THE WEEKLY WRAP: HARD TO FATHOM FASHION

by Emma Berry

For many of us, the last few weeks have been spent with one eye on the sales ring and the other on the racecourse. It would seem that, other than for those who can continue to be predominantly owner-breeders, the days of being able to breed racehorses with the focus solely on their future days on the track are long gone.

It has long been a mystery that the type of horse most people would love to own is now infrequently the type many people set out to breed or to buy as a yearling. A Nathaniel ( Ire) filly, anyone? Last year the median price for his yearling fillies was 26,000gns, roughly on a par with his covering fee this season. Yet who wouldn't want to race Enable (GB)?

Similarly, try selling a small chestnut colt who is likely to be best at around two miles from his 3-year-old season onwards. Even if he is by the mighty Sea The Stars (Ire), many agents would convince their clients that they should be buying something that could be running at Royal Ascot less than a year later, with the tantalising possibility of being offered eye-watering sums from a buyer in Hong Kong. Longevity is now rarely a consideration. Cont. p2

PEDIGREE INSIGHTS: GHAIYYATH

by Andrew Caulfield

Dubawi’s colourful story is a perfect reminder that attitudes—and prices—are constantly changing in the bloodstock world. Subject to the usual difficulties which face young stallions before their progeny prove themselves, Dubawi was priced at only £15,000 in his fourth year in 2009, having attracted no more than 91 mares in 2008. Even that substantial price cut (from €40,000) didn’t have the desired effect, with Dubawi’s book falling further in 2009, to only 68.

Then Dubawi’s first crop hit the track running, with the G2 victories by Poet’s Voice and Sand Vixen highlighting his considerable potential, and Dubawi began the restoration of his profile which ultimately saw him become Britain’s highest-priced stallion in each of the last four years.

As his profile rose, Dubawi began to receive more mares sired by the mighty Galileo. Cont. p5

With British prize-money dramatically off-kilter with most of the rest of the world and likely only to regress, it is hard to argue with such a business proposition—despite the obvious risks involved—except to say, where is the fun in that?

Fortunately for Bjorn Nielsen, he took the view that it was better to keep the diminutive Stradivarius (Ire) to race himself when bidding in the ring didn't reach the required amount. The horse's earnings of almost £2.5 million tell only part of the story as he has another £2 million in Weatherbys Hamilton bonuses to add to that tally.

It's not really about the money at that level though, is it? For two glorious seasons Stradivarius has remained unbeaten. For all that Nielsen has publicly (and admirably) stated that his life's ambition is to breed a Derby winner, it is hard to imagine that any other horse will bring him such a sustained level of joy as his wonderful staying champion. Now that we know this 5-year-old so well, equally importantly it is a joy in which all those who love racing can share.

Really the only upside to staying stallions being out of favour with commercial breeders is that we are likely to be given the chance to see Stradivarius race on next season. But it's a strange old world in which horses who barely raised a flicker of public interest on the racecourse are suddenly flavour of the month at stud and at the sales—for one season at least.

A Tale Of Two Sales

On the face of it, the European yearling sales season has started in perhaps stronger fashion that might have been imagined, with improved figures at Arqana August and new records set at the Goffs UK Premier Sale and at BBAG. It is also likely that the sobering figures at the one-day Silver Sale in Doncaster give a better indication of what is to come in the lower tiers of the market.

The questions regularly asked are whether there are too many sales, too many horses being bred, too much racing or too few owners coming into the sport, and all of those could reasonably be answered with a boost to prize-money. But, just like Boris Johnson, despite his grandiose fiscal promises, British racing has no magic money tree. The situation could be eased, however, with a fairer spread.

As far as we are able to take any sale at face value when there are plenty of new sires to be promoted, the Premier Sale figures are encouraging, especially the clearance rate. The presence of a solitary Kingman (GB) colt, both at Goffs UK and in Baden-Baden, made a big difference to the overall feel, with a £440,000 record-breaker on Tuesday followed by a €700,000 top-priced colt in Germany—a sum which was overshadowed only by the sale of Gestut Brummerhof's Sea The Stars filly at €820,000, which set a new high for the sale by more than €100,000.
Charlie Vigors, who consigned the Goffs UK sale-topper on behalf of his breeders Bob and Pauline Scott, said they took a chance that the colt would stand out in Doncaster, and so he did. With 51 yearlings by the young Juddmonte sire to come in Books 1 and 2 at Tattersalls October, it was a smart move.
For breeder Gestut Rottgen, which sold the Kingman colt at BBAG, it was the only time the operation had used the stallion. It probably won't be the last. Agents representing four international entities went after him and, as is often the case, Sheikh Mohammed had the final say. The hard-working Matt Coleman did a pretty good Where's Wally impression in Baden-Baden, popping up in his striped polo shirt among the crowd in varying locations all over the sales arena to bid on four horses throughout the day for Godolphin. The agent's tenacity gave the sale a huge boost, with almost a quarter of the turnover coming through the exchange of those two fillies and two colts.
Similarly, Angus Gold at Doncaster on Sheikh Hamdan's behalf accounted for more than 10% of the Premier Sale aggregate.

Australians Adjusting Focus
For a number of years, the pilgrimage for Australian buyers looking for European stayers was to Newmarket for the Tattersalls Horses-in-Training Sale. With plenty of private deals for such horses now commonplace throughout the season, a number of those buyers have taken a step farther back in the chain to buy middle-distance yearlings, and the BBAG sale, with its plethora of stock from proven stamina-led families, seems the perfect place to start.
As featured in the TDN last week, this has been the method employed by Australian Bloodstock for some years now, and others, such as Brad Spicer, are following suit.
It is not a practice restricted to Australian buyers either. A shrewd syndicate of British owners has also targeted the BBAG sale over a number of years with the aim of finding value in the yearling market to race middle-distance horses in Britain for several seasons in the hope that they will achieve a level that is enticing to Southern Hemisphere buyers.
Whichever tactic is deployed--either finding a whizz-bang 2-year-old or a longer-term prospect--the aim remains the same: to sell that horse to the highest bidder overseas.
A successful outcome in this scenario naturally should mean reinvestment in young stock from those parties, but it is a situation which gives rise to mixed feelings.
In many ways, it is a source of pride that bloodlines in this part of the world are still so respected and in demand, but it is part of a precarious situation for the European countries as racing nations. Cont. p4

The 'sport of kings' has perhaps never truly been accessible to those without vast reserves to call on but in Australia at least, it is the booming syndicate model which is king.

