, but the suspicion is growing that the horse will always prove more engaged on softer ground.

Cracksman deserves plenty of credit for nonetheless pulling so far clear of the third, but was readily outpointed by Poet's Word (Ire) (Poet's Voice {GB}). As a flourishing 5-year-old, this was the perfect horse to elevate Stoute as the one against whom future generations of Ascot trainers will have to measure themselves.

"Coming into this race, this week, everyone was saying that Cracksman couldn't be beaten," said Charlie Gordon-Watson, who bought Poet's Word for Saeed Suhail as a yearling. "But I just thought that with Michael in charge, it could happen. If there's one man training racehorses anywhere in the world, to pull one out of the fire like that, it's him. He's got that incredible feel for older horses. You think a horse isn't running that much and then, bang! A bit like Ulysses (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) last year."

"At the time, 300,000gns was a lot of money for a Poet's Voice," Gordon-Watson added. "But to me, he's the best-looking horse I've ever bought. And he moves so well. I bought him from Barry and Fiona Reilly of Woodcote Stud, fantastic breeders from whom I also bought [subsequent St Leger winner] Kingston Hill (GB) (Mastercraftsman {Ire}). I remember him very well: in the right yard at Tattersalls, third box on the right."

The agent was equally certain that the underbidder, at Tattersalls Book 2 in 2014, was none other than Gosden. Such is the ebb and flow of a horseman's calling, even at the highest level. But the things that set the best apart will abide, even when fashion turns against you—as it did against Cecil himself, of course. And then he came back here in 2011, to win the St James's Palace S. with Frankel.

That year, Stoute reached a nadir with just 53 British winners. But he was back up to 111 in 2016, and last year won more domestic prizemoney than ever before. To his resilience, moreover, we can also add generosity. "Henry had a lot of four-day Royal Ascots," he remarked. "So I've had an advantage with five."

Expert Eye (GB) (Acclamation {GB}) made a spectacular renaissance of his own to complete Stoute's double in the G3 Jersey S. It feels wrong for such a good race to have been shifted to the end of the card, but at least that brought things full circle on the day: Stoute's first winner at the meeting was Etienne Gerard (GB) (Brigadier Gerard {GB}) in the 1977 running. ### Cecil Legacy Still Shining At Ascot Cont.

That's 41 years ago. All these names--Stoute, Gosden and their late benchmark, Cecil--are associated with the kind of patience and husbandry that gradually carves out a niche in Turf history.

It was amusing to see the astonishment of the non-racing press when Amer Abdulaziz of Phoenix Thoroughbreds pronounced, after Signora Cabello (Ire) (Camacho {GB}) won the Queen Mary, that his organisation had a four-year plan to put itself "on the same level as Coolmore and Godolphin." Those who have followed its emergence more closely know that Phoenix could not have made a more purposeful start. But it's all about the long haul.

Phoenixes may rise. Cecil, for one, was certainly reborn from the ashes. But if his ultimate tragedy reminds us that it's always just dust to dust, wherever we finish in the race, then at least Royal Ascot will keep his name immortal. Stoute, conversely, can now be celebrated as living history--and deserves the congratulations of us all.

CHALLENGE SERIES WIN AND YOU'RE IN.™

THE LAST WORD

Sir Michael Stoute had been waiting two years to exceed the late great Sir Henry Cecil's record of 75 Royal Ascot winners and the genie of Freemason Lodge chose some stage to do it as one of the dyed-in-the-wool improving older horses he is so famed for, Poet's Word (Ire) (Poet's Voice {GB}), took the featured G1 Prince of Wales's S. on Wednesday, a "Win And You're In" qualifier for the G1 Breeders' Cup Turf at Churchill Downs in November. Sent off the 11-2 second favourite with all the focus naturally on Cracksman (GB) (Frankel {GB}), the G3 Brigadier Gerard S. winner travelled beautifully for James Doyle tracking that 2-5 favourite, who gave out contrasting signals from the very beginning with yet another sluggish display to match his Epsom effort. When it came down to a fight in the straight, it was short-lived as Saeed Suhail's 5-year-old readily brushed him aside passing the two-furlong pole en route to a convincing 2 1/4-length success, with eight lengths back to Hawkbill (Kitten's Joy) in third. "It's a relief, as we were stuck on it [75] last year and we've been very lucky to have some good horses down the years," Stoute said. "Maybe Cracksman isn't at his very best now, but we've beaten the others comprehensively and he's a consistent, brave and sound horse."

It didn't take long for Stoute to pull further clear on the Ascot leaderboard; he notched win number 77 at the Royal meeting two races later with Expert Eye (GB) (Acclamation {GB}) in the G3 Jersey S. Cont. p4

First successful in the Prince of Wales's in 1981 with Hard Fought (GB), four years after his first Royal Ascot success, Stoute had only won it again once in the interim which is surprising given his stellar record with older horses in this category. It is established fact that he is the foremost trainer of at least the last three decades at honing talent incrementally and building a horse towards an ultimate goal which is always judged within its compass. A longheld believer in the notion that in racing there is no such thing as surprise, only disappointment, he obviously had his keen eye trained on Poet's Word from an early stage as anybody would with a 300,000gns Tattersalls October graduate. Instead of contesting the 2016 Derby, the bay was instead placed in the 10-furlong handicap that Stoute had won with Conduit (Ire) (Dalakhani {Ire}), but he came up short in fourth and consequently stayed in handicap company for the rest of that campaign.

Finally let loose in pattern company last May, Poet's Word was a neck second to Deauville (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) in Chester's G3 Huxley S. over this trip before taking the 12-furlong G3 Glorious S. on testing ground at Glorious Goodwood in August. There were strong vibes about him prior to the G1 Irish Champion S. at Leopardstown the following month and he lived up to them when a half-length second to Decorated Knight (GB) (Galileo {Ire}) in that feature, but Cracksman beat him seven lengths in the G1 Champion S. here with no obvious excuses. Kept on the go throughout the winter after his relatively light 4-year-old season, he was sixth in the G1 Hong Kong Cup at Sha Tin on Dec. 10 and second to Hawkbill in the Mar. 31 G1 Dubai Sheema Classic at Meydan prior to becoming the 10th stable winner of the Brigadier Gerard.

With Cracksman never happy at any stage despite the strong pace set by the over-keen Eminent (Ire) (Frankel {GB}), James Doyle enjoyed a straightforward trip through the race tracking the Oppenheimer homebred at two lengths distance throughout. Rounding for home, Frankie was rowing away on the market leader whereas his adversary was still sitting pretty and the writing was soon on the wall. Dettori went for his whip even before they reached the two pole and Doyle was quickly on him baying for blood, but Poet's Word had his head lowered and running with resolution while Cracksman was galloping in the air. For the winning jockey, the result was never in doubt. "I could see even after a furlong that Cracksman was under pressure to hold his pitch and all the way up from Swinley Bottom to the home turn I was travelling all over him, it was just a case of hanging on," he explained. "They went a hell of a pace all the way and I was going easy, but in the back of my mind I knew this horse stays a mile and a half so I still wanted to press the button early enough. Sir Michael is a master trainer with horses like this, as he is just very patient with them. It is nice to ride a landmark winner for him like this."

Stoute reflected on his achievement and was quick to praise his stable team and the legend he finally eclipsed. "Henry [Cecil]'s record was formidable, because he accumulated those numbers when there were four days of Royal Ascot for most of his career and the five-day meeting hasn't been implemented for that long," he said. Cont. p6

"Nobody respected him greater than I did as a trainer. We are very glad it has happened and it is a great reflection on the staff. Last year at Royal Ascot, we had plenty of runners and had five beaten favourites, so I'm pleased to just win any race as we only needed one winner! I love the game and we have great staff and very supportive owners, so I'd like to keep going for a little while more. Certain horses that stick out include, of course, Etienne Gerard who was our first winner and Shareef Dancer, who was a very expensive 1981 yearling and won the King Edward VII S. in 1983. Shareef Dancer was the first horse Sheikh Maktoum Al Maktoum gave me."

Of the winner he added, "Poet's Word has been performing creditably in Group 1s and I am delighted for him to win one. We'll take our time with him before deciding on future plans, but he could go for the [G1] Coral-Eclipse [at Sandown on July 7] or the [G1] King George VI & Queen Elizabeth S. [back at Ascot on July 28]. There are a lot of options with him, as I think he is equally effective over 10 and 12 furlongs and there are not many that are. Anybody would love training this horse as he is so sound and honest."

