CHAD BROWN ARRESTED IN SARATOGA

Chad Brown | Sarah Andrew

by Bill Finley and Mike Kane

Eclipse Award-winning trainer Chad Brown was arrested Wednesday in Saratoga Springs and charged with criminal obstruction of breathing, a misdemeanor. On Thursday, Brown, who spent the night in jail, entered a not guilty plea at his arraignment and was ordered to reappear in court on Sept. 2. Cash bail was $2,500.

According to the website of attorney Andrew DeLuca, “New York state defines the crime of obstruction of breathing as the intent to impede the normal breathing or circulation of the blood by applying pressure to the throat or neck or blocking the nose or mouth of another person. These charges usually result from domestic incidents between couples.”

Criminal obstruction of breathing is class A misdemeanor. Upon conviction of a class A misdemeanor, a court may sentence an individual to a maximum of one year in jail or three years probation.

According to a handwritten statement from the alleged victim, who was not named, an encounter with Brown turned violent after she entered his house and found him in bed with another female. The statement reads: “On August 17, 2022 at around 11 p.m., I went to the house of Chad Brown, my on-again off-again significant other. I have a key to the house, so I let myself in. I went to his room and saw another female in bed with him.”

THE 'TAWDRY' TALE OF BURTON SIPP

by Dan Ross

Either trainer Burton Sipp is an unwitting pariah, or racing is his witting fool.

Over the last 40 years, Sipp has faced allegations involving insurance scams and dead horses, animal neglect cases, race-fixing stings and regulatory malfeasance. Not all the accusations against him have stuck.

Since the mid 1990s, Sipp has been barred from applying for a racing license in New Jersey due to swirling suspicions of fraudulent practices. So he moved his tack to more welcoming pastures.

For the past few years, the trainer has been dogged by allegations he's knowingly funneled his horses into the slaughter pipeline. Cont. p4

BALTAS SUES CHRB FOR $12 MILLION 10

Alleging the destruction of his reputation, suspended trainer Richard Baltas has sued the California Horse Racing Board and several of its members for $12 million. T.D. Thornton has the details.

"I confronted him on that and he got up and pushed me down some stairs," the statement continued. "I fought him down the hallway and he pinned me to the floor and started choking me. He applied pressure to my neck while it was against the floor. I was able to push him off of me and get up. Chad then pushed me out the door and I left and came to the police station."

Brown was handcuffed while in court and was wearing cargo shorts and a black Pink Floyd t-shirt. According to reporting from Subrina Dhammi of WNYT television, Brown's attorney, Joseph Gerstenzang, told the court that Brown was left with no option but to defend himself after the woman broke into his house. On Twitter, Dhammi wrote that the judge, Francine Vero, did not believe the claims made by Brown's attorney. "This court is not in the business of accusing domestic violence victims," said the judge, according to Dhammi's report.

Gerstenzang did not return a phone call from the TDN.

Brown entered Wednesday with 27 wins at the meet, making him the leading trainer. He had two horses entered and neither was scratched. Brown was seeking to win the Saratoga title for the fifth time. In 2020, he set a Saratoga record with 46 wins.

"NYRA is aware of the charges brought against trainer Chad Brown today and will defer additional comment on this matter to the Saratoga Springs Police Department," said NYRA spokesman Patrick McKenna.

Because the investigation is on-going, police spokesman Sgt. Paul Veitch said he was unable to provide details of the incident, including where it took place and the name of the alleged victim. He did say that Brown and the victim were "acquaintances."

Proving these allegations has been trickier, exposing gaping holes in racing's aftercare safety net.

"There's nothing wrong with auctions," Sipp told the TDN, when asked of the risks that kill buyers pose. "I haven't done anything wrong in the eyes of Mountaineer," he added, highlighting the West Virginian track where he currently races.

As Sipp sees it, he's been martyred at the court of public opinion. "Unfortunately, with the internet, anybody can say anything about anybody," Sipp said. "Look at the way they bash Donald Trump."

In the early 1980s, Sipp sent out nearly 300 victories in one year. So far this year, he's had just eight. At 78, Sipp realistically has few remaining years to add to his career haul of 2,891 wins. Then earlier this week, Churchill Downs temporarily barred him from racing and training at Presque Isle and its other tracks. The faucet's getting tighter.

Many wonder why it wasn't completely turned off years ago.

"I didn't throw him under the bus"

As long ago as the early 1980s, the name Sipp was mired in ignominy.

In 1993, Bill Finley reported in the New York Daily News how a National Association of Racing Commissioners report detailed 83 rulings against Sipp over a 12-year period, some for minor infractions, though some major, including a 60-day suspension for a lidocaine positive. The report was published in 1982.

Sipp is believed to have collected more violations than any other trainer in the history of racing up to that point, wrote Finley.

One of the more egregious incidents occurred on August 15, 1980, when Sipp allegedly forged a scratch card on another trainer's horse, forcing that horse to be withdrawn--a possible criminal offense.

According to Finley's reporting, Sipp avoided criminal charges by helping prosecutors in a sting operation called "Operation Glue," in which Sipp and a cadre of New Jersey State Police officers posing as owners offered jockeys bribes to pull horses in a race.

Four jockeys--journeymen riders struggling to make ends meet--eventually took the bait, but the case fell apart in trial. As Finley reported, the nature of the sting left a nasty after-taste among many in the industry, including one of the jockeys charged, Gilfredo Gonzalez.

“What he has done to people and what he has done to animals…he is a disgrace," said Gonzalez, at the time, about Sipp. "We are all human beings and deserve a second chance, but he has had more chances than a cat."

Sipp eventually served a 60-day suspension for the forged scratch. But the trainer's run-ins with the law weren't over.

In 1984 as Christmas loomed large, Sipp was indicted by a grand jury in New Jersey on charges of inflating insurance claims on nine horses who died in his care over a four-year period.

As a Burlington County Prosecutor's Office statement reportedly read at the time, "in each of the nine claims, the horses died within three days to five months of the insurance application."

Per Finley's reporting, the investigation allegedly exceeded the scope of just nine horses. Finley cites an affidavit written by an attorney on behalf of jockey John D'Agusto, in which it's written:

"The investigation had been initiated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and centered around the allegation that Mr. Sipp had killed 41 horses in an insurance fraud scheme."

Burton Sipp in 1976 | Narragansett Park/Gene Aldo

Sipp eventually pled guilty to the lesser charges of witness tampering, and on Aug. 1, 1986, was fined $7,500 and sentenced to five-years probation. Not everyone, it appears, agreed with the final sentencing.

Gregg Shivers, the assistant Burlington County prosecutor at the time, reportedly said that his office could have easily proven the earlier charges, but that the plea bargain was driven in part by the anticipated cost of the trial, expected to be one of the most expensive in Burlington County history.

One constant throughout Sipp's troubles is his insistence on innocence. At the time of his 1986 sentencing for witness tampering he denied wrongdoing, arguing that his guilty plea was a result of entrapment.

“People believe what they've read about me," he told Finley at the time. "I know within my own conscience that I didn't kill any horses and I'm the only person I have to live with."

To this day, Sipp insists he has a guilt-free conscience. He told the TDN that his suspension for the forged scratch, for example, was an instance of him falling on his sword to protect another.

NOW ACCEPTING NOMINATIONS

"We were playing a joke on a guy, and I took the heat for that," Sipp told the TDN. "The person that actually was involved in that was one of the racing officials, and I didn't throw him under the bus."

Over the years, Sipp hasn't faced scrutiny only for his racing infractions. Trouble and suspicion have similarly plagued Animal Kingdom, his former 32-acre zoo and pet store in Burlington, NJ, one that over the years housed tropical birds, tigers, lions, and giraffes.

"Deceptive business practices"

By the time of Finley's 1993 Daily News article, tragedy had already struck Animal Kingdom when a drunk was gored to death by one of the zoo's bulls. Sipp reportedly faced no charges for the incident.

A 2005 Boston Globe article, however, details how a Burlington County grand jury indicted Sipp in 1990 on charges of "deceptive business practices and attempted theft by deception."

According to the Globe, Sipp in 1988 allegedly staged a burglary at his pet store of two exotic breeding birds to collect an insurance pay-out. According to Finley's reporting, the case went to trial and he was found not guilty.

Bridget Sipp | Facebook

The year 2011 was a terrible one for Sipp both personally and professionally.

In April of 2011, Sipp's wife, 43-year-old Bridget, died in a fire at the zoo, running back into a burning building to save her mother, who had already been pulled free.

In October of that same year, another fire tore through the zoo. According to a subsequent Philadelphia Inquirer article, the blaze killed 24 animals, including a mother and baby giraffe. Both fires were ruled accidents.

The same article, however, reports how by that time--January of 2013--Sipp was under investigation by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) for alleged animal welfare violations.

According to the Inquirer, citations stemmed all the way back to 2002, when five emaciated giraffes reportedly died at the zoo.