Rondinay Family Running Wild For Etzean

Shamardal already has one worthy advertisement of his potential as a sire of sires in Lope De Vega (Ire) and there could be more to come. Two of Shamardal's sons have entered the fray this year with their first yearlings--Dariyan (Fr), and Bow Creek (Ire)--but French Navy (Ire) and Amaron (GB) are one jump ahead with a smattering of first runners already on the track.

The latter, bred in Suffolk at the Swinburn family's Genesis Green Stud, was trained in Germany and made plenty of fruitful trips to neighbouring countries in pursuit of his nine victories from 22 starts. The classy miler, who has stood at Gestut Etzean at a fee of €4,500 since his retirement, has never covered more than 50 mares in a season. He has had two winners in Germany from his eight runners to date and a graduate of last year's BBAG Sale, Run Wild (Ger), brought his tally of wins to three when making an extremely favourable impression last week. She posted a six-length victory on her third start for John Gosden and a group of owners which includes David Redvers, Barbara Keller and Ghislain and Henri Bozo.

Out of the Cadeaux Genereux (GB) mare Rondinay (GB) and bought for €160,000, Run Wild was bred by Ralf Kredel at Etzean and is her sire's most expensive yearling to date. Even before she herself showed such promise on the racecourse, she was entitled to be given consideration. Her half-sister Rock My Soul (Ire) (Clodovil {Ire}) was a treble listed winner in Germany for Uwe Ostmann and was later Group 3-placed in France. Her broodmare credentials include being the dam of three-time Group 3 winner Young Rascal (Fr) (Intello {Ger}), while another half-sibling is Augustin Stable's Group 3 winner Rock My Love (Ger) (Holy Roman Emperor {Ire}), who has thus far raced in Germany, France and Canada.

Included in Rondinay's offspring is the listed winner Rock My Heart (Ger) (Sholokhov {Ire}), who is now a broodmare in Japan and produced a Lord Kanaloa (Jpn) filly this year, while Rapido (Ger) (Rock Of Gibraltar {Ire}) was second to Sea The Moon (Ger) in the G2 Oppenheim-Union-Rennen.

Among the purchasers of Amaron yearlings in Baden-Baden last week was Shamardal's former trainer Mark Johnston.

What A Caper

Whether it was her late cover, her covering sire, or the fact that she was already 14 when sold three years ago, the sum of 85,000gn s still seems a little paltry for the well-bred decent performer Karen's Caper (War Chant), particularly when she had unraced colts by Dubawi (Ire) and Frankel (GB) on the ground.

That was the sum that was paid by Highclere Stud when she was let go from the Godolphin draft in December 2016, and the 11,000gn s paid for the New Approach (Ire) colt she was carrying at the time when he was offered as a yearling didn't necessarily offer much further encouragement.

However, the colt's buyer was Mark Johnston, famed for favouring pedigree over conformation, and whatever faults the yearling may have been perceived to have had last October, he is now a three-time winner named King's Caper (GB). Cont. p5
The colt brought up his hat-trick on Saturday just hours after his year-older Frankel half-brother Casanova (GB), who runs in Princess Haya's colours, broke his maiden when winning by 4.5 lengths at Wolverhampton.

Karen’s Caper, whose first foal Kinglet (Kingmambo) won the G3 UAE 2000 Guineas, had no foal last year but delivered an Iffraaj (GB) filly foal on Feb. 3.

The Joy of Nugent
There are many reasons to appreciate Nick Nugent. In the press room at Goffs, the hearts of the sales correspondents lift a little as he takes to the rostrum at the end of a long day, knowing that he is the fastest auctioneer in the west, rattling out bids and quips at an equally high velocity.

Nugent also does a fantastic job of pretending to be a bit of a Victor Meldrew. Passing the press desk at Doncaster last week, he berated us for being far too cheery on social media.

"I'm fed up with people posting photos of themselves having a lovely time on holiday," he said. "I want to see them sitting at home on their own having a miserable time and eating a Pot Noodle. I don't have FOMO, more JOMO. I prefer the joy of missing out."

Among the first half a dozen foals that Dubawi sired from Galileo's daughters was a chestnut colt out of the listed-placed Forest Storm. Conceived at 20,000, the colt made only 32,000gns as a yearling but then proceeded—as Night of Thunder—to win both his 2-year-old starts before becoming the only horse to defeat Kingman, in the 2000 Guineas of 2014.

A matter of days after Night of Thunder had become his sire's second winner of that mile Classic, Dubawi was to cover Nightime, a mare who had become Galileo's first Classic winner when she landed the Irish 1000 Guineas in 2006. By 2014 Dubawi's fee had already reached £100,000 but that six-figure sum was still to prove a very sound investment on behalf of Nightime’s owners, the Weld family's Springbank Way Stud. Nightime’s Dubawi weanling colt was consigned to the 2015 Goffs November Foal Sale, where he became the year's highest-priced European foal at €1.1 million.

Perhaps it is no coincidence that the colt—Ghaiyyath—has now followed Night of Thunder's example by becoming the second Group 1 winner to represent the Dubawi-Galileo combination. Already a Group 3 winner at two and three, Ghaiyyath received a rave review from his trainer Charlie Appleby in the Racing Post's stable tour in early April:

"A very exciting horse who was one of our big Classic hopes last year but had a setback just before the Dante," Appleby explained. "We gave him plenty of time to get over that and he had just the one run—an impressive victory in a Group 3 over 1m2f at Longchamp in September. He's another progressive Dubawi colt who has done all the right things at home and after a very pleasing victory in Group 2 company over 1m2f in the Prix d'Harcourt back at Longchamp last weekend, we'll aim next at the G1 Prix Ganay at the same track on Apr. 28, with the Arc being the long-term target. I wouldn't say he lacks a change of gear, but he's a big, powerful horse and his biggest asset is that when he gets to the front he's relentless and just keeps piling it on."

