

FIRST-CROP YEARLING SIRES: VINO ROSSO

by Katie Petrunyak

The 2022 class of first-crop yearling sires features a diverse batch of Kentucky-based young stallions including a pair of Breeders' Cup champions, two sons of reigning top sire Into Mischief, five graded stakes winners at two and five Grade I winners on turf. Throughout the course of the yearling sales season, we will feature a series of freshman sires as their first crop points toward the sales ring. Check out the first few editions of our series here.

When no less a judge than Kenny McPeck purchases three colts by the same first-crop yearling sire, people take note. Known for his flair for picking out future stars from the sales ring, McPeck took home a trio of youngsters by Breeders' Cup champion Vino Rosso (Curlin--Mythical Bride, by Street Cry) at the Fasig-Tipton July Sale.

Spendthrift Farm's Mark Toothaker said it was the best stamp they could have asked for to get the young sire's yearling sales season off to a flying start.

"I had a chance to talk to Kenny afterwards and he just told me that they were his kind of horses," Toothaker said. "Any time you have horses in his barn, you've got a shot because as we've seen lately, he wins races everywhere."

The three Vino Rosso colts were the highest-priced yearlings among McPeck's eight July Sale purchases, selling for $250,000, $200,000 and $180,000. Cont. p3

WHY HAVE STANDARDBREDS GOTTEN FASTER AND THOROUGHBREDS HAVE NOT?

by Bill Finley

It's been almost 55 years since Dr. Fager set a world record for the mile distance when winning the 1968 Washington Park Handicap at Arlington Park in 1:32 1/5, a record that has yet to be broken. In 1973, Secretariat won the GI Kentucky Derby, covering the 1 1/4 miles in 1:59 2/5, a record that still stands 49 years later. There are other examples, all leading to the same conclusion--the Thoroughbred racehorse is not getting any faster.

Some believe that horses have gotten as fast as they can get, have reached their physical limits and that there's no room for improvement. That was the conclusion reached by Stanford University biologist Dr. Mark Denny, whose 2008 study looked at the evolution of racehorses, greyhounds and human runners.

"While all such extrapolations must be used cautiously, these data suggest that there are limits to the ability of either natural or artificial selection to produce ever faster dogs, horses and humans," Denny wrote. Cont. p5

TDN  FIRST-CROP YEARLING PREVIEWS

Overall, the stallion's progeny averaged $135,000 from 11 lots at the one-day sale.

Vino Rosso himself was a $410,000 yearling purchase for Mike Repole and St. Elias in 2016. Now that the young stallion has a few crops on the ground, Toothaker said that his progeny are reflecting their sire's eye-catching physical.

"When we were starting to go out and see all the foals, we saw that he was really stamping them," he explained. "They're not too coarse and not too heavy. They're more of a refined-looking horse and they're good movers. They've got a really solid hip on them and they seem to be horses that are very correct."

Toothaker said that he believes the ball is just starting to get rolling for Vino Rosso, explaining that pinhookers who may have been hesitant to get behind the first-crop yearling sire are now joining the bandwagon.

"Talking to my 2-year-old buddies, they've been burned on some sons of Curlin that just weren't fast at the 2-year-old sales," Toothaker said. "After the [July] sale once they had a chance to watch them move and see who was buying them, I think there's a whole other take now on 'Vino' from the 2-year-old guys. It's a little bit like Bolt d'Oro last year where there was a little bit of hesitancy. Are these going to be fast enough? Then once they saw how they sold at the sales, everybody had to have one."

Undeclared in two starts as a juvenile for Todd Pletcher, Vino Rosso went on to win the Gil Wood Memorial S. as a sophomore. At four, he claimed the GI Gold Cup at Santa Anita S., was taken down to second after crossing the wire first in the GI Jockey Club Gold Cup S., and capped off his career with a memorable victory in the GI Longines Breeders' Cup Classic to earn Eclipse honors as Champion Older Dirt Male.

Retired to Spendthrift Farm, Vino Rosso was launched at a stud fee of $30,000 and bred 238 mares in his first year at stud. With fees of $25,000 and $20,000 in his next two years at stud, the son of Curlin bred over 180 mares in 2021 and close to 140 this year.

The stallion ranked third in his class of first-crop weanling sires at last year's breeding stock sales when his progeny averaged $90,595 with 47 of 61 sold. Leading the way was his colt out of Fair Huntress (Tiznow), who brought $340,000 at the Keeneland November Sale.

Five yearlings by Vino Rosso are slated to sell at the upcoming Fasig-Tipton Saratoga Sale. The first to go through the ring is Hip 28, a colt out of Money Madness (Rahy). The Mill Ridge Farm-consigned chestnut was a $100,000 pinhook partnership purchase at the Keeneland November Sale and is a half-brother to LNJ Foxwoods' MGSW Boardroom (Commissioner). Mill Ridge's Price Bell said that the colt is thriving in the final weeks of sales preparation.

Vino Rosso's Saratoga-bound colt out of War Relic was foaled and raised at Elm Tree Farm | Sara Gordon

"Physically, he looks very fast," Bell said. "[Our partnership] fell in love with his leg and his attitude when he was a foal and we feel like he has really progressed since that time. He has a really nice, quick look to him and in prep, he has been a workhorse. He has really enjoyed his exercise."

Bell added that with the Vino Rosso yearlings they have had at Mill Ridge, he has been consistently impressed by their attitudes.

Also at the Saratoga Sale, a Vino Rosso colt out of the winning Pulpit mare War Relic sells with Denali Stud as Hip 115. The yearling was foaled and raised at Elm Tree Farm. Farm owner Jody Huckabay said that the colt has been special from the start.

"He came looking honestly very similar to what he looks like now," Huckabay said. "He's just developed and he does everything we've asked him to do through the prepping process."

Huckabay continued “You hear that all the time, but he's a horse that has been a joy to be around. We're very proud of him. He's very athletic. We think he's a special horse.”

Other Vino Rosso yearlings at the Fasig-Tipton Saratoga Sale include Hip 71, a filly out of GSP Shaken (Uncle Mo) with Gainesway; Hip 133, a half-brother to GSP Aurelia Garland (Constitution) with Warrendale Sales; and Hip 172, a colt out of the stakes-placed mare Divergent View (Congrats) with Machmer Hall Sales.

An additional 10 sons and daughters of Vino Rosso are cataloged for the New York-bred Sale.

Toothaker indicated that Vino Rosso will have a strong backing from his ownership group as the yearling sales progress.

“[At the Fasig-Tipton July Sale] Mike Repole was in there bidding and they didn't end up getting anything, but they made sure everything got vetted and wound up selling very well,” he said. “There will be some yearlings that land in his lap as we go forward and it's exciting to know that there are going to be some in those orange and blue colors.”

Once Vino Rosso's progeny get to the racetrack, Toothaker said he believes the athleticism they display now will become even more apparent.

“I feel like they're going to be very efficient on the track with the way they move,” he said. “If they have any of that Curlin blood running through them, which they do, every time you look up you see something from the sire line having success, so we're excited about what the future holds for Vino Rosso.”

Why Have Standardbreds Gotten Faster and Thoroughbreds Have Not? (cont. from p1)

But Denny failed to take into account that the Standardbred is doing exactly what he concluded could no longer be done. When Dr. Fager set his record, the fastest time ever by a Standardbred in a one-mile race was the 1:55 clocking turned in by pacer Bret Hanover in 1966. (Trotters are a few seconds slower than pacers).