John Gosden offered the view that Cracksman had his mind on other matters. "He is a clever horse and he was welcoming all the fillies that were walking back from the Duke of Cambridge on the way back to the stables," he explained. "I think we need to concentrate his mind, as we know the ability is there. His run wasn't too dissimilar to Epsom, as going up the hill there he wasn't really travelling even on good-to-soft ground. The other horse had him covered from two out. To my mind, he is just playing around a little bit. He did it at Epsom, but he didn't do it first time out at Longchamp. He has always been a laid-back horse and he is beyond laid-back now, so we will get him home and sharpen him a little bit ahead of the King George. At no stage was he travelling or carrying Frankie."

Dettori added, "He's not the same animal I was riding in the spring and not the Cracksman I know. He was very lethargic and was never travelling at any stage. I gave him every chance and usually when he turns for home, the turbo kicks in but today it was very one-paced. It was not his run."

Charlie Appleby said he was pleased with the effort of Hawkbill. "William [Buick] felt the ground is quick enough out there--it's good-to-firm and lovely summer ground, but our horse has won on good and it was fast enough for him. William also said he felt the blinkers were the way forward and to keep them on him--he felt he had every opportunity to lose interest coming into the straight, but he kept on, was honest and that gained us third place. The [G1] Juddmonte International [at York on Aug. 22] looks like being his forte--it's easier to get on the lead in a race like that, rather than having to dictate it yourself as you do overseas."

Tattersalls

Staying on strongly to collar the exuberant front-runner Nelson (Ire) (Frankel {GB}) with 1 1/2 furlongs remaining, the bay galloped to a 4 1/2-length success from Southern France (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), who ousted Nelson by a neck in the dying strides.

“We’ve always thought he’d stay this far and he loves fast ground,” Aidan O’Brien said. “We had been very happy with him since Epsom and Donnacha, who rode him in the Derby, said to maybe take a bit more time on him next time and that would suit. It was Nelson’s first run back for a while, while Seamus’s horse is a big baby who will improve a lot as the year goes on. Kew Gardens could go back for the [G1] Irish Derby [at The Curragh on June 30] or have a little rest and be trained for the [G1] St Leger [at Doncaster on Sept. 15]. In the autumn, that would be a lovely race for him but it’s a long way off and if he comes out of this as well as he did the Derby he can go anywhere.”

Hardened by a second to Nelson in the G3 Golden Fleece S., or Champions Juvenile S., on Irish Champions Day at Leopardstown and fourth to Saxon Warrior (Jpn) (Deep Impact {Jpn}) in the G2 Beresford S. at Naas in September, Kew Gardens handed Dee Ex Bee (GB) (Farhh {GB}) a 3 1/2-length beating upped from a mile to 10 furlongs in Newmarket’s Listed Zetland S. the next month.

Lacklustre on his return when third in the nine-furlong Listed Feilden S. back at Newmarket on Apr. 17, the bay lost a shoe when chasing home Knight To Behold (Ire) (Sea the Stars {Ire}) in the Listed Lingfield Derby Trial over an extended 11 furlongs on May 12 and took on that rival for the lead in the Derby before folding in the straight. As so often happens with Ballydoyle’s Epsom runners who were left trailing, he managed a rapid turnaround in his fortunes under a contrasting ride which had St Leger or even Ascot Gold Cup written all over it. On a day when Sir Michael Stoute clinched the overall record of Royal Ascot winners and went to 77, Aidan O'Brien was just 15 behind after this and Moore was on 49. "He's a lovely horse, the trip suited him and hopefully he can go on from there," the rider said. "He was slightly disappointing at Epsom, but that can happen as we know. We thought this trip would suit him. Aidan told me he has a very good mind and he gets the trip fine. He appreciates nice, level tracks so Doncaster would suit him well." Donnacha O'Brien said of Nelson, "He ran really well and will be a lovely stayer. He just wants two miles plus. His stride never shortened at all--he just kept galloping all the way to the line."

Pedigree Notes...

Kew Gardens's dam was the G1 Moyglare Stud S. winner Chelsea Rose (Ire) (Desert King {Ire}) and a real fast-ground performer, so it was no surprise to see her son step up on this dry surface. She had previously produced two black-type runners headed by the G3 Prix de Ris-Orangis winner and G1 Prix Maurice de Gheest third Thawaany (Ire) (Tamayuz {GB}), whose distance requirements lay at the other extreme. With a 2-year-old full-brother and yearling full-sister to the winner to follow, she hails from the family of the G2 Prix Eugene Adam scorer and G1 San Juan Capistrano Invitational H. runner-up River Warden (Riverman) and the GIII Hoist the Flag S. scorer Sweettuc (Spectacular Bid). ## ALJAZZI SHINES IN CAMBRIDGE TEST

Second at 40-1 to Qemah (Ire) (Danehill Dancer {Ire}) in last year's G2 Duke of Cambridge S., Saleh Al Homaizi and Imad Al Sagar's Aljazzi (GB) (Shamardal) cut an altogether different dash in Wednesday's renewal as she surged to an emphatic 3 3/4-length success to provide trainer Marco Botti with a first Royal Ascot winner. Warming up with a return third in the G2 Sandown Mile on Apr. 27, the homebred bay was only 9-2 this time and travelled strongly towards the rear under William Buick. Delivered to swamp Tribute Act (GB) (Exceed and Excel {Aus}) with a furlong remaining, she rushed into the clear from there as Wilamina (Ire) (Zoffany {Ire}) stuck on for third and the 7-4 favourite Hydrangea (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) checked out in eighth. Cont. p10

“The race worked out perfectly, as she’s a filly who warms up into her race and this is a track that can suit closers,” jockey William Buick said. “At halfway, she really came alive underneath me and gives you a lot of confidence. She ran well at Sandown last time on soft ground and needs this ground.”

Marco Botti, from a gilded Italian racing dynasty, had quickly established a healthy reputation from his Newmarket base and the son of Alduino Botti was behind the rise of one of Frankel’s chief rivals Excelebration (Ire). His wait for a Royal winner only confirms how difficult it is to capture one of this meeting’s prizes, but Aljazzi has thrived for the patience that can only reap such rewards as these. Brought along steadily after finishing 10th when pitched into the G1 1000 Guineas at Newmarket in May 2016, she took the Listed Dick Hern Fillies’ S. that August and Kempton’s Listed Snowdrop Fillies’ S. last April before letting the cat out of the bag in this contest. Off until winning the G3 Atalanta S. at Sandown in September, she ran ninth in the G1 Sun Chariot S. back at Newmarket in October and seventh in the following month’s GII Goldikova S. at Del Mar. Her comeback on rain-softened ground in the Sandown Mile was far enough away from this for her to build her condition gradually, and it was clear as soon as Buick pulled the trigger her peak effort was too much for these rivals.

Botti said he is looking at the July 13 G1 Falmouth S. at Newmarket for the winner. “We have been so close here so many times with horses like Dandino, Excelebration and Euro Charline and it is just nice to finally get one on the board. I am really delighted and I have to thank the owners for keeping Aljazzi in training. Last year, she came here as an outsider whereas today she was a shorter price. She winds herself up a bit before races and takes a little bit out of herself, so we tend to space her races out. Everything went to plan.”

“There is a month until the Falmouth S. and I would think that will fit in very well. This is why we wake up in the morning, we all want to have winners here. It is job done and I am really pleased for everybody.”

Soviet Song’s relative Tribute Act fully justified the decision by trainer James Fanshawe to supplement for this and he said, “She ran really well. She’s always looked good at home and last year she wasn’t quite right. She has really thrived since she was second in the fillies’ handicap here in May and I rang [Elite Racing’s] Tony Hill and Dan [Downie] and said, ‘Can we supplement her?’ They were game on and it has paid off. She’s a beautiful filly.”

Pedigree Notes...

Aljazzi’s owner-breeders Imad Al Sagar and Saleh Al Homaizi, who enjoyed Derby glory with Authorized (Ire), are building a smart breeding operation and this was their most notable achievement to date. Their racing manager and breeding advisor Tony Nerses bought this winner’s second dam Majestic Sakeena (Ire) (King’s Best) at the Tattersalls December Sale 12 years ago and she is a half to the Listed Oppenheim-Rennen scorer Shy Lady (Fr) (Kaldoun {Fr}).

Her four black-type winners include the G1 St James's Palace S.-winning sire Zafeen (Fr) (Zafonic) and the G3 Prix du Calvados winner Ya Hajar (GB) (Lycius), who in turn is the dam of the Listed Patton S. winner and G3 Diamond S. runner-up Prince of All (GB) (Iffraaj {GB}). Also from the family of the G2 Diadem S.-winning sire Diffident (Fr) (Nureyev), Majestic Sakeena's three black-type performers are Aljazzi's Listed John Musker Fillies' S.-winning dam Nouriya (GB) (Danehill Dancer {Ire}), and the listed-placed Yuften (GB) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}) and Lady Nouf (GB) (Teofilo {Ire}). Nouriya's 2-year-old filly is by Australia (GB), while she also has a yearling filly by Frankel (GB), a colt foal by Golden Horn (GB) and is in foal to the owners' 2017 G1 Irish Champion S. hero Decorated Knight (GB).