Although the Prix Ganay venture didn't go to plan, with Ghaiyyath finishing only third behind Waldgeist and Spirit of Man as the 1-2 favourite, the Arc target seems to be very much alive and kicking following the 4-year-old's demolition of the opposition in Sunday's Grosser Preis von Baden.

I suspect that Night of Thunder and Ghaiyyath are just the tip of the iceberg where Group 1 winners from the Dubawi-Galileo partnership are concerned. At present there are 10% black-type winners among the nick’s 42 foals of racing age, which include seven 2-year-olds of 2019. The nick’s other black-type winners are Dartmouth, now resident at Shade Oak Stud following his successes in the G3 John Porter S., G3 Ormonde S., G2 Hardwicke S. and G2 Yorkshire Cup, and the Listed winner UAE Jewel. The latter was unbeaten on his first two starts in the spring but hasn’t been seen out since.

He holds Group 1 entries this autumn, but if he does reappear this year Ghaiyyath has shown it is possible to bounce back at four from an interrupted 3-year-old season.

Dubawi also has something like 18 yearlings with dams by Galileo, including youngsters out of the Group 1 winners Golden Lilac, Great Heavens, Nightime (dam of Ghaiyyath) and Romantica, as well as the Group 2 winners Gretchen and Secret Gesture. The partnership also has at least 19 foals. One is a filly out of the multiple Group 1 winner Alice Springs, while one of the colts is out of Kissed By Angels, a Group 3-winning sister to the magnificent Minding. As most of these youngsters are out of black-type earners, it seems fair to expect this cross to flourish over the coming years.

Ghaiyyath’s dam Nightime was not only Galileo’s first Classic winner, but also one of the first to demonstrate that Galileo often benefits from mares with plenty of speed in their backgrounds. Nightime’s first two dams, Caumshinaun and Ridge Pool, were respectively sired by the King’s Stand S. winners Indian Ridge and Bluebird, and her third dam, Casting Couch, was by another leading sprinter in Thatching. Daughters of Indian Ridge produced two further group winners by Galileo. One, Oh Goodness Me, was essentially a miler, as she was third in the Irish 1000 Guineas, but the other, David Livingston, won the G3 Rose of Lancaster S. over 10.5 furlongs, having taken the G2 Beresford S. over a mile as a 2-year-old.

Nightime’s stamina went unproven, as she failed to reproduce the form she had shown on heavy ground in the Irish 1000 Guineas. However, her broodmare career suggests strongly that she would have stayed quite well. Ghaiyyath is her second Group 1 winner, following the GI Man o’War S. winner Zhukova, who stayed a mile and a half well despite being a daughter of the sprinter Fastnet Rock. Nightime also produced a mile and a quarter winner to Oasis Dream and a mile and a half winner to Raven’s Pass.

Although Ghaiyyath’s second dam Caumshinaun was essentially sprint bred, she stayed a mile, as she showed by winning the Listed Platinum S. Ghaiyyath’s fifth dam, the speedy Drama, won the G3 Greenlands S. and went on to produce a pair of notable broodmares in the GlI winner Tycoon’s Drama and the listed-placed Last Drama. Last Drama was the dam of the Grade I-winning American turf performer King’s Drama and second dam of Dubawi’s son Move Up, who enjoyed group success over a mile and a half in Britain and Turkey.

EARLIER START FOR LONGINES IRISH CHAMPIONS WEEKEND ON SEPT. 14

Racing at Leopardstown on Saturday, Sept. 14, the first day of the Longines Irish Champions Weekend, will begin at 1:55 p.m. local time, Horse Racing Ireland announced on Monday. The change was made to avoid a clash with the All-Ireland senior football final replay, and also to accommodate the Japanese television audience on the Green Channel. Japan is hopefully being represented in the G1 QIPCO Irish Champions S. by Deirdre (Jpn) (Harbinger {GB}). The revised post times for the Irish Champion and the G1 Fastnet Rock Matron S. are 4:15 p.m. and 5:25 p.m., respectively, with the Matron concluding the five live races on RTE.

“On a fantastic day of sporting action, we will cater for those who would like to see one of the best race meetings of the year and one of the highlights of the season, as well as the All-Ireland final replay,” said Leopardstown CEO, Pat Keogh. “The news that Green Channel will show the QIPCO Irish Champion S. live on their channel is fantastic news for the profile of the race and we’ve been inundated with media requests from Japan which underlines the interest there in their brilliant racemare, Deirdre. “It’s an incredible day’s racing and is one for the whole family to enjoy—indeed it is worth repeating that accompanied children under-18 are free and there are plenty of free children’s activities.”

NOMINATIONS OPEN FOR THE 2020 BRITISH GSSSA

Nominations are now open for the 16th annual Godolphin Stud and Stable Staff Awards. The awards, sponsored by Godolphin and run by the British Horseracing Authority (BHA) in association with the Racing Post and Racing TV, recognize the skills, commitment and contribution of over 10,000 stable staff in England, Scotland and Wales and offer £128,000 in total prize money with £40,000 available to a single yard or stud. Nominations will close on Tuesday, Nov. 12 and can be made at www.studandstablestaffwards.co.uk. The award ceremony is slated for The Underglobe in London on Monday, Feb. 24, 2020.

“lt is crucially important that we reward those dedicated, hardworking people who do so much for the racing and breeding industries and Godolphin is delighted to be continuing its support of the awards for 2020,” said Hugh Anderson, Managing Director of Godolphin (UK & Dubai). “I would like to wish all those who are nominated the best of luck on behalf of His Highness Sheikh Mohammed bin Rashid al Maktoum.”

ASKERANA (IRE) (f, 3, Pivotal {GB}--Askeria {Ire}, by Sadler’s Wells), the 9-2 second favourite on her belated introduction, was slowly away before racing towards the rear early. Cajoled into contention in the straight, the homebred rolled by Lighthouse Lady (Ire) (Helmet {Aus}) in the final 50 yards before asserting for a half-length success. The dam, who has the unraced 2-year-old colt Ashtarak (Ire) (Sea the Stars {Ire}) and a colt foal by Fast Company (Ire), is a half-sister to the European champion Azamour (Ire) (Night Shift) and fellow sire Arazan (Ire) (Anabaa). THE ART OF THE DEAL

by Bren O'Brien

It was arguably the most innovative and undoubtedly the most surprising deal in the short history of The Everest. We get to the bottom of the MRC's decision to get involved with Australia's richest race.

