

INVASION A BIG TRIBUTE TO O'MEARA

John O'Meara | Susan Finnerty

by Chris McGrath

Call it a Milestone achievement. Any farm, right up to the biggest brands of the Bluegrass, would have been proud to match the three stakes wins in 24 hours recorded by John O'Meara a couple of weekends back. And yet this is a man tending just a dozen mares, with the assistance of a single employee. Some landmark, then, in an odyssey stretching back four decades to when O'Meara first arrived in Lexington and called a farm he'd found in the bus station telephone directory.

"Is anybody Irish working there?" he asked.

Another Irishman was working there soon after, sure enough, but it would still be a long and winding road, either side of the ocean, before O'Meara went to an auction in 2002, bought 165 acres just outside Lexington and "became very friendly with the bank". He called the farm Milestone, for an influential Irish Draft Horse his father had stood at Toomevara Stud back in Co. Tipperary. But if various experiments since have tended to confirm the odds against an enterprise on this modest scale--despite a few dozen winners as a trainer, and a bold attempt to launch a couple of stallions--then equally that's a measure of the exceptional horsemanship underpinning this remarkable treble.

It started with Big Invasion (Declaration of War), whose first three dams have all grazed Milestone pasture.

BELMONT FALL MEET MOVES TO AQUEDUCT by Bill Finley

The traditional fall meet at Belmont will instead be held at Aqueduct and kick off Sept. 15, the New York Racing Association announced Thursday. It is anticipated that racing will return to Belmont for the 2023 spring meet.

The switch to Aqueduct will allow NYRA to undertake the first phases of what could be a major renovation of Belmont Park. Tunnels have been constructed at Belmont that will give construction vehicles access to the infield. The tunnels will also pave the way for pedestrians to have access to the infield. According to a statement issued by NYRA, "the tunnels will serve as a conduit to the infield for commercial vehicles allowing NYRA to completely reconstruct the Belmont main track and its two turf courses." In addition, the tunnels will provide NYRA with an opportunity "to consider the installation of a synthetic track in the future." Cont. p7

Sold as a yearling for $72,000 at the 2020 September Sale to Phil Hager's Taproot Bloodstock, he has been hurtling up the sophomore ladder with five consecutive wins for Christopher Clement and Reeves Thoroughbred Racing, clocking 1:00.80 on his graded stakes debut in the GIII Quick Call S. over 5 1/2 furlongs at Saratoga.

The next afternoon another 3-year-old, Roses for Debra (Liam's Map), followed up her maiden success over the same track with a stakes score against fellow Pennsylvania-breds at Presque Isle Downs. She is trained for O'Meara himself by Michelle Brafford, having been found (knocked down to Chris Drakos) for just $25,000 in the same September Sale.

And within the hour the 6-year-old Change of Control (Fed Biz), a Milestone graduate, took her career earnings to $923,725 with her sixth black-type success in another turf sprint, at Colonial Downs. O'Meara understands Change of Control's connections are hoping to get her to the Breeders' Cup, as a graded stakes winner already at Keeneland. But the real excitement concerns Big Invasion, who got a triple-digit Beyer for his Saratoga win.

"With Declaration of War I thought I'd put some stamina into the mare, but as it turned out the speed has just been compounded in her," O'Meara reflects. "He'd be unbeaten but for getting left in the gate on his debut. I hope he might [stretch out], because the longer you go, the longer you last. But you can't blame them, if there's big money being given away to run against 3-year-olds going short. He's with a top trainer, they take really good care of their horses, so he'll be getting every chance in the world. It's exciting."

Whatever happens from here, Big Invasion is already a huge tribute to the way his breeder developed a family from third dam Pola (Strawberry Road {Aus}), acquired for $55,000 back in 2000. O'Meara had actually tried to buy her at the Keeneland November Sale the previous year, when culled by breeder Allen Paulson, but had to surrender at $70,000 after Frank Stronach came in for her.

"She had a lot of speed," he recalls. "You know, :22, :44 type speed. She didn't get away in her first race, won her second, but then pulled a suspensory. I went to the Keeneland November Sale to buy her, sat around thinking there was a good deal coming up, with Strawberry Road such a solid, sound, under-rated stallion. I didn't have the money to get her that day, but then they just put her in foal to Alphabet Soup and put her in their own sale the next year, with a free Golden Missile season."

O'Meara retained the Alphabet Soup filly that came with the package, who went on to be stakes-placed, and then used the Golden Missile cover to produce a colt he took to the September Sale with a $29,000 reserve. He made $140,000, before pinhooker Mike Miller had an even bigger touch at Gulfstream the following February, selling to Bob and Beverly Lewis for $600,000. As Going Wild, the colt won the Sham S. for D. Wayne Lukas en route to a crack at the GI Kentucky Derby.

Pola's next date was with Out of Place, and the resulting filly was retained as Pola's Place after failing to meet her reserve as a yearling but did not run until four.

Big Invasion | Sarah Andrew

"I couldn't sell her so sent her to Florida as a 2-year-old," O'Meara recalls. "But she pulled a suspensory so I brought her home, gave her time. Dr. Bramlage ultra-sounded her and said give her more time. So I gave her another three months, took her back. And he said, 'Another two months.' And after that he said, 'Okay, you can go on.' So I sent her to Turfway on the poly, thinking it would be easier on her. And she turned out to be very fast. She was in front every [first] call, every race she ever ran in, and won a stakes race for me."

Retired to the farm, Pola's Place was given a chance with a couple of foal shares to the young Curlin. One resulted in a filly named Curls in Place, who O'Meara was able to buy out as a $25,000 weanling on account of X-ray issues. Once again, O'Meara had to bide his time. Cont. p5

She had ability, but wasn't showing it, including under a tag, and it was again only when she was four that she finally put it together to win a couple of races.

Big Invasion is only her third foal, both previous ones having managed a minor stakes placing.

"And she's still only 11," O'Meara says. "She's not very big, but a beautiful looker. You look at a Ferrari and look at her, you'd think she's the Ferrari. And she's a very nice, kind mare."

Big Invasion made a good price for Hip 3303, and will now decorate the page of his half-brother by Air Force Blue when he, too, appears deep in the September Sale. (It will also do no harm that this family has been newly decorated by Nest (Curlin), whose dam is out of a half-sister to Pola.)

"He's in the third last day, I think, but that's fine--once it's there [on the pedigree], it never goes away," O'Meara says. "Big Invasion wasn't very big, but he was well proportioned, well put together, and a very smart horse. And this colt is much the same, moderate-sized but very intelligent, very easy to deal with."

O'Meara at his Milestone Farm | Susan Finnerty

Though O'Meara will sell when he can, he is always happier to retain a filly. That's what he is doing with the mare's 2-year-old by Empire Maker; she also has a weanling colt by War at Will and is now in foal to Maclean's Music.

Change of Control's dam, America's Blossom (Quiet American), is also still in a position to exploit her success. She has a big, backward sophomore by Midshipman that O'Meara is still developing, and a yearling filly by Karakontie (Jpn) that he has also retained. She's now pregnant to Dialed In.

America's Blossom was found for just $7,000 at the Keeneland January Sale in 2015. "If you don't have a lot of money, you've got to do your homework," O'Meara says. "Those Quiet American mares are really good, and she was stakes-placed herself, and very tough. She'd had one foal by Pleasantly Perfect and didn't get in foal when they bred her back, so they obviously decided to cut her loose. And January is the kind of sale where you can get a good deal: people don't want to keep them, and with the breeding season so close you can get straight going."

We have seen how much patience O'Meara required to develop the mares behind Big Invasion, and again he has been no rush with Roses for Debra.

"She's out of a Bernardini mare that had already produced a stakes winner when I bought her," O'Meara explained. "I sent her to Florida for the 2-year-old sales and she worked in :10 flat [at OBS April] but chipped her knee. So I had to bring her home and operate on her and give her the time. And because she's Pennsylvania-bred I sent her up there to race. On her first start she got taken down, then a couple of weeks later she won by six and now she's won a $100,000 stakes race."

Like so many Irishmen working with young horses in the United States, O'Meara was actually raised in a National Hunt and sport horse environment. (Fitting, as such, that he should have bred Blackfoot Mystery (Out of Place), the re-trained Thoroughbred whose eventing career took him to the Rio Olympics in 2016 under Boyd Martin.) Besides Milestone, Prefairy was another resonant name at Toomevara--in both spheres--but O'Meara was only 12 when losing his father in 1969 and instead became one of many young compatriots forever indebted to Michael Osborne's mentorship at the Irish National Stud.

O'Meara then cut his teeth on farms in Australia and New Zealand before that first sampling of the Bluegrass.

"I went home in 1981 and was going to change the world," he says wryly. "But interest rates were 22% and I couldn't get going. So went back to Mr. Osborne and he set me up with a visa and a job at Spendthrift."

A stint at Gainesway followed, and he then spent four years working for Carl Nafzger before eventually venturing out on his own, initially renting land and boarding mares before committing to the Milestone gamble.

"My first aim was to train horses," he says. "If you know what you're doing, you'll know where you are with a horse within a couple of months. Whereas breeding is always like a five-year plan. But while I trained a couple of nice ones, usually someone will come along to buy them and they're on their way."

"I had a couple of stallions for a time, as well. Mancini was a three-parts brother to Unbridled's Song, who was standing for $300,000. I didn't think he could lose."

But he found a way, evidently? O'Meara responds with a laugh.

"That's a tough game," he says. "Spendthrift had 47 stallions when I went there. A lot of them didn't make it, but they obviously had Raise A Native, Seattle Slew, J.O. Tobin, Exclusive Native, Lord Avie, Affirmed. They had 200 boarding mares and 200 mares of their own. It was a huge machine: they got the stallions because they had the mares, and the mares because they had the stallions. Mancini got a lot of sound horses but not a lot of support. I supported him as best as I could, but nearly went broke doing it."

Holding your nerve is both harder, and even more essential, for those who can't play the numbers game. But O'Meara understands how the axiom "more haste, less speed" might have been devised specifically for Thoroughbreds--one legacy, perhaps, of an upbringing among those big, raw horses back in Ireland.

"The thing I couldn't handle about National Hunt horses is that you don't break them until they're three," he says. "But by then they're so big they want to kill you!"

As it is, O'Meara divides his time between pre-training in the mornings--partly because he still loves the training side, and partly to keep costs under control--and then managing the mares and foals. There are five yearlings to sell this year, leaving another five whose commercial imperfections shouldn't stop them being trained. But the same approach governs both types of prep, whether for the sales or the racetrack.

"Just don't rush them," O'Meara says. "It's hard to turn out a horse that's fit. But if you don't wait, they'll make you wait. So you just try to breed them to sound horses, take care of them growing up, and then it's just lots of long, slow work."

And if it's unusual for the dividends to be quite so vividly compressed, O'Meara's recent streak of success will be warmly appreciated by many peers who also persevere in old school tenets of perspiration and patience. Because if you can't afford to travel the wide, smooth highway along the valley floor, every now and then sheer tenacity over the steep, crumbling mountain track will take you to the same destination.

"It's been a great experience the whole way," O'Meara says, uncomplainingly. "And when this kind of thing happens it's fun to be able to get up in the morning and look at a horse like Curls in Place. Somebody up there seems to be looking down on me, at the moment anyway. Long may it last!"

NYRA officials have spoken often in recent years about a desire to make significant changes at Belmont, including ones that could make it feasible to some day close Aqueduct. That could include a rebuild of the massive grandstand, which would make Belmont a better fit to host the Breeders' Cup, which has not been run in New York since 2005.

"This investment in the future of Belmont Park will transform our racing operations and pave the way for a broader re-imagining of the facility," Dave O'Rourke, NYRA President & CEO, said in a statement. "The shift to Aqueduct this fall will minimize the overall impact on the racing schedule, and ensure continuity for the Belmont spring/summer meet and Belmont S. presented by NYRA Bets. We appreciate the patience of our horsemen and fans as we enter this period of transition at Belmont, and look forward to an exciting fall at the Big A."

According to NYRA spokesperson Pat McKenna, the current circumferences of the Belmont racing surfaces will not be changed.

The construction project will result in the closing of the main track and the turf courses at Belmont for training, starting with the conclusion of training on Aug. 7. Those tracks won't reopen until April of 2023. After a brief shutdown, the Belmont training track will re-open on Aug. 8 and will be the only outlet for regular training activities. Construction on the Belmont courses will begin following the conclusion of the 2023 Belmont Park spring/summer meet.