Al Sagar said, "We now know the family well and they all flourish with age--she has done really well from four to five. At one point in time, we thought she might be good enough for the 1000 Guineas, but after that race we realised she wasn't quite ready." Click for the free Equine.com catalogue-style pedigree.

DEJA VU

Yorkshire-based trainer John Quinn had captured the G2 Coventry S. with the Al Shaqab purchase The Wow Signal (Ire) (Starspangledbanner {Aus}) here in 2014 and pulled it off again on Wednesday as Signora Cabello (Ire) (Camacho {GB}) justified the recent investment of Phoenix Thoroughbreds to win the G2 Queen Mary S. for the North. Sent off at a bewildering 25-1 considering her connections and the fact that she came here off a win in the Listed Marygate Fillies' S. over this five-furlong trip at York on May 18, the bay was roused along from the break by Oisín Murphy and raced prominently in the centre as the 10-3 favourite and 'TDN Rising Star' Chelsea Cloisters (First Samurai) blew the start. Driven into a narrow lead from Shades of Blue (Ire) (Kodiac {GB}) inside the last 100 yards, she held off Ballydoyle's Gossamer Wings (Scat Daddy) in a pulsating finale by a short head, with the same margin back to Shades of Blue in third.

Signora Cabello | racingfotos.com

Yorkshire-based Quinn was not among the surprised.

"All she did was improve and she got hampered at halfway at York but was still well on top at the line," he said. "She has trained lovely since and is very unassuming, but keeps pulling it out. She is terribly tough and we have real belief in her."

Introduced at Beverley on Apr. 26, Signora Cabello ran a respectable fourth there before winning at Bath on May 7 and proving well up to black-type standard with a game defeat of two of these rivals Daphinia (GB) (Kuroshio {Aus}) and Snazzy (Ire) (Kodiac {GB}) in a competitive Marygate on York's Knavesmire.

There were a flurry of challengers to deal with here as well but again she refused to buckle under pressure, demonstrating a courage that can only be inherent at this fledgling stage of her career. "Signora Cabello is very laid-back, but she does help you," Quinn added. "Even today, she was very relaxed. She has a very good mind and she has plenty of ability." With a quarter-share still with her original owners Zen Racing, made up of Ross Sankey and Chris Edwards, the winner is set to take that partnership on a thrill ride now.

"Phoenix Thoroughbreds enquired about the filly two weeks ago and bought her a week ago," her trainer said. "Ross and Chris are currently in Barbados watching the cricket! This is the first horse we have bought for them and my son Sean bought the filly for them at Newmarket as he loved the pedigree. Signora Cabello is in everything, but we'll see how she comes out of this before making a definitive plan."

Oisín Murphy added, "This is the Olympics of flat racing, the most important week in British flat racing for sure and to ride a winner here is a dream come true. I came agonisingly close yesterday in these colours on Advertise. I would just like to thank John Quinn, Dermot Farrington and all of the Phoenix Thoroughbred operation for letting me ride their horses at the moment. It is a dream come true. They have a very exciting bunch of horses."

Shades of Blue's trainer Clive Cox was delighted with the third and commented, "She's very strong and a proper 2-year-old. I don't think there's any doubt she's all speed and we won't be experimenting by going any further up in trip. It was a great run and fair play to the first two--she deserved to be bang up there. She's been beaten two short-heads and while it is not an excuse it would have been nice not to have been drawn on the wing. Last year we took Heartache to the [G2] Prix Robert] Papin after she won here, but there are all sorts of options for this filly."

THIS IS THE OLYMPICS OF FLAT RACING, AND TO RIDE A WINNER HERE IS A DREAM COME TRUE.

Oisín Murphy

HIS EYE IS IN

So soon after Sir Michael Stoute made the Royal Ascot record his own, there was more glory in store for the Freemason Lodge handler as Khalid Abdullah's aptly-named Expert Eye (GB) (Acclamation {GB}) bounced back to his brilliant best in the G3 Jersey S.

Expert Eye and James McDonald | Racing Post

Only 10th in the G1 2000 Guineas at Newmarket on May 5, last year's impressive G2 Vintage S. scorer needed a revival and that came in the able hands of James McDonald as he registered a first Royal winner with all the skill that had made him hot property before his ban. Held up towards the rear as Ryan Moore set off fast on Uncle Mo's half-sister Could It Be Love (War Front), the 8-1 shot was allowed to creep his way into contention before the quarter pole and when he reached that marker he still had five lengths to make up on the G1 Irish 1000 Guineas runner-up. Doing so in a furlong, the homebred stayed on strongly out on his own to score by 4 1/2 lengths from Society Power (Ire) (Society Rock {Ire}), who edged Could It Be Love for second by a neck.

"He felt like a rocket ship there," McDonald said. "He travelled really kindly and picked up very good. I could see Ryan ahead and I knew he was going to pick him up very quickly. Credit to the horse and Sir Michael--he's a true legend."

Expert Eye had the bookmakers running for cover after his Goodwood virtuoso during last summer, but when he panicked in the stalls ahead of the G1 Dewhurst S. for which he traded at 4-7 he was unable to give anything like his true running and trailed in last. Coaxed back to action, he was second to James Garfield (Ire) (Exceed and Excel {Aus}) in the G3 Greenham S. over this trip at Newbury on Apr. 21 but lost his way again in the Newmarket Classic a fortnight later, and it was a case of waiting and seeing in this competitive contest. Allowed to find his way through the field by McDonald, whose natural feel in the saddle is well-documented, Expert Eye was able to conjure all his old dynamism and finish off in the style of the class act he had looked before the Dewhurst debacle.

“He was such a good 2-year-old, but things went wrong and I’m so thrilled to see him back to this sort of form,” he said. “This horse has had a lot of work put into him by my head man James Savage, who rides him out every morning and the boys have done a great job with him in the stalls, as that was his problem in the Dewhurst. I still hadn’t seen convincing homework like I did last year, but it doesn’t matter now.”

Pedigree Notes...

Expert Eye is only the second representative of Exemplify (GB) (Dansili {GB}), a Criquelette Head-Maarek trainee who won once over a mile at Deauville. She is a half to one of that trainer’s better runners of recent times in Special Duty (GB) (Hennessy), who was awarded both the G1 1000 Guineas and G1 Poule d’Essai des Pouliches on the disqualification of the winner, having won the G1 Cheveley Park S. outright. The second dam Quest to Peak (Distant View) is a full-sister to the dual GI Beldame S. and GI Ogden Phipps H. heroine Sightseek, who was also successful in the GI Ruffian H., GI Go for Wand H. and GI Humana Distaff H. Also a half to the GI Yellow Ribbon S. and GI Gamely Breeders’ Cup H. winner Tates Creek (Rahy), she is out of the MSW and GSP third dam Viviana (Nureyev), who is a half to the GII Tidal H. scorer and GI Santa Barbara H. third Revasser (Riverman) and the GI Kentucky Oaks and GI Hempstead H. runner-up Hometown Queen (Pleasant Colony), who in turn produced the GII Meadowlands Breeders’ Cup-winning sire Bowman’s Band. Viviana’s full-sister Willstar is the dam of Etoile Montante (Miswaki), who captured the G1 Prix de la Foret, GII Palomar Breeders’ Cup H. and GIII Las Cienegas H. for this operation. Exemplify’s 2-year-old filly by Kingman (GB) is named Clerisy (GB), while she also has a yearling colt by Dark Angel (Ire) and a colt foal also by Kingman. Click for the free EquineLine.com catalogue-style pedigree.

Travelling with ease down the outside of the group racing up the centre approaching the two-furlong pole, the 16-1 shot rolled by Afaak (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}) soon after and asserted for a 2 1/4-length success from that rival, in the process registering just the second success for his country since 1980. Trainer David Marnane, who saddled Dandy Boy (Ity) (Danetime {Ire}) to take the 2012 Wokingham H. at this meeting, said, “We knew all the way through last year that he was this sort of class; he progressed all along. He broke his pelvis last year, taking a step out of the stalls on his second run as a three-year-old, so it is a remarkable recovery. Thankfully the vets have done a great job. We knew he was a group horse. We’ve had this race in mind for a long time and it’s come off. When you train 20 horses and you’ve won a Wokingham and now a Royal Hunt Cup, it’s very special.” The dam, who also has a yearling filly by Air Chief Marshal (Ire) named Flight Chief (Fr), is a daughter of the MSP Park Charger (GB) (Tirol {Ire}). That makes her a half-sister to the G3 Ballycorus S. winner Rum Charger (Ire) (Spectrum {Ire}), who in turn produced the GI Joe Hirsch Turf Classic Invitational S., GI Sword Dancer Invitational S., GI Secretariat S. and GI Manhattan H. hero Winchester (Theatrical {Ire}) and the MGSW Middleburg (Lemon Drop Kid).