Today, a 1:55 time would barely get it done in a mid-level race at a mid-level track as there doesn't seem to be any slowing down of this breed. Earlier this month, the record for the fastest mile ever by a Standardbred was set again as Bulldog Hanover won the William Haughton Memorial at the Meadowlands in 1:45 4/5. Since 1968, Dr. Fager's one-mile record has not been surpassed. (In 2003, Najran essentially equaled Dr. Fager's record, going a mile in 1:32.24 while winning the Gill Westchester H.). During that same time frame, starting in 1968, the record mile for a Standardbred has come down by 9 1/5 seconds.

“By far, our horses are just better horses than they were before,” said prominent harness trainer Mark Ford.

Harness racing breeders, owners and trainers say that the Standardbred is still evolving. Bill Solomon owns the Pennsylvania Farm Pin Oak Lane, which breeds both Thoroughbreds and Standardbreds. He says that the trotter or pacer of 2022 looks nothing like their predecessors from 50 or 60 years ago.

“Thoroughbreds have been bred for speed and for racing for a long time, for centuries,” Solomon said. “Don’t forget the Standardbred was still used for transportation and commerce into the 1900s. So they evolved a lot later. We’re breeding a totally different kind of horse. We used to breed a horse that had more of a Coldblood appearance and now we breed a horse that looks more like a Thoroughbred. Go back and look at a picture of [1951 Little Brown Jug winner] Tar Heel and compare that with sons of Meadow Skipper on to Speedy Crown and today to Somebeachsomewhere and that will answer your question. You will see a horse in Tar Heel that looked like a draft horse and when you get to Speedy Crown you’ll start to see horses that look like fashionable Thoroughbreds.”

“I remember when I first got involved, our horses were the proverbial jugheads,” said Murray Brown, the retired general manager and vice president of Standardbred Horse Sales Company. “They were big, they were coarse, they were built more for endurance than they were for speed. It wasn’t unusual back then for a horse to go three prep miles before the race. They were bigger and perhaps tougher, but they weren’t this fast. They’re now being bred predominantly for speed. Look at conformation pictures of the horses by Tar Heel. You got big, coarse, kind of plain horses. Today’s horse is so much more streamlined.”

Another factor has been the advances the industry has made when it comes to equipment, primarily the sulky. They have become lighter and more aerodynamic.

“You hear all the time that the bikes are built so much more for speed now,” Brown said. “There’s almost no friction and there’s more loft and they just go faster because of that.”

The drivers are another part of the equation. Bret Hanover was driven by his trainer, Frank Ervin, typical of the time when the concept of the “catch driver” had yet to take hold. The trainers who drove their own horses might have weighed 200 pounds and weren’t particularly skilled as drivers.

Today, the vast majority of the horses are driven by individuals who do nothing but drive. The best invariably weigh in the neighborhood of 140 pounds.

“The main factor is probably the evolution of the breed, but there are other extraneous things like the dominance of the catch driver,” Brown said.

It’s not that Thoroughbreds have always been this fast. Based on times for the Kentucky Derby, the Thoroughbred breed did evolve and get faster in the early 1900s. Between 1896, the first year the race was run at a 1 1/4 miles, and 1910, the average Derby time was 2:09.8. Over the next 14 years, from 1910 through 1923, the average winning time fell to 2:06.1. By 1962, the record for the Derby had fallen to 2:00.4, the time turned in by Decidedly. Every Derby since 2002 has been run in a slower time. Northern Dancer’s time of 2:00 in 1964 has been eclipsed just twice, by Secretariat and by Monarchos in 2001. If there is a way to produce faster species, no one has figured that out.

The Standardbred will never be as fast as the Thoroughbred, but how close can they get? The consensus is that the Standardbred will eventually hit its peak as a breed but that may still be years away.

“When will we see a mile in 1:44?” Ford said. “I don’t think we’ll have to wait 10 years. The way things are going, it might be 10 weeks.”

EQUINE ETHICS: A CASE FOR TEACHING THE LANGUAGE OF HORSES

By Diana Pikulski

Editor's note: This column is the first in our new series about the strides horse racing is making to ensure we are ethical in our treatment of racehorses.

Bob Duncan at the Saratoga training gate | Jon Siegel

On many levels, those in horse racing and breeding are working to ensure the sport is humane and ethical. New studies and standards about track surfaces, stress, medications, diagnostics and more, shed light on how to ensure the safety and comfort of racehorses. Enforcement of anti-doping regulations has reached a new level with better use of surveillance, hotlines and other anti-crime tactics. And in the U.S, there is a major attempt at regulation uniformity and centralization of enforcement efforts.

Good horsemen will tell you it's important to have a horse in a positive mindset no matter what you ask of him or her. The use of force, fear and intimidation to make a horse comply are not only seen as inhumane and unethical by today's moral standards, but are ineffectual.

But one big question remains: how do we ensure that horses are treated humanely and ethically by the people who handle them every day at the barn and on the track?

A good groom can be the companion that a horse needs in its unnatural lifestyle on the track. But a frustrated, fearful or untrained groom or hotwalker can be a daily living nightmare for a horse.

In more than one way, the starting gate is where the 'rubber meets the road' as far as the relationship between humans and horses on the racetrack. To successfully enter the race, a horse must safely enter the starting gate, stand quietly (sometimes for several minutes) and then break from the gate efficiently. This process is often done on television in close-up where millions of people can see it go well or go badly.

In the not-too-distant past, horses were often dragged, pushed, punished or tricked into going into gate, after spectators witnessed an unfortunate battle of wills between the assistant starters and the fearful, reluctant horse. When a horse is in the wrong mindset, the gate is a dangerous place for the horse as well as the rider and the assistant starter. If the horse does get through the process of being forced into the gate, it will likely break and race on an adrenaline rush, the least optimal way to perform in the race.

We asked retired New York Racing Association (NYRA) Head Starter Bob Duncan, renowned for his success at transforming starting gate protocol, to talk about his experience in running the gate-schooling and starting-gate program at NYRA and how he came to be a proponent of natural horsemanship at the gate and throughout all elements of the training, racing and breeding process.

TDN: You are credited with revolutionizing the starting gate process. What about your experience on the gate caused you to go on that quest?

RD: During my early years as an assistant starter, we had been following traditional methods of gate work that often called for more insistent ways to get horses into the gate with the intention to mimic the pace of the race day experience. When coaxing failed, we would, at times, resort to using force, fear or mental intimidation.

This caused the horses to become fractious, and at times explosive. So, we found various ways to restrain and contain them. We were treating the symptoms but not the disease. Frustration led to anger and escalation as we had no understanding of the instincts or needs of the horse.

I liken it to being a five-year-old entering school for the first time only to find out that everyone there spoke a different language than you. The school is spooky and the classroom is loud and crowded with threatening-looking people who speak gibberish. When you don't respond to their instruction, they get frustrated and speak louder and louder at you. Now they are surrounding you with angry expressions on their face. Now they start pushing you then slapping you while you struggle to figure out what they want. You feel like your life is being threatened and you want to escape.

TDN: What changes did you first implement in your experiment?

RD: While still a foreman, I was given the freedom to take a fresh look at our gate procedures with an eye toward finding more horse friendly ways of preparing horses at the gate.