The New York Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association (NYTHA) President Joe Appelbaum expressed his support for the project in the NYRA statement.

“NYTHA membership recognize the importance of modernizing Belmont Park and look forward to competing at a world-class Thoroughbred racing venue,” said Appelbaum. “We will continue to work closely with NYRA to reduce any burdens on horsemen created by the temporary closure of the main track at Belmont.”

Aqueduct | Sarah Andrew

Trainer Christophe Clement had mixed feelings about the impending changes.

“They are going to make Belmont Park even better, so this is exciting when you consider the future,” he said. “I think they are going to create an amazing Belmont Park when they are done.”

But Clement is not looking forward to what will be a major disruption to his training routines.

“This is very depressing because a guy like me trains mostly on the main track at Belmont and I work a lot of horses every weekend on the turf,” he said. “I adore Belmont Park as a racetrack, to race at and to train at. But I will have to adapt. That’s just the way it is. We were aware of this. NYRA has been talking to us about this for about six months. We’re just going to have to adjust.”

The Belmont-at-Aqueduct meet will run through Oct. 30 and will include 41 stakes races worth $9.9 million. The stakes season at Belmont-at-the-Big A will commence on Sept. 17 with the running of the $1-million GIII Jockey Club Derby and the $700,000 GIII Jockey Club Oaks. The Oct. 1 card will consist of four stakes, including the GI Woodward S. and the GI Champagne S. Cont. p9

Early Voting takes a spin over the Saratoga track this week in preparation for his next start Sunday in the Jim Dandy. Who will he face, and who else is running this weekend? Click the play button to check out our video weekend preview from Bill Finley and Jon Green | Sarah K. Andrew photo

The Oct. 8 card will include the GI Joe Hirsch Turf Classic and the GII Vosburgh, which has been shifted from six furlongs to seven furlongs. Six stakes were cut from the schedule, but none are graded stakes. The GII Kelso H., traditionally a prep for the GI Breeders' Cup Dirt Mile, has been shifted from late September to Oct. 29.

The good news for horsemen is that the Belmont-at-Aqueduct meet will offer significant purse increases with a particular focus on adding value to conditions impacting the broadest group of owners and trainers. Open allowance races will be run for six-figure purses while all claiming categories, New York-bred, and maiden races will enjoy purse enhancements. NYRA will also introduce a new bonus program to further reward horsemen for competing at the fall meet. The bonus will pay $500 to the owner and $500 to the trainer of any horse finishing outside of the top three in his/her first fall start provided the most recent start was during the 2022 summer meet at Saratoga Race Course. Stakes races at Aqueduct do not qualify for the Belmont at the Big A bonus.

The capital improvement project will also include the installation of a synthetic Tapeta track on the quarter-mile Belmont "pony track."

From 1963 through 1967, racing moved to Aqueduct after the Saratoga meet concluded as Belmont Park was being rebuilt.

NO VIOLATIONS FOUND IN REVIEW OF ASSINIBOIA DOWNS RACE, ASSINIBOIA'S CEO DISAGREES

A determination has been reached in the unusual stretch run of Assiniboia Downs Racetrack's fifth race July 20, with no rules found to be violated and no change to the order of finish. The Manitoba Jockey Club (MJC), non-profit operator of Assiniboia Downs, had formally requested that its provincial regulator, the Liquor, Gaming & Cannabis Authority (LGCA), conduct a review after jockey Sheldon Chickeness, aboard King Witt (Five Demon Bag), turned for home approximately five lengths in front before appearing to pull his mount up and allowing much of the field to pass. He then re-rallied to finish second.

In a letter from LGCA's Director of Operations Natasha Hohol, MPA, she said, "The LGCA initiated our standard investigative processes. In this case, this included such steps as interviewing witnesses, analyzing video replay, and reviewing wagering data. The LGCA has determined that no rules of Thoroughbred racing were violated. Therefore, adjustments to the order of finish are not required."

Sarah Andrew

Darren Dunn, CEO of Assiniboia Downs, indicated officials at the Manitoba track "strongly disagree with the conclusion." The official statement from Dunn follows in full:

"I want to start by indicating from the outset that we understand and fully respect the right and responsibility that our regulator has to make the determination that they did related to this race. At the same time, I want to identify and recognize our right as the operator to respond to their findings and, to be clear, we strongly disagree with the conclusion they arrived at from this review.

"Our interpretation of the race is that the horse, King Witt, to our understanding, may have previously exhibited tendencies in how he navigates the turn for home and the early stretch drive of the racetrack that caused the jockey to believe that with a potential repeat of those tendencies, the safety of the other horses and jockeys in the race were in jeopardy and that this was reflected in his actions, exhibiting his concern.

“And, while we will always support and encourage efforts of jockeys to be safe in the saddle for themselves, their fellow riders and the horses in the race, a distinction, in our opinion, should be made when these actions occur and then affect the possible and likely ultimate outcome of the race through an overreaction by a jockey. We believe, in our opinion, that jockey Sheldon Chickness did overcompensate in his handling of his mount, likely related to a safety concern, but given the clear lead the horse had at the time, he did affect, in our opinion, the final outcome of the race and the order of finish.

“We believe that, while consideration and understanding could be given to his safety intent, overriding this was the need to protect the wagering public in ensuring the integrity of the race remained intact and that the overcompensation by jockey Sheldon Chickness should have been met with a determination of significant discipline against him.”

CDI AIMS TO NEARLY DOUBLE COLONIAL'S RACE DATES

by T. D. Thornton

By 2026, the gaming corporation that owns Colonial Downs is aiming to nearly double the amount of racing at the turf-centric Virginia track, potentially expanding the current boutique-styled summer race meet from 27 to 50 dates.

That news was revealed Thursday morning by Bill Carstanjen, the chief executive officer of Churchill Downs, Inc. (CDI), who briefly mentioned the dates increase during a public quarterly earnings conference call with investment bankers.

The reason has everything to do with CDI's gaming revenue and apparently very little do with the overall scope of the region's racing.

Almost as an aside during a larger discussion about CDI's in-progress acquisition of Colonial and its network of gaming businesses, Carstanjen said that CDI is "working on plans to enhance the racing" as the result of a corporate strategy to maximize the number of historical horse racing machines (HRMs) that it can operate at various locations in the state.

"Based on Virginia law, we will be required to run one race date for every 100 HRMs that are operational in the state, up to the 5,000 HRMs we are currently authorized," Carstanjen said.

"Colonial Downs will hold 27 race dates this year in conjunction with the approximately 2,700 HRM machines now deployed. Over the next two to four years we expect to grow to up to 50 race dates as we reach 5,000 HRMs," Carstanjen said.

An expansion of the racing schedule by that magnitude would almost certainly create horse availability strains in a region of the country that is geographically thick with competing tracks, but has a strong recent history of cooperation so as not to cannibalize the overall mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred product.

Frank Petramalo Jr., the executive director of the Virginia Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, told TDN in a phone interview that he hadn't heard Carstanjen's comments, but he knew that the Virginia law allows for that level of race dates expansion.

Even though owners and trainers generally welcome the prospect of increased race dates, Petramalo urged restraint for the sake of the overall circuit.

"What I've said to both Bill Carstanjen and to [CDI president] Bill Mudd, our goal has always been to have a rational program within mid-Atlantic racing," Petramalo said. "We were thinking that something smaller than [50 dates at Colonial] would fit in the mid-Atlantic. I certainly could change my mind, but I told both Bills that it's important to continue a cooperative relationship between Virginia and Maryland and Delaware [and] certainly Pennsylvania."

Petramalo continued: "We have a lot of racing [in the region] and a diminishing number of horses. We think the way to success is to try to rationalize racing programs. Now I know that's an anathema to just about every state, but you can't keep running over other race meets. It just doesn't make any sense."

After being closed for six years, Colonial reopened under new management in 2019, ushering in the HRM-fueled purse era in Virginia and carving out a reputation as an independent "comeback" track.

Petramalo said that earlier in Colonial's history, it had a contract with Maryland tracks that called for Maryland racing to shut down in June and July while Colonial ran unopposed. In turn, Colonial did not seek to expand its schedule beyond that agreed-upon time frame.

"Even after Colonial bought out that contract, we still had a cooperative relationship. We weren't running against each other," Petramalo explained.

"Sure, we'd like to race 50 days," Petramalo continued. "But it has to make economic sense to do that. Right now we don't really compete with Maryland because we race Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and they race weekends. We still have a lot of people going back and forth, and we both prosper that way."

Colonial cont.

CDI owns four other Thoroughbred tracks nationwide-- Churchill Downs, Turfway Park, Fair Grounds and Presque Isle Downs--and is in the process of receiving regulatory approvals so it can close the $2.4-billion Colonial sale. But beyond its presence at Presque Isle, the gaming corporation is a new player to the traditionally cooperative mid-Atlantic racing region.

Recent history begs the question of whether CDI can play nicely with its neighbors and horsemen.

Under CDI's stewardship this century, the gaming corporation has purchased and then closed down three major racetracks: Hollywood Park, Calder Race Course and Arlington International Racecourse. Its shutdown of Arlington last year capped a decade-long series of acrimonious relations with horsemen, and CDI is still being litigated in federal court over a $775,000 purse account dispute.

"We continue to analyze where to deploy additional HRMs in Virginia," Carstanjen said during the July 28 call. "We are prioritizing locations based on population, disposable income, and likelihood of being able to pass a local referendum allowing for HRMs in the specified locations. We will provide updates on future earnings calls."

SHAH BRINGING HIS 'BEST' TO DEL MAR

by Steve Sherack

Kaleem Shah | Sarah Andrew

Kaleem Shah went to $1.8 million to acquire a pair of powerful-looking :9 4/5 breezers from the OBS March 2-Year-Old Sale earlier this spring. Both are expected to be in action this summer at Del Mar.

Arman (Bolt d'Oro), a $600,000 OBS March graduate and the first of the highly regarded duo to make the races, debuted with a visually impressive 'TDN Rising Star' performance at Churchill

Downs June 23. Named after Shah's son, the bay is being aimed at the GIII Best Pal S. Aug. 14.

Shah, ahem, clearly made them an offer they couldn't refuse extending to a sale-topping, $1.2 million for OBS March boss Don Corleone (More Than Ready). He is nearing his debut in a spot still to be determined at the seaside track.

Both purchases were advised by Shah's primary trainer Simon Callaghan and bloodstock agent Ben McElroy.

"One thing that I've known is money does not buy you love, and money doesn't buy you a fast horse," Shah said with a laugh. "Having said that, it all remains to be seen."

Drawn widest of all in post 10, Arman had his work cut out for him after breaking toward the rear going five furlongs in his unveiling. Hung out in a four-wide fourth heading into the far turn, the 8-5 favorite began to rev up with a sweeping move approaching the quarter pole. He gained command as they straightened for home and leveled off nicely after a couple of left handers from Martin Garcia to win going away by 2 1/2 lengths. He earned a respectable 74 Beyer Speed Figure for the effort.

Shah--the founder and president of the Virginia-based CalNet, which handles intelligence analysis and telecommunications for its clients, including the U.S. federal government and military--made a special trip to Louisville to be on hand for Arman's unveiling last month.

"He's named after my son, so I had to be there," Shah said. "He'll be 24-years-old soon and is doing his masters in cybersecurity at George Washington."

Shah added of the four-legged Arman, "Most of the pundits thought that coming from the outside post at Churchill was a difficult task, but he got it done that day, so on to the next one. He's pointing to the Best Pal. We shall see what he does."

Bred in Florida by Loren Nichols, Arman RNA'd for $52,000 as a yearling at OBS October. Offered on behalf of Nichols by Top Line Sales at OBS March, Arman brought $600,000 from Shah after motoring through an eighth in :9 4/5.

“Obviously, you've got to go one race at a time, and you don't want to get ahead of yourself,” Shah concluded. “We'll see how this all pans out. But, certainly, it's promising for now.”

Don Corleone topped OBS March at $1.2 million | Judit Seipert

Already one of eight winners for promising freshman sire Bolt d'Oro (by Medaglia d'Oro)--currently ranked a narrow second by earnings via TDN Sire Lists--Arman is out of Beautissimo (Uncle Mo), an unraced half-sister to the stakes-winning and multiple graded-placed Two Thirty Five (Stay Thirsty). He hails from the extended female family of champion Halfbridled (Unbridled).