USDA inspectors, the Inquirer notes, were also looking into other more contemporary neglect allegations, including the euthanasia of both an adult hyena with a foot wound and a giraffe that had survived the 2011 fire, along with an ailing lemur found dead in its cage.

By that time, Sipp had amassed more than 200 violations over 12 years, "many for animal neglect and facility maintenance issues," the Inquirer reported.

Per a subsequent article in nj.com, Sipp reportedly cancelled his license to exhibit animals in 2014.

The same 2014 nj.com article also notes how the USDA had issued Sipp only two official letters of warning and a $469 fine. These letters were reportedly issued in 1995 and 2011, the latter just days before the second fire.

TDN reached out to the USDA to verify the details in these news articles. "I will say that we usually shelve these documents after three years," wrote a USDA spokesperson, in an email.

As such, the TDN has filed a Freedom of Information Act request with the USDA for a record of all citations Sipp received for his operations at Animal Kingdom.

Sipp, however, maintains his innocence from all nefarious events at the zoo.

He said he has no recollection of the five emaciated giraffes perishing in 2002, as reported by the Inquirer. "I don't know where you got this information from, but that's not true," he said.

Sipp also said that from about 1996 onwards, he was busy with his work as a racehorse trainer and wasn't responsible for the day-to-day running of the zoo.

"My wife ran the zoo and she hired a curator and we had staff…that handled everything," he said. By the time of certain citations that occurred after the second fire, "I didn't own the zoo at the time. I had sold it," he added.

According to the 2013 Philadelphia Inquirer article, Christopher Basner and his wife, Anne Butler, briefly took over the zoo in October of 2012, but terminated a two-year contract after just three weeks.

According to the Inquirer, the zoo was back in Sipp's charge when one of the giraffes had to be euthanized "after it was found in the barn too weak to stand." Sipp was reportedly cited for that incident for failing to provide veterinary care.

"A tawdry image of that industry"

By 2009, Sipp, who had long before muscled his way back into the training ranks, was posting decent returns. That year, his horses won 73 races and amassed more than $650,000 in earnings. But his notoriety had hardly waned.

"In the best-case scenario, he tampered with a witness and is not the type of person who should ever be allowed to take part in a sport that involves gambling and where the integrity of the product is tantamount," wrote Finley, for ESPN, in 2009.

"In the worst-case scenario, he killed horses for personal gain," Finley added. "No reasonable person could argue that Sipp should ever have been allowed to race again."

Some authorities evidently agreed with Finley, for Sipp's attempts to get licensed and to race over the years have resembled a game of whack-a-mole. Take the years following 1993, when his probation on charges of witness tampering had ended and he sought a return to the sport.

While the Pennsylvania State Horse Racing Commission initially granted Sipp a license, Philadelphia Park and Penn National were less welcoming, the latter track steadfast in refusing Sipp access to the facility.

The matter went to court in 1994, when a Commonwealth Court judge upheld the tracks' bans which were based, the Globe reported, on the trainer's history of violations.

As per the Globe, "Judge James Gardner Colins wrote in his 15-page decision, 'a reasonable mind could readily conclude that Sipp's association with horse racing not only taints the image of that industry but also fosters a tawdry image of that industry.'"

Early in 2013, when Sipp attempted to once again enter horses at both Penn National and Parx Racing, both facilities reportedly refused his entries. The trainer subsequently appealed, but the Pennsylvania racing commission upheld the bans.

Whereas in Pennsylvania Sipp's excommunication hasn't been an absolute, that's not the case in New Jersey.

In 1995, the New Jersey Racing Commission (NJRC) asked the state Office of Administrative Law to conduct a hearing into allegations of Sipp's fraudulent racing practices.

In a disposition with the NJRC, Sipp agreed that he "will never apply for any form of racing license in New Jersey, or engage in any activities requiring licensure by the New Jersey Racing Commission," wrote Leland Moore, a spokesperson for the N.J. attorney general's office, in an email to TDN.

According to Moore, the NJRC has not issued a license to Sipp since. But not all the sport's higher-ups have maintained such a hard-line stance against the trainer.

"There's nothing in the rule book that keeps him from getting a license because he has a past," Suffolk Downs chief of stewards Bill Keene, told the Boston Globe, back in 2005.

Over the past few years, other racing commissions and racetracks have also routinely welcomed the trainer, despite Sipp's checkered regulatory history continuing to grow.

According to the Thoroughbredrulings website, Sipp has been issued 47 citations since the start of 2005, the vast majority for relatively minor infractions.

Sipp has been found guilty of several medication violations during that time, including for a pre-race TCO2 test at Beulah Park in December of 2008, a Flunixin positive at Presque Isle in June of 2013, a Dexamethasone positive at Mountaineer in August of 2017, and a Phenylbutazone positive at Presque Isle in September of 2020.

The most egregious violation concerned an Ohio State Racing Commission (OSRC) search of Sipp's barn at Thistledown on Aug. 30, 2013.

According to Thoroughbredrulings, the search revealed the following: One apparently used syringe with the needle attached, four unused needles in their packaging, two needles that appeared to have already been used, one opened bottle of Iron Hydrogenated Dextran Injection (Hematinic), one unopened bottle of Iron Hydrogenated Dextran Injection (Hematinic), one opened bottle of Super B Complex Injection (Vedco), and one unopened bottle of Super B Complex Injection (Vedco).

In a ruling dated Aug. 31, 2013, Sipp reached an agreement with the commission. He was suspended five months and fined $500.

The TDN contacted current OSRC executive director, Chris Dragone, to confirm the details. Dragone said that Sipp's file contained information confirming the suspension and fine, but little else about that particular incident.

Once again, Sipp considers himself blameless. Sipp's assistant, he said, had purchased the vitamins from an on-track veterinarian to be used on his own horse, but had mistakenly stored the materials in Sipp's truck, the focus of the search.

"It was my truck he was using, and I knew nothing about him buying vitamins for the horse," said Sipp. When asked about the iron supplement and syringes, "That was his, not mine," Sipp replied.

"There's the person you ought to be going after"

Which leads to the past few weeks, and a flurry of activity on social media raising serious ethical questions of Sipp's treatment of three of his trainees who all raced within just four days of each other in late July at Mountaineer Park and Presque Isle.

On July 24, the 7-year-old mare, Come On City (Wiener Walzer) finished down the field in a $4,000 claimer at Mountaineer Park. Cont. p7

Back in 2020, Come on City was sold to Sipp at the Keeneland January sale for $1,500. According to Sue Kenny, former racing secretary for trainer Graham Motion, she had subsequently followed the mare's career due to welfare concerns under Sipp's charge.

According to Kenny, she had asked a Mountaineer trainer to place a claim for Come on City on July 24 on behalf of an elderly couple who wished to retire the mare. The state vet subsequently voided the claim, and so the trainer purchased the mare privately from Sipp for the same price as the claiming tag, said Kenny.

By the time Come on City arrived on Aug. 3 at The Winter Farm in Summerfield, North Carolina, however, the mare was suffering a severe hock infection stemming from multiple open wounds, said the farm's executive director, Holly Carter.

Sipp told TDN that the horse had also been shipped to Presque Isle and another facility beefore Winter Farm, suggesting that the injuries occurred during that period.

According to Carter, the veterinarians who looked at the mare on Aug. 3, "felt like the infection had been there for about two weeks, just by the heat of the swelling and the gunk. It wasn't a fresh wound. That's why we think she raced on it."

Between the severe hock infection and osselets--chronic degeneration of the fetlock--in the horse's left front ankle, Come on City will likely never be rehomed as a sport horse, said Carter.

Three days after Come On City ran, the 6-year-old mare, Tailadios (Adios Charlie) failed to finish in a $6,250 claimer at Presque Isle.

Tailadios'a breeder, Jean White, a Florida-based veterinarian, said she was alerted on Aug. 11 via Facebook that Tailadois was in a facility in Lebanon, Pennsylvania that markets itself as "finding the slaughter-bound horses" in order to secure them "alternative homes." White subsequently purchased Tailadios from the facility, she said.

Sipp said he sold the horse at a public auction in Ohio called "Smokey Lane" for $950. The person who purchased Tailadios, Sipp added, "is an unscrupulous person" who needs investigating.

"The guy that put her up for ransom, why didn't Churchill Downs contact him? There's the person you ought to be going after," Sipp said.

"She's thin--not life-threateningly so--but she's got horrible looking ankles," White said, of Tailadios's condition, adding that the mare is currently undergoing a full veterinary examination while in quarantine.

The same day Tailadios failed to make it past the finish line at Presque Isle, the 8-year-old mare Little Christy (Silent Name) suffered an even worse indignity at Mountaineer Park.

According to Equibase, Little Christy--who cost Sipp $3,500 at the Keeneland January Sale of 2020--was having her third start in three weeks.

In her very final race, Equibase writes, Little Christy "took a bad step and fell in mid stretch being euthanized on the track."

