NYRA REDUCES PRICES The New York Racing Association yesterday announced a series of price reductions for admission, parking and Saratoga reserved seats. The price of clubhouse admission at Belmont and Saratoga has been lowered from $5 to $4. In addition, the current reduced admission prices at Aqueduct of $3 for the clubhouse and $1 for the grandstand will be adopted on a permanent basis. Valet parking at both Belmont and Aqueduct has been decreased from $5 to $4. The reserved seats at Saratoga, which had been priced from $5 to $7, have been reduced to $4 for grandstand seats and $6 for clubhouse seats; racing fans who have already ordered their seats for the '95 meet will be receiving rebates. "These reductions are part of our efforts to make racing more affordable for more people and to show our appreciation to our customers," said Steven Crist, NYRA's director of communications and development. "We will continue to make adjustments and enhance the quality of our product."

SANTA ANITA TO REPLACE TURF COURSE Dissatisfied with the high sand content and slow growth of the grass on their turf course, Santa Anita Park management have decided to replace and improve the course in two phases, beginning when the current meet ends April 24. "We will use a soil mixture with less sand," said Santa Anita President Clifford Goodrich. "It will provide a more stable running surface and produce significantly less sand throw. This may result in more days when turf races will have to be transferred to the main track or not carded during rainy periods, but the horsemen have let us know that the type of racing surface is the more important issue." The second stage of the undertaking will replace the hillside section of the course in April, 1996. The cost of the new turf course is estimated to be over $1.5 million.

GULFSTREAM • GLIMPSE

Bluff's Dividend, winner of four in a row at Calder and Aqueduct before finishing third against allowance colts in her last start, returns to her own division in Sunday's $50,000 Old Hat S. at Gulfstream. The three-year-old filly will carry highweight of 116 against eight rivals in the six-furlong feature, meeting Carson Creek, runner-up in the GIII Tempted S. before finishing fourth to the top one in Aqueduct's Meritus S.; and Mackenzie Slew, an allowance winner at Churchill in her last effort.

KING'S THEATRE TO AMERICA King's Theatre (Sadler's Wells), winner of last season's King George VI & Queen Elizabeth Diamond S. at Ascot, will race in America in 1995. The four-year-old colt's owner, Sheikh Mohammed, decided to send his runner to the States because it is believed the faster pace of the American races will suit him, and also because the Sheikh will have two other top middle-distance performers, classic winner Balanchine (Storm Bird) and Arc winner Carnegie (Sadler's Wells), competing in Europe next year. King's Theatre will be trained in the U.S. by Bill Mott.

FEWER MARES FOR SADLER'S WELLS European champion stallion Sadler's Wells (Northern Dancer) will cover fewer mares this spring. The sire, based at Ireland's Coolmore Stud, had been covering more than 100 mares a season, but fertility problems attributed to antibiotic treatment last breeding season lowered the number to 61, of which 50 are believed to be in foal. The details of Sadler's Wells 1995 book have not yet been released.

Canadian invader Starry Val tried an overnight handicap at Aqueduct last time out and missed by only a neck despite a rough trip and a lost whip. Recently purchased by Barry K. Schwartz, the Ontario-bred this time ran coupled with the the mare who beat her in that race, MISS POCKET COURT (Court Trial) (4th); rated off the pace to the stretch, she rallied strongly to edge frontrunner Footing in the photo. "I won and I lost," said her trainer, Dick Dutrow, who will now turn over the stakes winner to her new connections, Schwartz and trainer Mike Hushion. "I won the stake but lost the horse."