Don Corleone, meanwhile, topped the two-day OBS March Sale following a much-buzzed about :9 4/5 breeze from the Wavertree Stables, Inc. (Ciaran Dunne), agent, consignment. Bred in Kentucky by WinStar Farm, LLC, he was previously a $120,000 KESEP yearling purchase by Lehigh Bloodstock, a pinhooking partnership led by Dunne. The dark bay is out of the unraced Indian Charlie mare Broad Spectrum, a half-sister to recent GIII Sanford S. winner Mo Strike (Uncle Mo). Don Corleone breezed four furlongs in :49 (32/61) at Del Mar July 21, his seventh workout since early June.

BLAZING SEVENS A MIX OF GENIUS AND RACING LUCK by Patrycja Szpyra

Blazing Sevens | Sarah Andrew

There are no bigger stages and brighter lights than Saratoga in the summer, and Blazing Sevens (Good Magic--Trophy Girl, by Warrior's Reward) showcased his razzle-dazzle with aplomb, blitzing a field of well-regarded debuters to loudly proclaim himself worthy of 'TDN Rising Star'-dom.

Beating out two others in the race by his freshman sire to become a fifth winner, and the first to get the TDN's stamp of approval, for Good Magic, Blazing Sevens added another layer of sheen to breeder Tracy Farmer's banner last Sunday. In addition to being represented by the talented juvenile, Farmer was also the owner and owner/breeder of the runner-up and third-place finishers in Woodbine's GIII Hendrie S.--Amalfi Coast (Tapizar) and La Libertee (Consitution), respectively--as well as the owner of GII Dance Smartly runner-up Fev Rover (Ire) (Gutaifan {Ire}).

Farmer purchased Blazing Sevens's dam Trophy Girl for $62,000 as a weanling at Fasig-Tipton November in 2013. The bay took a bit of time to get to the races, not debuting until Sept. 30 of her 3-year-old year, but managing to win twice in the opening months at four over Turfway's old synthetic track. She wouldn't hit the board again, and eventually retired due to injury after her final start in July of that year. Sporting a pedigree he really liked, Farmer retired Trophy Girl to his broodmare band, and she's fit into the operation like a well-tailored glove.

"He breeds, sells, races homebreds and buys yearlings, so when we do matings for him, we ultimately concentrate on planning matings that will work for his racing program if he decides to keep the resulting foals," said TDN columnist and advisor to Farmer, Sid Fernando. "...In the case of Blazing Sevens, we recommended several proven stallions and only one unproven horse--Good Magic--for his dam. Tracy made the decision to use [the stallion]."

With only four on the ground so far, and two of racing age, the sampling is still small, but Team Farmer is happy with what they're seeing from Trophy Girl. The mare's first, an unnamed 3-year-old colt by Distorted Humor, did not reach his reserve at Keeneland September in 2020, so consigner Denali Stud took a different approach to Blazing Sevens, convincing Farmer to sell him in Keeneland's January sale last year. To their credit, the result was successful this go-around, with the colt bringing $140,000 from Chestnut Valley Farm. He would later sell again for $225,000 at the Fasig-Tipton Saratoga Sale to Rodeo Creek Racing.

"He was a gorgeous yearling when we saw him at the sale," said bloodstock agent Pete Bradley, who helped put together the Rodeo Creek Racing partnership on the colt. "We had a set price range and he fortunately fell into it. I wanted to buy him as a weanling but lacked the funds at the time."

Blazing Sevens's score was well-timed as the focus now shifts to the yearling sales season, and this year's renewal of the Saratoga sale coming up shortly (Good Magic has two in the open sale and four more in the subsequent New York-bred auction). Breeding farms with young stallions will be eager to showcase early success, such as a 2-year-old winning at Saratoga and becoming a 'Rising Star' in the process. Good Magic also already has a stakes winner to his name in Vegas Magic, a filly who beat the boys in Pleasanton's Everett Nevin S. July 9.

As for their colt, Bradley says that if the horse is ready to go, and Chad Brown likes what he sees, the GI Hopeful S. at the end of the Saratoga meeting isn't out of the question, but he hesitates to make plans too far in advance. Whether or not it happens is a decision based on conditioner and charge, alone.

"The original plan was always to have him go longer. He's such a chill horse and he didn't look like he turned a hair after that debut," he reported. "He's taken everything in stride."

Tracy Farmer shares in the excitement, and is eager to see his stock continue to rise to the head of their class. He's even willing to put what he called 'a little peer pressure' into the universe.

"I hated to see [Blazing Sevens] go, but everything has worked out for the best," admits Farmer. "And I would love to see him in the Kentucky Derby starting gate." And there is perhaps no greater honor, and no more sought-after pressure, than a Derby dream fueled by early promise.

CONTENTS OF ARLINGTON UP FOR ONLINE AUCTION

by T. D. Thornton

The first items in a massive online-only auction of the contents of Arlington International Racecourse have been listed for bidding.

The sales process, which is scheduled to take place over the next few months in up to 15 separate "events" grouped by asset type, is beginning with food-service and kitchen items.

The coveted big-ticket racing-related offerings--marker poles, finish lines, signage, artworks, and even starting gates--will be among the last batches of items to be sold.

"We're going to be targeting nostalgia and memorabilia items mid-September," said Judd Grafe, who runs the Minnesota-based Grafe Auction Company, in a Thursday phone interview.

"I don't have a date for the memorabilia yet. My team is on site. We're actually physically photographing and creating catalogues, and we will update the website weekly with times and dates of upcoming sales," Grafe said.

Churchill Downs, Inc. (CDI), the gaming corporation that previously shuttered Hollywood Park and Calder Race Course, is in the process of completing a $197-million sale of the 326-acre Arlington property to the Chicago Bears football team. Arlington's final races under the CDI regime were last September.

When CDI issued a proposal request seeking an auctioneer back in February, it listed the likely revenue from the complete sale of the track's contents at approximately $2.5 million.

Although organizing a sale of such magnitude seems like a difficult endeavor from a "Where do you start?" perspective, Grafe's family has been in the auction business for more than 60 years and has liquidated the contents of numerous large facilities, like resort hotels and even a drag-racing auto track. But never a horse track.

"How do you eat a big apple? One bite at a time," Grafe said. "We are literally eating our first bite and getting everybody introduced to the process."

Still, the behind-the-scenes prep work is largely the same, regardless of the venue, Grafe said. The initial goal is to clear space by selling large, cumbersome pieces of equipment. Then they work towards memorabilia items, and eventually office equipment.

"I don't want to over-simplify it, but it's a bit like Sesame Street," Grafe said, referring to how his team organizes assets by class, size and use.

All bidding will take place online.

A catalogued item will enter an online sales ring according to a posted schedule. If that item receives active bidding within 20 seconds, a timer will reset for 20 seconds and keep resetting until there are no active bids on the item. Then the bidding for that item will close, deeming that item sold, and the next consecutive item will enter the ring. Grafe explained there will be a way for bidders to place limits on what they might bid in case they can't remain in front of the computer screen for the duration of the auction.

In-person preview days at Arlington will also be scheduled.

"And an important note, because everybody will hope that they can come to the preview and just wander around the building: That's just not going to be possible. One, it's not safe, and two it's not secure. But people will be able to come in and look at the items that will be sold the next day," Grafe said.

The question everyone has been asking Grafe is whether or not Arlington's iconic "Against All Odds" bronze sculpture featuring John Henry and The Bart will be among the artwork sold by CDI.

"I don't know. I have yet to be told about the Arlington bronzes. I believe the ownership is deciding whether they should be moved to a different [CDI] location or if they should be offered. As soon as ownership lets us know, we'll create a catalogue and tell the world," Grafe said.

Grafe admitted that Chicago's once-grand Thoroughbred showcase has a bit of a spooky vibe considering how the building is full of history but now sits empty.

"As a professional who works with large facilities--we've done shopping malls and the Minnesota Vikings stadium when it was rebuilt--I'm relatively familiar with walking through empty buildings. It's always a little eerie," Grafe said.

Grafe explained how the presence of auctioneers cataloguing a beloved civic entity can sometimes arouse feelings of sadness in the people who once enjoyed that venue in its heyday, and his team tries to respect those public sentiments. Cont. p16

"Part of what we do as auctioneers is a natural function of society, a part of any life cycle, whether it's personal or business," Grafe said. "With any large property, the community always has a level of history when those properties get transformed into something new.

"So for us, it's cool to respect and memorialize the history and the past at Arlington, and we hope people look for the good in this event. That's what we do as professionals. It's an honor to be here, and an honor to represent the history," Grafe said.

SOCCER COMPLEX NO LONGER BEING PURSUED AT ASHWOOD SITE

The proposed building of a soccer complex in the agricultural-rural zone that was previously Ashwood Training Center just outside of Lexington, Ky. has reportedly been abandoned by the Lexington Sporting Club. The project had been met with significant opposition from members of the equine and agricultural communities in Fayette County.

"We are pleased that our community's strong desire to protect the agricultural-rural zone has been recognized by the withdrawal of the Lexington Sporting Club's backing for the 12 soccer field and 750 parking space proposal at the Newtown Pike site," said a statement from the Fayette Alliance. "Fayette Alliance remains committed to advocating for equitable, sustainable and responsible growth in Lexington-Fayette County. We continue to support bringing professional and youth soccer opportunities to Lexington so long as it does not come at the expense of our community's signature Bluegrass farmland and the industries it supports."

SWAIN AND DUMAANI EUTHANIZED AT OLD FRIENDS

Old Friends, the Thoroughbred Retirement Facility in Georgetown, Ky., lost two retirees Wednesday--multiple graded stakes winner Dumaani (Danzig--Desirable {Ire}, by Lord Gayle), who was 31, and European champion and GI Breeders' Cup Classic third-place finisher Swain (Ire) (Nashwan--Love Smitten, by Key to the Mint), who was 30. Both were humanely euthanized due to the infirmities of old age.

The stallions stood most recently at the Lexington-based Shadwell Farm, where they were originally pensioned. They relocated to Old Friends in the spring of this year as part of a downsizing of operations following the death of Shadwell owner, His Highness Sheikh Hamdan bin Rashid Al Maktoum, in 2021.

"It's always sad when we lose any of our wonderful retirees, but yesterday was devastating," said Old Friends President Michael Blowen. "The only solace is that farm manager Antonio Marin and Rood and Riddle's Dr. Ashton Broman recognized that both Dumaani and Swain were both in severe discomfort and the best thing for them--not for us--was to take the pain away. But the pain their deaths left behind has left a lasting scar on us. Even when you do your best it can't defeat mortality."

REPORTS OF MARES BRED DUE AUG. 1

Edited Press Release

The Jockey Club reminds stallion managers to submit their Reports of Mares Bred (RMBs) for the 2022 breeding season by Aug. 1.

"To ensure that the breeding statistics we release in the fall are as accurate as possible, we request that RMBs be submitted by Aug. 1," said Matt Iuliano, executive vice president and executive director of The Jockey Club. "Mare produce records and catalog-style pedigrees from equineline.com are updated in real time with the latest covering information to assist industry stakeholders with their decisions. The number of mares reported bred is also an important economic indicator of the health of the Thoroughbred breeding industry."

Stallion managers who submit completed RMBs by Aug. 1 are among the first to receive their Stallion Service Certificates, which facilitates the timely registration of 2023 foals.

Reports of Mares Bred may be submitted via Interactive Registration at registry.jockeyclub.com or a form is available by email, fax, or mail by contacting inquiries@jockeyclub.com.

AFTERCARE, PROMOTION, AND COMMUNICATION HIGHLIGHTED AT OWNerview CONFERENCE

Edited Press Release

The need to ensure responsible ownership at all stages of a racehorse's life was a recurring theme at this week's Thoroughbred Owner Conference, which was held July 25-26 in the 1863 Club at Saratoga Race Course. The event, which attracted more than 100 attendees, was presented by the New York Racing Association (NYRA) and hosted by The Jockey Club and Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association. Cont. p17

The keynote address of the conference was delivered by Stacie Clark-Rogers, operations consultant for the Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance (TAA). Clark-Rogers summarized the evolution of aftercare over the last 50 years and its increased prioritization among those involved in the Thoroughbred industry.

"These programs in my opinion are greatly undervalued, and we could be doing so much more to connect people with retired Thoroughbreds, and in return, promote the horse, the industry, and the sport of horse racing," she said.