Traditions die hard, especially in the insular world of horse racing. For instance, when I started on the gate, the wisdom of the day was that horses had to be wound "tight as a watch" to give their best efforts at leaving the gate. Horses were drilled from the gate with bells ringing, doors slamming and a slap on the rump if there was a moment's hesitation. Truth is, horses are taught to react to the movement of the front doors. All the other commotion is background noise. If the horse needs to react to the bell, he missed the break because the bell rings a split second after the doors open.

The changes started with us slowing the schooling process down and allowing the horses the time and environment to learn the gate process in an unthreatening way. We also broke from the old "one size fits all" regimentation and concentrated on each horse as an individual needing particular care.

We started to see improvements. The atmosphere at the gate was calmer, more conducive to learning. But we were still stumbling along like a blind pig searching for an acorn.

Also, in the early stages much thought was given to making the gate more habitable. More padding was added to the stall space at the horses' hips to stabilize them as they reset their feet at the start. The extra padding reduced stumbling. It also prevented knee injuries that were so common among gate crews. (When a horse broke awkwardly, it often drove its hip into the assistant's calf, torquing the knee.) The Japanese Racing Association had an interesting schooling gate at its Mijo training facility. Stalls were graded from a large walk-through stall down to an actual racing stall, allowing their horses to acclimate to the constriction of the small racing gates. All our schooling gates now have a similar adaptation.

Later, as I learned the natural body language of horses and how to establish oneself as a leader worthy of a horse's trust, we changed our approach and steps to gate schooling. We no longer needed buggy whips, forceful loading from behind or even, except in the rarest of cases, blindfolds.

TDN: Were those initial changes acknowledged and well received?

RD: Word of our changes started to get around and we found trainers to be less resistant when asked to school a problem horse. Joanie Lawrence, a friend of mine who worked at The Jockey Club offices in NYC, called one morning, to ask if she could come out to Belmont to write an article about what we were doing.

Joanie's one page article was read by Stu Kirshenbaum, a television short films producer for Winner Communications. He brought a crew out to do a short piece on our "new" methods and the ball started rolling. To this day, I credit Joanie for opening up a life-changing world to me that I didn't know existed.

Later in that same summer of the short film, the legendary horseman Monty Roberts sought me out at the races in Saratoga. At the time, his book, "The Man Who Listens To Horses", was on a long run at number one on the New York Times best seller list. Monty was in Saratoga for a book signing but he had seen the piece we did and he was impressed. He complimented the crew and proceeded to invite me out to his Flag is Up Farm in Solvang, Ca. A couple of weeks later, in early September, I received a letter from the University of Arizona, asking me to participate in the Symposium on Racing. Tom Durkin moderated and Monty Roberts was also on the panel. Directly after the Tucson panel, I went to his ranch to be a part of his work with a horse that was having 'severe gate issues.'

TDN: What were some of your "aha" moments as you developed this knowledge and plan?

RD: The first of many aha moments occurred the next spring after the Tucson conference. Monty called to invite me to a demonstration he was doing in Topsfield, Massachusetts. My 15-year-old son David was with me. Monty had us placed in the arena in the front row of a small group of people that surrounded a round pen. The arena behind us held a couple thousand people. Monty explained that the horse he invited was a 14-year-old mare who had never loaded into a horse trailer without being staggeringly tranquilized.

A step-up trailer was backed into the opening of the pen. It was easy to see that the mare was on edge in these unfamiliar surroundings with a fairly vocal crowd. Monty held a coiled line that was snapped to the mare's halter. While he spoke, he asked the mare to step backward and then forward, using only as much pressure on the lead line as needed to get a response. The second she responded, he released the pressure. With each ask, he became lighter, eventually just barely leaning towards her and she quickened in her response until it seemed they were connected with an invisible thread.

He paused for a moment and asked someone in the immediate area to note how long it took to load the mare. With that Monty turned, dropping lengths of the lead to the floor, and walked briskly toward the trailer. Even before the slack went out of the rope the mare hustled up behind Monty following him directly into the step-up trailer, turning inside and hanging her head over Monty's shoulder. It was a show stopper.

He finished his demo by asking the crowd not to applaud just yet. He then unsnapped his lead and walked back to the far side of the arena. He said when I tip my hat you can applaud. He did so and at the burst of applause the mare hopped out of the trailer and ran over to Monty hanging her head over his shoulder again. It was all about the mare accepting Monty as a leader and finding safe haven with him. With his technique of creating a connection with her, she found a leader she could understand and trust. He was speaking her language.

This was exactly what I had been searching for. This was an unspoken language that all horses understood. David and I drove back to Belmont late that night. We went straight to the starting gate and napped until the first two horses showed up to school.

We snapped a lead on each one and mimicked the moves that Monty used. It worked so well that both horses almost jogged into the starting gate. We were on our way.

DEL MAR SETS HANDLE RECORDS ON OPENING DAY, WEEKEND

Del Mar's summer meet kicked off with racing Friday through Sunday and the oceanside oval broke an opening-day handle record with $23.56 million wagered and set an average daily handle record for opening weekend of $22.35 million.

"We hoped for this kind of beginning, but it turned out even better than we thought," said Del Mar Thoroughbred Club president Josh Rubinstein. "We've gotten terrific support from our horsemen and horsewomen, from racing fans across the country and, of course, from the horses themselves, the amazing athletes who run here. Our team feels really good about our racing surfaces and our racing office put together three spectacular programs on consecutive days to get us off to a great start."

Added Gary Fenton, Chairman of the Thoroughbred Owners of California, "Del Mar continues to showcase the very best of California racing. We look forward to continuing to work with the Del Mar team to highlight all the work, effort and investment that goes into putting on world-class racing in the state."

FASIG-TIPTON DIGITAL ANNOUNCES SALE DATES, NEW FEATURES

The Fasig-Tipton Digital Sales calendar for the remainder of the year will include an August Digital Sale (Aug. 25-30); Glen Todd Dispersal, Final Phase (Sept. 22-29); October Digital Sale (Oct. 6-11); and December Digital Sale (Dec. 8-13).

The August, October, and December Digital Selected sales will focus on racehorses and quality breeding stock, while the Glen Todd Dispersal Final Phase will primarily feature the remaining breeding stock of the late British Columbia Thoroughbred industry fixture.

Nominations for the August Digital Selected Sale close Aug. 19.

For the December sale, Fasig-Tipton will open its Newtown Paddocks in Lexington for people cataloguing weanlings to the auction. Buyers will have the opportunity to inspect young stock in person, while still utilizing the Fasig-Tipton Digital online sales platform.

"The December Digital Selected Sale will be a larger sale and one to plan for," said Fasig-Tipton Digital Sales Director Leif Aaron. "The timing of the sale will help buyers and sellers to alleviate tax burdens before the end of the calendar year. There are also major benefits for breeders looking to sell mares in foal in an online arena."

In addition to the scheduled Digital Sales, Fasig-Tipton officials will also be available to discuss opportunities for flash sales.

Fasig-Tipton's digital platform has received several upgrades, including a 'Learn More' section with information for prospective buyers and sellers, as well as a 'News' section.

FIRST RESPONDERS DAY THURSDAY AT SARATOGA

Edited Press Release

The New York Racing Association, Inc. (NYRA) will honor police officers, firefighters, paramedics and emergency medical technicians (EMTs) for their dedication and service to the community on First Responders Day, Thursday, July 28.

