CAPE CANAVERAL OUT OF DERBY PICTURE

Overbrook Farms' Cape Canaveral (Mr. Prospector), the undefeated winner of the Gill San Miguel S. at Santa Anita Jan. 9, has been diagnosed with a stress fracture to the right front shin and he will be out of training for several months. Overbrook General Manager Ric Waldman said, "It's doubtful that he'll need surgery," but added that there is no chance the Wayne Lukas-trained colt would be ready for the May 1 Derby. The colt's connections are not the only interests directly affected by the injury. Cape Canaveral had been betting interest number three in the new Kentucky Derby Future Book Wager that opened yesterday at noon, and news of the injury broke after $388 had already been bet on the colt. Churchill officials said there will be no refunds on money already bet, but no more wagers will be accepted.

NATIONAL JOCKEY CLUB MEET BEGINS TODAY

Patrons arriving at Sportsman's Park for the first day of the National Jockey Club meet today will get a big surprise: No racing. Instead, they will have to go to Hawthorne Racecourse, where the NJC meet is being held this year as renovations and the addition of an auto racing track take place at Sportsman's. Racing will take place Friday through Tuesday during the 95-day meet, which ends June 30. The marquee event of the meet takes place Saturday, May 8, with the running of the $500,000 Gill Illinois Derby. The NJC's other graded races are the May 15 $300,000 Gill Sixty Sails H. for fillies and mares going nine furlongs and the $200,000 Gill National Jockey Club H. for older horses going nine furlongs May 29.

PENN NATIONAL TALKS STILL HALTED Daily Racing Form reports that talks between horsemen and officials for Penn National Racecourse in Grantville, Pennsylvania, stalled Tuesday afternoon and racing is unlikely for the weekend, as negotiations have not taken place since. The horsemen and tracks are at an impasse over the distribution of purse money. According to a statement released by the Pennsylvania Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Agency, horsemen received $13 million last year in purses, while Penn National received $29 million. After cancelling Wednesday's card, Penn National has been prohibited from also taking wagers at any of its six off-track betting locations.

Gulfstream to Correct Over 70 Races:

Daily Racing Form reported yesterday the corrected times for more than 70 races will be announced today. "We are done," said Teleview Racing Patrol President Ron Sellitto to DRF. "All I have to do is finish the paperwork before we can release the results of our investigation. We have some 70-odd races that have been corrected, all but one run on or before Jan. 18."

Florida Derby Inquiries "Hotter" Than Expected:

How many different combinations can you get out of 1-800-771-8873? What happens if you miss by one number? What are the chances the incorrect phone number is for a male sex phone service? Don't ask Gulfstream Park. Someone moved one number in a mailer the track sent out pitching seats at the Florida Derby on Mar. 13, and prospective customers were given an 800 number for a male sex service. "Hey, stud. Welcome to the hottest all male phone line around," was the opening line the callers heard.