"If we have learned anything over the last 20 years of aftercare initiatives, we all need to work together in all aspects of this industry, not just so the aftercare groups can succeed, but so the industry can be more accountable and thus succeed as a responsible, ethical sport."

Other topics of focus at the conference included buying at the sales, selecting a trainer, equine safety, partnerships, and international racing. The second day of the event featured a panel composed of a family of jockeys: Dylan Davis was joined by his sister Katie and her husband, Trevor McCarthy, with an appearance by Dylan and Katie's father, former jockey Robbie Davis.

Tony Allevato, chief revenue officer for NYRA and president of NYRA Bets, opened the conference by describing efforts NYRA has made to improve the racing and ownership experience. For example, during NYRA's racing coverage on Fox Sports, the production team makes it a priority to interview owners before and after each race.

"It's important for us as an operator to make the experience as good as possible," he said. "If an owner thinks that there's a chance that they can get on national TV, we think that adds to the experience."

The conference began with a reception at the National Museum of Racing and Hall of Fame, and attendees enjoyed the races at Saratoga on Wednesday.

"After being postponed for two years due to COVID-19, we were delighted to finally bring the Thoroughbred Owner Conference to Saratoga for the first time," said Gary Falter, project manager for OwnerView. "Competing at Saratoga is a dream for any Thoroughbred owner and a fitting location for this conference, where we provide existing, new, and prospective owners the opportunity to learn about all aspects of owning racehorses while facilitating networking with the industry's most prominent names."

Tom Durkin served as the master of ceremonies. Participants on the panels included owners Tina Bond, H. James Bond Racing Stable and Song Hill Thoroughbreds; Michelle Borisenok, Old Tavern Farm; Peter Brant; Terry Finley, West Point Thoroughbreds; Tom Gallo, Dream Maker Racing; Len Green, D.J. Stable; Jack Knowlton, Sackatoga Stable; and others.

JOCKEYS TO SIGN SOUVENIR ELLIS PARK POSTERS SATURDAY FOR PDJF

Jockeys will sign Ellis Park 100th season commemorative posters to raise money for the Permanently Disabled Jockeys Fund (PDJF) on Saturday.

Ellis | Coady

The jockey autograph session is part of Jockeys Across America, where tracks across the country pay tribute to National Disability Independence Day and raise funds for and awareness about the PDJF.

The Ellis Park jockeys, as their riding schedules permit, will sign the full-color posters throughout the afternoon at a table between the paddock pavilion and the paddock. There is no charge, but donations will be accepted for the PDJF, a 501(c)(3) charity that currently provides financial assistance to approximately 60 former jockeys who have suffered catastrophic on-track injuries. Cont. p18

"This is a cause that is near and dear to our hearts," said Jon Court, the dean of the Kentucky jockeys and a six-time Ellis Park meet leader. "We love our fans and invite everyone to come out and help us help our colleagues who sacrificed so much."

"No other major sport allows so much access to its participants as horse racing does on a daily basis," said Ellis Park General Manager Jeff Inman. "Our jockeys routinely sign autographs after races. Saturday provides an organized opportunity for fans to create a real keepsake by getting any number of riders to sign our souvenir century poster."

Sunday is also HBPA College Day at Ellis Park with $1,000 scholarships and iPad mini/AirPods packages given out to full-time college students. Full-time students, including incoming freshmen, will receive a free Ellis Park/HBPA College Day ball cap just for registering for the drawings.

Margins: 3/4, 1HF, 10 1/4. Odds: 0.95, 9.80, 1.50.

Also Ran: Portos, Shooger Ray Too.

Fearless continued his strong 2022, during which he has yet to be worse than second, with a win in Thursday's Birdstone S. at Saratoga. Heavily favored to register his second straight stakes win here, the bay rode the rail in third as Lone Rock clocked an opening quarter in :24.94. Swung out two wide as the half went in :50.06, the gelding was patiently handled by Luis Saez as he was shuffled back to caboose the quintet. Moving into third with three-quarters of a mile left to run, Fearless challenged Lone Rock on the inside in late stretch, forging clear to score. Original Intent overtook Lone Rock for second.

"To be honest, I was concerned first time by the stands," said winning trainer Todd Pletcher. "It didn't seem like he was loving the track. He was off the bridle pretty early for him. I was worried until he made a little spurt down the backside where he picked up a couple lengths and I thought maybe we were OK, but then he came off the bridle again. Luis [Saez] just stayed with him--a really courageous effort for a horse that I don't really think was loving the going out there. You have to give him credit. That win was all heart. Luis never gave up on him. It was a good ride from him to stay with him and keep asking."

"It was a pretty tough trip," Saez said. "He's kind of a little lazy, but he ran all day. The main thing was to try to keep him going and it was a long race. It got a little humid too, but he did the job and got there in time. It was a magnificent race."

Purchased by these connections for $205,000 out of last year's Fasig-Tipton July Sale, Fearless has not been worse than second since that time. He romped by six lengths in the GIII Ghostzapper S. Apr. 2 at Gulfstream and was second next out in the GII Oaklawn H. 21 days later. The 6-year-old entered this event off a win in Belmont's GII Brooklyn S. June 11.

The winner's MGISP dam And Why Not is a half-sister to GSW Far From Over (Blame) and SW Analyze (Candy Ride {Arg}). And Why Not's most recent produced is a juvenile filly named Undoubtedly (Blame). She was bred back to Blame this season. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by TVG.

Scratched: Ellamira, Everlys Girl.

Fun to Dream | Benoit

Fun to Dream was favored in this step up in class off a 6 1/4-length romp on debut against fellow Cal-breds May 28 for trainer Sean McCarthy. Returned to the care of her breeder Bob Baffert, she more than ran to her even-money odds here.

Keeping a watchful eye from a joint third through a :21.85 opening quarter, the gray moved swept up two wide to confront the leader as the half-mile went in :44.59. Fun to Dream charged to the front entering the far turn and it was all over from there as she cruised clear under a hand ride to win for fun.

Fun to Dream is the third black-type winner for her sophomore sire (by Unbridled's Song). She is a half to MSW Heck Yeah, a juvenile colt named Cowboy Mike (Smiling Tiger), and yearling and foal colts by Smiling Tiger. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by TVG.

COLD HARD CASH (g, 5, Maclean's Music--Perfect Legacy, by Perfect Soul {Ire}), who raced successfully on dirt until May of 2021, won a 12-furlong turf test at Belmont Oct. 10 and was sixth next out at Aqueduct Nov. 19, after which he was shelved for the season. Resurfacing at Belmont July 9, he checked in third in a grassy optional claimer and was favored at 2-1 to improve in this rained-off event. Breaking sharply from his rail draw, the chestnut tracked from a joint third, keeping a close eye on the top two through opening splits of :23.53, :47.77 and 1:12.58. Three wide turning for home, the homebred seized control in the lane and splashed clear to win by a commanding five lengths. Pioneer Spirit (Malibu Moon), who drew in as an MTO, was best of the rest in second. The winner has a yearling half-sister by Freud and a 2022 half-sister by Honest Mischief. EVAN SING (g, 3, Hard Spun--Viapervita {Ire} {SW-Ger, SP-Fr}, by Spectrum {Ire}) graduated on debut sprinting on the turf at Fair Grounds Mar. 17 and was second next out when extended to a mile on the Churchill Downs lawn Apr. 30. Fifth after setting the pace going a sixteenth further in Louisville May 28, he was favored at 2-1 in this cutback in trip. Away a beat slow from his rail draw, the gelding trailed the field early as the pacesetter doled out opening splits of :22.16 and :45.37. Swung out three wide turning for home, Evan Sing unleashed a powerful rally, swiftly picking off foes and charging clear to win by two lengths. Thin White Duke (Dominus) checked in second. The winner is a half to Brother Francis (Lion Heart), GISP-USA, MSP-Mac, $246,720. Their dam did not produce foals in 2020 or 2022, but had a Kantharos colt in 2021 and was bred to Munnings this spring. Sales history: $55,000 RNA Ylg '20 KEESEP. PRICE DISCIPLINE (c, 3, Overanalyze--Curlamorous, by Curlin) charged home a 4 1/4-length winner in his Belmont unveiling against NY-breds May 29 and missed by just a head next out in a state-bred allowance downstate June 30. Adding blinkers here, the even-money favorite broke sharply and established position in a close-up third through a :23.22 opening quarter. Maintaining his position through a half in :47.24, the chestnut asserted himself on the backstretch to take control as three-quarters went in 1:12.23, but was immediately challenged by Dangerous Edge (Competitive Edge). Price Discipline shook free of that foe in mid-stretch and bounded clear for a 2 1/2-length score. Bossmakingbossmoves (Laoban) rallied for second and Dangerous Edge faded to fourth. Curlamorous had a Klimt colt in 2021 and a Runhappy colt this term. Sales history: $25,000 Ylg '20 OBSOCT; $300,000 2yo '21 OBSAPR. DUVET DAY (IRE) (f, 3, Starspangledbanner {Aus}--Je T'Adore {Ire}, by Montjeu {Ire}) made two starts in Ireland last summer for Jessica Harrington before being shipped Stateside. Fourth in her debut for the McCarthy barn here in November, she missed by a neck at Santa Anita Jan. 29 and was sixth in her two outings in Arcadia Mar. 7 and Keeneland Apr. 8. The bay secured her diploma last time going 1 3/8 miles at Churchill Downs May 29 and was given a 10-1 chance while facing winners for the first time here. Racing off the fence in mid-pack through a half-mile in :49.57, Duvet Day continued to bide her time as the mile went up in 1:40.88. Launching a two-wide bid in the lane, she kicked into high gear in mid-stretch, rolling clear for a 3/4-length score over Queen Ofthe Temple (Temple City). The winner's dam produced a Harzand (Ire) colt in 2021 and a Saxon Warrior (Jpn) filly in 2022. Sales history: 47,000gns Wlg '19 TATFOA; £45,000 Ylg '20 GOFOR; $72,000 3yo '22 KEEAPR. SLAMMED (f, 4, Marking--Hennesey Smash {MSW, $252,006}, by Roll Hennesey Roll) is a bit of a sensation in her native New Mexico, winning seven of her nine starts there, including five stakes. Her most recent victory came in the state-bred La Coneja S. at Sunland Feb. 6 and she was given a 9-2 chance in this first try in California against open company. The bay broke on top from the outside stall, cruising through a :22.08 first quarter under Drayden Van Dyke. Turning for home on a clean lead, Slammed kept on finding for a seemingly effortless 5 1/4-length score. Grade I winner Grace Adler (Curlin), who was making her sophomore bow here, rallied for second. The winner is a half to Roll On Diabolical (Diabolical), MSW, $154,450; and Smash Ticket (Midnight Lute), GSP, $158,320. Hennesey Smash is also the dam of a juvenile colt named Arro Smash (Arrogate) and a 2022 colt by Star Guitar. She was bred back to City of Light. Lifetime Record: MSW, 10-8-0-0, $348,005. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by TVG.

IN ORDER OF PURSE:

1st-Saratoga, $105,000, Msw, 7-28, 3yo/up, f/m, 1 1/8m, 1:54.70, ft, 1 1/2 lengths.
SHE'S KEEN (f, 3, Keen Ice--Spelling {GSP, $161,710}, by Alphabet Soup) failed to hit the board in her first three attempts in Kentucky and was third last out going 1 3/16 miles at Churchill Downs June 23. Dispatched at 5-1 this time, the bay seized the early advantage, coasting along through moderate opening fractions. Showing the way into the lane, She's Keen was just that and kept on finding for a 1 1/2-length success. Forever After All (Connect) was the runner-up. The winner is a half to Not Taken (Arch), SP, $181,440; Sky Willow (Empire Maker), SW, $114,979; and Spelling Again (Awesome Again), MGSW, $534,653. Spelling's most recent foal is a 2020 colt by Ransom the Moon. Sales history: $18,000 Ylg '20 FTKOCT; $40,000 2yo '21 OBSMAR. 2nd-Saratoga, $88,000, (S), Msw, 7-28, 2yo, f, 5 1/2ft, 1:03.39, fm, nose.