The day will feature free grandstand admission for all first responders with proper identification.

"The New York Racing Association is honored to recognize the brave men and women who answer the call of duty to protect our communities," said NYRA President and CEO Dave O'Rourke. "We hope our first responders will enjoy a relaxing and stress-free day at Saratoga as we thank them for their dedicated service."

First responders recognized at the track will include members of the New York State Police, Saratoga County Sheriff's Department, Saratoga Springs Police Department and Saratoga Springs Fire Department. Festivities and events will mark the day and include a race named in their honor and special recognition in the Winner's Circle.

One of the many highlights will include an appearance by the New York State Police Pipes and Drums, who will perform on the track apron following the second and third races of the afternoon. There will also be a trackside demonstration by a New York State Police K-9 unit. A vintage New York State Police car will be on display by the main entrance to Saratoga Race Course at Gate B; as well as a modern-day fire engine featured in the backyard, courtesy of the Saratoga Springs Fire Department which will offer fire safety information and kids activities.

Several first responder agencies will host a recruiting event on track between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Jockey Silks Room Porch. Among the participants will include the New York State Police, Saratoga Springs Police Department, State University of New York Police, and Department of Environmental Conservation Police and Forest Rangers. Representatives from each first responder agency will be available to discuss the benefits of a career in public service.

NYRA will donate partial proceeds to the Saratoga Springs Fire Department from all sales on track of the limited-edition, Josh Cellars Reserve Lodi Cabernet Sauvignon. The wine will be available in dining areas and at the Josh Cellars gazebo exclusively on First Responders Day in honor of Joseph Carr's father, who was a volunteer firefighter from Rensselaer County. A native of the Capital Region, Joe Carr is the founder of Josh Cellars wines.

LONNY POWELL RECEIVES FSAE HONOR

Lonny Powell, the CEO and executive vice president of the Florida Thoroughbred Breeders' and Owners, was recognized as the Executive of the Year by the Florida Society of Association Executives at its annual conference held July 20-22 in Tampa. The award, which was presented Friday during the conference awards luncheon, honors the association executive who has displayed the highest commitment to professional growth and pride in association management, with evident professionalism and leadership in both services to the association management profession and to the community.

"I am very honored to be selected by the FSAE as Florida Executive of the Year," Powell said. "I extend my greatest appreciation to FSAE, their awards committee and salute the Association's state-wide and diverse membership of leading executives and decision makers in our Sunshine State's expansive non-profit, hospitality, member and trade association spaces. I also extend my appreciation to the member or members who nominated me in the first place to be considered for this Association's highest honor."

Powell was also honored by the American Horse Council, which represents all breeds of horses in the nation's capital, with its acclaimed Van Ness Award in Washington D.C. in June.

BANDBOX YEARLING NAMED MHBA CHAMPION

A Hillwood Stable homebred son of Bandbox was named grand champion of the 88th Maryland Horse Breeders' Association's Yearling Show, which was held at the Timonium Fairgrounds Sunday. The gray or roan colt is the third foal out of the Scrimshaw mare Dearie Be Good to win a class at the show--the colt's full-sister was reserve champion in 2018 and his half-sister by Great Notion was reserve champion in 2021. All are homebreds for Ellen Charles's Hillwood Stable, which also campaigned 2014 GIII General George H. winner Bandbox.

Bandbox, who stood his entire career at Northview Stallion Station before his death last year, also took home the Northview Stallion Station Challenge Trophy as the show's leading sire for the third time, thus retiring the trophy.

"It's special for Mrs. Charles to have a son of Bandbox win," said JoAnn Hayden of Dark Hollow Farm, where the colt was born and raised. "We've loved this colt since birth. This one is big, robust, and looks very mature."

Jonathan Thomas, who judged 59 yearlings at this year's show, concurred with Hayden's assessment.

"He was the best of a very good group. When you have to pick five finalists per class, you end up leaving out a bunch of good ones every time," said Thomas. "Everyone looked very well-raised and prepared, but he had the best balance and substance."

All yearlings who were judged are now eligible for the $40,000 premium award which is split annually, with $20,000 going to the exhibitors of the four show contestants who earn the most money as 2-year-olds during 2023, and another $20,000 divided among the exhibitors of the four highest-earning 3-year-old runners the next year.

One of the longer shots on the board, Irideo backed up his Argentinean champion miler crown with a first Stateside score at Del Mar Sunday evening. Unplaced in his first two American tries in optional claimers at Santa Anita this spring, he improved to take second in a similar contest over a 6 1/2-furlong downhill turf race June 12.

Out of touch near the rear of the field while glued to the rail and saving ground heading into the clubhouse turn, Irideo relaxed nicely under Hector Berrios. As the pace slowed down on the backside, the field began to bunch, but the gelding was still well back. He moved up an inside seam on the far turn, as a tiring rival shifted out, and came calling with a full head of steam to split horses with a furlong to travel. He cleared the field in a few jumps to win going away. Gregorian Chant, who had rallied from farther out in the course, was second.

The second foal from his dam, Irideo also has the placed 3-year-old full-brother Ivanov (Arg) (Easing Along) and a juvenile half-sister by Suggestive Boy (Arg). Their dam was champion miler and older mare in her native land, while the extended family also contains the Argentinean MGSW & G1SP Ibope (Arg) (Lode). Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by TVG.

Margins: 3/4, HD, HF. Odds: 1.30, 2.85, 18.60.

Also Ran: Shesascoldasice, Silent Invasion, Charge Nurse, Sister Linda, Sweet Maeve. Scratched: No Chalk, Racing Queen.

Galaxina was back on the main track following an off-the-board turf experiment and earned the second stakes win of her career Monday at Finger Lakes. The favorite shadowed pacesetting longshot Silent Invasion (Normandy Invasion) before darting to the lead nearing the stretch. She determinedly held off Eros's Girl down the lane and was inching away late.

Galaxina graduated with a front-running victory going seven furlongs at Aqueduct in February and added the Apr. 24 NYSS Park Avenue S. before finishing a well-beaten eighth in her turf debut in the June 19 NYSS Spectacular Bid S. last time out.

The unraced Strange Magic produced colts by Frank Conversation in 2020 and 2021. The juvenile, named Incantation, worked four furlongs Monday at Colonial Downs in :51.00 (17/24). Click for the Equibase.com chart.

