SHEIKH MAKTOUM DIES

Racing was left in mourning yesterday with the news that the emir of Dubai, Sheikh Maktoum bin Rashid Al Maktoum died Wednesday in Australia, aged 62. One of the sport's pre-eminent owner/breeders is believed to have suffered a heart attack while visiting Australia's Gold Coast. "The United Arab Emirates has lost a historical leader who devoted his life to establishing the United Arab Emirates and enhancing its structure and the welfare of its people," read a statement issued by the Dubai government. Sheikh Maktoum, the eldest brother of the ruling family of Dubai, was quick to establish his presence on the European racing scene in the 1980s and set up the Gainsborough breeding operation based in Newbury in England, County Meath and Tipperary in Ireland and Versailles in Kentucky. Gainsborough was responsible for such luminaries as Fantastic Light, Lammtarra, Hatoof, Royal Applause (GB), Lailani (GB) and Sayyedati (GB). Sheikh Maktoum, who was the vice-president and prime minister of the United Arab Emirates, later enjoyed major success with the exploits of the top-class sprinter and sire Green Desert, Cadeaux Genereux (GB) and Shamardal. Among his trainers were Ed Dunlop and Sir Michael Stoute, while in France he enjoyed a lucrative partnership with Criquette Head-Maarek and in the United States with Neil Drysdale. In 1992, the Maktoum family formed Godolphin, the international racing operation which has already won 124 Group 1 races in 11 countries.

"Sheikh Maktoum's death is a huge loss to Dubai, but also to the world of horse racing," said Godolphin Racing Manager Simon Crisford. "He was at the very center of everything Godolphin has achieved. It was Sheikh Maktoum who decided that horses should be trained in Dubai to run in the top international races. Along with Sheikh Mohammed, he set up Godolphin. He was the one who chose the blue silks our horses carry and he was involved in all key decisions affecting the stable. Our thoughts are with the Maktoum family at this very sad time." Joe Mercer, his British racing manager for 19 years, was among the first to pay tribute yesterday.

"It's absolutely awful," he told PA Sport. "We had hundreds of great horses--Cadeaux Genereux, Royal Applause, Fantastic Light, Hatoof, Shadeed, Shareef Dancer--dozens and dozens of them. He really enjoyed his racing. He knew what was going on and was a very good man to work for. He was a good loser and a good winner. He had over 200 horses in training and a lot of yearlings still to come in." Others to pay respects yesterday included Dunlop, who trains from Sheikh Maktoum's Gainsborough Stables in Newmarket. "It's very sad news, primarily for Sheikh Maktoum's family and all of Dubai," he commented. "He was a wonderful man to work for and most importantly, he was the one who gave me a chance. He will be sorely missed." Expressing the sentiments of many around racing, Coolmore's John Magnier said, "It was with great regret that I learned of Sheikh Maktoum Al Maktoum's untimely death. He is a great loss, not only to his family and nation, but also to world racing. A great lover of the Thoroughbred racehorse, he enjoyed much success over the years both as an owner and breeder under the Gainsborough Stud banner and also through his involvement in the hugely successful Godolphin operation. He made a lasting and important contribution to racing, not least in Ireland, and it is the poorer for his passing." Born in 1943, Sheikh Maktoum was highly instrumental in helping his father Sheikh Rashid bin Saeed Al Maktoum to develop the emirate and its infrastructure. He worked in concert with his brothers Sheikh Mohammed and Sheikh Hamdan to support Sheikh Rashid through illness in his latter years and became ruler upon his father's death in November 1990. The Maktoum brothers' continued revolution of Dubai has seen it become one of the world's major business and sports locations, with the Dubai World Cup having grown as an international focus in the horse racing community. He will be buried at Umm Hurira graveyard in Bur Dubai tomorrow, and an official mourning period of 40 days has been declared. Government offices will be closed for seven days. The Crown Prince of Dubai, Sheikh Mohammed, has immediately succeeded his brother as the emirate's ruler.

TRIBUTES TO SHEIKH MAKTOUM

Bill Oppenheim, Bloodstock Columnist

"I had the privilege to work as a pedigree advisor to Sheikh Maktoum bin Rashid Al Maktoum's Gainsborough Farm for nine years, between 1988-1996. We got lucky right off the bat, by sending a little Lyphard mare, Cadeaux d'Amie, to Irish River (Fr) for her first mating. The result was Hatoof, a real star who won the English 1000 Guineas at three, the Dubai Champion S. at four (defeating stablemate Ezzoud-- I seem to remember cashing a big exacta bet that day) and the Beverly D. at five. We had some other big successes at Gainsborough, including Sayyedati, for his good friend, Mohammed Obaida; Lammtarra; and Fantastic Light.