"I cannot comment on consideration of future permit applications"

On Tuesday, Churchill Downs Incorporated (CDI), which owns Presque Isle, announced that it had temporarily suspended Sipp, along with "any trainer either directly or indirectly employed by him," from racing and stabling at all CDI-owned racetracks until further notice.

"The suspension is a result of concerns over the care and treatment of horses in the best interest of racing to protect the safety and integrity of the sport and its participants," the statement read.

TDN reached out to James Colvin, the director of racing at Mountaineer, about the recent scrutiny on Sipp.

"I have no information for you to discuss on Burton Sipp, the WV Racing Commission has licensed Mr. Sipp and has also investigated him and to my knowledge have found no wrongdoing as to date," Colvin wrote.

In 2010, the track instituted a policy barring trainers who sold horses at an Ohio sale frequented by known kill buyers. Colvin failed to respond to follow-up questions, including about the track's current policy on horses sold to slaughter.

In answer to a series of email questions, West Virginia Racing Commission executive director, Joe Moore, wrote that the commission's investigations into Sipp have led to "no actionable violations."

According to Moore, the commission considers "rule violations in all racing jurisdictions as reported in the ARCI database, as well as criminal convictions," when determining permit application approval, but that no rulings reported to ARCI have prohibited Sipp's licensure in West Virginia.

"Mr. Sipp is currently licensed by the West Virginia Racing Commission," Moore wrote. "I cannot comment on consideration of future permit applications," he added.

And where does the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act (HISA) fit into the equation?

Lisa Lazarus, CEO of the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority, said that currently, the law as written does not give the HISA Authority an "obvious way" to hold responsible parties accountable for horses that end up in the slaughter pipeline.

However, "we started looking more deeply into how we can actually address this," Lazarus said.

At the same time, said Lazarus, the law "does give us broad authority over equine welfare, and over making sure that horses are protected," she said, adding that HISA is able to take measures against "actions and conduct that interfere with horse welfare."

Dismissed at 36-1 for his notoriously patient connections, Skinner was devoid of any early speed after bumping with a rival and trailed the field in 10th through an opening quarter in :22.29. Kept out in the clear by Abel Cedillo, the bay began to launch his bid from another zip code on the far turn, swung into the stretch about five wide and came home in a field-best :10.95 while finishing seven lengths adrift next-out GIII Best Pal S. winner Havnameltdown (Uncaptured). The runner-up that day Mister Iceman (Girvin) was a game next-out maiden winner at Del Mar as well.

Bred in Kentucky by Stonestreet Thoroughbred Holdings, Skinner is out of 2012 GIII Rancho Bernardo H. winner Winding Way. The full-sister to MGSW & GISP Kauai Katie brought $82,000 from Solis/Litt in foal to Maclean's Music at the 2021 KEENOV sale.

Skinner is bred on the same Curlin x Malibu Moon cross responsible for champion 3-year-old filly Stellar Wind. The wildly successful Curlin x A. P. Indy (sire of Malibu Moon) pairing has produced standouts such as Malathaat, Nest, Global Campaign, Idol, et al.

"The first race was just supposed to be a learning experience," Searing said. "It was so short of a race, and Skinner, being by Curlin, is not a dead sprinter. He's never gonna be. So, he ran a lights-out race. Another half of a furlong, he's a winner. I think John will decide very shortly if we're gonna wait for a maiden race again or if he takes on the big race at the end of the meeting [GI Runhappy Del Mar Futurity Sept. 11]."

Searing, the CEO of Searing Industries--a family-run business with more than 200 employees specializing in manufacturing steel-tubing products--named Skinner after one of his longtime employees, Don Skinner.

"Don is one of our oldest sales people dating all the way back to my father in the mid-1950s," Searing said. "He got so excited when I told him. If we get into a big race, he wants to come. Sometimes it doesn't turn out, but so far, so good."

Searing added, "This is a really nice horse."

The same can certainly be said about Searing's aforementioned $725,000 KEESEP buy Justique, who looked like a potential star in the making with a sensational last-to-first debut win at Del Mar July 24.

"I don't think she touched the ground the whole race," Searing said. "That was impressive and everybody saw it. She's doing well today. This one, I do believe 100% the plan is to run her at the end of the meeting [in the GI TVG Del Mar Debutante Sept. 10]. She'll enjoy the added distance and she definitely can stand as much competition as they throw at her."

ALLEGING 'DESTROYED' REPUTATION, BALTAS SUES CHRB FOR $12 MILLION

by T.D. Thornton

Claiming that the California Horse Racing Board (CHRB) has "destroyed" his reputation as a trainer by issuing a 47-count complaint pertaining to the alleged race-day administration of substances to his horses and then purportedly violating his rights to due process when he tried to resolve the charges, Richard Baltas is suing the CHRB, its commissioners, and executive director for at least $12 million in damages.

According to a lawsuit filed Aug. 17 in Superior Court for the State of California (Los Angeles County), the lawsuit also stated that the CHRB has additionally allegedly not complied in full with Baltas's legal attempts to proceed with discovery of materials related to his case, "thereby forcing Baltas to proceed with information and documents that are being withheld and concealed from him..."

The CHRB's June 21 complaint stated that "Between the dates of 4/15/2022 to 5/8/2022, 23 horses trained by RICHARD BALTAS were administered a substance on days they were entered into races. Surveillance video captured all administrations by employees of BALTAS's barn. The substance was analyzed by University of California, Davis, who reported the presence of Higenamine and Paenol."

According to the United States Anti-Doping Agency (USADA), higenamine is a chemical found in a variety of plants, and can act as an anti-asthmatic to open up airways. Paenol is also a plant extract. Neither are specifically classified by the Association for Racetrack Commissioners International uniform classification guidelines.

The lawsuit continued: "None of the counts in the CHRB Complaint are valid, and each of them reflect a malicious intent by the Defendants."

Last month, a Los Angeles Superior Court Judge denied a request by Baltas to order the CHRB to allow him to enter horses. The next scheduled action in that separate case is a Sept. 29 conference.

In this new lawsuit, Baltas is alleging that his due process rights were violated as guaranteed under CHRB rules, the 14th Amendment to the United State Constitution, and Article 1, Section 7 of the California Constitution.

Reached via email on Thursday, CHRB spokesperson Mike Marten responded to a request for comment on the just-filed suit by writing, "We have not received anything new, so the only matter we are involved in civilly with Mr. Baltas is [the already pending] matter."

Baltas's Aug. 17 lawsuit gave the following timeline of events:

"Baltas had a horse called Noble Reflection scheduled to run in the 10th race at Santa Anita Park on May 8, 2022. A few hours before the race, one of Baltas's employees were seen on videotape administering an oral dose syringe into the horse's mouth.

"A syringe was subsequently recovered from a feed bag that was tested and had allegedly traces of Higenamine and Paeonol, which are organic liquids that are found naturally in Chinese herbs. Notably, after Noble Reflection was scratched from the race, it was tested and the test results were 'clean,' and neither Higenamine nor Paeonol were found in the horse.

"Based on the film footage of Noble Reflection, Santa Anita went back and reviewed footage of Baltas-trained horses from earlier dates and allegedly found 22 other times when a Baltas employee squirted a substance in a horse's mouth.

Richard Baltas | Horsephotos

"Unlike the situation with Noble Reflection, there was no syringe found in the other 21 instances to be tested. Instead, the CHRB assumed the substance in the other 22 cases going back to April 15, 2022, was the same that was found in or on the outside of the syringe found on May 8, 2022. None of the 21 horses that raced ever tested positive for a Controlled or Prohibited Substance.

"On May 10, 2022, the Santa Anita and/or the CHRB and its agents went back retroactively to review videotaped footage of Baltas's horses from April 15, 2022, up through May 8, 2022, and allegedly saw 22 horses trained by Baltas receiving an orally administered liquid that they contend was X-Treme Air Boost, which is a product advertised for use in horses in the Santa Anita Condition Book.

"The CHRB has never explained its decision for going back in time to find violations in the past, and its conduct demonstrates that they and/or the Defendants herein intended to target Ballas to find as many violations as possible. Such conduct demonstrates malice and oppression on the part of the CHRB and its Agents. Cont. p11

"Although no syringe was located in the 22 other cases, the CHRB assumed the product was X-Treme Air Boost…. Because the ingredients in question are food which are expressly excepted under Rule 1843.5; that is they are not within the Statue or any ruling of this Court.

"Based on these facts, on May 10, 2022, Aidan Butler, [acting] on behalf of Santa Anita, notified Baltas that he was prevented from entering any horses at Santa Anita.

"On June 22, 2022, the CHRB filed an Ex Parte Application with the Stewards at the Los Alamitos Racetrack to refuse the entry of two horses trained by Baltas…. The Stewards at Los Alamitos summarily denied these two entrees without a hearing or any form of due process. The denial constituted a de facto summary suspension…

"Baltas has not been allowed to enter a horse in the State of California from May 8, 2022 through the present date, causing him harm. On June 29, 2022, Churchill Downs issued a de facto suspension to Ballas, a decision made, once again, without any due process. Baltas was treated by the Churchill Downs and the 23 Defendants as 'guilty,' based solely on an allegation, and without any consideration to the alleged harm he would suffer.