GRACELUND GRAY (f, 3, Goldcents--Grit and Grace, by Tapit), fourth in the GIII Las Virgenes S. in February at Santa Anita, ran third dropped down into an allowance optional claimer there a month later. She was too headstrong in a turf sprint in Arcadia and faded to seventh May 7 and was 18-1 in this stretch-out to 1 1/16 miles. Showing the way past the wire the first time, the gray was under pressure from a rival just off her flank, but still got away with a :24.78 opening quarter. Lulling her foes to sleep through a :48.70 half-mile, the Calumet Farm-bred was moving easily with three-eighths remaining after six panels in 1:13.06. She kicked away to win well by 2 1/2 lengths over the favored Ballet Dancing (Medaglia d'Oro). Grit and Grace's latest foal is the Runhappy 2-year-old filly Lady Ocean. The second dam is the GII Fantasy S. heroine High Heels (E Dubai), who also ran third in the GI Kentucky Oaks, while her half-sister, the Smoke Glacken mare On Fire Baby, won both the GI Apple Blossom H. and GI La Troienne S. at the highest level. ## GREEN LIGHT EXPECTED FOR TRUESHAN CUP BID

Trueshan should get his ground on Tuesday | Tattersalls

by Tom Frary

He may have been missing from Royal Ascot, but Trueshan (Fr) (Planteur {Ire}) has since reminded everybody that he belongs at the very top of the staying division and he looks set to meet Kyprios (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) and Stradivarius (Ire) (Sea The Stars {Ire}) in his defence of the G1 Al Shaqab Goodwood Cup on Tuesday. Re-routed to Newcastle to defy a big weight in the historic Northumberland Plate June 25, last year's winner has good ground and that is slow enough for connections to take the plunge. While trainer Alan King has to walk the course, part-owner Andrew Gemmell suggested that the 6-year-old who also captured the G1 Prix du Cadran and two editions of the G2 QIPCO British Champions Long Distance Cup is good to go for a huge heavyweight tussle. "It would be nice to run and defend his title and all being well and the weather being okay, I'm sure we will," he said. "The intention is definitely to go, it's not like Ascot when we kind of knew that it wasn't really going to happen, so I think there is every possibility he will run."

Over To Atzeni

Much has been made of the replacement by Andrea Atzeni of Frankie Dettori on Stradivarius and it is certain that the veteran will be playing a more prominent role than of late as he looks for a fifth renewal. Cont. p3

ONE NIGHT IN VICHY: IT'S RIGHT UP OUR ALLIER

By Emma Berry

"Come to Vichy," they said. "We'll stop in Deauville on the way, it'll be fun."

So began a 60-hour pilgrimage to one of the five days of racing that comprise the biggest week of the year at the Hippodrome Vichy Bellerive, a charming course with delicate touches of Art Nouveau glamour set on the banks of the Allier river.

TDN readers of a National Hunt persuasion (there may be some!) might have felt their interest piqued at the mention of the Allier region, deep in central France and famed for its AQPS graduates, such as the Bruno Vagne-bred Envoi Allen (Fr) and Haras de Saint Voir's Gauloise (Fr). But Vichy in the sweltering heat of July is all about the Flat, with the racecourse's most prestigious race, the G3 Grand Prix de Vichy, being the highlight of the Festival du Galop, which this year celebrated its 25th anniversary. # RACE PREVIEWS

While his draw in seven may mean that he is hemmed in again on the inside due to the quick left turn the field faces from the two-mile start, it will soon open up as they move to the right and then it will be all to play for. Whatever tactical ploy Atzeni has in his mind, Bjorn Nielsen's evergreen performer will have more exposure than usual and the answer to the question as to how much ability he retains should be provided in a race of truth. "It's a great opportunity for me and he owes us nothing, so hopefully we'll see the Stradivarius we've seen in the past," commented Atzeni, who partnered the chestnut on his first two Goodwood Cup victories back in 2017 and 2018.

A Point To Prove With Kyprios

Whatever befell Stradivarius in the June 16 G1 Gold Cup, Kyprios seemed a worthy winner with his power-packed finish and he should be even more effective back at two miles with his closing effort at Ascot the fastest in recent history. This is a speedy stayer with the right temperament to rack up a sequence in these Cup races, much as one of his chief rival's has and Aidan O'Brien believes he is still on the up. "He is still learning and is a relaxed horse who takes everything in his stride, so we think there is more improvement to come," he said. "He is straightforward to ride and uncomplicated. I think he is well-balanced and doesn't over-race. Goodwood is an unusual track, but he seems to be okay going left or right-handed." Ryan Moore added on his Betfair blog, "Ignore all the talk about Stradivarius, I think my colt beat him fair and square at Royal Ascot and maybe a shade comfortably too in the final analysis."

He added, “It may well be that the older horse is better than he was able to show that day, but Kyprios was very professional and determined there, showing a great attitude.”

Vintage Action

Tuesday’s action at Goodwood also features the G2 Japan Racing Association Vintage S., with no standout among the nine engaged. One of the more interesting contenders is Sheikh Ahmed Al Maktoum’s July 9 Salisbury novice scorer Marbaan (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}), a relative of Ribchester (Ire) (Iffraaj {GB}) who looks to give Charlie Fellowes something to dream about. Charlie and Mark Johnston have targeted this meeting as keenly as ever and supply two unbeaten colts in Dear My Friend (GB) (Pivotal {GB}) and Dornoch Castle (Ire) (Gleneagles {Ire}). Charlie is looking for a fifth renewal for the stable since 1993 and he said, “I would struggle to split them, to be fair. Dornoch Castle’s form is probably a touch stronger as there are a lot of horses that have come out of his races and won subsequently, but the other horse did well to win over six furlongs because it was far too sharp for him at Carlisle.”

Time For Another Pogo?

One of 2022’s revelations, the May 28 G3 John Of Gaunt S. and June 25 G3 Criterion S. winner Pogo (Ire) (Zebedee {GB}), encounters a higher-class of rival in Tuesday’s G2 World Pool Lennox S. but Gary and Linnet Woodward’s 6-year-old seems in unstoppable form at present. “He obviously hasn’t won at this level before, but he did win a Group 3 with a penalty last time and he won that one more easily than he did without it the time before,” trainer Charlie Hills said. Cheveley Park Stud’s G2 Hungerford S. winner Sacred (GB) (Exceed And Excel {Aus}) looms large back at her favoured seven furlongs having run a stormer when a length fifth in the G1 Platinum Jubilee S. over six at Royal Ascot June 18.

Baaeed Meets Six In The Sussex

Following Wednesday’s disappointing bulletin on Coroebus (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}), Shadwell’s Baaeed (GB) (Sea The Stars {Ire}) cuts a domineering figure in Wednesday’s G1 Qatar Sussex S. at Goodwood. Charlie Appleby still has the May 15 G1 Poule d’Essai des Poulains hero Modern Games (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) among the seven confirmed on Monday, with the defending champion and G1 July Cup heroine Alcohol Free (Ire) (No Nay Never) and Ballydoyle’s G2 Minstrel S. scorer Order Of Australia (Ire) (Australia {GB}) other key protagonists. The latter was fifth last year, but Aidan O’Brien said, “He won nicely the last day at The Curragh and is in good form.” Cont. p5

The history of Vichy Bellerive stretches back much farther than that, almost 150 years in fact. In 1875, the grand old Duc de Morny, largely remembered as the architect of the rather more celebrated racing resort of Deauville, persuaded his great friend Baron de Veauce to set up a riverside racecourse in the spa town.

Gerald Mosse living his best life at Vichy | Scoop Dyga

Vichy, referred to by one pithy bloodstock agent as "the capital of the collaborators", was of course later more readily known for its status during the war, but it is a place well worth visiting even if horses aren't your thing. There certainly aren't any TDN readers of whom we can say that, but some of us do occasionally look up from our pedigree pages and poultrices to enjoy the odd pursuit unconnected to equines, and if you have even a passing interest in architecture and Art Deco style, then hotfoot it to Vichy at once and walk around looking up. You won't be disappointed.

Our own rather more jolly collaboration for a road trip, which began in 40-degree Suffolk heat, comprised of three co-owners of a horse we visited briefly in Deauville, with the expedition being led by the sole owner-breeder of the rather aptly-named Duc De Morny (Fr) (Cityscape {GB}). The latter was set to run in the mouthful of a race that is Vichy's Listed Prix des Jouvenceaux et des Jouvencelles Bernard Ferrand. The Prix Morny would have been much more straightforward.