When the Melbourne Racing Club announced in July that it would partner with The Everest slotholder the Australian Turf Club to offer the winner of its G2 Schillaci S. a 'golden ticket' into the $14-million sprint at Randwick the following week, it marked the most significant thaw in the relationship between Australia's two biggest racing jurisdictions in recent years.

The evolution of The Everest and the extended carnival that has sprung up around it in the Sydney spring has caused frosty relations between New South Wales and Victoria as the traditional calendar of the Melbourne spring carnival was challenged.

At its worst it degenerated into name-calling, with the threat posed by Racing NSW's ambitious plans, spearheaded by chief executive Peter V'landys, causing a serious sense of nervousness in Melbourne, in particular Flemington, whose iconic four-day carnival was no longer given the clear air it felt it had earned over a near 160-year history.

In 2017, Melbourne Racing Club's Caulfield Cup carnival was supposed to be the first casualty of the interstate war, with the world's richest race on turf staged on the same day as the MRC's Caulfield Guineas Day.

But while there were some initial rumblings about the disruptive influence of The Everest, the MRC largely bit its tongue, and waited to see what impact it would have.

"When The Everest concept was first conjured and clashed with Caulfield Guineas day in 2017, rather than take the sceptical and combative approach to it, in how it may or may not cannibalise our event and wagering activity, we decided to just see how it goes," the MRC's Executive Director – Racing and Membership, Jake Norton said. "Over the last couple of years on Caulfield Guineas day, we saw growth in crowds and really strong growth in wagering. We probably may have missed out on having all the best jockeys at Caulfield and maybe missed out on some column inches, but the other indicators were very strong."

The 2019 edition of The Everest always loomed as a slightly different case, with the New South Wales racing calendar sliding back a week, meaning that the race will clash with Caulfield's showpiece event, the G1 Caulfield Cup.

Can't Beat 'Em, Join 'em

But to the MRC's credit rather than actively campaign for the supremacy of one product over another, it sensed an opportunity to link the two carnivals together. When an Everest slot was made available after slotholder Damion Flower was arrested on serious drug charges, the wheels were put in motion.

"It was a very informal discussion that transpired among a couple of us, when it was revealed that there would be a slot available. It quickly gathered momentum, because the deadline from when it was announced to when Racing NSW wanted the submission, it was a short time frame," Norton said. "We sought approval from our board to proceed and quickly mobilised when we had that approval and put together a submission." Cont. p2

"We thought, let's extend an olive branch, albeit with a commercial transaction involved."

The MRC was ultimately unsuccessful in that process, with global racing behemoth Godolphin getting the nod, but so impressed was Racing NSW by the nature of the MRC’s proposal, that a short time later a deal was done utilising the ATC’s slot.

"Part of our submission was a commitment to promoting the Schillaci S. and The Everest and the series leading up to it to have a campaign with some longevity," Norton said. "I think they liked that, to get that support from the industry south of the Murray, and they saw it as beneficial."

Win and You're in

The upshot of the deal, arguably the most innovative, and undoubtedly the most surprising in the short history of deals involving The Everest, was that the G2 Schillaci S. the feature sprint on the first day of the Caulfield Cup carnival, would now become a direct qualifier for The Everest seven days later, with the winner to compete in Australia’s richest race under the MRC/ATC’s slot.

Norton admits the MRC didn’t know how the deal would be received, particularly in Victoria, where significant bad blood had flowed after Racing NSW’s spring renovation.

"We weren't really sure what to expect what the response would be in terms of the public and the industry, but I can say we have been pleasantly surprised by the way our involvement in The Everest has been received," he said.

The MRC has also tied another couple of aspects into the concept, with a qualifying series for the Schillaci S. contested across three race meetings ahead of the Oct. 12 feature. The first two legs, the Listed Regal Roller S. won by Begood Toya Mother (Myboycharlie {Ire}) and the G3 The Heath, won by Crystal Dreamer (Stratum), have already been run.

There is also a Members’ Sweepstakes, which will see each runner in the Schillaci S., represent a random club member. The winning member will then get a shot of up to $250,000 in prizemoney should their horse go on and win The Everest. It's an innovative approach to both member engagement and acquisition and something which the MRC prides itself on.

"We are probably philosophically a bit different to a few other organisations. Calling yourself innovative and progressive, there is not much value in doing that. Actions speak louder than words. And thankfully, that is the way this concept has been received," Norton said.

Determining Success

The level of member engagement and acquisition is one of the many measures by which the MRC will determine the success or otherwise of the concept. Other measures by which the MRC will determine the success or otherwise of the concept include the quality of field the Schillaci S. attracts, the quality of the lead-in series races and the general public interest in the race and the concept.

There are a few aspects the MRC can't control, such as how many slots are available elsewhere when the race is run and whether the winning connections of the race will want to back up their horse within seven days (in that case the slot will be offered to the second horse and so on).

The best-case scenario is of course the Schillaci S. winner goes on and wins The Everest.

"If whoever represents the MRC slot can win or run a place, that would be enormous. That has the flow-on implications around this members’ concept that we have got going. That's the ultimate," Norton said. "If we do have a significantly stronger Schillaci, that is obviously a big tick. If we can recoup our investment from a prizemoney perspective in The Everest, that would be great.

"But there is more intangible stuff around member engagement, whether we can drive some member acquisition through this, drive attendance, there's really all manner of different measures of success that we will be looking at. But the dream result would be to get The Everest winner."
BASIN TOPS ASMUSSEN TRIFECTA IN HOPEFUL

Basin (Liam's Map), the longest price of Steve Asmussen's three-headed monster in Monday's GI Runhappy Hopeful S. at Saratoga, proved easily best of all and ran away to an empathic triumph in the Spa's annual closing-day feature, becoming the first stakes winner for his freshman sire (by Unbridled's Song) in the process.

