REMEMBERING "THE MASTER" Jockey Eddie Arcaro, who passed away Friday at the age of 81, was so much more to racing than what is written in the history books. He was more than his two Triple Crowns, more than the six-time leading rider in America, more than the man elected to the Hall of Fame in 1958. He hadn't ridden a race in more than 35 years, but "The Master" will long be remembered for his competitive fire on the racetrack and his grace as an ambassador to the sport after he hung up his tack. Bill Boland, now a steward, was the youngest jockey ever to win the Kentucky Derby when he took the 1950 "Run for the Roses" with Middleground at age 16. Arcaro had the call on that colt, but instead chose Hill Prince and finished second. "When I won the Derby he congratulated me--and then he said something like 'You little (bleep), any other time you would have moved a half mile too soon'," recalled Boland with a smile. "Eddie was the greatest rider I ever saw. Everybody knew him. He couldn't go anywhere without someone stopping him for an autograph." But woe to those who got in his way on the racetrack. Crowded at the start of a race in 1942, Arcaro went after the offending jockey and intentionally put him into the infield. While his aggressive riding style carried him to 4,779 victories, that time it cost him a one-year suspension. But his will to win never cost him the admiration of his fans. "When I was growing up in Puerto Rico, my father would tell me if I wanted to be a jockey, I had to learn to ride like Eddie Arcaro," said fellow Hall of Famer Angel Cordero Jr. "When I was 15, I met him...he gave me a pair of his goggles and, man, I wore them everywhere I went for two years. I'm very sorry he is gone, and I'm sorry that half the racetrack never got to see him ride. God only makes so many people like Muhammed Ali, Michael Jordan and Babe Ruth who can never be topped. Eddie Arcaro is right there. He was the best ever." Pat Lynch, a New York Racing Association vice president during Arcaro's heyday, said, "He reminded me of Joe DiMaggio. If DiMaggio was perfection at the plate, Eddie was perfection on a horse. He had the same combination of grace and elegance. He was a terrific guy." Bill Shoemaker was Arcaro's closest rival and one of his closest friends. The two faced off in a match race in 1955--Arcaro, aboard Nashua, gunned to the lead at the start, leaving Shoemaker and Swaps to play catch up. They never did. "He was a great friend, but when he got in the gate and the gate opened, he'd forget about that," said Shoemaker. "He was such a competitor. He never gave you an inch on the racetrack and that's what made him so great."

GULCH FILLY TOPS KEENELAND SATURDAY Elaysha (Gulch), a three-year-old filly out of stakes winner and multiple graded-stakes placed Key Flyer (Nijinsky II), attracted the highest bid on the sixth day of the Keeneland November Breeding Stock Sale Saturday in Lexington. Consigned by Mill Ridge Sales, agent, the broodmare prospect, who was unplaced in her only career start, was purchased by Wayne G. Lyster III for $210,000. Saturday's session saw 276 horses sell for $10,396,400. The average of $37,668 was up 25 percent over the sixth session in 1996, while Saturday's median, $30,000, was up 26 percent. A total of 298 horses brought $8,986,000 for an average of $30,154 during last year's corresponding session; the median was $22,000. The 12-day auction continues through Friday, November 21, with bidding beginning at 10 a.m.

Delay of Game, 5 1/2-length winner of an Aug. 9 Saratoga allowance race, most recently finished fifth Sept. 21 in a Belmont allowance event. Ignored at the windows as he took on graded-stakes foes, the dark bay gelding showed a fondness for the muddy going, quickly gaining the early lead and drawing away in the stretch for an easy score. "My main concern was to make the lead, and luckily for me he broke well and made it easy for me," winning rider Jean-Luc Samyn said. "He showed his speed and he had it his own way out there. He was having fun. He was moving along nicely and when I called on him he responded well. (Winning trainer Rusty Arnold) said in the paddock that this horse was ready and he's going to run good. He was right." Added Arnold, "He really loves it wet. He's a much different horse in the slop all together. He ran his type of race. We've been planning for this race for a while, and he keeps showing us that he's much better at two turns."