The owner-breeder in question is Jocelyn Targett, a man never knowingly under-enthused about life in general, and about horseracing in particular. Hopes were high en route, and deservedly so, because the equine Duc had won his first two starts for Christophe Ferland and had mercifully arrived in Vichy from La Teste de Buch ahead of the forest fire that forced the evacuation of his stablemates to Bordeaux last Tuesday.

It is a safe bet that not many breeders compose songs in their heads about their horses, but then Targett is rather extraordinary in a number of ways. So as the 400 miles between Deauville and Vichy were whiled away we joined him in several choruses of 'Duc, Duc, Duc, Duc de Morny, Morny, Morny' to the tune of Gene Chandler's Duke of Earl, and arrived eventually, in the highest of spirits.

Watching the fireworks at Vichy | Emma Berry

The heatwave had abated sufficiently to provide perfect conditions for a turf meeting en lumiere, and Vichy Bellerive was awash with families enjoying an agreeable evening at the races. Not all of them were necessarily there to witness the European debut of the surprise Saudi Cup winner Emblem Road (Quality Road), whose connections sprang even more of a surprise by deciding to run him a) on turf, and b) in the Grand Prix de Vichy.

His new trainer, Alessandro Botti, was playing a rather straight bat, if one can use a cricketing analogy for a French-based Italian, when it came to discussing Emblem Road's chances on his first run for 144 days and since moving from Riyadh to Chantilly. Following his fifth-place finish in a Grand Prix field of six, narrowly behind a horse who had been claimed for €18,111 after his previous run, the Botti bat was straighter still as his poker face made it impossible to discern to what, if any, extent he was surprised by the horse's lacklustre performance.

It has been a strange week for Saudi Cup winners. Cont. p6

Vichy is a feast for the eyes | Emma Berry

The 2021 winner Mishriff (Ire) plainly wasn't right in February when never travelling in this year's race on a dirt track which appeared to have been prepared with a deeper, more attritional surface than had been the case 12 months earlier. Mishriff bounced back to finish only a neck behind Vadeni (Fr) in the Coral-Eclipse, but he was almost 11 lengths behind Pyledriver (GB) when third in Saturday's King George, and he has dwelt in the stalls on both his last two starts.

Emblem Road's disappointing comeback was of little concern to the many racing fans who swamped the winner's rostrum after the 6-year-old Riocorvo (Ger) (Pastorius {Ger}) was led back in as the Grand Prix winner under Gerald Mosse.

As giant sparklers were let off around the podium, the evergreen jockey, who won the G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches in May on Mangoustine (Fr), was enjoying the delights of Vichy every bit as much, if not more than, ParisLongchamp. And who can blame him? With 'Miss Allier' on one arm and her similarly sashed deputy on the other, and laden with bottles of champagne and a giant box of chocolates, Mosse certainly appeared to be, as the youngsters say, living his best life.

A bit like on Grand National day, the race immediately after the main event was restricted to amateurs and apprentices, which was just as well for Mosse, as there followed the longest presentation ceremony known to man. Speeches, more sparklers, some more speeches, and yet more champagne thrust into the jockey's welcoming arms ensued. By now, with darkness properly descended and just the final race set to go off at 10:45 p.m., one might have expected the family-heavy crowd to start dissipating. But the many miniature ponies scattered about the racecourse were still doing sterling service transporting young children about by saddle or by cart, the restaurants and bars were swinging, and it was clear that there would be no leavers until the last banger had gone up in the post-race firework display.

The delightful Vichy Bellerive racecourse | Emma Berry

Duc De Morny had silenced us only temporarily with his performance on the night which, though creditable, saw him finish in the position all breeders with a black-type runner dread: fourth. As a young colt who has already shown much promise, he'll be back, for sure, and by then we may have learned the lines to the second verse of Duke of Earl.

'IT'S ALL ABOUT HAVING WINNERS' - LILLINGSTON RELISHING RED-HOT RUN

By Brian Sheerin

Purveyors of Twitter will have noticed that Luke Lillingston has made his way onto timelines on an almost daily basis in recent weeks but the Mount Coote Stud operator had his name pegged into lights on Saturday when dear old Sir Busker (Ire) (Sir Prancelot {Ire}), a horse he bought for just €25,000 in 2017, bagged the G2 Sky Bet York S.

Whether it's buying or breeding winners, Lillingston has enjoyed a year to remember and, not only did he source Sir Busker on behalf of Kennet Valley, but he also bought Dual Identity (Ire) (Belardo {Ire}) and Cabinet Maker (Ire) (Mastercraftsman {Ire}), who won for the syndicate last week.

Lillingston said, "It's been a great week for Kennet Valley. Dual Identity won at Sandown last Thursday while Cabinet Maker won for them at Chelmsford on Sunday. They were lucky enough to have three winners in four days, including Sir Busker on Saturday."

If ever a horse deserved his big day in the sun, it was Sir Busker. He is quite simply an owner's dream and, after representing the syndicate in some of the biggest races across the world, bagged his first Group 2 at York on Saturday.

Lillingston said, "We haven't been afraid to run him but a lot of the time we realised that, when we were running in the big races, he wasn't going to be a likely winner. William Buick and Jim Crowley suggested stepping him up to a mile-and-a-quarter and it seemed the time to do that. He only won by a whisker at York but he stayed the trip out fine so it was wonderful."

"What was really nice about Saturday was that his previous win came in the Silver Royal Hunt Cup at Royal Ascot in 2020, which sadly nobody could go and see because of Covid. Most of his owners were there on Saturday."

Sir Busker was recording the sixth win of his career on Saturday. He has taken his syndicate members to some of the biggest meetings in Britain and picked up a lot of prize-money in Dubai during the winter as well. All told, he has amassed over £450,000 in career earnings, despite costing just €25,000 at the Tattersalls Ireland September Yearling Sale in 2017.

"It just shows that it can be done and hopefully it's one of those wins that gives lots of encouragement to people," Lillingston said. "Every year, horses like this come along. They end up going from working class to aristocrats. They are out there, we just have to find them."

"We've [Kennet Valley] had 12 winners this year and, considering there are only roughly the same number of horses in the syndicate, it's been going well. It's all about having winners."

The bottom line may be all about winning races but no syndicate member will allow themselves to believe that Sir Busker can snare the G1 Juddmonte International at York next month, where Baaeed (GB) (Sea The Stars (Ire)) could feature among his big-race rivals.

But that's not to say the enthusiastic bunch of owners behind Sir Busker will not enjoy the ride as a step back up in class is next on the hugely likeable 6-year-old's agenda.

"He's entered in the Juddmonte and I think he'll take his chance. Why wouldn't you at this point? He's a very unlikely winner but he has run well at the course twice now. We now know that he stays the distance and some of these big races are cutting up. How wonderful would it be to have a runner in one of the highest-rated races in the world. It would be great for him to take a shot at that and I would think that Dubai could be on the agenda for him again."

While Sir Busker has top-level targets to aim at, another basement buy of Lillingston's, Star Of Lady M (GB) (Havana Grey {GB}), looks set to tackle the Alice Keppel Fillies' S. at Goodwood on Wednesday.