Unveiled as an 11-10 chalk June 14 at Churchill, the $150,000 KEESEP buy just missed by a nose to the re-opposing By Your Side (Constitution), who returned to capture the local GIII Sanford S. on opening weekend. Earning his diploma when besting next-out 'TDN Rising Star' Three Technique (Mr Speaker) going a furlong shorter here July 21, the bay was given a 31-10 Hopeful chance while 'Rising Star' stablemates Gozilla (Flatter) and Shoplifted (Into Mischief) went off at 6-5 and 5-2, respectively.

Breaking in stride from his outside post, Basin quickly deferred under leading rider Jose Ortiz to sit third as Gozilla made the point while pressed along by longshot American Butterfly (American Pharoah) through a :22.66 quarter. Drawing within a length of the vanguard as the sextet compressed passing a :45.84 half, he poked his head in front when set down by Ortiz three sixteenths from home. Drifting out sharply nearing the eighth pole, he was quickly corrected and leveled off impressively to slam the door by the sixteenth marker en route to a dominant 6 1/2-length score. Cont. p3

GHOSTZAPPER’S NUCKY UPSETS EVENTFUL DEL MAR FUTURITY

Rockingham Ranch’s Nucky (Ghostzapper), twice entered for a high claiming tag in his first four races, pulled off a 35-1 upset in the GI Runhappy Del Mar Futurity on closing day at the seaside oval in a race that was almost immediately turned upside down when odds-on favorite Eight Rings (Empire Maker) ducked in sharply and lost his rider in the opening strides.

Fifth debuting in the Churchill slop June 8, Nucky was second for a $75,000 tag there 12 days later and fourth against straight maidens July 13 at Ellis before dominating $100,000 maiden claimers by 10 1/2 lengths back at trainer Peter Miller’s local base Aug. 21. Let go as the second-longest shot in this class hike, the dark bay broke a step slowly but recovered quickly to track the pace. Cont. p5

QURBAAN REPEATS IN BERNARD BARUCH

Shadwell Stable’s Qurbaan (Speightstown), winless since pulling off a 13-1 upset in last summer’s GII Bernard Baruch H., got back on track in this year’s renewal under a hedge-skimming ride by Joel Rosario.

Shoplifted just got up for second over Godzilla, giving Asmussen a one-two-three finish as he registered his first career Hopeful victory.

“I think that the day suited him with the post-position draw and the way that it came out,” said Asmussen. “Those are three very talented horses and hopefully that’s the last time they’ll run against each other for a while. Godzilla didn’t get a lot out of his maiden race and he was back in 22 days; Ricardo [Santana, Jr.] said he was blowing afterwards. Joel [Rosario] thought that Shoplifted spun his wheels away from there and it took him quite a while to get on his feet. I’ve always been surprised with how much speed he [Basin] showed. Physically, and pedigree wise, we were excited about him running long and we were surprised at how sharp he was the first time he ran.”

Regarding his banner Saratoga summer with 2-year-olds, Asmussen added, “We felt great about them coming into the meet. We thought we had some extremely talented 2-year-olds and I think they’ve proved that.”

“I saw them going at it and it was the first time going seven furlongs, so you’ve got to be a little careful,” said Ortiz. “I just took my time. I could have moved a little earlier, but I didn’t want to since they were fighting. I gave my horse a really nice breather from the half-mile to the quarter pole and that made a difference. I made just one move with him.”

Pedigree Notes:

Basin gets the ball rolling in the black-type category for Lane’s End Farm’s brilliant Liam’s Map, who was never worse than second in eight career starts and registered four 110+ Beyer figures, including a pair of 114s in back-to-back conquests of the GI Woodward S. and GI Breeders’ Cup Dirt Mile to close out his career in 2015. He is a half-brother to GSW Rise Up and a yearling colt by Orb. His dam was bred to Nyquist this season. Third dam Beal Street Blues captured the GII Del Mar Debutante S. in 1992.

Meanwhile, Eight Rings, who broke inwardly, lugged into Storm the Court (Court Vision) a handful of strides out, causing both jockeys to fall off their mounts. Making a bold three-wide move to forge a narrow advantage passing a salty :44.90 half, Nucky took charge soon after straightening for home and went clear past the eighth pole. Wrecking Crew put in a mild bid, but couldn’t get to the winner while holding the place from Defense Wins to give Miller a one-two finish as he picked up his first Futurity score.

The riders of Eight Rings (Drayden Van Dyke) and Storm the Court (Flavien Prat) appeared to escape major injury and both horses were unscathed, though Van Dyke was taken to the hospital to be examined according to Daily Racing Form.

“It was obviously unfortunate,” Miller said of the incident. “You never want to see any horse or rider go down. My first thoughts are with the horses and the riders. I don’t know what happened, but after that, we won clear. To finish one-two in the Del Mar Futurity, for me, I mean it’s just incredible under any circumstances.”

“What a way to end the meet. I don’t deserve this. But somebody wanted me to have it,” added winning pilot Norberto Arroyo, Jr. “I thank the Lord up above. My aim was to track the two horse [Eight Rings]. My horse broke good and I was looking for the two. By the four and a half [furlong pole] I couldn’t see him at all and I knew something must have happened. Then I just went to riding my horse. He responded well. I don’t know if he was the best horse in the race to start, but he was the best to finish.”
Pedigree Notes:

With his victory, Nucky becomes the 72nd stakes winner, 39th graded stakes winner and 12th Grade I winner for Ghostzapper. He is the first foal to race out of GSW turfer Lady Ten, a $250,000 by Barry and Judith Becker at Keeneland November in 2016. She produced a Super Saver filly Mar. 5 before being bred to Candy Ride (Arg).

A RECORD-BREAKING $700-MILLION MEET AT SARATOGA

by Bill Finley

The 2019 Saratoga meet, NYRA’s first ever where the meet was expanded to eight weeks but limited to five days of racing, ended yesterday and the numbers proved that the experiment was a big hit as Saratoga’s all-sources betting handle for the meet topped $700 million for the first time.

Total all-sources handle was $705,343,949, surpassing last year’s total by $46 million or 7%. Those numbers look even better when considering that NYRA lost an entire card, July 20, when it had to cancel because of the heat. NYRA likely would have handled between $21 and $23 million on that day. It also had to cancel seven races July 25 due to a severe storm.