Weather Vane scored in the Sept. 20 Gill Safely Kept S. at Colonial Downs and ran third in the Oct. 18 Maryland Million Distaff H. over this track in her latest effort. The third choice was away alertly to set the pace on the rail, widened her advantage at the quarter-pole and dug in to turn back the challenge of Palette Knife in the final strides. "I thought there would have been more speed up there," winning jockey Mario Pino said. "She broke sharp. Even if she had lost today, I would have been proud of her. She showed more speed and hung in gamely."

Misty Hour won an Aug. 15 maiden event in her first start, ran seventh in the Sept. 14 GIC Natalma S., and came back with a victory last time out in an Oct. 15 Keeneland allowance race. Back at Woodbine once again, she was sent off as the second choice in this test restricted to Canadian-bred fillies; the bay stalked the early pace before moving up around the far turn and gaining the lead inside the sixteenth-pole. "This filly ran really well today," said Malcolm Pierce, assistant to trainer Mark Frostad, who took the GI Breeders' Cup Turf last weekend with Chief Bearhart. "It's a nice way for us to finish up the year. She was our last runner at Woodbine for the season, and it's just been fantastic."

Colcon picked up her first stakes victory when capturing the Sept. 14 Gill Noble Damsel H. She tried competing against males in her latest, finishing third in the Oct. 18 Gill Kelso H. at Belmont. Stretching out off that one-mile test, the second choice raced just behind the early leaders on the inside before angling out five-wide nearing the stretch and closing strongly to grab the lead inside the furlong-pole. "The pace was pretty decent considering the conditions of the course," winning rider Jerry Bailey said. "About at the quarter-pole, the front three or four horses started to collapse, and I just had to find a spot to get around them. I was in good shape."

Well Noted crushed the field by 11 lengths in a Sept. 3 Turfway maiden race, and followed with fourth-place finishes in both the Sept. 13 Gill Kentucky Cup Juvenile S. on the dirt and the Oct. 24 Hopemont S. on the turf. The winner saved ground early on the inside, got through to challenge on the far turn and stormed to the front in the lane for a convincing victory. "I knew a couple of the outside horses had speed," winning rider Shane Laviolette said. "I just kind of let them go. They floated off the rail, they thought the rail was a little bad. So I just got into a tire rut (from the tractors) and let him hold his spot. When I asked him, he responded great. I've been fortunate with these two-year-olds, that's what you look for, a good two-year-old to carry on." The 4-5 favorite MIDDLESEX DRIVE (Pine Bluff) tracked the early pace but lacked a response in the stretch, finishing fourth. "It was a sea of slop out there," said his rider, Shane Sellers. "We came away from the gate, and he wasn't running at all. I could never get him to pick up the bit."

Local News: Lone Star Park

Lone Star Park will host the Racetrack Chaplaincy of Texas Charity Day this Thursday, November 20, donating 2 percent of all money wagered at the track that day on both simulcast and live racing to the organization. As a Class I racetrack in Texas, Lone Star is required to host at least two charity days per year; Thursday's event will be the third of the track's inaugural season.

The Racetrack Chaplaincy of Texas will also host a Texas Brunch and Fashion Show at Lone Star Saturday, November 22. Tickets, which include admission and valet parking, are $50, and all proceeds go to the Chaplaincy.

Local News: Hoosier Park

Racing at Indiana's Hoosier Park was cancelled after the second race yesterday evening. The track is expected to be back in action this afternoon.

*Finished first, DQ'ed and placed second.

Never off the board in four prior turf tries, Idealistic Cause was coming off a fifth-place finish in the Cal Cup Matron H. on the Santa Anita dirt October 25. Rated near the back of the pack early, the dark bay launched a bid that brought her even with pacesetter Just Lookn in deep stretch, but she was carried wide as the front-runner drifted out and crossed the finish a neck back in second. The stewards posted the inquiry sign, disqualifying Just Lookn and placing her second. "(Just Lookn) came out, bumped us and kept on floating us out," said Corey Nakatani, rider of Idealistic Cause. "They were intimidating my filly. Every time we started to go by, they bumped her." Just Lookn pulled up lame in the left front and was vanned off.