LITTLE LINZEE (f, 2, Honorable Dillon--Gee Linz, by Frost Giant), dismissed at 18-1 in this career bow, broke alertly, but was beat to the front by her outside neighbor and settled for a joint second. Keeping an eye on the pacesetter through a :22.08 first quarter, the gray forged clear in mid-stretch and held off a late bid from Souffle (Candy Ride {Arg}) to win by a nose. Gee Linz did not have a foal in 2021, but had a colt named Danziger (War Dancer) this year. Lifetime Record: 1-1-0-0, $48,400. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by TVG.
 O/B-Janet Durrschmidt (NY); T-Domenick L. Schettino.

4th-Saratoga, $88,000, (S), Msw, 7-28, 3yo/up, 7f, 1:24.92, gd, 1 1/2 lengths.

TWO FOR CHARGING (c, 3, Will Take Charge--To the Moon Alice, by Malibu Moon) rallied to be third in his Belmont debut Apr. 30 against fellow Empire-breds and was a well-beaten fourth in state-bred company there May 29. Cabooing the field early, the 7-1 shot inched up a bit ahead of one rival, but still well back off the opening half-mile in :46.12. Advancing on the backstretch run, the chestnut rallied four wide down the lane to win going away by 1 1/2 lengths over Ocean's Reserve (Speightster). To the Moon Alice is also responsible for a juvenile colt by Ghostzapper, a yearling filly by Uncle Mo and a 2022 filly by Munnings. She was bred back to Street Sense. Lifetime Record: 3-1-0-1, $61,900. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by TVG.

5th-Laurel, $53,860, Msw, 7-28, 3yo, f, 1m, 1:38.93, ft, 6 3/4 lengths.

HOODOOLAND (f, 3, Medaglia d'Oro--Theycallmeladyluck {SP}, by Dixie Union) checked in second on debut at Aqueduct Apr. 14 and was third when next seen at Belmont July 1. Adding blinkers for this trip outside of the Empire State, the 1-2 chalk was away alertly from the outside post and dueled for early control through a :23.88 opening quarter. Backing off a bit, but staying on the leader's outside haunch, the $1.4-million KEESEP buy reasserted herself approaching the far turn and sailed clear in mid-stretch to win by 6 3/4 lengths. Ladro Di Fichi (Blame) completed the exacta. The winner is a half to Salty (Quality Road), GISW, $688,500, who summoned $3 million from Don Alberto Corp. at the 2018 Fasig-Tipton November Sale. Hoodooland's year-older half-sister Salty As Can Be (Into Mischief) brought $850,000 at the 2019 Fasig-Tipton Saratoga Sale and is now stakes-placed. The winner's dam Theycallmeladyluck failed to get in foal to Quality Road for 2020, but had a filly by that Lane's End stallion in 2021 and a colt by him in 2022. Sales history: $1,400,000 Ylg '20 KEESEP. Lifetime Record: 3-1-1-1, $58,000. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by TVG.

CORINNA (f, 3, Point of Entry--Midnight Ramble, by Unbridled's Song) saved ground in mid-pack early in this career bow off modest opening fractions. The 14-1 shot bided her time until the turn, where she swung out four wide and leapt to the lead, tugging clear for a 1 1/2-length score. Culdee (Flatter) was the bridesmaid. NASHWA ON TOP IN THE NASSAU

by Tom Frary

Class has told all week so far at the Qatar Goodwood Festival and on Thursday it was the turn of TDN Rising Star Nashwa (GB) (Frankel (GB)) to excel in the G1 Qatar Nassau S. Sent off the 6-5 favourite having loped to post like an old hand under Hollie Doyle, Imad Al Sagar's G1 Prix de Diane heroine cruised from rear down the outer to swoop on the front end with a furlong remaining and assert for an ultimately-comfortable 1 3/4-length success from the 40-1 outsider Aristia (Ire) (Starspangledbanner (Aus)), with Lilac Road (Ire) (Mastercraftsman {Ire}) half a length behind in third.

"I am very emotional when it comes to her--she is my first Classic-winning homebred and is a future broodmare for Blue Diamond," Al Sagar commented. Cont. p3

'WE ARE GOING TO GET RELEGATED IF WE KEEP SELLING OUR BEST STRIKERS'

By Brian Sheerin

There have been a lot of football analogies in racing this week. Most have centered around a hypothetical situation whereby the Kevin De Bruynes or the Erling Haalands of this world were leaving the Premier League for sunnier--and more lucrative pay packets--in foreign leagues.

For all the Manchester City fans out there, you can relax, as the analogy was simply fictional. However, there is nothing fictional about the mass exodus of talent facing British and Irish racing.

Ger Lyons is better qualified than most to speak about the problem. Lyons, who has held a training licence for over 25 years, has built his impressive Glenburnie Stables in County Meath into one of the best training facilities in Ireland.

He secured a breakthrough Classic success in 2020 when Siskin stormed to G1 Irish 2000 Guineas glory at the Curragh while Even So provided the stable with its second when landing the G1 Irish Oaks in the same season.

From losing some of his best prospects to the international market, poor prize-money and what he describes as a lack of opportunities for good horses in Ireland, Lyons makes for a fascinating interviewee in this week's Q&A. Cont. p11

He added, “We noticed from early in her career that she was special, but how special we didn’t know. Since April she has developed at a very fast pace physically and mentally.”

Labelled a TDN Rising Star following her emphatic 6 1/2-length success on her 3-year-old bow over a mile at Haydock Apr. 23, Nashwa has continued to grow in stature with each passing week and her smooth win in Newbury’s Listed Haras de Bouquetot Fillies’ Trial S. over a mile and a quarter May 14 was followed by a game third in the Oaks which stretched her too far. Back in action 16 days later when she provided her jockey and her owner-breeder with personal landmarks in the Diane at an appreciative Chantilly, this was a quick enough turnaround with all that action in the background but the signs cantering down were all positive.

Nashwa | PA Media

That perfect rhythm she displayed on the way to the start was also there in the race, where she accepted restraint with total compliance as the match made in heaven with her rider deepens further each time they join together. Always well within her comfort zone, she was asked to close as the front-running Dreamloper (Ire) (Lope De Vega {Ire}) failed to get away approaching two out and was able to make up the deficit with ease. Picking up the unexposed fellow 3-year-old Fonteyn (GB) (Farhh {GB}) and Aristia soon after, the bay strode to the line typically powerfully to give the impression she was in a class of her own despite the final margins.

Hollie Doyle provided her lowdown after. “She gave me some feel. A change of tactics today from France, but it paid off,” she said. “Nashwa is A1, you can’t fault her. I rode her aggressively in France because we had a good draw and I wanted to hold my position. Today, in between her work from her previous run, she now knows what she is doing so I didn’t want to light her up and ride her from a pace angle.” Cont. p4

She added, "I came down the hill with a double handful. She travels very well, but she takes a while to hit top gear."
 "This is her perfect trip," Doyle added. "She has a high cruising speed and sees it out very well. She is push-button and you can ride her anywhere, which is really nice. Nashwa is a horse of a lifetime and if it wasn't for Imad Al Sagar giving me this opportunity, I might not have enjoyed days like this. Every Group 1 means a lot, so you've got to enjoy it while it lasts because you get home tonight and you'll be back into work mode for the next day. You have limited time to enjoy these moments."
 Al Sagar added, "The important part of it is I own the family. She was not disgraced in the Oaks, but ran out of stamina--we didn't know beforehand about the trip and found out. It was a beautiful performance in the French Oaks and to do that with only 16 days between two Classics, she must be very special. Our target will be the Prix de l'Opera on Arc day and then the Breeders' Cup [Filly & Mare Turf]. She has had a very busy season and we definitely would not want to overdo it. She will be kept in training at four and I think she will be better then--the whole family thrive with age."
 John Gosden said, "We have relaxed in last and what they've done is suddenly pull the pace up. If you look at the fractions, they did two :14-second furlongs in the middle, which is as slow as you can go. Coming from last made it tough on her, as they are quickening down the hill but Nashwa has got the class and when the ground levelled off she was happier. She is versatile to do that from off the pace. I think next time we might have to put a pacemaker in."

 Aristia was running the race of her life and trainer Richard Hannon said of the runner-up, "Aristia is always a filly that runs massively above what you were expecting. For some reason she did not come in her coat until well after Ascot. We have got her back right and she looks a million. She ran a super race and we have got the rest of the season to look forward to. Everything is an option now. She is a filly with an awful lot of scope. There are some lovely races coming up and I would love to hope that she will stay in training for next year."
 Maureen Haggas said of Lilac Road, "I thought she ran great. She did not get the smoothest run through, which often happens at Goodwood. In the last 50 yards she flew--I am thrilled with her. Looking at that, I think we could step her up to 12 furlongs happily and she is getting better as she has never been easy. We went down first and she wasn't too bad today. She is settling in her races and has galloped right to the line. I don't know what plans there might be. She is well worth keeping at this standard, and William will find something and talk to Jon and Julia [Aisbitt] and work out a plan." Cont. p5

Nashwa's dam Princess Loulou (Ire) (Pivotal {GB}) took time to fulfil her potential, finishing second in the G1 Prix Jean Romanet as a 4-year-old before closing out her career with success in the Listed Gillies Fillies' S. She is a granddaughter of the Listed Princess Elizabeth S. runner-up Sweeping (GB) (Indian King), who produced the dual listed-winning sprinter Watching (GB) (Indian Ridge {Ire}) who was also runner-up in the G2 Prix du Gros-Chene. Sweeping is also the second dam of the listed scorer Nufoos (GB) (Zafonic), who in turn produced three black-type winners in the G1 Middle Park S. and G2 Mill Reef S. hero Awzaan (GB) (Alhaarth {Ire}), the G3 Sweet Solera S. winner Muraaqaba (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}) and the Listed Sandringham H. winner and dual Group 3-placed Muteela (GB) (Dansili {GB}). Also related to the G2 Keio Hai Nisai S. winner Ball Lightning (Jpn) (Daiwa Major {Jpn}) and the GIII Will Rogers S. scorer Media Mogul (GB) (First Trump {GB}), Princess Loulou's filly by Decorated Knight (Ire) is entered in the upcoming Arqana Deauville August Yearling Sale (lot 93). She also has a colt foal by Dubawi (Ire) and is carrying a full-sister to Nashwa at present.

ROYAL SCOTSMAN STEAMS AHEAD IN THE RICHMOND

by Sean Cronin

Fitri Hay's Royal Scotsman (GB) (Gleneagles {Ire}--Enrol {GB}, by Pivotal {GB}) finished a close up third in Royal Ascot's G2 Coventry S. and justified odds-on favouritism with a snug victory over the same six-furlong trip in Thursday's G2 Richmond S. at Goodwood. Fourth behind the 'TDN Rising Star' display of Noble Style (GB) (Kingman {GB}) contesting a hot novice heat over five furlongs at Ascot in his May 7 debut, he graduated by five lengths over this course and distance 13 days later before his black-type debut in the Coventry last time. The 5-6 pick was well away to stalk the leaders in a handy fourth and raced under a firm grip through halfway. Shaken up passing the quarter-mile marker, he quickened for control approaching the final furlong and was ridden out in the closing stages to easily hold the Windsor maiden winner Al Karrar (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}) by 1 1/2 lengths in a new track-record time. Isa Salman Al Khalifa's Listed Rose Bowl S. winner Chateau (Ire) (Havana Gold {Ire}) ran on well to finish 1 1/2 lengths further adrift in third.

"Royal Scotsman likes a bit of cover and switches off well," commented trainer Paul Cole. "Our main worry was just getting some cover, but nothing could have gone better today and it all went exactly as we'd hoped it would go. Nothing worries him and he is a fantastic horse." Cont. p6

He added, "There is the possibility of stepping up in trip, but he has a lot of speed and is out of a fast mare. I can't see anything around that has as much speed as him. There are very good races on the horizon such as the [G1 Prix] Morny and potentially York. I'm not good at making quick decisions.

"I've had two or three other great horses, but leading up to this race he gave me a better vibe. You're never certain, as anything can happen, but everything went well and I couldn't comprehend being beaten. If you're looking at the [G1] 2000 Guineas, good horses can win over a lot of trips and the way he behaves is very good. Whether he gets a mile or not I don't know, but he is bred for it."

Winning rider Jim Crowley, remaining on a high plateau after the G1 Sussex S. success of Baaeed (GB) (Sea The Stars {Ire}), added, "Royal Scotsman had the best form in the book, his

Royal Scotsman | PA Media

Coventry form has worked out well and he was unlucky that day as I was drawn one and got a bump. He still travelled very strongly today, he would be even better with a bit of cut in the ground, and it was a nice performance. If the gap had shut, I would have kicked myself for not going. He was always going nicely and, once we got inside the final two furlongs, it was all over really. He has a lot of speed and could be a horse for the [G1] Prix Morny. He is physically strong and has lots of speed. The more he learns to relax, he will be able to go further."