“This has been a truly outstanding meet highlighted by the traditional recipe that sets Saratoga apart: world-class Thoroughbred racing and entertainment,” O'Rourke said. “We would not be in this enviable position without the dedication of the owners, the talent of the horsemen, and the unmatched enthusiasm of our fans.

“I want to thank the local community for their support and everyone who contributed to our success this summer,” he continued. “This summer also marked the loss of one of Saratoga’s most ardent benefactors, Mrs. Marylou Whitney. Saratoga and NYRA will forever be grateful for her contributions to racing.”

Though NYRA cannot come out with its racing schedules until they are approved by the New York Gaming Commission, O’Rourke said that organization would apply for the same five days/eight-week meet next year, but added that it is possible that there could be a change to the dark days. This year, they were Mondays and Tuesdays, and he said there’s some talk of going to Tuesdays and Wednesdays instead.

“The off days on Mondays and Tuesdays certainly worked for us, but I heard some complaints from the restaurants that they were dead on Sunday nights,” O’Rourke said. “I want to hear what they have to say before deciding on the off days for next year. We like to consider more than just the bottom line for Saratoga because this town is about more than just a racetrack. To make Saratoga the success that it is, the entire community, and what is good for them, matters.”

Coming into the meet, NYRA did not know if the additional week was going to take a toll on people, and, if it did, if the extra day off would somehow make up for it. As for how fans, horsemen and employees held up through an eight-week meet, O’Rourke said there were pluses and minuses.

“People don’t realize that eight weeks is a long way to be away from home and I am sure there are some people who will be glad to be heading back,” he said. “But certainly everyone seemed to appreciate having that extra day where the backstretch workers could take a little break and a lot of the employees and fans got two days to rest up.”

The ADW and simulcast players seemed to enjoy the extra day off more than anyone else as on-track handle actually fell slightly at the meet, from $148,826,388 to $146,812,772.

“I think one reason our off-track handle was up over our on-track handle was because of the immense amount of television coverage we did during the meet,” O’Rourke said. “That gave people all over the country the chance to follow our races, and not just on the big days.”

NYRA’s programming, Saratoga Live featured more than 190 hours of live programming this season compared to 80 hours when the broadcast was first introduced in 2016.

When asked if the extra television exposure might have cost NYRA on-track business, O’Rourke said, “Not at all. That was one of the big pluses of this meet, all the exposure we got at this meet. I have to give Tony Allevato and Eric Donovan, two integral people involved with the TV production, a ton of credit. It’s not that easy to put together that much programming and they did a very good job doing so.”

O’Rourke said several ideas will be tossed around concerning how to increase on-track crowds, including the shifting of give-away days and ways to further capitalize on the 1863 Club, which was opened for this year’s meet. NYRA started July 11, the earliest start ever for a Saratoga meet. Traditionally, on-track attendance picks up in August and such an early start could not have helped on-track business.

Jose Ortiz was the leading rider at the meet, besting his brother, Irad Ortiz Jr., by a 60-53 margin. It was his third straight Spa title. Chad Brown won the training title with 41 victories. He fell short of the meet record he set last year when making 46 trips to the winner’s circle.

New York racing is set to resume Sept. 6 at Belmont Park, but plans for the Long Island track having an abbreviated meet before moving to Aqueduct are currently up in the air. The reason given was that NYRA was worried about conducting racing there while construction was ongoing for a new arena for the New York Islanders. But O’Rourke said Monday that may no longer be the case.

“I want to see what happens when we get back to Belmont,” he said. “There’s a chance that the problems caused by the construction won’t be as great as anticipated and if that’s the case then maybe we will run the full meet there rather than going to Aqueduct.”

Shadwell Stable’s Qurbaan, who had gone winless since pulling off a 13-1 upset in last summer’s GII Bernard Baruch H. at Saratoga, parlayed a dream trip and made short work of his competition in the stretch to get back on track and repeat in the closing day event.

Picking up a pair of stakes tallies in France in the winter of 2016-2017, the chestnut was third in the G3 Grand Prix de Vichy and fifth in the G3 Prix Andre Baboin two years ago to earn his trip to America. Just getting up in a three-way photo off the bench in the 2018 Baruch, he was in the money in six of his next seven—including Grade I placings in the GI Shadwell Turf Mile S., GI Maker’s 46 Mile S. and GI Old Forester Turf Classic S.—but couldn’t quite break through, most recently running third when favored at this oval in the GIII Forbidden Apple S. July 12.
Off as the narrow third choice in a race where five of the six starters ended up between 5-2 and 5-1, Qurbaan broke smartly and found a cozy spot tracking the speed of longshot Dream Friend from the pocket through splits of :24.81 and :50.98 over soft ground. Patiently handled by Joel Rosario while sticking to the hedge around the far turn, he ran to daylight when Dream Friend came out one path straightening for home and kicked clear almost instantly. Sacred Life, one of three Chad Brown entries in the field, gave game chase, but Qurbaan never faced an anxious moment in the final furlong and finished strong to earn the much-awaited victory. Dream Friend did well to hold third.

“It was great for him,” said winning trainer Kiaran McLaughlin, who picked up his sixth Baruch score, second only to Mack Miller’s seven. “He’s one of the barn favorites and [has been] unlucky so many times to be second, third with little excuses, but today, everything goes perfect and Joel rode him great. It was a great ride. He’ll run in the Shadwell Turf Mile [Oct. 5 at Keeneland]. That’s what we’ve pointed for all year, so now that’s our next start.”

“On paper, it looked like there was only one horse with speed,” added Rosario. “He was up close and it looked like I could go to the lead, but I just decided to follow the other horse [Dream Friend]. I got through inside and everything worked out good. He was fine with the ground. He gave me a strong kick and it looked like he was really happy with it today.”

Pedigree Notes:
Qurbaan, whose name means “offering” in Somali, is one of 49 graded stakes winners for Speightstown. He is out of Flip Flop (Fr), a stakes winner in her native land who came overseas to run second in the 2005
GI Yellow Ribbon S. for Gary Tanaka and trainer Ben Cecil.