ROYAL ASCOT THURSDAY: THE GOLD STANDARD

By the time we know the outcome of the dual between Order of St George (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) and Stradivarius (Ire) (Sea the Stars {Ire}) in the G1 Gold Cup, Royal Ascot 2018 will be more than halfway over and a lot of the big questions would have been answered. This is a clash to savour and a build-up to relish, with the meeting's ancient showpiece now firmly reinstated as at least its main source of racing entertainment. While it is gratifying to witness the kings and queens of agility in the sprints and the princes and princesses of the mile and middle-distance bouts, there is something timeless in the spectacle of the great stayers straining sinew in the last quarter mile of this two-and-a-half mile trip. It is a long time since we had a genuine stand-off between a pair of such calibre in this race and it conjures memories of Le Moss (Ire) and Ardross (Ire) in 1980, when the former prevailed over his younger opponent in the first of their thrilling trio of encounters.

If Order of St George is to regain the crown he surrendered to Big Orange (GB) (Duke of Marmalade {Ire}) 12 months ago, he will have to take Stradivarius out of his comfort zone on ground that favours Bjorn Nielsen's challenger.

Stradivarius breezed his way through the May 18 G2 Yorkshire Cup, a success that keeps him on track for the Stayers' Million, which adds an extra dimension to this year's renewal. The pair also have to reckon with His Highness The Aga Khan's Vazirabad (Fr) (Manduro {Ger}), who comes to Britain for the first time on the back of a thoroughly convincing success in the G2 Prix Vicomtesse Vigier at ParisLongchamp on May 27.

Aidan O'Brien is looking for a record eighth edition and said he sees no reason to expect anything other than Order of St George's best on the day. "We are as happy with him going into the Gold Cup as we have been with him in any of the other years he has gone there," he said.

John Gosden is a keen historian and said he sees the significance of this particular renewal as he prepares Stradivarius for the longest distance he has performed over.

Order of St George looks to regain his Gold Cup crown | Racing Post

"It's got great depth in it this year. So often the Gold Cup can be a little bit thin on quality, but there is a lot of depth there and it's an exciting Gold Cup this year," he said. "He's in great nick and he has come out of his win at York very well. It will be a helluva test--the two and a half miles. Once he goes beyond two miles, it is uncharted territory. We are very hopeful he will get the trip. If he doesn't, we know what we will do--we will go to a Goodwood Cup and prepare for a Melbourne Cup."

Stars Align In Riddlesdale...

Godolphin's Charlie Appleby stable is picking up impulsion as the season wears on and there is no reason to expect anything other than a G2 Ribblesdale S. success for 'TDN Rising Star' Wild Illusion (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}) after sound efforts when fourth in the G1 1000 Guineas at Newmarket May 7 and runner-up in the June 1 G1 Epsom Oaks. Last year's G1 Prix Marcel Boussac winner sets a lofty standard, but it is notable that only two winners of this in the last 10 years had been to Epsom.

Cont. p16

WAS IT A DIFFICULT DECISION TO BACK
HER UP QUICKLY AFTER EPSOM?
NO, NOT AT ALL. SHE'S COME OUT OF THE RACE WELL.

Charlie Appleby on Wild Illusion

“She’s in great order,” Appleby said. “She looks fantastic and she’s training well. Was it a difficult decision to back her up quickly after Epsom? No, not at all. She’s come out of the race well and if she can repeat her Oaks performance she will be very hard to beat in the Ribblesdale.”

One coming up from underneath is Khalid Abdullah’s ‘TDN Rising Star’ Sun Maiden (GB) (Frankel {GB}), a half-sister to Midday (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}) who won a 10-furlong Salisbury novice contest by 12 lengths despite looking green. While the form of that race is in no way strong, the homebred is made up of the finest Juddmonte fabric and is in the hands of this meeting’s winningmost trainer Sir Michael Stoute. “She was really impressive at Salisbury, but it was only a maiden,” Juddmonte’s racing manager Teddy Grimthorpe said. “Sir Michael has given her more time to mature both mentally and physically. She is coming on and, like everybody else will be saying, she is in good form and we are hoping for a good run. We are going to find out if her inexperience at that level will hold her back, but if she has got enough talent she will be all right.”

Filly A Force In The Norfolk...

Wesley Ward's Shang Shang Shang | Coady

The opening G2 Norfolk S. will hinge on whether Breeze Easy’s Apr. 26 Keeneland maiden special weight winner Shang Shang Shang (Shanghai Bobby) can burn off the Europeans for Wesley Ward and Joel Rosario, but this is a race Aidan O’Brien is capable of springing a rare surprise in. Sioux Nation (Scat Daddy) and Waterloo Bridge (Ire) (Zoffany {Ire}) were 14-1 and 12-1 winners respectively in the last three years and his sole representative Land Force (Ire) (No Nay Never) trades around that price after finishing third in the Listed Marble Hill S. at The Curragh on May 26.

The line-up of zippy juveniles includes the Robert Cowell-trained ParisLongchamp winner Pocket Dynamo (Dialed In) and two from the first crop of Charm Spirit (Ire) in the Hannon runner The Paddocks (Ire) and Charming Kid (GB) from the Richard Fahey yard. Another first-season sire with representation is Bungle Inthejungle (GB), whose Rumble Inthejungle (Ire) races for last year’s Coventry-winning partnership of Rebel Racing and Richard Spencer.

“He won very well at Salisbury first time out and the form of that race has worked out well, I think two winners have come out of that race already,” Spencer said. “He’s taken a big step forward from his debut and I think he’ll run a big race.”

A Hampton Hat Trick?

Godolphin has a trio in the G3 Hampton Court S. they have won for the past two years headed by the Listed Newmarket S. winner Key Victory (Ire) (Teofilo {Ire}) and Charlie Appleby said he is hoping he can rebound from a last-out eighth in the G1 Prix du Jockey Club at Chantilly on June 3.

“He is a horse who is learning on the job,” he commented. “He didn’t lose anything in defeat in France and he learnt plenty on the day. I think he will be a key player in the Hampton Court and being back on a sounder surface will suit him.” The race’s unknown quantity is the promising Shadwell homebred Wadilsafa (GB) (Frankel {GB}), who readily dispatched the highly-regarded Herculean (GB) (Frankel {GB}) in a mile novice race at Newmarket on May 18.

The Britannia H. over a mile features some 3-year-olds on the up including the course-and-distance winner Corrosive (Uncle Mo) from the Hugo Palmer stable, while heading the weights for the closing King George V S. is Godolphin’s Dubhe (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}), a son of the G1 Irish Oaks heroine Great Heavens (GB) (Galileo {Ire}) who gave the re-opposing London Gold Cup winner Communique (Ire) (Casamento {Ire}) eight pounds and a four-length beating in a Sandown handicap on Apr. 27. Lurking in this is Juddmonte’s First Eleven (GB) (Frankel {GB}), a John Gosden-trained son of the G1 Poule d’Essai des Pouliches heroine Zenda (GB) (Zamindar) and therefore a half to Kingman (GB) who was impressive when winning by five lengths in an 11-furlong Newbury handicap on May 18.

G2 NORFOLK S.

Each of the 10 runners in the Norfolk S. have passed through a sales ring; the least expensive transaction was when Kinks was bought as a foal for 4,000gns. On the higher end of the scale, Land Force was a €350,000 yearling, and Vintage Brut was bought by his new owners just three days ago for £280,000.

CHARMING KID (GB) (Charm Spirit {Ire}) was sold by breeder Biddestone Stud to Mags O'Toole for 75,000gns at the Tattersalls December Foal Sale. Re-offered by Lynn Lodge Stud at Goffs Orby last September, he was led out unsold at €45,000, but seven months later found a new home for £105,000 when The Cool Silk Partnership and Stroud Coleman Bloodstock scooped him up at the Goffs UK breeze-up sale. He looks to become the first stakes winners for his first-season sire.
B-Biddestone Stud Ltd.

GLORY FIGHTER (GB) (Kyllachy {GB}) was a 95,000gns find by SackvilleDonald at Tattersalls October Book 2, and was plucked from the National Stud consignment. B-Mr & Mrs P Hopper & Mr & Mrs M Morris.