Jim Hay, husband of owner Fitri Hay, continued, "That was thrilling and it's why we do it. Paul and Oliver [Cole] were as confident as you can be coming into Goodwood. This is a very tricky track and there are no shoo-ins. We love coming to Goodwood and had a lot of success here. Win, lose or draw here, you have a fantastic day. Royal Scotsman is a serious horse." Cont. p7

“I am thrilled with his run on only his second start,” Tom Clover said of Al Karrar’s second-place finish. “Experience has just caught him out there, as he was on and off the bridle the whole way. He hit the line really strong and galloped out. He has done everything bar win. He is a lovely horse with a lovely future. I think we have done the right thing coming here and to be second in a Richmond is pretty good. What is lovely for us is that he should improve for the experience. We have him in the [G2] Champagne S. [at Doncaster] and, whether we will go six furlongs or seven furlongs next time, I don’t know. If we get a smooth run through the autumn, he is a lovely horse for next year.”

Jake Warren, advisor to Chateau’s owner Isa Salman Al Khalifa, said, “He has run very well considering the tight turnaround from Newbury. He was a bit unlucky in running, he got caught on the rail and nearly had to start his race again at the halfway point. He has finished off really well. He is a lovely horse and we will try and find a nice race for him. We will look at the [G2] Gimcrack [at York] and the 2-year-old Pattern as it unfolds. Havana Golds tend to be sharp horses, he is a nice big-framed animal and one would have to think that it could be possible [to go up in trip] in time. We will see.”

Pedigree Notes

Royal Scotsman is the latest of five live foals out of the dual stakes-placed Enrol (GB) (Pivotal {GB}), herself kin to Listed Golden Rose S. and Listed Boadicea Fillies’ S. placegetter Enact (GB) (Kyllachy {GB}). The April-foaled bay’s Graded stakes-placed third dam Appointed One (Danzig) is kin to seven black-type performers headed by her multiple group-winning full-brother Emperor Jones and G1 William Hill Futurity victor and dual Classic-placed British champion Bakharoff (The Minstrel).

SCOTS WHA' HAE: FLYING JUVENILES HAVE SACKVILLE ON A HIGH By Emma Berry

GOODWOOD, UK--Goodwood has been especially glorious this week for Ed Sackville, wearing two slightly different hats as bloodstock advisor and agent.

First, Trillium (GB) (No Nay Never) blazed a trail in the G3 Molecomb S. for the Keswick family's Rockcliffe Stud, in which Sackville has played an active role in helping to assemble a broodmare band. The filly's success was followed on Thursday by victory in the G2 Richmond S. for Dr. Jim and Fitri Hay's Royal Scotsman (Ire) (Gleneagles {Ire}), who was bought by SackvilleDonald for 125,000gns at Book 2 of last year's Tattersalls October Yearling Sale. Cont. p8

"I have been lucky enough to be able to buy some horses for Dr. Hay in the last couple of years and I am so pleased that his trust in me has been rewarded," said the agent.

Trained by Paul and Oliver Cole, Royal Scotsman has now won two of his four starts and was third behind Bradsell (GB) (Tasleet {GB}) and subsequent G2 July S. winner Persian Force (Ire) (Mehmas {Ire}) in the G2 Coventry S. at Royal Ascot.

Sackville continued, "Royal Scotsman looks like a hugely exciting prospect. I know that Alex Cole and his father and brother were disappointed in the Coventry and obviously now he has shown his true colours. Also, when one looks at the form of the Coventry, it looks like it was an exceptional race."

Paul Cole added of the colt, "Nothing worries him, he is a fantastic horse. There is the possibility of stepping up in trip, but he has a lot of speed and is out of a fast mare. I can't see anything around that has as much speed as him. There are very good races on the horizon such as the Morny and potentially York [the Gimcrack]. I'm not good at making quick decisions."

While Cole mulls his options, trainer Richard Hannon will be doing similar in regard to Trillium, who is now a dual winner.

"[Wednesday] was equally exciting," said Sackville. "It was obviously different in that she is a homebred for the Keswick family, and to me it was a truly important homebred in that the family had Snow Lantern last year, and Snow Lantern is out of [1000 Guineas winner] Sky Lantern who was originally bought as a yearling, whereas this filly Trillium is a granddaughter of Asaawir. When the Keswicks decided to form Rockcliffe Stud Asaawir was one of the foundation mares we bought from three original mares, so to win the Molecomb with a second-generation Keswick-bred filly is arguably more significant for the stud than winning the Falmouth S. with Snow Lantern."

The fourth foal of Asaawir (GB) (Royal Applause {GB}) was the dual winner and Group 3-placed Marsh Hawk (GB) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}), who has now produced two black-type horses for Rockcliffe Stud in Trillium and the listed runner-up Mohawk King (Ire) (Siyouni {Fr}). Her Iffraaj (GB) colt foal will be consigned as lot 113 by Highclere Stud to the forthcoming Goffs UK Premier Sale.

"We still own Marsh Hawk, who is only a 10-year-old mare. She has an Iffraaj yearling going to Doncaster and a Wootton Bassett (GB) colt foal, and she is back in foal to the great No Nay Never," Sackville noted.

"Trillium is a very exciting prospect. I think now that she is a group winner anything else is a bonus. We will probably aim her high, be it the Morny or the Cheveley Park or the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Turf Sprint."

He added, "I think that the most important thing about these two horses is that they are owned by British-based owners who have put a huge amount into the business, and obviously we as an industry are hugely grateful for the international support that we get, but I think that it is nice to have some locally-owned, high-profile winners.

"The Arqana, Doncaster and Fairyhouse catalogues are already out online and I think that winners like these are a great reflection of the strength and depth of the British and Irish breeding industries."

NEW LONDON BATTLES TO GORDON

TRIUMPH by Sean Cronin

Godolphin's highly regarded 3-year-old colt New London (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}--Bright Beacon {GB}, by Manduro {Ger}) bounced back from a first reversal in May's G3 Chester Vase to annex a 10-furlong Newmarket handicap last time and continued on an upward trajectory with victory in Thursday's G3 John Pearce Racing Gordon S at Goodwood. The 6-4 favourite, who had garnered 10-furlong tests at Newmarket last October and in April on seasonal return, settled off the tempo in sixth until inching closer in the straight. Coming under pressure with three furlongs remaining, he bounded to the front passing the quarter-mile marker and, having subdued G1 Derby runner-up Hoo Ya Mal (GB) (Territories {Ire}) inside the final furlong, was driven out for a 1 3/4-length career high as that rival was collared for second by G3 Bahrain Trophy victor Deauville Legend (Ire) (Sea The Stars {Ire}) in the dying strides.

"New London is a lovely horse and has done nothing but improve," said assistant trainer Alex Merriam. "He ran in the Derby trial [at Chester] and then Charlie thought to miss the Derby, which I think paid the dividends. I am not sure of plans. He is not in the [G2] Great Voltigeur and Charlie said that we will let the dust settle and see how he comes out of it. We will make a plan next week to see where everything goes. I am sure Charlie will come up with the best plan.

"It is very hard to say [which is the best of the Godolphin St Leger hopefuls]. New London has won the group race, the others have won handicaps and they are all nice, progressive horses. Dubawis tend to improve and are tough, and that is what you need. I think Will came a bit wide with his run, but he didn't mention anything untoward. Charlie's horses are in great order and long may it continue."

Buick added, "New London is a proper horse, he always has been, and he is very exciting. The Derby prep didn't go well, but we are delighted to get him back and Charlie and his team have done a great job. He is a very good horse. We went a good pace and I wasn't following the horse I wanted to, so we were in front earlier than ideal. However, he is a strong galloper and saw it out well. This was always going to be a challenge for him and he has come through it with flying colours. He's got plenty of class, I'm delighted and there's plenty more to come. It's hard to be confident, but we can be hopeful about the [G1] St Leger trip. Those [additional] two furlongs are a long two furlongs, so we'll see. He relaxes well and gives himself every chance. Hopefully he will [stay the extended 14-furlong trip]. That was a deep Gordon field with the Derby second, he has passed the test and let's see if he can do it." Cont. p10

Daniel Muscutt, rider of Deauville Legend, commented, "It was a good run and he found a rhythm behind the [eventual] winner. There was plenty of pace early doors and he cruised into the race nicely. He couldn't quite match New London's turn of foot, but he ground it out well. The last 100 yards he stuck on past Hoo Ya Mal and it was a gutsy effort with the penalty. I thought that [the penalty] was maybe the difference."

Hoo Ya Mal's trainer George Boughey said, "We took the hood off, he relaxed and has run a great race. The plan has always been the [G1] Melbourne Cup and this is a stepping-stone to that. Ryan [Moore] was delighted, Gai [Waterhouse] is very happy and the owner who has come over to watch the race is very happy. Ryan said that he has run a very good race and that he did it all the right way round, which is what we wanted to see. Ryan lost his stick with about two-and-a-half furlongs to go, which might not have helped. It's all about just looking after him because he has a big career ahead in Australia."

Pedigree Notes

New London is the fourth of five foals and one of three winners produced by a daughter of G2 Falmouth S. runner-up Waldmark (Ger) (Mark of Esteem {Ire}). The March-foaled homebred bay is a full-brother to stakes-winning G2 Queen's Vase third Al Dabaran (GB) and half to a yearling colt by Too Darn Hot (GB). Descendants of Waldmark include her G1 St Leger-winning son Masked Marvel (GB) (Montjeu {Ire}) and G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe-winning grandson Waldgeist (GB) (Galileo {Ire}).

RACE PREVIEWS

KING GEORGE THE FRIDAY FOCUS

by Tom Frary

Despite all the top-level contests being done at the Qatar Goodwood Festival, Friday's action at the Sussex venue is almost as compelling with the G2 King George Qatar S. the fast and frenzied feature. Now that Battaash (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}) is in a deserved retirement, one of Britain's fastest five-furlong sprints is looking for a new ruler but at present he is not instantly recognisable in the void left by Shadwell's super-charged performer. Perhaps the best to hope for is an engaging spectacle as the July 2 G3 Sandown Sprint S. one-two Raasel (GB) (Showcasing {GB}) and Mitbaahy (Ire) (Profitable {Ire}) renew rivalry on this entirely different track.

The Horse Watchers' Raasel--who once raced in the Battaash colours--relished the uphill finish at the Esher venue to deny Hasan Mefareh Alajmi and Fawzi Nass's 3-year-old Mitbaahy by a neck, but he is also two-for-two in handicaps over this course and distance so must rate as a versatile as well as progressive performer. The syndicate's Chris Dixon revealed that the Breeders' Cup is in the syndicate's sights for the Mick Ableby-trained 5-year-old. "Whatever happens here, so long as he comes out of it well, I think we'll be running in the Nunthorpe and we'll go from there. We'll think about the Breeders' Cup at the end of the season potentially as well, so it's exciting stuff and we're going to find out a lot more in the next couple of months, I guess," he said. Cont. p11

“This is the race that we’ve always had our eye on, even before he ran in the listed race at Haydock,” Dixon added. “You know that bridge from handicaps to group races in five-furlong races isn’t always massive and we know he likes Goodwood so much, so basically after he won his handicap there earlier in the season, we kind of thought this is where we’d come and it was just a case of how we got here.” Mitbaahy, a half-brother to the GI Del Mar Oaks heroine Going Global (Ire) (Mehmas {Ire}), came to the fore with a win in Sandown’s Listed Scurry S. June 11 and holds every chance of reversing the form with Raasel with age on his side.