"Before June 21, 2022, [CHRB] Executive Director Scott Chaney represented [to Baltas] that any complaint filed by the CHRB against Baltas would not contain alleged violations related to prohibited substances.

"Then on June 21, 2022, the CHRB filed a 47-count complaint which, much to the surprise of [Baltas], not only contained 23 counts of violations of CHRB Rule I 843.5, but, contrary to the representations made by Chaney on behalf of the CHRB, but also contained 23 counts of violations of [the absolute insurer rule] which included references to Higenamine and Paeonol, plus one count of a violation of…Conduct Detrimental to Horse Racing.

"As a result of the CHRB's conduct, [the inability to enter horses has cost Baltas] many thousands if not hundreds of thousands of dollars, and [he] stands to lose many millions of dollars in damages in an amount to be determined at jury trial for lost earnings, the loss of clients who entrusted their horses training to him, and an irrevocable damage to his reputation."

The lawsuit termed the CHRB's actions as "wildly excessive and disparate to any other trainer punishment imposed by the CHRB, and was obviously punitive in nature in that it would effectively terminate Baltas' career as a trainer. Others facing similar charges arising out of CHRB Rule 1843.5 in the past received far more lenient sentences, including monetary fines in lieu of a year-long license suspension."

According to the lawsuit, Baltas arrived at the $12-million figure by combining $10 million in "special compensatory damages for monies already lost and for future damages in an amount commensurate with what Baltas would have earned if his reputation was not destroyed," plus $2 million for "general damages in the form of emotional and psychological distress, pain and suffering, anxiety, stress, depression, worry, inconvenience."

by Dan Ross

Two licensed grooms were arrested Thursday on felony charges of cocaine possession and intent to sell after a police investigation of the Saratoga Race Course backstretch.

The Saratoga Springs Police Department's Special Investigations Unit--who worked in tandem with the Saratoga County Sheriff's Office and New York Racing Association (NYRA) security--arrested Jose Hidalgo, 59, and Guadalupe Montesdecoa-Aguilar, 36, for possession of over 200 grams of cocaine.

According to the Times-Union, the employees have worked for trainer Charlton Baker, who is not implicated in any criminal activity.

Hidalgo and Montesdecoa-Aguilar have been arraigned in Saratoga Springs City Court and held without bail, according to police.

A $535,000 KEESEP yearling purchase, SOLO ALBUM (Curlin) debuts Friday out of the Mark Casse barn for owners Eclipse Thoroughbred Partners & Gary Barber. Out of GISP Summer Solo (Arch), a $700,000 KEEJAN buy who has already produced three winners from as many to race, Solo Album is a half-sister to SW & GSP Maedean (Tapit), who herself brought $500,000 from Ever Union Shokai at last year's Keeneland November Sale while carrying a Nyquist foal. Her dam is a half-sister to a pair of stakes winners in Summer Breezing (Langfuhr) and GSP Adirondack Summer (Thunder Gulch), while her third dam produced MG1SW Act One (GB) (In the Wings {GB}), G1SP Summer Symphony (Ire) (Caerleon), and G1SP Gharir (Ire) (Machiavellian). TJCIS PPs

WARRIOR JOHNY (g, 3, Cairo Prince--Warrior Girl {GSP, $154,942}, by War Chant) debuted on the Fair Ground's turf course to little success and, after three on-the-board efforts, finally broke through in a big way on the dirt, taking a maiden special weight contest at Churchill Downs by 12 3/4 lengths June 18. Sixth against winners for the first time last time out July 4 in Louisville, he was tabbed the 5-2 second choice Thursday in his second straight start at this distance. In a good stalking position from second early, Warrior Johny inched alongside Nabokov (Uncle Mo) up the backstretch and took over narrowly through the far turn. Tipped just off the rail straightening for the wire, the dark bay opened up on the field down the lane, cruising to an 8 1/2-length win over Perceived (Blame). A half-brother to Los Ojitos (Mr. Greeley), GSP, $171,590, Warrior Johny is his dam's most recent offspring. 6th-Saratoga, $88,000, (S), Msw, 8-18, 2yo, f, 1 1/16mT, 1:45.67, fm, 5 1/4 lengths.

RECOGNIZE (f, 2, Bolt d'Oro--Avendesora, by Majesticperfection) sat close to the speed, but was ultimately second-best when debuted against Empire-breds over five furlongs on the Belmont main track June 25 and faded late when last seen to be a distant fifth in a NY-bred sprint on dirt at Saratoga July 27. Stretched to two turns and switched to the grass, Recognize was the 2-1 favorite and wasted no time in asserting herself on the front end. Kept to the rail with a narrow lead up the backstretch, she saved ground around the far turn, cut the corner at the top of the stretch and drew off inside the final eighth to win by 5 1/4 lengths. Recognize is the 11th winner for her freshman sire (by Medaglia d'Oro). Berning Honor (Honor Code), who was also going two turns and trying grass for the first time, was the runner-up. Recognize has a yearling half-brother and a weanling half-sister, both by Accelerate. Her dam was bred back to Bolt d'Oro for 2023. CLEAR THE DECK (c, 2, Army Mule--Kusama, by Harlan's Holiday) broke his maiden in his fourth career start after finishing on the board in each of his three previous attempts dating back to June 8, all of which were in races restricted to horses that sold for under $45,000 or $50,000. Most recently second in the mud at this venue July 21 after a pair of thirds at Churchill Downs, he was given a 5-2 chance while adding blinkers. The dark bay broke sharply, but was out-paced by Childers (Bernardini) to his inside. Under a ride far from home, Clear the Deck saved ground around the bend and tipped out four wide to run for the money. Clear the Deck gained an advantage inside the furlong marker and held on with a vigorous hand ride to win by a half-length. Favorite Forbidden Secret (Outwork) was second over the rest of a strung-out field. The ninth winner for his freshman sire (by Friesan Fire), Clear the Deck is out of a half-sister to GSW Rezif (Distant View). He is his dam's only reported offspring. Sales history: $37,000 Ylg '21 KEESEP. Lifetime Record: 4-1-1-2, $80,650. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by TVG.

NELSON AVENUE (c, 3, Into Mischief--Via Strata, by Street Cry {Ire}), bet down to 2-1 favoritism for this career debut, rated in good position third along the outside of Mud Island (Temple City). Never far out of it, he loomed around the far turn before pouncing past the quarter pole to take a slim advantage. Still wide in the stretch run, Nelson Avenue dug in to hold off Superstitieux (Upstart) by a half-length. The top pair were over 13 lengths clear of the rest of the field. Nelson Avenue is out of a half-sister to GSW Lucullan (Hard Spun) and to the dam of GISW Matareya (Pioneerof the Nile). This is the female family of GISW and sire Sky Mesa (Pulpit) and MGISW Maxfield (Street Sense). Via Strata has a 2-year-old full-brother to Nelson Avenue named Road to Vegas, and foaled a filly by Nyquist in 2022. She was bred back to Medaglia d'Oro for the 2023 season. MORNIN' BOSS (f, 2, Kantharos--Feeling Bossy {SW, $378,540}, by Courageous Cat) just missed on her first two occasions while racing exclusively at Horseshoe Indianapolis. After sprinting 4 1/2 furlongs on debut June 2, her connections opted to try the turf next time out where she came up a neck short as the favorite June 28. After checking in fifth in a rained-off contest last time out July 19, she returned as the 7-5 favorite Thursday. Content to chase Araya (Good Magic) from second, Mornin' Boss began to reel her opponent in around the far turn before drawing even with the pacesetter in upper stretch. Cont. p3

After a brief duel, Mornin' Boss prevailed, taking over inside the final furlong and clearing late to win by 1 1/4 lengths. Araya held second to fill out the exacta. The winner's only younger sibling is a yearling half-sister by Catalina Cruiser. Her dam was reported bred to Yaupon for 2023. Sales history: $29,000 RNA Ylg '21 FTKOCT. 8th-Horseshoe Indianapolis, $34,000, Msw, 8-18, 2yo, 7 1/2fT, 1:31.00, fm, 1 1/2 lengths.