Despite being saddled with a dreaded outside post position, Pure Sensation proved himself more than up to the task as he recorded his fourth victory in the GIII Turf Monster S. at Parx. Sent screaming to the front from the word ‘go’, he was narrowly ahead of Hollywood Talent early, closing out an opening quarter in :22.48. That rival soon put the screws to the favorite, moving to the fore leaving the backstretch and remained in front five sixteenths from the judges. Cont. p12

Undeterred, Pure Sensation fought back courageously on the turn, spurted clear of a spent Hollywood Talent in the final furlong and had built up more than enough of a cushion to hold off the fast-closing Dubini, who barreled down the center of the course to nab second. Hollywood Talent held on for third. Despite a rider’s objection lodged by the runner-up for alleged interference by the winner shortly after the start, the final order of finish was allowed to stand.

A winner of 10 stakes previously, including seven at the graded level, Pure Sensation kicked off the season with a score in an optional claimer over the Gulfstream sod Apr. 12 before besting three others in the Pennsylvania Governor’s Cup S. June 1. The grey, who has shown a strong affinity for the Parx turf, winning six of seven starts over the surface, added his most recent at the venue in the July 6 GIII Parx Dash. Last time out, he didn’t assume his customary spot in front early and had to settle for third in the Aug. 3 GIII Troy S. at Saratoga.

Pedigree Notes:
One of 15 stakes winners by Grade I-winning sire Zensational, Pure Sensation is the second foal out of his multiple stakes winning dam Pure Disco. With a trio of winners from six runners under her belt, the 16-year-old mare is also responsible for the stakes winning Salute the Colonel (Colonel John). She currently has a 3-year-old filly by Street Sense in addition to a juvenile filly by Bodemeister. She was bred to Will Take Charge this term.

He broke out at the start and was under a snug hold racing on the inside in third through an opening quarter in :23.25. Caught in tight quarters on the far turn, he split horses midway on the final bend, gained a narrow advantage as they straightened and gamely fought back along the inside of Gray Magician after

MOTHER-DAUGHTER TEAM HONORS

FAMILY PASSION FOR THOROUGHBREDS

by Diana Pikulski

Nadia and Vanessa Camperlengo founded a unique Thoroughbred organization called Classic Legacy Thoroughbred Aftercare (CLTA) in honor of her mother, my grandmother, who passed away three years ago. Thoroughbreds were her life. A revered owner and breeder, she dedicated her life to the industry. Even when she had nothing—I can distinctly recall her claiming the horses she bred off the track, her horses that she believed were being overworked and overrun. She would miss a rent payment so she could claim her babies back.

Her vigor was matched by her intelligence—she knew every female line. Another fond memory is when her grandchildren would come visit her in Florida—you weren’t allowed to come into her room if you didn’t know Mr. Prospector’s female line. She made her daughters, and then me, study pedigrees relentlessly. Every Sunday since I could remember, she’d call and talk about pedigrees. You could say I started saying “double copy mare” in my sleep!

So now, we’ve been active ever since. With an all-female board, comprised of myself, my mother, aunts, and close peers, we work in her memory.

DP: What impact do you feel you have made for Thoroughbreds?

NC: Though we’ve been active for a short amount of time, we believe our impact is vast. And a lot of that comes from our passion and real connection to these incredible creatures. Whether it’s one horse or 100—each life counts. I think to the industry, we’re showing folks just how personal and important aftercare rescue and overall advocacy is. My aunt, Aleta Overby, our Intake Coordinator, likes to tell the story about the guy on the beach who was surrounded by dying starfish. He was throwing them back when his friend told him that there were too many to make a difference. He held up the starfish in his hand, threw it back into the ocean and said, “It made a difference to that one.” That’s what we are.

DP: What is your hope to accomplish or change for Thoroughbreds in the future?

NC: To offer horses a chance to go to the next phase of their lives and careers, if appropriate. The best safeguard for a retired Thoroughbred is being good at their job, whether it is as a show horse, a therapy horse, or simply a pasture horse. Each and every Thoroughbred has a purpose—even if they aren’t filling someone’s pockets.
DP: Tell us a little bit about your facilities.

NC: We have two farms: one in Louisiana and one in Virginia. In Louisiana, we're located about an hour north of New Orleans, near the horse community of Folsom. We're on 25 acres with six paddocks, two pastures, and 17 stalls between two barns. The area's most regarded vet clinic (which is able to do some surgeries) is less than one mile from the farm.

In Virginia, we just closed on a beautiful farm in Norwood (near Nelson County). It has over 100 acres, miles of riding trails, and a nice sized, renovated barn. This is the perfect location for our incoming sanctuary horses.

DP: What is unique or special about Classic Legacy?

NC: I think there's a lot that makes us unique. First, we have an all-female staff and board in a male-dominated industry. Secondly, we all have full-time jobs, including myself. This is our passion. We don't make a penny. And you know what? We don't want to. It's not the point. A six-figure salary doesn't make us want to wake up early before our full-time jobs start to work on CLTA. It's because we love it. And we'd be nowhere without these horses.

DP: Give us an overview of a few of the Thoroughbreds currently in re-training with you?

NC: Currently, we have two mares in re-training. First is Nashshinderella. She was abandoned at a training farm by her owner who quit paying bills for his five horses. She’s currently being trained for trail riding and therapy work for her future at our sanctuary. She's four years old, very kind and gentle. Second is Bella Atrice. Cont. p16
She’s an older lady, 18 years old and she has a beautiful pedigree. She's out of the major stakes winner Irish Actress. Bella won almost $200,000 and had a few foals but the last one almost killed her--so her former groom at the racetrack, Ronnie Betor, who’d kept tabs on her all those years after the track, offered to take her on. Ronnie has had her the last couple years, riding her and loving her, but for financial reasons can no longer keep her. She plans to come to our sanctuary with Nash—they'll be good buddies.

We have just successfully rehabbed and rehomed a sweet colt named High Providence who came to us in December with a tendon injury.

DP: Tell us about your recent event at Saratoga honoring Barbara Livingston?

NC: “Lauding Legacy: An Aftercare Celebration” was so successful in large part because of all of the community participation. It would not have been possible without everyone. My mother and I decided that the best way to raise awareness and support aftercare would be through community collaboration. My mother herself worked on the backstretch in the 1970s at Saratoga, so the community is important to us.