Retrieval Missions

Also in the King George is the Hayses’ Equilateral (GB) (Equiano {Fr}) and Khaadem (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}), with the latter looking the most intriguing. He took this meeting’s Stewards’ Cup in 2019 and appeared a revitalised character when making all in Newmarket’s G3 Palace House S. Apr. 30, but left the stalls without his rider in Royal Ascot’s G1 King’s Stand S. June 14. There is nothing the like of Baaeed (GB) (Sea The Stars {Ire}) in the G3 Bonhams Thoroughbred S. the Shadwell star won 12 months ago, but last year’s G2 Champagne S. scorer and G1 Dewhurst S. and G1 Futurity Trophy third Bayside Boy (Ire) (New Bay {GB}) remains a class act despite finishing out of the frame in the G1 Poule d’Essai des Poulains at ParisLongchamp May 15 and Royal Ascot’s G1 St James’s Palace S. June 14. “He ran well at Ascot in the St James’s Palace, which is proving to be a strong piece of form and there is plenty to take from the race,” trainer Roger Varian said of Teme Valley and Ballylinch Stud’s representative. We would look at that race as his first proper race of the season--the French Guineas was a bit of a non-event, so we think that piece of form at Ascot would present him with

Brian Sheerin: You have trained 41 winners this season--only Aidan and Joseph O'Brien have managed a greater tally at this juncture--and you have already surpassed the €1-million mark in prize-money at Glenburnie. Everything is on course for another big season.

Ger Lyons: Everything is going steady away. We haven't run many 2-year-olds so far this season and I have had to be patient with them. The quality seems to be good as we are holding our own in stakes races which has always been the objective for us.

BS: While things have been going well on the track, I know from speaking with you at length just over a month ago that you have major concerns for Irish racing. You also described yourself as "a pre-trainer" for international handlers due to the exodus of high-class horses to the foreign market. Would you care to expand on that?

GL: Sadly, our prize-money is very ordinary and what I would describe as the 'good horse' is being neglected, hence why they are all being sold to continue their careers abroad. From the top owners right down the ranks, no-one is able to turn down Australia, Hong Kong or America when they come calling. It's disappointing to have to sell our best prospects but the economics of it all makes sense.

Not only that, but the owners can see the earning power for their horses in America and we have seen countless examples of horses being moved out there in pursuit of greater prize-money. Masen (GB) (Kingman {GB}) is the most recent horse to leave my yard for America. He has won over $300,000 in three runs in America but would have struggled to earn €100,000 in Ireland this season--and that's if he won three races over here, the chances of which would have been very slim as the opportunities just aren't there.

BS: Mark Johnston echoed the same opinion in last week's Q&A. He revealed that the owners of Royal Patronage (Fr) (Wootton Bassett {GB}), a Group 2-winning 2-year-old who reached a rating of 113 in his 3-year-old campaign, decided to move the colt to America in a bid to win more prize-money. Johnston was keen to point out that he didn't blame the owners but admitted the drain on resources is becoming hard to contend with as a trainer. Do you feel the same? Cont. p12

Ger Lyons | Tattersalls

GL: I certainly don't blame the owners as we all trade. However, if we keep selling our best horses then we are going to be left racing what's left over and our product will lessen every year. If people don't want to watch our best, how will they come and watch lesser quality races and races with small field sizes? This trend needs to be addressed quickly as we are already a long way down a very slippery slope.

BS: Here's the bit that doesn't make sense for me; Mutasarref (GB) (Dark Angel {Ire}) is a horse who you bought for 95,000gns from Dermot Weld at the Horses-in-Training Sale last October. He was obviously well-bought given he's won three races for you--at Leopardstown, the Curragh and last week at Naas--and has improved 25lbs in the process. However, he's picked up less than €30,000 for those wins at premier tracks and only qualified for that Naas race by virtue of the fact he hasn't won a race worth €15,000 or more.

GL: He's a good example of a good horse not being rewarded with the prize-money he deserves to be winning. He is now rated 105 after that Naas win but look at what he has earned--it's pathetic. Good horses should be rewarded yet we seem to reward mediocrity. In what world should a stakes-placed horse earn the same as a low-grade handicapper operating in the 45-65 bracket? It does here and that's wrong. The strategy [from Horse Racing Ireland] seems to be all about minimum prize-money levels whereas I would have the lower-rated horses earning a maximum figure and it wouldn't exceed €5,000. No handicapper should be earning more than a stakes horse. It's not long ago that a certain rating, say in the 70s, wouldn't get you into a premier handicap. Now it will, which shows how far the standard is dropping. Not only that but, if you are going to reward mediocrity, that promotes cheating but that is another can of worms that I won't open!

BS: There was a story in The Times on Wednesday about how some leading figures in British racing are pushing for a restructuring of the sport that would result in a greater slice of prize-money being channeled to the elite level. It may not be a popular viewpoint but I gather it's one you would agree with?

GL: I was looking at the figures published at the end of last year and it showed that the average prize-money on offer for the premier handicaps was more than that for listed and Group 3 races which is not only astonishing but, in my opinion, wrong. I am also a big believer that our maidens need to be worth more money. You can only win your maiden once and you should be rewarded for doing so, especially because, in order to win a maiden in Ireland, you need to be rated in the mid-80s or above on average. So, when you win your maiden, that is obviously going to limit your chances when you step into premier handicaps. Therefore, the maidens should carry more prize-money.

BS: You mentioned last month that the notion of prize-money in Ireland being strong was a myth. It's hard to argue against that viewpoint when you look at Slan Abhaile (Ire) (Territories {Ire}), who finished fourth in the G3 Anglesey S. and picked up just €2,750 for her troubles. Had she finished third and picked up black-type, she would have won just €5,500, which is still less than what you'd get for winning a 0-65 handicap.

GL: That's exactly my point and to add insult to injury, if she had finished third and picked up that valuable black-type, that would have ruled her out of a lot of listed races going forward as the conditions of most of those races state that horses who placed in group races can't run. The Ingabelle S. on Irish Champions Weekend is certainly one of those races so, while we were only beaten a head for black type in the Anglesey, I felt it was actually a good outcome as we still have the option of those listed races. But again, here is another example of the programme hindering the good horses whereas you can run your low-grade operator every day of the week if you want to.

BS: HRI released its six-month statistics last week. The figure that jumped out at me is that prize-money still hasn't risen to pre-pandemic levels despite the fact that HRI boss Suzanne Eade put prize-money at the top of her priority list when the budget was released in December. Not only that, but the Irish Derby, which is meant to be the flagship race of the season, carried a purse of €1m when it was worth €1.5m before the pandemic in 2019. In actual fact, when High Chaparral (Ire) won the Irish Derby 20 years ago, the race was worth €300,000 more than what it was run for this year.

Apricot Twist | Naas Racecourse

GL: That speaks for itself and I find they [HRI] try to dress up these reports to convince us that all is rosy in the garden but we are the ones on the playing field and we know the reality of the situation. Look, I was lucky to win two Classics in 2020 [the Irish 2000 Guineas with Siskin and the Irish Oaks with Even So (Ire) (Camelot {GB})] and both races were worth just €145,000 each to the winner--I've won handicaps worth more. The Ebor for example, which we won with Mustajeer (GB) (Medicean {GB}), was worth €1m. By the way, both of my Classic winners were sold to go abroad!

BS: You have made it clear that you have no interest in training horses below a certain standard. Given the lion's share of the horse population is rated 70 or less, I am interested to know how you go about weeding out the ones who don't make the grade. I know you are a big fan of claimers.

GL: Plenty of people will say, 'it's all right for Ger to say that,' but, like everybody, I do train plenty of low-grade horses--I just choose to move them on and concentrate on the quality. The claimers have been very successful for us and we need a minimum of one a week. Jim Gough claims a lot of my horses and has great fun with them. He actually came over and shook my hand at Naas last week and complimented me on not only supporting those races but for being realistic with price tags that I put on them as well. That allows him to claim them and enjoy them. Just because I don't want to train horses at that level doesn't mean I don't have them. I just choose to move them on. The authorities need to get their heads around the fact that there are hugely positive aspects to claimers and they need to be made more customer-friendly. I think that the claimers are a big addition to the programme and, if I had my way, I would replace a lot of the low-grade handicaps with claimers.

BS: There will also be people who read this and think, 'But Ger, if it wasn't for trading horses, Glenburnie would not have become the behemoth that it is now.'

GL: At the start, horses were much cheaper to buy and the upside to trading them on was much greater. Nowadays, it's virtually impossible to buy the level of horse we were buying at one point for less than €50,000. There are always exceptions but in general the price of horses has escalated beyond all recognition which flies in the face of my prize-money argument.

BS: When you were starting out, and trading horses was necessary to survive, did you ever envisage a situation whereby, once you arrived at the top table, you would still be faced with the prospects of losing your best horses.

GL: In short, no. I always imagined it would be different when we got the good horses but times have changed and, as I said already, even the top owners are sellers now." Cont. p14

GL: Sure didn't Aidan [O'Brien] sell a Derby winner [Serpentine (Ire)] to Australia recently? It's very frustrating and I always use the football analogy in that we--and I mean Britain and Ireland here--are the team that keeps selling our best strikers. Sooner rather than later, we are going to get relegated.

"IT'S VERY FRUSTRATING AND I ALWAYS USE THE FOOTBALL ANALOGY IN THAT WE--AND I MEAN BRITAIN AND IRELAND HERE--ARE THE TEAM THAT KEEPS SELLING OUR BEST STRIKERS. SOONER RATHER THAN LATER, WE ARE GOING TO GET RELEGATED."

--Ger Lyons

BS: In the immediate future, you have some smart prospects to look forward to. Apricot Twist (Ire) (Expert Eye {GB}) looked a potential top-notch on debut at Naas last week. Could we see her in the Ballyhane S. next Monday?

GL: She's lovely but the race could just come too soon as she only ran last week. I've done very little with her since but when there is a race with such good prize-money, it's imperative that we support it. Barry [Mahon, racing manager at Juddmonte] and I will discuss it and do the right thing by the filly first and foremost.

BS: You won the race last year with Sacred Bridge (GB) (Bated Breath {GB}) and, judging by the entries, have been keen to record back-to-back wins. What struck me about your entries is that some of them haven't even run yet so I am presuming you have kept a bit of powder dry for the second half of the season.

GL: We have. As I said, it's important to support such initiatives and hopefully I will have a few runners in the race. I've plenty of bullets to fire in the second part of the season as we have been very disciplined with the babies so far.

BS: It's one thing getting these well-bred fillies to train but another thing altogether managing them to fulfil their potential and achieve the valuable black type that they need before they go to the breeding sheds. You must get huge pleasure out of that aspect of the game?

GL: It's one of the great pleasures of this job and one that I very much enjoy. I always remind myself that these babies could be the dams of my next Classic winners, hopefully. One thing that I have learned that I didn't appreciate at the start is that an ounce of breeding is worth a ton of feeding.

BS: And speaking of high-class broodmare prospects, they don't come much better than Cairde Go Deo (Fr) (Camelot {GB}). I thought she ran a cracker in the Irish Oaks and would be excited to see her step up in trip in time. What are the plans for her?

GL: She's a sweetheart and is slowly developing into what we hoped she would be. I trained her mother and liked her and it was that reason that made me purchase Cairde Go Deo on behalf of Mark Dobbin. Also, the fact that she was by Camelot, the same sire as Even So, made it an easy decision. Hopefully she will stay in training at four, and yes, she should mature into a very good stayer.

SHOP LOCAL: GRAND NATIONAL WINNER NETS BIG-MONEY SALE By Brian Sheerin

His roots may be deeply entrenched in National Hunt racing and just this spring he won the most famous jumps race of them all--the Grand National with Noble Yeats (Ire) (Yeats {Ire})--but Emmet Mullins has now netted himself yet another major payday--this time on the Flat with a filly that he bred, owned and trained to win a maiden at his local track before selling her for six figures.

Thebestisbettobe (Ire) (Elzaam {Aus}) became the second 2-year-old winner of Mullins's career when sluicing up in the opening seven-furlong maiden at Gowran Park on Saturday and, in the process, announced herself to the international market.

Duckett's Grove was Mullins's first juvenile scorer and, like that Point Of Entry colt who the trainer sold after he broke his maiden tag at the first attempt at Cork back in 2018, Thebestisbettobe is set for export and has already passed the vet.

"That's just the second 2-year-old winner I have trained and it was done from start to finish with Thebestisbettobe, I suppose," he said. "I bought the mare, bred her locally there in Ballyhane to Elzaam (Aus) through Joe Foley. It was fairytale stuff really."

Mullins picked up the dam [Kramer Drive (Ire) (Medicean {GB})] of Thebestisyettobe for just €18,000 at the mixed sale at Goffs in February 2016.

She has become a proven source of winners, with three of her foals of racing age winning a hatful of races--none more so than Ventura Flame (Ire), by another Ballyhane-based stallion in Dandy Man (Ire), who has won seven in Britain--and Thebestisyettobe shaped like she could be the best of them at Gowran Park.