FASTBYTE (c, 2, Oscar Performance--Gigahertz, by Dynaformer) could only manage seventh after a slow start in his five-panel debut on the local turf May 30. He was 11th after taking a bad step and being bothered at the start next out going a mile on the lawn at Ellis July 24. Adding Lasix for this start, the 21-1 shot was away better this time, though he held his breath a moment at the start and leaned a bit left. Saving ground in mid-pack through moderate early splits, the bay burst through on the fence turning for home and rolled clear with authority for an x-length victory over even-money favorite Lord Donegal (Noble Mission {GB}). Fastbyte is the seventh winner for his freshman sire (by Kitten's Joy). His dam Gigahertz is a daughter of MGISW turfer Megahertz (GB) (Pivotal {GB}). Her most recent produce is a yearling colt by Summer Front. She was bred to Dialed In this season. Sales history: $35,000 Ylg '21 FTKOCT. SUMMER BREEZES

by Alan Carasso

Former New York Giants head coach Bill Parcells is represented by the aptly named Let's Go Big Blue Friday at Saratoga | Sarah Andrew

Some of the most highly anticipated races during the summer racing season are the 'baby' races during the boutique meetings at both Saratoga and Del Mar and at Ellis Park, which attracts its fair share of high-priced offspring from a variety of top national outfits. Summer Breezes highlights debuting 2-year-olds at those meetings that have been sourced at the breeze-up sales earlier in the year, with links to their under-tack previews. Already this year at Saratoga, City Man (Mucho Macho Man), Mo Strike (Uncle Mo) and Empress Tigress (Classic Empire)--each a graduate of the 2-year-old sales--have already struck at stakes level, while the likes of juvenile purchases and 'TDN Rising Stars' Taiba (Gun Runner), We The People (Constitution) and Onesto (Ire) (Frankel {GB}) have also left their mark on graded/group competition this season. To follow are the horses entered for Friday:

U.S.-BRED/SIRED RUNNERS IN JAPAN

US BRED WINNING HAS NO BOUNDARIES

In this continuing series, Alan Carasso takes a look ahead at US-bred and/or conceived runners entered for the upcoming weekend at the tracks on the Japan Racing Association circuit, with a focus on pedigree and/or performance in the sales ring. Here are the horses of interest for this Saturday running at Niigata and Kokura Racecourses:

Saturday, August 20, 2022

5th-NII, ¥13,400,000 ($99k), Newcomers, 2yo, 1200mT

SANTA ANA TESORO (JPN) (f, 2, Speightstown--January Jones {Brz}, by Shirocco {Ger}) is the first Japanese-foaled produce for his dam, winner at home of the G1 Henrique Possollo who produced this filly's older full-siblings Perseus Tesoro and Walker Tesoro, each a winner following their export to Japan. Speightstown is the sire to date of 37 winners from 44 runners, including owner Kenji Ryotokuji's MSW & G1SP Rieno Tesoro and additional winners Detroit Tesoro and Nilkanta Tesoro (Jpn). B-Ryoken Farm

8th-KOK, ¥14,670,000 ($108k), Allowance, 3yo/up, 1700m

CUTE VILLAIN (f, 3, Arrogate--She Be Wild, by Offlee Wild) was a highly impressive seven-length debut winner this past January (video, SC 10) and was unplaced in two subsequent tries against winners before bouncing back with a close third-place effort July 31. The $550K Fasig-Tipton Gulfstream purchase stretches out to a route of ground for the first time and is an obvious candidate to appreciate the extra distance, as her dam was the 2009 Eclipse Award-winning juvenile filly following her victory in that year's Breeders' Cup. B-Nancy Mazzoni (KY)

MENUISIER: ONE DOOR CLOSED BUT ANOTHER OPENED

David Menuisier | Tattersalls

By Brian Sheerin

David Menuisier is not a man to concentrate on the past. The stable has been in the news over the fact that Phillipa Cooper of Normandie Stud decided to move stable star Lionel (GB) (Lope De Vega {Ire}) to John and Thady Gosden after his poor performance in the G1 Irish Derby.

However, while Menuisier has had his say on the high-profile split in this week's Q&A, he explained that he has closed the chapter on the situation and is keen to move on.

There are few better ways to move on from the hammer-blow of losing the best horse in your yard than receiving support from a major owner-breeder, which is exactly what has happened, with Guy Pariente joining the stable.

Along with revealing his excitement about teaming up with the man who stands Galiway (Fr), Menuisier speaks about his high hopes for rapidly-progressive Caius Chorister (Fr) (Golden Horn {GB}), on track for the Melrose H. at York on Saturday and much more in this week's TDN Conversations.

Brian Sheerin: It's a big weekend ahead with Caius Chorister (Fr) (Golden Horn {GB}) bidding for a six-timer in the prestigious Melrose H. at York. What are the expectations like ahead of Saturday? Cont. p3

ALPINISTA SEALS YORKSHIRE OAKS TRIUMPH by Sean Cronin

Kirsten Rausing's homebred 5-year-old mare Alpinista (GB) (Frankel {GB}), unbeaten through five tests last term, disposed of esteemed rivals in last month's G1 Grand Prix de Saint-Cloud on seasonal return and maintained her winning streak with a decisive success as the 7-4 favourite in a stellar edition of Thursday's G1 Darley Yorkshire Oaks on the Knavesmire, a "Win And You're In" for the GI Breeders' Cup Filly & Mare Turf in November.

Successful in the G1 Grosser Preis von Berlin, G1 Preis von Europa and G1 Grosser Preis von Bayern last year, she became Sir Mark Prescott's first domestic Group 1 winner since Marsha (Ire) (Acclamation {GB}) annexed 2017's G1 Nunthorpe S. at this meeting. The grey's second dam Albanova (GB) (Alzao) rattled off the same trio of German Group 1 triumphs in 2004 and she embellished her record with a fifth straight elite-level triumph in the 12-furlong test. CONVERSATIONS | David Menuisier

ELLIOTT BLOODSTOCK SERVICES
AT EVERY MAJOR YEARLING SALE

David Menuisier: I am hoping that she is going to win, obviously. She is a nice filly. She took us all by surprise, really. When she was rated in the 50s, I thought she would win a race but I couldn't say at that point that she would become what she has become. If the winning streak was to stop now, then fine, because she owes us absolutely nothing. But it just feels like there is more to come. The way she won at Goodwood, dropping back in trip, which wasn't easy for her, she did exceptionally well to win there. She actually won pretty easily despite the winning margin because Benoit [De La Sayette] controlled the race. She was magnificent at Goodwood and the step up in trip at York should be in her favour because she is stoutly-bred on the damside--her mother stayed two miles standing on her head. We are very hopeful that the step up in trip could bring about even more improvement.

BS: She even had enough gas left in the tank to unship Benoit after the line at Goodwood!

DM: Exactly--that will teach him to gather his reins next time! Benoit is banned for Saturday so that's why we went for Pat [Cosgrove], because he has won on the filly before. But, anyway, the filly is uncomplicated and she does her own thing. You just have to get your fractions right on her because she is so generous. She gets into her stride and you just need a guy who knows how quick he is going, really.

BS: It's funny that you describe her as uncomplicated as I would have had her down as slightly quirky.

DM: No. She wants to get on with things but she's really not quirky at all. In the mornings, she really is a super kind and a super chilled horse. Yes, when she goes racing, she can be a little bit keen going to the start and things like that but she's really not that complicated.

BS: So there's no wizardry involved in her training and no special routine that has helped to unlock this huge improvement?

DM: She goes out with the string as normal and, frankly, she probably does less than the others because she's not the biggest. She's quite tiny so she doesn't do a lot of exercise--we just keep her ticking over. But she's a very strong horse for her size and that's why you have to find the right rhythm in her races because she would make your arms go numb if you tried to pull out of her. The second time she won at Epsom, Benoit let go of her a little bit, just before the seven-furlong pole, because I think his arms were a little bit dead!

BS: She may be straightforward but her owner, Clive Washbourn is certainly colourful. I've seen him on course in Ireland a few times and he clearly gets a good kick out of the game.

DM: Yes, I think the filly is definitely more straightforward than the owner! I think it's fantastic for racing to have people like Clive involved. Obviously he has been a great supporter of our yard and we have had a lot of success. Cont. p4

Conversations Cont.

DM: He's been quiet the past couple of years so it's good that he can bounce back to fame and glory after those barren years. Also, he bred Caius Chorister, and she is the first homebred of his. Not only that, but the dam, Corpus Chorister (Fr) (Soldier Of Fortune {Ire}) is actually the first yearling that I ever bought when I started training. More than people realise, Caius Chorister is making us proud for many reasons.

BS: Was the original plan to sell Caius Chorister as I see she was led out unsold at Goffs as a foal?

DM: He made the right decision not to sell but, in the meantime, he actually sold the dam in foal to Belardo (Ire) for just €3,000 to go to Sweden. He's made somebody very happy.

BS: It could get even better for the Swedes as I see Caius Chorister has some fancy entries beyond York.

DM: We've made a couple of fancy entries for her because we just don't know when she will stop improving. I could not have guessed that she would improve by 40lbs so God knows, if she improves by another 15lbs, she could be right there with the best fillies in the country.

BS: It must be huge to have one like her to look forward to, especially after the news broke that Lionel (GB) (Lope De Vega {Ire}) has been moved to John and Thady Gosden.

DM: Well, I would rather have both of them but I don't have a choice in the matter. Things are what they are; owners make decisions--stupid decisions--but it's their problem. I just want to focus on the people who back us and support us on the good and the bad days. Many of our clients, if not all of them, have backed us from the very early days. I don't want to speak about the people who are just with us for a fling. I'm not in this for a fling. I am in it for the long run so I'd rather focus on the people who deserve my attention.

