FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH WRAP-UP The first five finishers from Saturday's Gil Fountain of Youth are expected back for a rematch in the GI Florida Derby March 11. "The Florida Derby, the Blue Grass and the Kentucky Derby would be a good path for this horse," said D. Wayne Lukas, trainer of winner Thunder Gulch (Gulch). Runner-up Suave Prospect (Fortunate Prospect), who broke from the far outside and just missed, pleased trainer Nick Zito with his performance. "I don't ever remember losing a big race like that and taking it as good as I did," said Zito. "He overcame everything with the post position. It would have been something if he could have been the first horse of the meet to win (a route) from out there." The favorite, Jambalaya Jazz (Dixieland Band), was tired Sunday morning after his third-place effort. "It took a lot out of him," said his trainer, John Ward. "He was so far back and he didn't get moving soon enough, but I was pleased after I watched the replay. The Florida Derby is still pencilled in." Cinch (Temperence Hill), fourth, will also come back in the nine-furlong event. Oliver's Twist (Horatius), fifth, bled in the race; according to trainer Bill Boniface, he will work on Lasix next time and, if all goes well, come back for the Florida Derby.

TURFWAY CANCELS SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Running to an even dozen the number of cards lost to the weather this meet, Turfway Park yesterday announced the track would be closed for live racing both Sunday and Monday. This will give the maintenance crew four full days to work on the track surface, which has been plagued by a pattern of freezing and thawing for the past week. Racing is scheduled to resume with Wednesday's evening card. The Race Book will remain open for simulcasting.

"I got bounced off the fence, but I'm on a game filly," said winning jockey Corey Nakatani. "I just sat on her. I ride this filly with a lot of confidence, and she always responds with everything she's got." Added trainer D. Wayne Lukas, "I think we've got a good one here. She thrives on racing. She likes to get out and race, and we're not overdoing it. We're picking our spots." Her next engagement will be the Santa Anita Oaks March 12.