Bought by Lillingston for just 15,000gns at Tattersalls Book 3 last October on behalf of the Madden family, who are enjoying their first foray into racehorse ownership, the David O'Meara-trained Star Of Lady M has amassed four wins and a sack full of prize-money for her connections this term.

Lillingston said, "She has given me huge pleasure as an agent this season. The Maddens asked me to buy them their first racehorse last year and we focussed on Book 3 because it suited our budget. She only cost 15,000gns and is eligible for the British bonuses. Including bonuses, she's earned the best part of £70,000. We bought another filly at that sale and she's with Tim Easterby. Her name is Emerald Duchess (GB) and she is by Massaaf (Ire). She should be fun for them. The Maddens are bringing new people into racing and any time new people come into this sport, we should be very happy." Cont. p8

Nobody could accuse Lillingston of not doing his bit to provide new and prospective owners with the best experience possible. Along with success of Sir Busker and Star Of Lady M, Lillingston played an important role in My Racehorse (owned with Philip Antonacci)'s first winner in Ireland, the Joseph O'Brien-trained Ma Belle Artiste (Ire) (Zoffany {Ire}), who won a Leopardstown maiden on debut last Thursday.

Lillingston is the joint-breeder of Ma Belle Artiste, who made a fine start to her career in the colours of My Racehorse, a new ownership vehicle that promotes micro shares and one which is designed to provide prospective owners with a gateway into the sport.

"This is what we need to encourage," he said. "It's giving people the opportunity to own a small part of a racehorse. In England, we have Hot To Trot Racing, which is a racing club that Sam Hoskins and I run. Again, that's designed to get more people into racing and Ma Belle Artiste is on a potentially much bigger scale. She has the potential to be a very smart filly and a lot of people have the potential to be a part of her career which is fantastic."

Sadly for Lillingston, Ma Belle Artiste's dam Toi Et Moi passed away recently and, while he has nothing left of the family, the Limerick-based operator is looking forward to following her career with O'Brien under the banner of My Racehorse.

He added, "Sadly Toi Et Moi (Ire) died, which is the worst part of the story. She was a beautiful stakes-winning mare by Galileo (Ire) and hadn't really done it up until this filly but Ma Belle Artiste was definitely the best foal that she had.

"To think, My Racehorse bought her for €170,000 at the Orby Sale last year and Newtown Anner Stud were the under-bidders. How lovely is that? Two people who we never sold a horse to in our lives wanted her so we're delighted she turned out to be quite smart."

'YOU LIVE IN HOPE' - RETIRED VET BIDS TO BUILD ON BIGGEST BREEDING SUCCESS

By Brian Sheerin

Fergus Cousins, the retired vet who bred GII San Clemente S. winner Bellabel (Ire) (Belardo {Ire}), described that Del Mar triumph as his best moment in racing.

Bellabel, formally trained by Jessica Harrington in Ireland, won the Grade II contest on debut for Philip D'Amato, sparking hopes that bigger and better things could be coming in the sales ring for her breeder.

Cousins has four broodmares at his base in Dunshaughlin in County Meath. He bought Fashion Line (Ire) (Cape Cross {Ire}), the dam of Bellabel, for €32,000 at the November Mares Sale at Goffs in 2017 off Darley.

He explained, "I have four mares at the moment. For some reason or another, I have had a lot more fillies than colts. "I am a retired vet. I worked with the Department of Agriculture. We bought the farm in Dunshaughlin 30 years ago and I have been breeding for over 10 years now."

He added, "This would be my biggest success and hopefully we can do even better with the mare's progeny. You live in hope."

Peter Kelly of Ballybin Stud has consigned horses for Cousins for over 10 years. He recalls Bellabel being "big and backward" as a yearling and revealed how he couldn't help but smile to himself when he read her trainer's comments about the filly in the TDN last week.

He explained, "We've been selling for Fergus for over 10 years now. We've had some great days with him, in the ring and cheering on his stock on the track, but he hasn't enjoyed anything like what Bellabel achieved over the weekend. It was his best moment in racing.

"He bought the mare from Godolphin and we had Bellabel for the yearling sales. She was quite big and looked a bit backward. She was in a couple of sales but it was the time when some of them were moved to England so we threw her out into the field for six weeks and it was the best thing we ever did as she came back in and we went for the later sale--the Tattersalls Ireland Flat Breeding Stock Sale--in December.

"She bloomed and was a totally different filly for those extra six weeks or so that she got. We were expecting that she might stand out a little bit and she made €33,000, which wasn't a bad price, and Belardo had done well with his first crop at that stage so everything had fallen into place for her. She walked her way into a sale--she was a massive walker, quite typical of the mare actually." Cont. p9

He added, "We were reading Phil D'Amato in the TDN last week. He was speaking about the European fillies that he bought and mentioned that he backed off Bellabel and gave her time. We were saying, 'that's the story of her life,' as she's a big filly and the bit of time has been her friend."

Fashion Line has a Holy Roman Emperor (Ire) yearling filly (lot 424) and Profitable (Ire) filly foal that will soon go under the hammer. With the mare back in foal to Belardo, hopes are high that Bellabel's success can be built upon.

Kelly said, "There's a yearling half-sister by Holy Roman Emperor and she's going to Fairyhouse Part 1. She's a big mover, a similar type to the mare. She also has a Profitable filly foal and he went back to the well with Belardo as she's in foal to him. I'm delighted for Fergus."

EUROPEAN NEWS

CLASSIC WINNER COROEBUS TO MISS SUSSEX

Baaeed (GB) (Sea The Stars (Ire)) will face a less daunting task in the Qatar Sussex S. at Goodwood on Wednesday after G1 2000 Guineas and G1 St James's Palace S. winner Coroebus (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) was ruled out of the race on Monday after suffering a setback.

The pair looked set for a mouthwatering clash with the unbeaten Baaeed having to concede weight to the Classic-winning colt, however, Godolphin broke the news that Coroebus has been forced to sit out the much-anticipated clash due to a minor injury.

A post from the official Godolphin account on Twitter read, "Unfortunately Coroebus will not run in this week's Sussex Stakes @Goodwood_Races.

"He was lame in his box this morning and after examination, was found to have an abscess in his left hind pastern. This is being treated and he will now target the [G1] Prix Jacques le Marois."

William Buick will instead ride the Charlie Appleby-trained stablemate Modern Games (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) after a final field of seven was confirmed for the race.

RACLETTE JOINS YORKSHIRE OAKS CAST

Group 2 winner Raclette (GB) (Frankel (GB)) has been supplemented to the Aug. 18 G1 Yorkshire Oaks, according to trainer Andre Fabre. Named a 'TDN Rising Star' at Deauville last August, the bay won the Listed Prix Melisande at ParisLongchamp two starts back in June, and triumphed in the G2 Prix de Malleret in the colours of the late Prince Khalid Abdullah on July 14.

"She will be supplemented for the Yorkshire Oaks," said Fabre. "She is beginning to mature now and the step up to 12 furlongs suited her last time out, she really stays well.

"I think she wants good ground--good to firm, fast ground is what she wants. Hopefully it will stay dry in August because sometimes for that meeting it can go soft.

"I don't think she will be a filly for the Arc this year as she is still a little bit weak. Perhaps next year when she is stronger."

The trainer also had an update on Group 1 winner Mare Australis (Ire) (Australia (GB)), who was unplaced in the G1 Grand Prix de Saint-Cloud. Cont. p10

Raclette Cont.