Mullins said, "Kramer Drive has been a good servant. I sold her first foal as a yearling, Shadow Breaker (Ire) (Excelebration {Ire}), for €12,000 and he went on to make good money after he won a barrier trial for Jimmy Coogan.

"The second foal was Ventura Flame, who I got €48,000 for at the breeze-ups to Middleham Park, and she has won seven races for Keith Dalglish in Britain.

"Midgetonamission (Ire) (Holy Roman Emperor {Ire}) has won two for David Evans and this one [Thebestisyettobe] was in the sales last year as a yearling but she didn't make enough so I got Martin Wanless to buy her back for me."

A decision to shop local with Elzaam, who stands less than 10 minutes from Mullins's base, has proved fruitful with the trainer lauding Foley's stallion and describing him as exceptional value.

Mullins said, "Elzaam is hugely commercial and is also great value. He's constantly getting nice horses and is very desirable on the international market as well as here."

With the benefit of a barrier trial under her belt, where she showed distinct promise and afterwards Mullins fielded a couple of inquiries, Thebestisyettobe showed an abundance of ability in accounting for a well-touted Joseph O'Brien-trained filly to get off the mark at Gowran Park.

Less than a week after that highly promising debut, the filly is set to leave Mullins's yard after passing all of the veterinary procedures that come with selling to foreign jurisdictions.

Thebestisyettobe: owned, bred and trained by Emmet Mullins

He said, "We got a couple of inquiries after the barrier trial but I felt that I wouldn't get what I wanted for her so I told them [the agents] to keep an eye out for her and that she'd be running in a few weeks and hopefully she will show her true colours. Joseph's filly [Karaoke (Ire) (Acclamation {GB})] was highly-touted and, while I didn't think Thebestisyettobe was a good thing to go and win, I knew she'd run a big race."

Mullins added, "Fingers crossed, she's passed all of the vetting and we're just waiting on the blood work. I think she's going to America."

As well as Kramer Drive, Mullins breeds a couple of National Hunt broodmares with his cousin and champion amateur jockey Patrick. The pair have had quite a lot of success, too.

Screaming Witness (Ire) (Shernazar {GB}) has produced a Grade 1-winning novice hurdler in Airlie Beach (Ire) (Shantou) while the cousins are also breeding from the foundation mare's daughter, the bumper and hurdle-winning Dr Machini (Ire) (Dr Massini {Ire}).

Mullins said, "Patrick and I have two broodmares. I have a leg of Screaming Witness with Patrick. We also bought back her first foal, Dr Machini, after she raced for the Pottses. Screaming Witness has been an unbelievable broodmare for us. She has had five runners on the track and the five of them were bumper winners.

"Airlie Beach won the G1 Royal Bond Novice Hurdle while Screaming Rose (Ire) (Darsi {Fr}) also got black-type for her so she was a huge foundation mare.

"We have two more out of Screaming Witness--a 2-year-old and a yearling--but she has been retired now as she's quite old. We have a few of Dr Machini's foals on the ground as well. So Patrick and I are breeding those National Hunt mares but I decided to take a chance on this Flat mare in 2016." Cont. p16

Mullins added, "I'd like to keep about four mares around the place--that's a good number. So two National Hunt mares and maybe two on the Flat. You'd have a lot of stock on the ground breeding out of three or four mares for a few years.

"Kramer Drive was actually unlucky this year. She had a filly foal by Profitable (Ire) who was born on the morning of the Grand National. I thought she was destined to be lucky but, unfortunately, there were complications and we lost her that week. The mare is back in foal to Make Believe (GB). We are staying local--this time with Ballylinch and not Ballyhane!"

OBSERVATIONS

on the European racing scene

NOBLE STYLE RETURNS AT NEWMARKET

5.10 Newmarket, Novice, £8,000, 2yo, 6fT

NOBLE STYLE (GB) (Kingman {GB}) makes his eagerly-awaited return from a setback that ruled him out of the G2 Coventry S., having been one of the forecast favourites for that contest after his impressive Ascot debut win. Earning TDN Rising Star status in that five-furlong novice in May, he has been sidelined while the fourth-placed Royal Scotsman (Ire) (Gleneagles {Ire}) has gone from strength to strength as one of the year's leading juveniles. Charlie Appleby could have run the 525,000gns Book 1 graduate in Thursday's G2 Richmond S. against that rival, but opted instead for a softer reintroduction which can conceivably only be disrupted by the Jane Chapple-Hyam-trained Doncaster maiden winner Mill Stream (Ire) (Gleneagles {Ire}).

HOW THEY FARED

5.20 Goodwood, Mdn, £30,000, 2yo, f, 7fT

Miss Dynamic (GB) (Cracksman {GB}), the daughter of Dynaforce (Dynaformer), attracted notable support at 4-1 but never looked like justifying that as she trailed in a well-beaten ninth on debut.

Thursday's Results:1st-Goodwood, £75,000, Hcp, 7-28, 3yo, 9f 197yT, 2:05.15, g/f.

WARREN POINT (GB) (g, 3, Dubawi {Ire}--Gaterie, by Dubai Destination) backed up wins at Newmarket and Doncaster with a July 9 handicap score at Ascot last time and raced off the tempo through halfway here. Making relentless headway out wide in the straight, the 9-2 chance quickened to go second entering the final furlong and was driven out to deny stablemate Blue Trail (Ire) (Teofilo {Ire}) by a neck in the dying strides. "I think, last time, Warren Point saw a lot of daylight and ran a bit keen," explained assistant trainer Alex Merriam. "Will [Buick] said he has grown up with every run and is mentally improving. He has given him a lovely ride and put his head in front on the line. Charlie [Appleby] just spoke to me and mentioned stepping up to 12 furlongs again. He thought that might suit. He is in the [G2] Great Voltigeur and that could be a possibility. We will get home and see what Charlie wants to do from there." Buick added, "It was Plan B stuff really, he jumped awkwardly and I didn't really want to push him up there, but he settled okay. He came into the race very well and is quite a talented horse. He has plenty of class and that was only his fourth run today, so he is still learning. For his pedigree, he shows a lot of pace which is a good sign, and he will stay a mile-and-a-half in time. He is one to look forward to." Warren Point is the second foal and winner produced by Listed Prix du Carrousel victrix Gaterie (Dubai Destination), herself kin to multiple Group-winning G1 King George VI & Queen Elizabeth S. and G1 Canadian International placegetter Dartmouth (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}) and multiple Group-winning sire Manatee (GB) (Monsun {Ger}). The February-foaled homebred bay is full to a yearling filly and half to a 2-year-old filly by Siyouni (Fr). Lifetime Record: 4-3-1-0, $69,243. VIDEO. O/B-Godolphin (GB); T-Charlie Appleby.

3rd-Salisbury, £9,500, Novice, 7-28, 2yo, f, 6fT, 1:14.64, g/f.
MEHME (IRE) (f, 2, Acclamation {GB}--Lucina {GB}, by Machiavellian), fifth after encountering trouble in running over five furlongs at Sandown July 20, tracked the leading trio throughout the early stages. Staying on to gain the advantage approaching the furlong marker, the 4-1 shot asserted to score by a length from Rose Prick (Ire) (No Nay Never). The winner is a full-sister to the sire sensation Mehmas (Ire), who topically captured the G2 Richmond S. as well as the G2 July S. and was placed in the G1 Middle Park S. and G1 Vincent O'Brien National S., MGSW & G1SP-Eng, G1SP-Ire, $421,796. Cont. p18

Ashleigh Wicheard celebrates after Dark Shot (GB) (Acclamation {GB})'s win in the Market Magnolia Cup. Prior to the race, Wicheard took a knee, and said of her decision, "If I can act as a role model for black women and get more of them into the sport, then I'll be over the moon. It's not going to happen overnight and I'm fully aware of that, but I'd like to think me taking the knee will make more people aware and improve things as a result." | PA Media

The recently-deceased dam's last known foal, she is also connected to the G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches and G1 Prix de Diane heroine Avenir Certain (Fr) (Le Havre {Ire}) and the G1 Breeders' Cup Filly & Mare Turf winner Queen's Trust (GB) (Dansili {GB}). Lifetime Record: 3-1-0-0, $6,237. O-Mrs Joan Brosnan; B-Epona Bloodstock Ltd (IRE); T-Richard Hannon.

7th-Goodwood, £30,000, Mdn, 7-28, 2yo, f, 7fT, 1:27.31, g/f. SPARKLING BEAUTY (FR) (f, 2, Oasis Dream {GB}--Soniechka {GB}, by Notnowcato {GB}), runner-up in a novice that had already produced winners over this trip at Newbury June 21, raced in the box seat early. Seizing the advantage with three furlongs remaining, the 7-2 joint-favourite stayed on strongly to score by 3 1/2 lengths from She's Hot (GB) (Sioux Nation). "She has thrived since her last run," trainer Richard Hughes said. "We have entered her in the [G1] Moyglare. I don't normally enter horses in Group 1 races, but I felt she warranted an entry. One more run this year will probably do her. She will get a mile and maybe 10 furlongs next year. Amo Racing very kindly sent me one horse and that is her. I was very lucky to get a good one!" Rossa Ryan added, "She has a very good brain and gave me a great feel. She was very green the first day at Newbury and was a bit today too. She galloped a little bit up in the air. That will come and she will drop down and go forward fully. The front-running horses dropped away at two-pole. I was going easy and had to commit her. She was a long time in front and she had a lot of time to throw it away, but she galloped out strong and took a lot of pulling up." The dam, whose son of Wootton Bassett (GB) is due to sell as lot 143 at the upcoming Arqana Deauville August Yearling Sale, is a half to the triple group-winning sire Titus Livius (Fr) and to the G2 German 1000 Guineas winner Briseida (GB) (Pivotal {GB}) who in turn produced the Group 3 scorers Brisanto (GB) (Dansili {GB}) and Bristano (GB) (Dansili {GB}). Sales history: €160,000 Ylg '21 ARQDOY. Lifetime Record: 2-1-1-0, $21,903. O-Amo Racing Limited; B-Biddestone Stud Ltd (FR); T-R Hughes.

Surrounding, whose career highlight was a win in 2019's G3 Brownstown S., was winless in 10 starts since annexing 2020's Listed Knockaire S. and registered a poignant win here. Third along the rail and clear of the early drama when Red Heel (Ire) (Dylan Thomas {Ire}) unshipped her rider crossing the path, she was scrubbed along rounding the home turn and kept on resolutely under a drive to secure a second win in the contest, and a seventh black-type victory, on the line.

"She's amazing and her enthusiasm for it and her soundness is incredible," said trainer Michael Halford. "When I looked at the race, and she was drawn four, I thought she'd run her usual good race. Her owner unfortunately passed away during the night and I'd say she got a bit of help from somewhere. With the jockey getting a fall she got carried wide by the loose horse. I thought she was beat when Dermot's filly shot up the rail, but she rallied again. Ronan [Whelan] gave her a great ride and she's all heart. I hope it helps lift the spirits of the Newell family a bit because Peter was a great supporter of ours and she's the best animal they bred in all their years breeding. She's very special to them and we'll have to mind her and put her first at all times."

Surrounding is one of two winners from as many runners and the leading performer out of Roundabout Girl (Ire) (Doubletour), whose own dam Concepta's Choice (Ire) (Brave Invader) is a granddaughter of prolific producer Greek Train (Blue Train {Ire}). The latter's descendants include G1 Premio Presidente della Repubblica-winning sire Shamsan (GB) (Fortino II {Fr}), G2 Prix du Gros-Chene and G3 Phoenix Sprint S. victor Surprise Offer (GB) (Superlative {Ire}), G3 Premio Primi Passi-winning sire Manoftheyear (GB) (Sayf El Arab), Listed Premio Divino Amore winner Portogallo (El Gallo {Ire}) and fellow stakes winner Michaelis (Ire) (Our Babu {Ire}). VIDEO.

Thursday's Results:

1st-Le Lion d'Angers, €18,000, Mdn, 7-28, 2yo, 7fT, 1:28.27, g/s.

REVALITA (FR) (f, 2, Recoletos {Fr}--Ebareva {Ire}, by Machiavellian), was well away to stalk the pace in second from the outset of this debut. Shaken up off the home turn, the 26-5 chance challenged passing the furlong pole and was ridden out to assert by 1 1/2 lengths from Bohemia (Fr) (Oasis Dream {GB}), becoming the second scorer for her freshman sire (by Whipper).