KINKS (GB) (Sixties Icon {GB}) was bred by Mike Channon and offered through Norman Court Stud at the Tattersalls December Foal Sale, where he was bought by Whitwell Bloodstock for 4,000gns. Re-offered by Rathasker Stud just nine weeks later at Goffs February, he was unsold at €7,000, but fared a bit better at the Sportsman's sale in September, where he fetched €14,000 from Gill Richardson. He now races under the care of Mick Channon for David Hudd, Chris Wright & Ann Black. B-Mike Channon Bloodstock Ltd.

KONCHEK (GB) (Lethal Force {Ire}) was purchased by trainer Clive Cox for 85,000gns from breeder Cheveley Park Stud at Tattersalls October Book 2. He is the first stakes performer out of the G2 Lowther S. and G3 Princess Margaret S. winner Soar (GB) (Danzero {GB}), who was second in the G2 Queen Mary S. at this meeting. B-Cheveley Park Stud Ltd.

LAND FORCE (IRE) (No Nay Never) was bred by Evie Stockwell and now races in the silks of her son John Magnier. The half-brother to dual Grade I winner Photo Call (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) passed through the Goffs Orby ring as part of the Oaks Farm Stables consignment, where he was signed for by Magnier/Mayfair for €350,000, and he now races for Magnier, Tabor and Smith. As would be expected of any Coolmore-connected colt, Land Force comes from a seriously deep family: his second dam is Cassandra Go (Ire) (Indian Ridge {Ire}), winner of Royal Ascot's King's Stand S. when it was a Group 2, and she has produced the triple Group 1 winner Halfway To Heaven (Ire) (Pivotal {GB}) and her triple Group 1-winning daughter Rhododendron (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) among many accomplished descendants. B-Mrs Evie Stockwell.

The blueblooded Land Force | Racing Post

POCKET DYNAMO (Dialed In) is a $20,000 Keeneland November graduate, having been purchased by EA Bloodstock from the draft of Darby Dan, which stands his sire. Hunter Valley Farm re-offered the colt at Keeneland September, where trainer Robert Cowell picked him up for $35,000. Pocket Dynamo has won two of three thus far, but had no takers when led out unsold at £170,000 at Goffs London on Monday evening. B-Jocelyn Shutkas.

RUMBLE INTHEJUNGLE (IRE) (Bungle Inthejungle {GB}) looks to make it back-to-back Royal Ascot wins for Rebel Racing and Richard Spencer following Rajasinghe (Ire) (Choisir {Ire})'s victory in last year's G2 Coventry S. Rumble Inthejungle was unsold at €52,000 as a Goffs November Foal, but breeder Patrick Gleeson dispatched him to Rebel Racing and Bobby O'Ryan for £70,000 at Goffs UK's Premier yearling sale last August. B-Patrick Gleeson.

Where Did They Come From Cont.

THE PADDOCKS (IRE) (Charm Spirit {Ire}) was bought by Ross Doyle on behalf of Merriebelle and Sullivan Bloodstock for €120,000 at Arqana's August yearling sale from perennial leading vendor and breeder Monceaux. B-Ecurie Des Monceaux.

VINTAGE BRUT (GB) (Dick Turpin {Ire}) was among the King Power Racing haul signed for by SackvilleDonald at Goffs London on Monday evening, and his pricetag was £280,000. He was previously raced by Lovely Bubbly Racing to win his two starts to date. B-Mrs D O'Brien.

SHANG SHANG SHANG (Shanghai Bobby) is expected to provide Wesley Ward with his latest Royal Ascot victory when she goes up against the colts here. Originally a $110,000 OBS Winter Mixed Sale purchase by Summerfield, the bay was pinhooked for $200,000 when bought by Breeze Easy at OBS March and was the winner of her lone start at Keeneland in April when beating subsequent winner and stablemate Moonlight Romance (Liaison), who goes for Saturday's Listed Windsor Castle S. B-Kris R Del Giudice.

WORLDWIDE NEWS

TRADE AT INGLIS REMAINS STEADY

The fourth day of the Inglis Great Southern Sale at Oaklands Junction concluded with a solid day of trade mostly on par with 2017. From 294 broodmares offered over the past two sessions, 220--four more than 2017--were knocked down for A$4,437,400 at a 75% clearance rate, the same percentage as last year's. The gross was A$4,343,900 last term. The median also remained identical to 2017 at A$6,000, with the average rising only 0.3% to A$20,170.

Wednesday's session consisted entirely of broodmares and one stallion, with eight lots making six figures. Lot 660, the winner Darook Park (Aus) (Darci Brahma {NZ}), took top honours, attracting a bid of A$135,000 from Boom Racing Thoroughbreds of Queensland. Consigned by Woodside Park Stud, which has featured prominently throughout the sale, the 5-year-old was carrying a foal by that operation's Group 1 sire Written Tycoon (Aus). Darook Park's winning dam has already produced Silk Pins (NZ) (Pins {Aus}), who was runner-up in the G1 Diamond S, as well as the dam of MGSW and G1 Queen of the Turf S. bridesmaid Gypsy Diamond (Aus) (Not A Single Doubt {Aus}).

"Being in foal to Written Tycoon [was a big attraction] and she's a nice page and has black-type throughout her family," said Andrew Dunemann of Boom Racing Thoroughbreds, who indicated the mare would most likely visit Spirit Of Boom (Aus) next. "The quality of mares he [Spirit Of Boom] has got this year is unbelievable compared to what he has served in the first four years."

Rothwell Park snapped up the next two most expensive lots, extending to A$110,000 for Little Bit a Love (Aus) (Snippetson {Aus}) (lot 746) from Rosemont Stud and Splat (Aus) (More Than Ready) (lot 860) for A$105,000, also from Woodside Park Stud. The former was covered by Vancouver (Aus), while the latter is in foal to champion first-season sire elect Zoustar (Aus).

“It’s been great to offer such a large catalogue,” said Inglis Victoria Bloodstock Manager Simon Vivian. “There was strong competition for the mares at the top end of the sale and we saw some fantastic results.”

The final day of the Inglis Great Southern Sale, which features over 150 racehorse, 20+ yearlings and some unbroken lots, begins on Thursday at 10 a.m. local time.

ARE SUPER TRAINERS GOOD OR BAD FOR THE SPORT?

Mark Casse
Trainer, Casse Racing

Part II of a two-part series, by Bill Finley

Trainer Dan Peitz never had a particularly big stable, but he always seemed to get the most of what he had. He won the GI Test S. in 1996 with Capote Belle (Capote), one of six graded stakes she won during her career, and he won the GII Fair Grounds Oaks in 2001 with Real Cozy (Cozzene). He wasn't getting rich or on his way to the Hall of Fame, but he made a living, paid his bills and he loved what he was doing. In 2011, he made 130 starts, won 19 races and his stable earned $692,734.

Peitz now has just 16 horses and won eight races in 2017 with his stable earning $341,139. He last won a stakes race in 2015.

"It's tough to make a living," Peitz said. "I'm small now, a small trainer."

Did Peitz lose his training skills? That's not likely. Rather, he became something few owners want anymore--just another trainer. Like hundreds of others who fall somewhere in the middle of the training ranks, he cannot compete with the "Super Trainers," the Chad Browns, Todd Pletchers, Bob Bafferts, Steve Asmussens, Mark Casses. They get all the top owners, which means they get all the top horses. There's very little left over for someone like Peitz.

Peitz was hit particularly hard when the primary client he had relied on for most of his career, Robert and Lawana Low, who owned both Capote Belle and Real Cozy, decided to make a change. They would still give Peitz some horses, but they wanted to get to the next level and figured the best trainer to take them there was Pletcher.

LETTER FROM ASCOT: HEROES AND GOATS

by Dave Johnson

When I heard the Ascot track announcer say, "Tony Curtis is heading to the stalls," it took me a while to put two and two together.

"I thought Tony Curtis was dead," the guy next to me in the press box muttered. I was sure he was, too. But then I realized the announcer was talking about #16 in Wednesday's G2 Royal Hunt Cup Handicap.

For those of you who always complain about short fields and favorites with ever blinking low odds, consider the fact that 32 were entered for this race today, and 30 ran. They needed three starting gates for the straight-on one-mile test.

The favorite was 7-1. And it wasn't Tony Curtis (GB) (Rock of Gibraltar {Ire})--he finished nineteenth at 40-1. Late money poured in on #32 Seniority, making him the tepid public choice.

The Lows paid $380,000 for Magnum Moon (Malibu Moon) at the 2016 Keeneland September sale and the horse went on to win the GII Rebel S. and the GI Arkansas Derby for Pletcher. They had never before given a top horse to anyone but Peitz.

Peitz is as good-natured as they come and realizes owners have become increasingly enamored with the training stars of the game. He watched the Rebel from Oaklawn's Jockey Club with the Lows and rooted them on.