BS: But on that, were you surprised by some of the comments that were made by Phillipa Cooper of Normandie Stud, who said the reason behind the decision for the move was made, in part, on welfare grounds. I know you came out with a very famous French saying on Twitter, 'Quand on veut tuer son chien, on dit qu'il a la rage,' which translates to 'When one wants to kill his dog, one tells everybody he has rabies,' in response to that.

> "PEOPLE CAN MAKE UP WHAT THEY WANT TO IN ORDER TO JUSTIFY THEIR OWN DECISIONS, WHICH IS ABSOLUTELY FINE. THIS IS A CHAPTER IN MY LIFE THAT IS CLOSED AND I AM READY TO OPEN UP MORE CHAPTERS WITH PEOPLE WHO WILL SUPPORT US IN THE LONG RUN."
> –David Menuisier

DM: I can sleep well at night but the comments regarding welfare were absolute rubbish. The ground at the Curragh [for the Irish Derby, in which Lionel finished down the field] was very nice. It was lovely, fast ground, but it didn't suit the horse. There is no welfare issue regarding that. As for the horse, he doesn't even know what the vet looks like because he never even had the slightest little hiccup. The only time he sees the vet is to get his vaccinations. So, when somebody talks about welfare, yes I am surprised. It doesn't matter. People can make up what they want to in order to justify their own decisions, which is absolutely fine. This is a chapter in my life that is closed and I am ready to open up more chapters with people who will support us in the long run.

The other comment that was made was on betting, something like, 'I [Cooper] would have taken evens that the horse would be with John Gosden by the end of the year.' This is a legitimate comment, because people are free to move horses whenever they like and, if they felt that I wasn't going to do a good job with the horse in 2022, maybe they should have moved the horse before that.

BS: On that, you say you are happy to move on with people that will support you in the long run. I saw you were at Arqana last week. Did you buy anything there?

DM: We bought two. I bought a lovely Churchill colt (lot 246) for new clients. They went to €120,000 to get him and he's from a good family. I also bought a lovely Walgeist (GB) filly (lot 309) out of a Kitten's Joy mare. She will make a lovely 3-year-old. We also managed to get a top French owner, Guy Pariente, on board. He bred and owned Restiadargent (Fr) (Kendargent {Fr}), who nearly beat Black Caviar (Aus) at Royal Ascot one year, so one door closes and another opens. I am delighted to have the support from people like that. He sent me lot 140, a lovely colt by Galiway (Fr).

It's funny, when I worked for Criquette Head, his mother Danzigaway (Danehill) was there. It's a small world. Guy Pariente stands Galiway so he wants to promote him in the United Kingdom. So that's what he's trying to do. I used to train one of the best Kendargents in the UK, Blue Cap (Fr), who also improved something like 40lbs with us. The owner may send us some Gokens (Fr) as well so it's an exciting project.

BS: How important is it as a trainer to put yourself out there and get these owners?

DM: I'm not a beggar. All of the people who have joined the yard have decided to be here. I don't go out on the lash to try and make contacts. I don't go to the sales and tell people how beautiful and handsome they are. All of the people in our yard came here themselves and, by the same token, they decided to leave on their own accord as well. We have always taken a view that the horses will speak for us. If people like what they do and like the way we function, then great. If not, I am more than happy for them to go elsewhere. I don't want 200 horses in training. We are more than happy with 50-70 horses in training. We have really good staff and it's a pleasure to get up in the morning rather than have headaches that we should not have with people who are not fully committed to the yard. That's the bottom line.

BS: From Thundering Blue (Exchange Rate) to Wonderful Tonight (Fr) (Le Havre {Ire}), the stable has managed to produce one, if not a couple of flag-bearers every season.

DM: What can I say? When you are good, you are good!

BS: You are the Eric Cantona of horse racing!

DM: The very first horse we trained was Slunovrat (Fr) (Astronomer Royal). He was the last homebred from my parents. He started off with a rating of 54 and ended up at 89. He was the first one and we have had a fair few good ones since. As we speak, we have Migration (Ire) (Alhebayeb {Ire}) cantering up the gallop in front of me. He is another stable star who didn't show much at two but keeps on improving. Even this year, he's only had one run, but was second in the Spring Cup at Newbury. I mean, what a race that was. That's what I want to carry on doing. I want to do the best with the horses that I have rather than chase the horses who are elsewhere. I don't want to get the wrong people in the yard and am happy with what I have got. Obviously, any owner is welcome here but, what I don't want is a big owner with 30 horses who could dissemble all that we have built.

BS: Will you be at Doncaster next week?

DM: It may be a cliche but Doncaster is more for the speedier types and I don't really have the clients for that. Most of my clients would prefer, as I do, middle-distance horses. We have more choice going to Tattersalls or Arqana for those sorts of horses. I try to focus on what I know and on what has worked before.

BS: What else have you got to look forward to this season?

DM: Migration is on his way back and I am hopeful that he will be ready for the Balmoral H. on Champions Day at Ascot. That's the big target. Sir Bob Parker (Fr) (Siyouni {Fr}) is also on the mend. He finished third in the G2 Prix Greffulhe behind Onesto (Ire) (Frankel {GB}) so that form is not looking too bad now. He got a little chip in his hind fetlock and, while I don't think he will race again in Europe this year, we are looking at running him in Dubai this winter. That's exciting. Flyin' Solo (GB) (Roderic O'Connor {Ire}) could also be one for Dubai. We also have a nice bunch of youngsters coming through.

BS: And finally, why England? You were born in France but decided to set up in the South of England.

DM: Why England? For the beautiful weather and the food! I am only joking. I worked for John Dunlop for six years and I felt it was making a lot of sense to set up here as I fell in love with the area and with British racing. I thought, if I can set up as a trainer, it would make the most sense to set up here. People think France is amazing because of the prize-money but there are many things that they don't see. For example, the red tape is unbelievable. The employer's laws and things like that are an absolute nightmare. I think I have the best of both worlds in the South of England. It's very hard to find clients in France as well. The programmes in Britain and France are quite complementary of each other and I am not too far from the boat if we want to take one over there, which we have done in the past. Cont. p7

DM: England is based on the handicap system and, once they reach a certain level, they can run for better money, whether that is here or in France, Germany or wherever. Obviously, travelling horses has become a little bit more complicated because of Brexit, but I think it will just get easier and easier in time.

BREEDERS' CUP CHALLENGE SERIES WIN AND YOU'RE IN.™

Trainer Sir Mark Prescott had voiced pace concerns beforehand, going so far as to say she may have to make her own running, but his worries were assuaged as G1 Pretty Polly S. victrix La Petite Coco (Ire) (Ruler Of The World {Ire}) and G1 Irish Oaks heroine Magical Lagoon (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) disputed a solid tempo up front with Alpinista positioned in behind in a stalking third. Urged closer once into the long home straight, she went to the front approaching the quarter-mile marker and was driven out in the closing stages as Epsom's G1 Oaks winner Tuesday (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) gave vain chase. At the line, Alpinista held a one-length advantage with La Petite Coco staying on well once headed to finish 1 3/4 lengths further adrift in third.

"They are all great, but Group 1 races are hard to come by and, for a smallish stable, every five or six years you get good ones come along and it's tremendous when it happens," said Prescott. "We trained this one's dam, granddam and great granddam. It's been a marvellous family. The original intention was to go [G1] Coronation Cup and [G1] King George [VI & Queen Elizabeth S.], but she wouldn't come in her coat in time for the Coronation, so it then became Saint-Cloud and then either here or the [G1 Prix] Vermeille. Miss Rausing was very keen to come here as she hadn't won a Group 1 in England. She has really done it all now, she's won Group 1s in England, France and Germany."

Looking ahead, the Heath House conditioner added, "The [G1 Prix de l'] Arc [de Triomphe] has always been her aim. Last year we rather patted ourselves on the back for being so clever winning three Group 1s in Germany, then, when the one behind us [Torquator Tasso] came and won the Arc, we rather felt we might not have been as clever as we thought we were. When she stayed in training this year that was always the aim." Cont. p8

Winning jockey Luke Morris is also relishing the prospect of going to ParisLongchamp on the first Sunday in October. "Since she has been on better ground this year she has looked like a filly with more class so we can dream about Paris now," he said. "Generally the Yorkshire Oaks can look a little top heavy with a superstar of Aidan's, but I thought it had a lot of depth and she had to give nine pounds away to the second. I thought it was a great performance and it's great she's been able to show in Britain what she is capable of. It's a massive effort from the teams at Heath House and Lanwades Stud. I'm just the lucky one that gets to sit on her a couple of times a year."