“He had a valid excuse, he became unbalanced on the track and was pushed out of the race and another horse galloped into his heels,” said Fabre. “Saying that, he’s been to Saint-Cloud before and disappointed, so he might just not like the course.

“He’ll go for an Arc prep and then the Arc, he likes Longchamp so it makes sense to run him there.”

GBRI LAUNCHES VIDEO SERIES TO DRIVE INTERNATIONAL OWNERSHIP IN BRITAIN

The first episode in a five-part video series to showcase the various aspects that make owning a horse-in-training in Britain worthwhile, was launched by Great British Racing International (GBRI) on Monday. Titled ‘Be A Part Of it: Owning In Britain’, the first video is Sir Mark Prescott reflecting on the history and heritage that underpins the British racing experience. Additional videos will be released every Monday. The series, backed by the National Trainers’ Federation (NTF), will also show the training environment that Thoroughbreds are exposed to in Britain, as well as the high-quality facilities available; spending a morning with your trainer at their yard or on the gallops; and the quintessential British raceday experience. The final installment is scheduled for right before the Goffs UK Premier Yearling Sale on Aug. 23-24.

NTF Chief Executive Paul Johnson said, “This video series is an excellent initiative by GBRI on behalf of British trainers, as it showcases all the elements that we do so very well in Britain—the heritage, the facilities, the training environment, the behind-the-scenes experience and the raceday experience. Exhibiting each of these elements to prospective international investors can only be a positive for the industry.”

TEAM JHR LAUNCHED BY JESSICA HARRINGTON RACING

Team JHR, a new and exclusive member-only club, was launched by dual-purpose trainer Jessica Harrington Racing on Monday. The club will give fans a taste of what goes on behind the scenes at Commonstown, with information on the yard's runners, big race previews, and videos. Regular competitions for private tours and race-day experiences are also on offer. Team JHR updates will be available through an app on your smart phone. The cost to join the club is €50 or £42.57 per year.

"We have always been an innovative and progressive yard," Harrington said. "On the track we strive to produce the best results possible and that's down to the team here and a hell of a lot of hard work put in by everyone involved behind the scenes at Commonstown.

"We are sure there are many racing enthusiasts that would thoroughly enjoy this app and relish the regular insider tips, yard updates and behind the scenes footage. They may or may not ever have a horse in training but either way this will give them a sense of being part of our team. It also links well with our Alpha and Omega Syndicates, ideal for those who want a taster of membership with the hope of progression to shared ownership."

NINE STUDENTS GRADUATE FROM RIDING A DREAM ACADEMY

The inaugural class of nine students from the Riding A Dream Academy have graduated from its scholarship programme. Set up after Khadijah Mellah became the first British Muslim woman to win a UK horse race, the Riding A Dream Academy offers the year-long Khadijah Mellah Scholarship which was established to help other young people aged 14-18 from diverse and underrepresented communities get into racing and to increase diversity and inclusion in the sport. The Academy is funded by the Racing Foundation, with additional support from the Jockey Club and Champion Equestrian.

The students learned to ride racehorses under the expert tuition of the instructors at the British Racing School (BRS) in Newmarket where the Academy and its programmes are run. The course began with a residential week at the BRS in August 2021 and the students have returned for one weekend each month since then to continue their tuition.

Mellah said, "I am so incredibly proud and humbled by everything that the students have achieved this year. To see them arrive in August last year having only ever sat on riding school ponies, to now be riding racehorses on the gallops here is just mind blowing. As a group and individually I am so impressed by the talent, hard work and commitment they have put in and I can't wait to see where their careers in racing take them next. None of this would have been possible without the support of the Racing Foundation and the incredible instructors at the British Racing School--I am so grateful to everyone who has made the Academy possible."

The Academy was set up by Naomi Lawson and ITV Racing's Oli Bell as a legacy to the achievements of Khadijah Mellah who became the first British Muslim woman to win a horse race in the UK when landing the Magnolia Cup at Goodwood in 2019.

Ataared | Scoop Dyga

Ataared, in the money in four black-type starts since annexing last September's Listed Criterium de l'Ouest at Craon, lined up here returning off a fourth in ParisLongchamp's June 12 Listed Prix Melisande and made all to double her stakes tally in style. Breaking well from the inside stall to gain an early advantage, she came under pressure with 350 metres remaining and was ridden out thereafter to comfortably hold Listed Prix Volterra runner-up Gregarina by 1 1/4 lengths.

Ataared is the second of five foals produced by a dual-winning half-sister to the stakes-winning Rafaadah (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}), herself the dam of G1 Prix Saint-Alary victrix Tawkeel (GB) (Teofilo {Ire}). The March-foaled bay is a granddaughter of multiple Group-winning G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches and G1 Prix Maurice de Gheest placegetter Joanna (Ire) (High Chaparral {Ire}), herself a half-sister to G1 Livamol Classic victor Cazals (Ire) (Aussie Rules) out of Listed Premio Ubaldo Pandolfi third Secrete Marina (Ire) (Mujadil). Ataared is kin to the unraced 2-year-old filly Najwaa (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}), a yearling filly by Blue Point (Ire) and a weanling colt by Lope De Vega (Ire). Video,

I AM SOVEREIGN (FR) (c, 2, Cloth Of Stars {Ire}--Irish Song {Fr}, by Singspiel {Ire}) was swiftly into stride and led from the outset of this first go. Rowed along at the top of the straight, the 37-5 chance was tackled by Famoso (Fr) (Al Wukair {Ire}) entering the final furlong and kept on gamely under continued urging to deny that rival by a neck, becoming the second winner for his freshman sire (by Sea The Stars {Ire}). I Am Sovereign is the latest of seven foals and third scorer produced by a multiple-winning daughter of stakes-winning G3 Prix de la Grotte runner-up Irish Order (Irish River {Fr}), herself one of eight black-type performers out of G2 Prix Maurice de Gheest-winning matriarch Exclusive Order (Exclusive Native). Irish Order's trio of black-type performers is headed by GIII Golden Gate H. victor Irish Wings (Ire) (In The Wings {GB}). The April-foaled homebred bay is a half-brother to G3 March S. third Celtic Art (Fr) (Mastercraftsman {Ire}). Lifetime Record: 1-1-0-0, €9,000.

ANGELABA (FR) (f, 2, Dark Angel {Ire}--Yakaba {Fr} {GSW-Fr, $102,548}, by Medicean {GB}), a May 25 debut runner-up going six furlongs at La Teste de Buch last time, was under a tight hold behind the leaders in fourth through halfway in this return. Coming under pressure to close off the home turn, the 1-2 favourite was ridden to gain a narrow advantage passing the furlong marker and kept on well thereafter to prevail by a length from Texanna (Fr) (Zelzal {Fr}). Angelaba is the third of four foals and second scorer produced by G3 Prix d'Arenberg victrix Yakaba (Fr) (Medicean {GB}), herself half to Listed Prix Six Perfections placegetter Hergame (GB) (Motivator {GB}) out of Listed Prix La Sorellina winner Kayaba (GB) (Anabaa). From a family featuring multiple Group 1-winning sire Sendawar (Ire) (Priolo), the February-foaled homebred grey is kin to last year's G2 Prix du Calvados victrix Accakaba (Ire) (Acclamation {GB}) and a weanling colt by Attendu (Fr). Lifetime Record: 2-1-1-0, €12,600. Video, sponsored by TVG.