"I've been with them for something like 25 years, I'm still part of their team and I pull for them," he said. "They told me they were going to spend some good money on yearlings and 2-year-olds and wanted to get to the [GI Kentucky] Derby. They thought Todd was the best person to get them there."

The trainer's share of Magnum Moon's wins in the two Oaklawn stakes was $114,000.

As for Peitz, he said, "I'm just going month to month trying to pay my bills."

He also regularly got some horses from Shadwell Farm. He is getting fewer and fewer each year as they are focusing on Brown and Kieran McLaughlin.

Can the sport afford to have the Dan Peitzes of the world go out of business? It cannot. There have to be middle-class trainers to fill the $12,500 claimers on a Thursday afternoon. Pletcher just doesn't run in those races.

That fact is one of the reasons many are alarmed by the growing power of the super trainers. Another criticism is that with so few trainers handling so many horses, it's contributing to small fields. With the exception of stakes races, most tracks won't let a trainer run more than two horses in a race. A super trainer might have five that fit the condition and three will have to sit the race out. If those three were with other, smaller barns, there would be three more horses in the race. Cont. p4

“There’s no question that super trainers are a problem,” said Tim Ritvo, the COO of the Stronach Group. “In California, 20% of the guys are winning 80% of the money. These are guys who are successful and have worked hard all their lives, so you don’t want to penalize them. America is all about free enterprise. But there needs to be more of a balance and if there’s not, we’re not going to have anyone left to run against these big guys.”

Chuck Simon is just the type of trainer a racing secretary relies on to fill middle and lower-level races. A former assistant to Allen Jerkens, he started 215 horses in 2004. In 2017, he made just 75 starts and won 10 races. He now has about 24 horses.

“I’m not looking for any sympathy, but it’s difficult,” he said. “I’m not just talking about myself. We talk. Trainers talk. Nobody wants to be known as the guy that is struggling or is broke.”

Simon said that many trainers are filling stalls by agreeing to train horses for free in return for a share of ownership. He says that’s no way to make a living.

“Empty stalls are the enemy,” he said. “You can’t make money with empty stalls. So a lot of people are willing to make deals. But these are mainly for failed horses.”

“These top trainers just do a very good job,” said Tom Bush, a New York regular who has about 25 horses. “They’re very organized and success begets success. And it’s snowballed. Most of the good horses are in just a few hands and that’s something that makes it difficult for the rest of us to compete. I will say this: I really enjoy it when I beat these guys.”

In order for trainers like Bush, Peitz and Simon to survive, they occasionally have to have a top horse come into their barn—one that can make enough money to make up for the ones who aren’t producing and earning. They’re just not getting them anymore.

The 2018 Belmont Stakes featured five horses trained by Hall of Famers, three trained by certain future Hall of Famers and two trained by potential Hall of Famers. | Horsephotos

“All About the Girls has landed in Ireland with a bang. Given the Irish reputation for competing on an International stage it was a no brainer to set up an Irish based syndicate. To have a runner at Royal Ascot with our first filly is phenomenal. We really are living the dream.”

HORSE RACING IRELAND
OWNERSHIP

www.racehorseownership.ie | #ExperienceIt |

There are many reasons field size and the number of races being run in the country are down, but many racing executives believe one factor is the super trainer. The theory is that with so many horses in the hands of so few trainers, horses get pushed into the background and aren’t given as many opportunities to run as they would have if they were in smaller barns.

“You have to question what the owners are thinking when they automatically go to these trainers,” NYRA Senior Vice President of Racing Martin Panza said in a March 16 interview in the TDN. “When you’re the 10th ‘one other than’ in that barn, you’re not going to run more than three or four times a year. You look at the larger trainers and that’s the case with most of these horses. That’s stupidity on the part of the owner. There are plenty of guys that can train and you can pick a smaller trainer, and when I say smaller that doesn’t mean he can’t train, it means he doesn’t have the same numbers. You give that horse to him and that horse might run eight or nine times a year instead of four.”

Not all owners prefer to go the super-trainer route. Though the Pletchers, Browns and Bafferts somehow seem to be able to communicate on a regular basis with their owners, with a smaller trainer, the owner is going to get much more attention and it’s likely that the horse will get plenty of hands-on care from the actual trainer. The super trainer who has divisions at numerous tracks is often relying on an assistant to do the day-to-day work. Cont. p5

Rodney Paden has owned horses for years, but only recently started to deal with higher-class horses. He sold his business and had the money to buy some expensive horses. He recently privately purchased a horse named Art Collection (Flat Out), who was trained by Chad Brown. He could have kept him with Brown, but instead sent him to Charles “Scooter” Dickey. At the 2017 Keeneland November Sale, he was advised by Dickey to buy One Go All Go (Fairbanks), who went for $62,000. The horse has since won the GII Elkhorn S. and finished third in the GI Man o’ War S.

“I’ve always known that Scooter knows what he’s doing,” Paden said. “He’s always been capable and in the early eighties he had some big-name horses. Scooter is very hands-on and he’s there every morning at four. Not only with his horses—he can tell you everything about every horse at the track. If you’re looking to claim something, he’s always out there clocking horses. He’s forgotten more about horse racing that I’ll ever know and that’s why I’m so enamored with him.

“There are a lot of good horsemen who don’t get enough horses to go big-time. Look at One Go All Go. He was a struggling 5-year-old when we bought him for $62,000 and look what Scooter has done with him. He’s made us $350,000 in six months. How can you argue with that kind of success? It’s nothing I did. It’s all on Scooter.”

Dickey knows first-hand what it’s like to lose a horse to a more prominent trainer. He won the 2011 GII Suburban H. and the

But the Rodney Padens of the world—an owner who will give a stakes horse to a small barn—are becoming more and more rare. Everyone wants results and the super trainers produce. Pletcher and the others will tell you that they get the most horse and the best horses because they are outperforming the competition.

“This is a results-oriented business,” Pletcher said. “It’s as simple as that. If you’re successful, you do well, you win races, that attracts more clients. Our program suits what the American owners want. We emphasize 2-year-old and 3-year-old racing and we’ve been fortunate enough to be successful in some of the Triple Crown events and a lot of the prep races leading up to them. The one thing we’re proudest of is that we have developed a lot of top stallions for our clients.”

Todd Pletcher | Sarah Andrew

Yet, there is something to be said for how the super trainers have changed the game, and not for the better.

“How much can the game take?” asked Simon. “You see stakes races have short fields, and there’s five horses, and two are trained by one guy and two are trained by another and then there’s a third horse who is 50-1 who was hustled into the race. There is competition for those horses but they are in the same barns and they have no incentive to run five horses in the same race. If the horses were spread out among other trainers, it would make for much better racing. That’s not compelling racing. It’s not fun to watch.”

One solution would be to limit their stalls, to go back to an era when a trainer could only have 40 or so horses. That’s an obvious restriction of free enterprise and, for the most part, no one is for it.

“You can’t tell successful business people who are in this sport either as a business or a hobby what to do,” Brown said. “That’s not going to work. I deal with these people every day. You cannot restrict their free trade. You cannot pick up horses from one trainer and hand them to another guy.”

Brown is sympathetic to the trainers who do not have many horses and are struggling.

“I don’t want to drive anyone out of business,” he said.

Brown said he would be willing to pay what would amount to a higher tax than the smaller barns pay. For instance, he said, he’d have no problem paying a higher fee for stall rent and also suggested that the larger trainer be put into a higher tax bracket when it comes to workmen’s compensation costs.

At Santa Anita, Tim Ritvo and his team have experimented with races meant to level the playing field. They have carded maiden special weight races restricted to homebreds and horses that cost less than $100,000 at the sales. They have written races for trainers who have 20 or fewer horses in their barns.

“We have to try to help these guys,” said Ritvo, a former trainer. “When you talk about day in and day out racing like we have at Gulfstream with 250 some dates, the cheaper races are actually the ones we make the most money on. The economic engine of this game is the guy who bets and they don’t want a five-horse field with a 1-9 shot. The smaller trainer is the backbone of the game and the reason we can have elongated meets. To do so, you need guys like me who came up through the food chain winning average races. The sport simply cannot afford to have these people go out of business.” Cont. p7

But the sport cannot tell WinStar Farm, Mike Repole, Juddmonte, Ahmed Zayat, Ken and Sarah Ramsey, Sol Kumin, Gary Barber, John Oxley or Winchell Thoroughbreds that they have to give a handful of their good horses to someone with five horses in their stable that wins with 8% of their starters.

There's no easy fix. There may be no fix at all. Super trainers are ruling the sport.