Aidan O'Brien was not too downcast, despite Tuesday's defeat, and looked ahead to future targets after the G1 Oaks heroine failed to reel in the winner. "She will go on Irish Champions weekend somewhere, whether she will stay here [in England], or whether she will go to Ireland or whether she will go to France or whatever. Hopefully she will go somewhere. We were happy enough with that. It was her first run back, she ran very well and I don't think she was losing any ground going to the line. She has come back to form after [finishing fourth in the G1 Irish Derby at] the Curragh. She was a bit hot before the race, but I didn't mind that as I was hot myself. She is in the mix for the Arc and other races."

Team Valor's La Petite Coco would have preferred more juice in the ground, but nonetheless produced a display of star quality in third. "She is not the type to set the pace, but nobody else wanted to so that was somewhat less than ideal," admitted Barry Irwin. "I think the difference between her finishing right there with the first two and where she did finish was somewhat quality, because they are two fantastic horses for sure, but our filly needs the soft. The ground had a good cover on top, but underneath it was firm and she can't lay her body down like that. On soft turf, not that the others would not have run as well, I think we would have been able to hang with them better if the ground was softer. The fact that the race turned into something of a sprint, and that she wasn't going to let herself down as well, played against her somewhat."

It's unlikely connections will be tempted into a rematch with Alpinista in Paris. "Paddy [Twomey] is talking about the [G1] Prix de l'Opera or the [G1] Champion S. [at Ascot]. That is what he is looking at, we need to wait for the ground to soften and we are going to forget about the Arc this year. When she won at the Curragh it was like a miracle, where it rained just before the race and she got her ground. Even though she wasn't really totally fit, she was able to win anyway because of the ground."

SWINGALONG SURPRISES IN THE LOWTHER

by Tom Frary

That Karl Burke collected in Thursday's G2 Sky Bet Lowther S. at York was a surprise to nobody, but the fact that it was with the 25-1 stable second-string Swingalong (Ire) (Showcasing {GB}) as Dramatised (Ire) (Showcasing {GB}) finished out of the frame certainly was.

On the pace from the outset racing up the centre under Clifford Lee, Sheikh Juma Dalmook Al Maktoum's 120,000gns Book 2 graduate who had scored by six lengths on her third start over this six-furlong trip at Ripon at the start of the month was marginally behind her G2 Queen Mary S.-winning stablemate overall. Just before the furlong pole, that even-money favourite was starting to feel the pinch about to enter unknown territory but Swingalong was coming on strong and found the line a neck in front of the Kevin Ryan-trained Queen Me (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}). Remarkably, the runner-up was just failing to become the fourth generation winner of this prize for Jaber Abdullah after her dam Queen Kindly (GB) (Frankel {GB}), second dam Lady Of The Desert (Rahy) and third dam Queen's Logic (Ire) (Grand Lodge). There was a further 2 1/2 lengths back to Matilda Picotte (Ire) (Sioux Nation) as Dramatised ended up fifth. Cont. p10

"She was green on her first couple of runs and has improved a lot since Ripon," the winning jockey said. "I kept it simple and all she did was gallop to the line--it wouldn't surprise me if she gets seven next year."

Introduced over five furlongs at Nottingham at the beginning of June, Swingalong was five-lengths second to the subsequently disappointing All The Time (Ire) (Kodiac {GB}) before moving up to this distance after a six-week break for a Newbury maiden July 15. Shaping like a stayer there, the chestnut was flat-footed before keeping on into fourth behind the subsequent G3 Molecomb S. winner Trillium (GB) (No Nay Never) but next time at Ripon she cut a dramatically different figure showing speed from the get-go and romping to a confidence-boosting success. Had it not been for the significant shadow cast by Dramatised, the evidence of that performance allied to the fact that she represented the Burke stable replete with classy 2-year-olds would have seen her sent off significantly shorter than her insulting starting price and there was no fluke about this powerful display in a time two seconds faster than the unbeaten colt Streets Of Gold (Ire) (Havana Gold {Ire}) managed over the same trip in the closing nursery on Wednesday.

"She's got a huge stride and has only just filled into her frame," Burke said of the winner. "She's got a lot stronger over the last six weeks. I know it was a different class of race, but she had them all beat after two furlongs at Ripon and I knew then we were on the right track so I said straight away we'd come here. At the time I didn't think she'd be good enough to beat Dramatised, but the difference was one stayed and one didn't. The Cheveley Park looks the obvious next step, but I'll talk to connections. I think she will stay an extra furlong, but she's got a lot of natural speed so I think we'll use that and not step her up just yet. All dreams are still alive at the minute."

Of Dramatised, he added, "To be fair to Danny [Tudhope], all along he had his doubts. He rode her work over six furlongs two weeks ago, but I wouldn't have it that she wouldn't stay. Danny was right and I was wrong. She'll revert back to five furlongs now. I was never that keen on the Nunthorpe for her, but I suppose the only saving grace is that we didn't find out she didn't stay in France in the Prix Morny. Luckily, I made an entry in the Abbaye this week with Danny putting that element of doubt in my mind and she could go there and then to the Breeders' Cup."

Kevin Ryan said of Queen Me, "It was a great run and lack of experience midway through the race probably just cost her. She'd only had the one start and did it very easy first time. Unfortunately we haven't been able to get another run into her, which we would have liked, through no other reason than the ground being so firm. We wanted to mind her and run her on nice ground so we waited to come here. We've always liked the filly and she'll progress again from that. We'll go home and sit on the fence, but she's proved now she's up to this level and galloped all the way through the line, which is always a good sign." Cont. p11

Swingalong's dam Pilates (Ire) (Shamardal), who won over a mile, is fittingly a half to the useful filly Knavesmire (Ire) (One Cool Cat) who took the Hilary Needler Trophy when it held listed status. LEFT SEA A NEW RISING STAR AT DEAUVILLE

by Tom Frary

Leaving a deep impression on debut at Deauville on Thursday, the Wertheimers' Left Sea (GB) (Frankel {GB}--Left Hand {GB}, by Dubawi {Ire}) earned TDN Rising Star status with a five-length success in the Prix de la Reboursiere over a mile.

A daughter of their G1 Prix Vermeille heroine from the family of Plumania (GB) (Anabaa), the Carlos Laffon-Parias trained bay was nobody's secret as the 8-5 favourite and was allowed to establish an instant lead by Maxime Guyon. Kicking in early straight, the homebred registered a penultimate sectional of :11.19 as she stretched to the impressive winning margin over the Freddy Head-trained Brandywine (Fr) (Wootton Bassett {GB}), with another 1 1/2 lengths back to Dschingis Grace (Fr) (Dschingis Secret {Ger}) in third. "She is a very nice filly and we always liked her," Laffon-Parias commented. "She has confirmed what we have seen at home and is in all the major races, including the Fillies' Mile."

The sire's second TDN Rising Star at the current Deauville August Festival after Kelina (Ire) and his 33rd in total, Left Sea is the second and currently last known foal out of the aforementioned Vermeille heroine and G1 Prix de Diane runner-up Left Hand, who is a daughter of the G2 Prix de Royallieu scorer Balladeuse (Fr) (Singspiel {Ire}). Balladeuse also produced the listed scorer Bilissie (GB) by Dansili (GB) and her full-sister Romanciere (Ire), who was placed on several occasions at group level including when third in the G1 Prix Jean Romanet.

The third dam Featherquest (GB) (Rainbow Quest) also threw the aforementioned Plumania, a past TDN Rising Star who went on to glory in the G1 Grand Prix de Saint-Cloud before producing the G2 Prix du Muguet winner Plumatic (GB) from a mating with Left Hand's sire Dubawi. Other descendants of Featherquest, who is a half to the leading sire Groom Dancer, include Solsticia (Ire) (Le Havre {Ire}) who was third in the G1 Prix Saint Alary and Frankel's smart Rumi (Fr) who captured last year's G2 Prix de la Nonette and G3 Prix Vanteaux.

RACE PREVIEWS

GIRL POWER IN THE NUNTHORPE

by Tom Frary

Five-furlong sprints used to be the dominion of the powerhouse colts and geldings, but recent years have seen a shift in the dynamic and that could hardly be better expressed than the line-up for Friday's G1 Coolmore Wootton Bassett Nunthorpe S. at York. Four of the top five in the betting are fillies or mares and that doesn't even include last year's impressive winner Winter Power (Ire) (Bungle Inthejungle {GB}) who trades around the 20-1 mark which would have been inconceivable following her career-best here 12 months ago.

Unusually, position of hot favourite is filled by a 3-year-old with only three career starts to her name, but in a renewal lacking a standout Sheikh Juma Dalmook Al Maktoum's Royal Aclaim (Ire) (Aclaim {Ire}) is one of those that will continue to attract support until the bubble bursts. The rapid juvenile The Platinum Queen (Ire) (Cotai Glory {GB}), the the G1 Prix Maurice de Gheest heroine Highfield Princess (Fr) (Night Of Thunder {Ire}) and the 'TDN Rising Star' Flotus (Ire) (Starspangledbanner {Aus}) complete the formidable distaff cast in a fascinating clash.