It was a privilege, too, to work with people like Michael Goodbody, Joe Mercer and Allen Kershaw. I also had the good fortune to visit Dubai several times during that era, and to marvel how Sheikh Rashid's sons, led by Sheikh Maktoum, have translated his and their vision into a world-class city. As is their tradition, I always found Sheikh Maktoum and his family to be the most gracious hosts, and fantastic people to work for. In spite of his extremely busy schedule, Sheikh Maktoum took an active interest in the matings and other pedigree issues, and was always interested to hear one's views and reasons about the issues that were raised. They asked me out once to get an American view of the prospective racing program when Nad Al Sheba was just getting going. At the time, the Pick Six was really going strong in America, and we somehow figured out a way where the racegoer was given a chance to pick all the evening's winners, and all those that did went into a draw for a new Mercedes, or the like.

Even after I had finished working for him, I would always get a friendly wave and handshake from Sheikh Maktoum when we would see each other at the races. He was a tremendous sportsman and gentleman, not at all standoffish, and quick to smile and laugh. I'm grateful for being able to know and work with him, and I'll miss seeing him at the races this year."

Nick Nicholson, Keeneland President

"Sheikh Maktoum leaves a tremendous legacy as a visionary leader in the worldwide Thoroughbred industry. He strived for only the best for his horses and in his racing and breeding operations, and the international Thoroughbred community has been the beneficiary of those high standards. He was a great friend to Keeneland, and to all of Central Kentucky. His leadership improved the quality of the Thoroughbred breed, and the quality of life for his employees and the people of Dubai. We were very happy that he was able to attend the recent Keeneland September yearling sale after having been away for many years. We will miss him very much."

Sir Michael Stoute, Trainer

"It is with great sadness that I learned of the death of Sheikh Maktoum Al Maktoum. I first trained for him in 1982 and have thoroughly enjoyed our association. He was a gentleman, sportsman, and horseman who made an enormous contribution to our industry. I shall miss him."

Walter Swinburn, Former Jockey

"It came as a great shock learning of his death earlier this morning and the memories have kept flooding by me all day. I was so lucky and fortunate to ride such great horses and he was such a gentleman and a pleasure to ride for. Shareef Dancer is one of his horses that is often overlooked--he won the Irish Derby and set the ball rolling for them in 1983. I enjoyed a good relationship with him and my family and I were welcomed by him into Dubai every year. It was just an honour to have met the man and ridden some good horses for him over the years."

Martin Broughton, BHB Chairman

"British racing has lost a tremendous patron and pioneering figure in Sheikh Maktoum al Maktoum. His sad death will be felt throughout the sport, but his legacy is sure to live on."

MORE ON THE MODERN THOROUGHBRED

In Tuesday's column, Andrew Caulfield referred to Bill Finley's "What's Wrong With the Modern Thoroughbred" Writer's Up piece. For what it's worth, I'd like to offer my take on the modern phenomenon of top-class horses making fewer starts than their counterparts of earlier times. I must admit, I'm far from convinced that the modern Thoroughbred has undergone a radical change which has significantly decreased its soundness and durability compared to, say, 50 years ago.

What I would suggest has changed is the intensity of competition. The very best horses may not be running faster than ever before (although some would suggest that they are relative to track surfaces), but what is happening, is that many, many more horses are running very nearly as fast as the best horses.

To put it another way, the gaps between the best horse, 10th-best horse, 100th-best horse--and so on--are now significantly smaller than they were 50 years ago. As a result, competition is far fiercer, especially with regard to demanding early fractions.

So, to take one of Bill Finley's examples, a modern horse attempting to emulate Citation, who romped in the Jersey Derby between the Preakness and the Belmont (when there was a month between the two Classics), is likely to encounter a draining effort, rather than an exercise breeze. Who wants a tune-up for a championship race like Ghostzapper's GI Woodward S., when he ran into Saint Liam (who was then yet to win a stakes), and narrowly prevailed after fractions of :45 3/5,

Ghostzapper A Coglianese

1:08 3/5, and 1:33 1/5? Such efforts are only achieved with great physical cost, and while that race is an extreme example, the level of performance needed to win a major race is likely to be far higher now than in Citation's day. It makes sense for the modern trainer to carefully space a horse's races, aiming for, say, six really high level efforts in a year. In fact, we'd venture to say that, although they may not pay their way on that type of program, most claimers would also run better with similar handling.

A good analogy for the current state of events might be found in the world of middle-distance (and upwards) running. While the club runner will often turn out almost every weekend, the stars of the sport carefully ration their efforts, and assiduously avoid each other until the major championships.