"Is there an argument that the mom-and-pop store can provide a little extra attention to everyone who wants to come and buy tomatoes, or is it better to have a supermarket that can provide all the best stuff?" asks Pletcher. "I don't know. I think it's sort of the world we live in, and as long as it's a successful format, you're going to continue to see it."

By the way, one of my favorite films is Six Bridges to Cross, made in 1955, starring Tony Curtis. It has racetrack scenes made in Boston, and tells the story of the Brink's bank robbery. I could have used that $2.5 million today at the track. I had to find a cash machine after the sixth.

Sir Michael Stoute | Horsephotos

As the final race was approaching, I was looking for a hero or a goat. I found the hero easily. It is Sir Michael Stoute. He won two races on the six-race card, Poet's Word (Poet's Voice {GB}) in the G1 Prince of Wales's S. with Jimmy Doyle. He also tallied with Expert Eye (Acclamation {GB}) in the G3 Jersey S., making him the trainer who has won more races at Royal Ascot (77) than any other conditioner in history! Perhaps his several training victories for The Queen at Royal Ascot earned him that "Sir."

Sir Michael, 73, was born in Barbados, but has a thick English accent. His father was Chief of Police in Barbados. Michael wanted nothing to do with police work or his homeland and left at age 19 to become assistant trainer for Pat Rohan. He started his Royal Ascot skein in 1977 with Ettienne Gerard taking the Jersey.

In the United States, Stoute has saddled four Breeders' Cup winners, and is expected in Louisville at Churchill Downs this November.

Goats? There were more than one, unfortunately. Wesley Ward had three losers. Frankie Dettori, the darling from yesterday, finished second on Cracksman (GB) (Frankel {GB}) at odds-on with what most pundits thought was a free square. Ryan Moore did have one winner, but he was a heavy favorite to win the Ritz trophy for top jockey. One winner in a week will not do it.

And, we are still looking for our Yankee Doodle Dandy. Maybe tomorrow.

PORTER'S RESCUE SETS UP SHOP IN LOUISIANA

By Bill Finley

Rick Porter | Eclipse Sportswire

When owner Rick Porter established the National Thoroughbred Welfare Organization he did not aim low. His stated goal was to end the slaughter of Thoroughbred racehorses. Porter, along with NTWO President Victoria Keith, have taken their first significant step toward curbing the influx of horses that go to slaughter by establishing a rescue program in Louisiana at Evangeline and Delta Downs.

Both tracks are run by Boyd Gaming, which has agreed to provide financial assistance to NTWO and other support in an effort to find homes for retirees coming off its racetracks.

Louisiana has been known as one of the worst areas in the country when it came to Thoroughbreds going to slaughter and the problem has been widely addressed on social media.

Keith said that initially, the NTWO has been given stalls at Delta and Evangeline to keep the horses, and would use layup farms in the area. They are also looking for a farm in Kentucky where they can keep horses.

"It has been a big problem there," said Keith. "They represent the perfect storm. They are near Mexico, they have a lucrative breeding program and two of the most notorious kill pens in the country are right there in Louisiana. The kill buyers found that it's quite a good business to use Facebook to extort money from those who can't bear to see a Thoroughbred get slaughtered, so they go to extremes to get their hands on the Thoroughbreds. It's been horrible for racing to look at, week after week, Thoroughbreds in the hands of these people. We just desperately wanted to stop it. This is a plan we came up that we thought would be stronger than a band aid. It's terrible and these horses really needed someone's help."

"Every horse that races at our tracks deserves to find a good, loving home after it retires," said Vince Schwartz, Senior Vice President of Operations for Boyd Gaming. "The NTWO's noble mission is one we are proud to support. Both Delta Downs and Evangeline Downs want to see this inhumane practice eliminated from racing, but we can't do it alone. We encourage our community partners and race fans to join us in supporting racehorse protection and welfare through the good work of the NTWO."

Keith said that the NTWO will have a full-time employee working the backstretches and training centers at the two Louisiana tracks. Their mission will be to let people know that there is an alternative to slaughter and that her group will take their horse and find it a home.

"There are two rescue groups down there that I know of but they just didn't have the resources they needed," Keith said. "Clearly there weren't enough resources down there because weekly we were seeing these horses picked up. I went down there and talked to some owners and they said we'd be welcome with open arms because this is something they needed, that they had horses that needed to be retired and they had nowhere to go with them."

Keith said her organization will adopt any horse, but it hopes to find as many as possible that can be retrained and used as pleasure horses.

"Our employee will go around from trainer to trainer," she said. "The agent should be able to befriend and know everyone on the backside. Once you become familiar with the horses you might ask a trainer if now is a good time to retire that horse, that he can be turned over pretty easily to the sport horse folks. We have a lot of connections with the sport horse trainers and owners."

Keith applauded the groups around the country doing similar work, like CARMA in California and the Turning For Home program at Parx, but said the effort to keep Thoroughbreds from going to slaughter still needs all the help it can get.

"Because of the presence of social media, not only is it not hidden it's blatantly in your face," she said. "From a moral aspect you feel terrible for these horses and you want to help them. It is also important from a PR aspect because racing is taking a PR beating over this. I personally believe we need to correct this and if we don't I don't know how we can defend ourselves. You have to put out an active program showing you are doing something. The TAA is a good program, and there are a lot of other good programs, but we think we have to do even more to show how much we are willing to do to try to stop this from happening so people won't so easily blame the industry."

Keith said that after the programs at Delta and Evangeline are established she will work to create similar programs at the state's two other racetracks. Louisiana Downs and the Fair Grounds.

REMEMBRANCES

OLIN GENTRY

Accomplished horseman Olin B. Gentry passed away at the age of 51 Saturday and left behind many friends within the Thoroughbred industry. A fourth-generation horseman, "Olee" Gentry was known for his engaging personality and passion for horse sales. A number of remembrances from Gentry's friends, family and colleagues were shared with the TDN in the days following his passing.

Olin would always refer to me as the "luckiest girl alive." As a joke of course. He thought I had a lot to deal with holding his hand. I really was the luckiest. I will miss his hands and the power to calm and hold me close. The love and respect he showed to me was unbound. His cuddles and hugs were like grandma's lap. He was true blue. My love, my heart, my person. There is not enough space to write all the ways Olin was the love and delight of my life. I am the luckiest girl alive to have held him so closely. --Athena Gentry

Olee, It's been a wildly successful partnership all these many years, but more importantly an amazing and enduring friendship. Thank you!!! I already miss you. There will be a smile on my heart every time I think of you. Good mood, one with each other. --Tom Van Meter

Olin was a great friend, great horseman, and heart human being. I will miss him sorely as a friend and partner. --Spider Duignan

Olee was a dear friend, a partner, my confidant, my biggest cheerleader and supporter, my buddy, my personal comedian and most of all my "true friend." His dry wit and great stories kept long days at the sales fun and entertaining. I love Olin Gentry like a brother--I had his back and he had mine. I will never forget all that he taught me about the Thoroughbred business and how to be a friend. Thanks for being a "star" in my life, Olin Gentry. Cheers my sweet friend. --Renee Dailey

For 42 years, Olin has been been in my corner--loving, supporting, and overrating me every moment. He made me better than I was, and I have no idea how to navigate this world without him. --Marty Charters

A lot will be said this week about Olin, the horseman, and his many accomplishments. I have found great peace in reflecting on Olin, the humanitarian. Olin cared very much about people. He was equally comfortable conversing with a groom as much as a prince. Olin was kind and generous to all people, but especially horsemen. Many found him to be generous in their time of need. Olin had agreed to become an organ donor, and though he is now gone, his final unselfish gift was to extend the lives of others through his organ donations. This typified who Olin was. --James Keogh

Olin was one for the ages. We shared a birthday and had an annual competition on who would be first to wish the other happy birthday. He inevitably would text me at 12:01 am to win! Olin had a unique insight into human nature and made me laugh about his observations on people and life like few others can. He is gone way too soon. --Dan Pride

I could listen to Olin Gentry for hours. He was a skilled story teller, a character who never lost his sense of humor even on the darkest days, and while verbalizing the most complex deal, he would shift gears and dead pan the most embarrassing of human experiences. This was always followed by, "the grin." He enjoyed imitating those he admired and I will never forget him explaining a wee bit of sculduggery in his Irish accent. He was confident and gentle and once critiqued me in classic street language intermingled with Ivy League grammar. He had a computer for a mind and was most proficient with numbers, providing multi-digit sums faster than my calculator. Olin loved his family and friends and told me many times that "O2" was his greatest joy in life. He also loved the Big Blue, but horse trade was his passion. I am extremely grateful to have known Olin and I worry that I may never laugh as hard, or appreciate a juicy tale, again. --Tony Cecil