We had a 30+ piece silent auction, live music from The Accents, catering from Mazzones, tasting tables from Sagamore Rye Distillery, One With Life Tequila, and Oliva Vineyards. And to really drive home our love for collaboration, we had an aftercare exhibition featuring representatives from [the] Thoroughbred Retirement Foundation (TRF), Caribbean Thoroughbred Aftercare (CTA), Long Shadows Farm, Saratoga War Horse, and New Vocations.

We chose to honor photographer Barbara Livingston with our Founder’s Award that evening because of her dedication to the industry and aftercare. Presenting her award was Julie Krone, another female trailblazer in the industry. Additionally, Congressman Paul Tonko attended, and gave Barbara a Congressional Award. Barbara was also gracious to host an impromptu book signing for all who purchased her books for a donation.

Proceeds from our event went directly to the Saratoga Mounted Police Force, and their quest to bring a third aftercare horse onto their force. We raised $10,000 for these incredible folks. What was also great about having the Patrol attend was how they greeted guests at the front of the Casino on horseback.

We are thrilled to be hosting yet another "Lauding Legacy" event next summer at the Canfield Casino. We'll be honoring the legacy of Marylou Whitney and raising funds for B.E.S.T.—Backstretch Employee Service Team.

DP: If you could have three wishes for the future of off-track Thoroughbreds, what would they be?

NC: A good job, a good home, and lots of love—all in one place!

CONSTITUTION COLT AS ADVERTISED, NAMED ‘TDN RISING STAR’ AT THE SPA

The cleverly named Gouverneur Morris (c, 2, Constitution--Addison Run, by Unbridled’s Song), picked up for $600,000 after breezing an eighth in :10 1/5 at the FTFMAR juvenile sale, ran to the billing as the 3-5 favorite to earn the ‘TDN Rising Star’ nod in his Saratoga unveiling over the sloppy going on closing day.

Trained by Todd Pletcher, the gray’s worktab included a sharp four-furlong breeze in :47 3/5 (17/108) at the Spa Aug. 17. Gouverneur Morris was last of seven out of the stalls and took a bump shortly after the start from his inside. He recovered quickly to sit a perfect trip in third as Maximiliano (Quality Road), a $425,000 KEESEP yearling purchase, and Secret Rules (Secret Circle) battled through an opening quarter in :22.38. He ranged up with a sweeping move while about five or six wide approaching the quarter pole, and from there it was just a question of how much he’d win by. The Team Valor and WinStar Farm representative was handridden down the lane by John Velazquez en route to a powerful nine-length decision. Maximiliano was second; Secret Rules was third.

The February foal, a half-brother to this year’s GIII Dwyer S. runner-up Final Jeopardy (Street Sense), MGSP, $164,450, becomes the 11th winner for his freshman sire (by Tapit).

This is the extended female family of champion 2-year-old colt and GI Breeders’ Cup Juvenile winner Midshipman (Unbridled’s Song) and MGISW Frosted (Tapit).

Jeltrin, looking for her first victory since taking the GII Davona Dale S. in March, sailed home an easy front-running winner of the Cathryn Sophia S. Monday at Parx. The bay filly was pressed on the lead through a half in :48.18, took charge midway on the turn and stormed clear down the lane.

Following her 51-1 upset in the Davona Dale, Jeltrin finished 10th, promoted to ninth, in the May 3 GI Kentucky Oaks. She was third behind undefeated Guarana (Ghostzapper) and Oaks winner Serengeti Empress (Alternation) in the June 8 GI Acorn S. and third again behind recent GI Alabama S. winner Dunbar Road (Quality Road) in the June 29 GII Mother Goose S. and was coming off a fifth-place effort in the Aug. 3 GI Test S.

Yesterdayoncemore opened her career with a pair of runner-up efforts over the all-weather at Dundalk in April before moving to the lawn to finish seventh at Naas in the May 19 G3 Irish EBF Sprint S. and fifth at the Curragh in the June 28 G2 Balanchine S. She was most recently fifth at Galway Aug. 3 and had worked twice over the Del Mar main track last month. Victor Espinoza took a strong hold of the filly under the wire the first time and the pair raced midpack early. Yesterdayoncemore was still racing keenly down the backstretch, had to check off a rival, but pulled her way into contention along the rail entering the far turn. She split horses at the top of the lane and powered to the lead. “She did it well,” said winning trainer James Stack>
“She looked the part at home and for the better part of two weeks we’ve been here. Victor gave her a good ride and it worked out well. She’ll stay here and she’s got plenty of options now.” Espinoza added, “They said in a perfect world, if you can sit three or four lengths back, cover her up, and then make a late run. It worked out just that way. She’s built strong and I thought she’d love this turf. Sure enough. I was just going to play it with her off the break, and she broke great. This kind of horse will pretty much take you there. She did today. “ Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.
On the board in 14 of 16 lifetime starts, Chalon annexed two of five starts in 2018—the Primonetta S. at Laurel and Monmouth’s Regret before rounding out the season with a pair of narrow second-place efforts in the Oct. 6 Gil Thoroughbred Club of America S. at Keeneland and the seven-furlong GI Breeders’ Cup Filly and Mare Sprint at Churchill Nov. 3. A winner first off the bench in Pimlico’s Skipat S. May 17, she finished second in her next two starts in the Gill Bed O’ Roses S. June 7 followed by the Gil Honorable Miss S. July 24.

Chalon, a $550,000 Fasig-Tipton November purchase in 2017, has a yearling half-sister by Dialed In and a foal half-sister by Mineshaft. The winner’s dam, Fall Fantasy, was bred back to Gormley. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.

Engage, winner of the 2017 Gill Futurity S., was runner-up in last year’s Apr. 7 Gill Bay Shore S., June 9 Gill Woody Stephens S., and July 28 Gill Amsterdam S. and ended his sophomore season with a fourth-place finish in the Sept. 22 Gill Gallant Bob S. He resurfaced to be fourth in a six-furlong optional claimer at Saratoga July 19 in his final outing for trainer Chad Brown. On the lead in the early strides, Engage ceded his advantage and settled into a stalking third. He rallied three wide nearing the stretch, forged to the lead at midstretch and held on over the late-rushing Bon Raison. Nefertiti, a daughter of multiple graded stakes winner Clearly a Queen (Lucky North), produced a colt by Quality Road in 2018 and a colt by Arrogate in 2019.