Unfortunately, while the fans would like to see the best horses in action more frequently, and against each other, given the intensity of current competition, the wisest course for the trainer of a good horse is likely to be to follow the current trend, and carefully ration his charge's efforts.

ALZAO PENSIONED Alzao (Lyphard--Lady Rebecca, by Sir Ivor) has been retired from stud duties at Coolmore's Castlehyde Stud, the Racing Post revealed yesterday.

After a year highlighted by the exploits of G1 Prix Royal-Oak winner Alcazar (Ire), G1 Hong Kong Cup third Maraahel (Ire) and G1 Beverly D S. winner Angara (GB), the 26-year-old has been pensioned after an illustrious career and will remain at his base in County Cork. "Alzao has been a great servant over the years," a Coolmore spokesman told the Post. "Extremely popular with both commercial operations and owner-breeders alike, he consistently upgraded his mares, coming up with top-class horses year in, year out." Among Alzao's finest progeny are Kirsten Rausing's Group 1-winning siblings Alborada (GB) and Albanova (GB), Diane Nagle's G1 Epsom Oaks heroine Shahtoush (Ire), Lady Clague's G1 Irish Oaks winner Winona (Ire) and Sheikh Hamdan bin Rashid Al Maktoum's G1 Irish 1000 Guineas victress Matiya (Ire). Alzao is also the broodmare sire of this year's Japanese Triple Crown winner Deep Impact (Jpn).

SPECIAL ECLIPSE AWARD FOR CHENERY

Penny Chenery, nicknamed the First Lady of Racing after her Secretariat won the 1973 Triple Crown, will be honored with the Eclipse Award of Merit for a lifetime of outstanding achievement in Thoroughbred racing. Chenery will receive the honor on Jan. 23 during the 35th annual Eclipse Awards ceremony in Beverly Hills, California. "I am just tickled to win this award," Chenery said. "I've had a wonderful time in racing, with the fans, my peers and, of course, the horses. The greatest sight in racing is seeing your horse with your silks on coming down the stretch in the lead. The second greatest thing is seeing a foal born. That's God's gift to us." Chenery, who epitomized grace and elegance during Secretariat's Triple Crown bid, has been active in Thoroughbred causes and foundations for the past three decades. She served as president of the Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association from 1976-1984 and was president of the Grayson Foundation for equine research in 1985-1986. She was a driving force in the formation of the Thoroughbred Retirement Foundation 25 years ago.

NBC WINS TWO T.V. ECLIPSE AWARDS The National Thoroughbred Racing Association announced yesterday that NBC Sports has been awarded a pair of Eclipse Awards for National Television, one in the 'Live Racing' category for its production of the Preakness S., and a second, in the 'Features' category, for its segment on the connections of Afleet Alex that aired on Kentucky Derby day. "After a truly amazing year of Thoroughbred racing, it is a great honor to win the 2005 Eclipse Award for Live Television," said David Michaels, who produced NBC Sports' Triple Crown coverage. "Our racing team at NBC puts their heart and soul into each telecast. This year's Preakness S. was a race for the ages and it is truly fulfilling to win an Eclipse Award for it. Many thanks go to Joe and Karin De Francis at Pimlico for providing the terrific support which allowed us to do our work at the highest level." Scott Boggins produced the Afleet Alex segment, which focused on the inspiring story of Alexandra "Alex" Scott, the young girl who, before she succumbed to cancer, began "Alex's Lemonade Stands" to raise money to fight pediatric cancer. The 35th Annual Eclipse Awards will be held on Monday, Jan. 23 at the Regent Beverly Wilshire in Beverly Hills, California.

BADGE OF SILVER TO DUBAI DUTY FREE Following a smart wire-to-wire victory in the GII San Gabriel H. at Santa Anita Sunday, Ken and Sarah Ramsey's Badge of Silver (Silver Deputy) will remain in training at be pointed toward the $5 million G1 Dubai Duty Free at Nad Al Sheba Mar. 25, reports Daily Racing Form. It was thought the six-year-old would stand his first year at stud at his owner's Ramsey Farm in Nicholasville, Kentucky, but a tally over Atlando (Ire) in the San Gabriel in his turf debut appears to have put those plans on hold. The Ramseys enjoyed success in Dubai last year with Roses in May, winner of the $6-million G1 Dubai World Cup.

He was an improved second in a nine-furlong test at Churchill Nov. 20 and continued his progression here as the tepid 7-2 favorite. Well back as they raced around the first turn, the Wertheimer homebred launched a four-wide rally with three furlongs remaining. Putting a nose in front in upper stretch, he put away Ecclesiastic (Pulpit) (4th) and then Sitcom (Danzig) (3rd) and had enough to hold the closing Watershed Event (Charismatic) at bay by 1 1/2 lengths.