Olin grew up under horsemen. He absorbed more knowledge of the horse business than some people may know. He was compassionate to his animals and friends. The horse community has lost another good one way too soon. --Chuck Kidder

When you spoke to Olin, what seemed like a five-minute conversation would be an hour-long talk about life and horses. What hurts the most is the potential of the future--the passion and the incredible gifts of spirit and joy he possessed. I can still hear his unique voice in my mind, and I think that the best way to sum up what Olin meant to me is to say that my life was better because he was in it. --Carrie Brogden

I am absolutely devastated at the passing of my Great Friend Olin Gentry. Olin was a great horseman, but he was also the best Deal Maker I have ever been associated with. Simply put: Genius. He was one of a kind and left us way to early. It was my privilege and honor to have know Olin for the last 25 years. --Omar Trevino

Olin was a true friend and great partner who will be greatly missed. He was the epitome of a Kentucky gentleman and was such a great horseman. The lineage carried through from his father and grandfather inheriting the ability to market the highest quality thoroughbreds. It always amazed me the innate ability he had to judge the current conditions of the TB market. He was so knowledgeable of pedigrees and had a great eye for a horse. Business aside and most importantly, Olin was such a gentle and kind soul. --Scott Dilworth

We had our differences and when Olin wasn't invited to my small wedding, he called me on the morning of the ceremony with a smile in his voice, and we talked for two hours. Olin loved to quote lines from movies to drive a point home and then howl with laughter. He was a good friend who would do anything for those he loved. --Tom Clark

Olin and I met as students at UK in 1985. This Wisconsinite was exposed to the Thoroughbred industry through Olin's associations and education with his late father Tom Gentry, the late great Charlie Whittington, Payton Stud and the late John R. Gaines. We were roommates, friends, confidants and business partners for 34 years. Some 1200+ horses later, I thank this incredible horseman for taking me on a wonderful ride in a wonderful industry. I will miss you dearly my friend. --Michael Schmeling

Six years ago, I met Olin Gentry when he interviewed me for a position at Gaines-Gentry Thoroughbreds and I was hired. I knew nothing about the horse industry at all other than going to Keeneland during the spring and fall meets. I learned so much from him. The Thoroughbred industry was in his blood and you could tell that he loved doing what he did. A few years later, after leaving Gaines-Gentry Thoroughbreds, he became a client of mine and I got to know him on a friendship level as well. My memory of him will be a man that loved horses and loved his friends. He had a very kind heart and I will miss him terribly. My thoughts and prayer are with his family and those whose lives he touched. --Jeanette Patrick

YAVAPAI DOWNS TO REOPEN AS ARIZONA DOWNS

The former Yavapai Downs in Prescott Valley, AZ, will reopen in July for simulcasting and in 2019 for live racing under their new name, Arizona Downs, which is the name of a track in Phoenix, AZ, that closed in 1985. The meet will run from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Yavapai Downs last ran in 2010. The facility was bought for $3.22 million out of bankruptcy court in January by J&J Equine Enterprises LLC, an entity formed by brothers and Phoenix-based JACOR Partners principals Tom, Dave and Mike Auther and their partner Joe Jackson, along with longtime racing executive Corey Johnsen. Cont. p11

“First of all, we would like to thank the Herbeveaux family for allowing us to use the name,” said Johnsen, referencing the owners and operators of the original Arizona Downs. “We want to be known as Arizona’s racetrack that benefits horsemen throughout the state. We want a year-round circuit returning to Arizona with the resumption of summer racing, so horses and all the jobs they create stay in the state. A stronger circuit helps everyone in the industry: the breeders, horse owners, trainers, jockeys and all the related professions it takes to get a horse to the races.”

NTRA & UK OFFER RACECOURSE MANAGER CERTIFICATE

The NTRA Safety & Integrity Alliance and the University of Kentucky Ag Equine Programs launched a joint initiative offering a Racecourse Manager Certification from the University of Kentucky beginning this fall. The curriculum will be designed for those already engaged in careers with racing surface maintenance crews with an eye toward stepping into leadership roles.

“Horse racing has an ongoing need to not only develop the next generation of fans, but also the next-generation workforce to support the sport,” said Mick Peterson, director of the UK Ag Equine Programs and executive director of the Racing Surfaces Testing Laboratory. “Racecourse manager certification will help train a new generation of professionals to support safety and consistency of racing surfaces.”

The Racecourse Manager Certificate curriculum will include six modules: Basic Equipment and Track Geometry; Grader Operation, Measurement of Grades and Turning Biomechanics; Water Truck Operation and Moisture Measurement; Material Composition Testing and Interpretation; Turf Racing Surfaces; and Communication and Leadership. Completion of three modules and a practical exam will be required for initial certification, while completion of the remaining three modules within two years will be necessary to maintain certification.

3--Layla Noor, 117, f, 3, Midnight Lute--Senada, by Pulpit. O/B-Lael Stables (KY); T-Arnaud Delacour. $5,500.

Margins: 1, HF, 3 3/4. Odds: 16.00, 23.20, 4.20.

Also Ran: Tesora, Souper Striking, Daisy, Miraculously, Mihrab. Scratched: Judge Lee, Lisa Limon, Shape Shifter, Closing Statement, Draconic Treasure.

Peach of a Gal, a dominant third-out graduate at Tampa in December, was second against males in an optional claimer there Jan. 17 before running eighth in the GIII Florida Oaks Mar. 10. Back on track in a restricted allowance May 5 at Laurel, she was last seen finishing third in the boggy-turf Hilltop S. 13 days later at Pimlico.

Dismissed at the windows in this spot, the homebred broke alertly before settling in fourth as second choice Souper Striking (Brilliant Speed) tore off through fractions of :22.54 and :46.39. Advancing three deep at the top of the lane, the dark bay overhauled fellow longshot Frillery, who took over on the turn, just inside the sixteenth pole and edged clear late to score. Souper Striking faded to finish fifth, a nose behind previously undefeated 'TDN Rising Star' Tesora (Scat Daddy), who came up empty in the lane at 6-5. The winner has a juvenile half-brother by Broken Vow named Dynastic, a yearling Imagining half-sister and a half-sister of this term by Smarty Jones. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.

IN ORDER OF PURSE:

9th-Belmont, $62,000, (S), Msw, 6-20, 3yo/up, 1mT, 1:34.99, fm.

MORE THAN A SAINT (c, 3, More Than Ready--St Francis Wood {SP-Eng}, by Irish River {Fr}) finished a well-beaten fifth sprinting on the Aqueduct turf in his career bow last November and improved to be runner-up stretching out over the Fair Grounds lawn Feb. 17. Tugging his way up to duel through a :23.09 quarter, the $190,000 Fasig-Tipton Saratoga pickup started to edge away past a :46.16 half and drew clear by the three-sixteenths pole before digging in to hold off longshot Bad Guy (Power Broker) by a neck. The winner is a half to Saratoga Dreamer (Elusive Quality), SW, $241,157. He has a full-sister named Corey Scores and his dam foaled a filly by Dansili (GB) this season. Click for VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.

O-Niall J. Brennan, Michael J. Ryan & Mike Anderson Racing; B-Aynsford Holdings LLC (NY); T-Brad H. Cox.

2nd-Delaware, $35,060, Msw, 6-20, 2yo, f, 5f, :59.74, ft.

CREEDIBILITY (f, 2, Jimmy Creed--Gold Dust Lady, by Chapel Royal) tipped her hand for this debut with a pair of local bullet works from the gate, including a five-furlong spin in 1:02 flat (1/9) June 14, and was backed into narrow 7-5 favoritism. Off a half-step slowly from her outside draw, the $40,000 OBS March graduate tracked the pace from third past a :22.64 quarter, advanced three deep approaching the lane and outkicked ground-saving second choice Malocchio (Orb) in the final furlong to prevail by three-quarters of a length. The winner is the first foal out of a dam who produced a colt by Violence this season. Sales History: $25,000 Ylg '17 KEESEP. Lifetime Record: 1-1-0-0, $20,400. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.

O-Second Chance Stable LLC; B-Gugru LLC (KY); T-Anthony Pecoraro.

2nd-Presque Isle Downs, $26,930, Msw, 6-20, 3yo/up, f/m, 6f (AWT), 1:10.27, ft.

WATCH HER STRUT (f, 3, Stroll--Countess Scala, by Fusaichi Pegasus) finished a close second debuting over track and trip May 29 and was made the 4-5 chalk to go one better here. Stalking from third through splits of :22.67 and :45.68, the dark bay sidled up to the leaders soon after straightening for home and swept to the fore at the furlong grounds en route to a 5 1/2-length graduation. Here Comes Ava (Monarchos) completed the exacta. Lifetime Record: 2-1-1-0, $21,600. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.