Strangely, the Listed City Walls S. seems to be the key piece of form again as it was in 2021 when Winter Power served notice of her prowess over this fast five-furlong strip. This time, Winter Power had to surrender as Royal Aclaim took up the mantle with an impressive display July 9 and it is easy to see why the punters have been seduced by the filly who bids to provide her owner with a notable Ebor Festival double following the Lowther win of Swingalong (Ire) (Showcasing {GB}) on Thursday. "I've got every confidence in her and in her ability, but at the end of the day she's an animal and she's got to have some luck in running," trainer James Tate told QIPCO British Champions Series.

"She's the least experienced runner in the field, and that includes the 2-year-old, but she's like nothing we've ever had through our stable gates before--she's completely different," Tate added. Cont. p13

He said, "In three runs, she's achieved a rating of 108 and beaten two Group 1 winners. Yet, to be quite honest with you, she's never been fully fit, as she is now. I expected her to win at York but I didn't know she'd win quite as easily as that, given that she wasn't 100% fit. It was obvious after a furlong or two that she would win. For a filly to win a Nunthorpe she probably needs to be something like 114, and the six pounds she needs to improve on the York form is just two lengths. Can she improve two lengths? I really think and hope so."

Queen Bee?

Two-year-olds added to this mix always create an extra vibe and this time it is a strange one, with Middleham Park Racing's The Platinum Queen entering the fray with no black-type to boast of. Only 13th behind Dramatised (Ire) (Showcasing {GB}) on her sole attempt in the G2 Queen Mary S. at Royal Ascot on June 15, the bay proved that running all wrong with powerful displays in a novice over this course and distance July 8 and in Goodwood's Alice Keppel Conditions S. July 27, where she broke the juvenile track record set minutes earlier in the Molecomb by Trillium (GB) (No Nay Never). With all the weight-for-age and sex allowances in her favour, she has the significant bonus of Hollie Doyle in the saddle as she bids to emulate Lyric Fantasy (Ire) (Tate Gallery) who was the last juvenile filly to succeed 30 years ago. Acapulco (Scat Daddy) was second in 2015, so the portents are strong for a big effort. "She's improved with racing, which we thought she would. She just wants to go faster all the time, so we're trying to channel that but she's in great nick," trainer Richard Fahey said. "It's extremely game of the owners, I hope they get a run for their money--I'm sure they will."

Beware The Princess

Very few sprinters can come off success in the 6 1/2-furlong G1 Prix Maurice de Gheest and follow up here over five, but Highfield Princess (Fr) (Night Of Thunder {Ire}) is looking increasingly a sprinter that is capable of the unusual. Showing the kind of pace at Deauville Aug. 7 that would have been potent over the minimum, she did the same on this track when taking the G2 1895 Duke of York S. May 11 and will be giving her all once again. The Simon and Ed Crisford-trained Flotus is another aggressive front-runner reverting to five, having scored at the track in the G3 Summer S. last time July 8 and tried this trip just the once. Of the remainder, the July 29 G2 King George S. one-two Khaadem (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}) and Raasel (GB) (Showcasing {GB}) come into play in along with 'TDN Rising Star' Dragon Symbol (GB) (Cable Bay {Ire}), who was third here 12 months ago and who has enjoyed a confidence boost in a Hamilton conditions event July 30.

What Next From Stradivarius?

There is no longer-running retirement story than that of Stradivarius (Ire) (Sea The Stars {Ire}), with Bjorn Nielsen seeming to further extend the date each time he is interviewed. After the 8-year-old's superb performance when touched off in the July 26 G1 Goodwood Cup, it is not hard to see why he should want to extend the brilliant career of the horse so endeared to the York faithful. Frankie had waved them goodbye after the May 13 G2 Yorkshire Cup, but in a twist the chestnut returns to the Knavesmire under Andrea Atzeni for what may not even be his final visit on Friday. Already successful six times from six outings here, including in three renewals of the G2 Weatherbys Hamilton Lonsdale Cup, one of history's elite stayers looks set to have his desired fast ground with the storms so far missing York. Cont. p14

"He's enjoying life as much as ever and he's bouncing around the place," John Gosden commented. "He's got a pretty good record at most tracks, but York obviously suits him particularly well with it's long straight and he's never been beaten there."

Trueshan | Scoop Dyga

King Waits Again

In what has become a perpetual state for Alan King, he waits on the rain for Trueshan (Fr) (Planteur {Ire}) with more hope than expectation. Having finally bent to running the G1 Prix du Cadran and G1 Goodwood Cup hero on ground quicker than ideal in defence of his crown in the latter contest on the Sussex Downs, the trainer was rewarded with a third behind Kyprios (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) and Stradivarius which was commendable but probably below his exalted standard when the ground is testing. "He'll only run if it rains, it's as simple as that," he said in his latest update. "There's some rain coming through, but we don't know what quantity so we'll just have to see what the morning brings." Fourth in the Goodwood Cup, Coltrane (Ire) (Mastercraftsman {Ire}) is one who could yet emerge as a threat even if Trueshan is absent, which also applies to Lady Blyth's G2 Prix Maurice de Nieuil and G3 Henry II S. winner Quickthorn (GB) (Nathaniel {Ire}) in a strong edition set to test Stradivarius's endurance more than the betting would suggest.

Royal Standard In The Gimcrack

There is a fascinating G2 Al Basti Equiworld Dubai Gimcrack S. in prospect, with the Hays' impressive G2 Richmond S. winner Royal Scotsman (Ire) (Gleneagles {Ire}) needing to defy a three-pound penalty as a result of his Goodwood exploits July 28. That was no hindrance to Lusail (Ire) (Mehmas {Ire}) last year and to Rock Of Gibraltar (Ire) in 2001, so if the best that has passed through the Whatcombe stable of the Coles for some time follows suit we are talking about a genuine Group 1 performer in the making. "He's in very good form and we think he's improved since Goodwood. Physically we think he looks bigger," Oliver Cole warned. "We just thought travel-wise it was easier to go to York than Deauville [for the Morny] and we're thinking about the future with him. He handled quick ground in the Richmond and I think there was bit of cut in the ground the day he won his maiden there, so I think he's pretty versatile."

Royal Scotsman | Getty Images

The Triple Threat

While Royal Scotsman gives all the signals that he is top-class, he will certainly have to prove it here taken on by a trio of unbeaten colts who have all flashed major talent. Godolphin's 'TDN Rising Star' Noble Style (GB) (Kingman {GB}) had Royal Scotsman back in fourth on debut at Ascot May 7 and was ante-post favourite for the Coventry in which the Coles' runner ended up third, only to miss out due to a setback. His return defeat of Mill Stream (Ire) (Gleneagles {Ire}) over this six-furlong trip at Newmarket July 29 was boosted by the runner-up's effort in a strong renewal of the G3 Acomb S. on Wednesday and Charlie Appleby is hoping he can follow through on his significant early promise. "He looked very smart when winning his maiden at Ascot, but I was not entirely happy with him coming into the Royal meeting so we missed his intended target there," he explained. "I'm a believer that sometimes missing those type of races in the summer can benefit them in the second half of the season. He had his break, then he came back under a penalty in a Newmarket novice. We got the job done but, most importantly, we could see improvement for that run. His work has been good. He's definitely come on for that experience. The Gimcrack is the right race for him now, but in time, I think he will benefit for stepping up in trip." Cont. p15

Burke Has Another Strong Hand

After Thursday's G2 Lowther S., it is increasingly essential to pay due diligence to the entries of Karl Burke in the 2022 pattern races for 2-year-olds and his duo here are headed by Nick Bradley Racing and Elaine Burke's well-regarded unbeaten Marshman (GB) (Harry Angel {Ire}). Denied a crack at Royal Scotsman in the Richmond due to a setback, arguably the best out so far from the first crop of his talented sire is here just a week after his 8 1/2-length success in a Thirsk novice over this trip Aug. 12. "We always thought Marshman was a nice horse, but he showed us a bit more than what he had been doing at home when he got left in the stalls first time out and still absolutely bolted up," Burke said. "The Richmond might not have worked out for us anyway, but he was lame on the morning of the race and I was keen to get another run into him then before we went for a black-type race. He took us a little bit by surprise with how he did it at Thirsk. We weren't surprised that he won, but it was a very good performance on the clock and obviously visually it was very good as well."

Making A Point

Richard Fahey saddles the third colt with a two-for-two record in the Gimcrack, with Clearpoint (GB) (Ardad {Ire}) by the same sire and carrying the same Sheikh Rashid Dalmook Al Maktoum silks as the stable's dual triple Group 1 winner Perfect Power (Ire). His form stands up well against Marshman from his novice win on debut at Ayr May 30 and he was able to defy a penalty dropping back to five furlongs in a novice at Newcastle June 25. "It's a good Gimcrack this year, it's probably the best Gimcrack I've seen for years," Fahey commented. "I do like the horse though and we'll find out on Friday where we are with him."

BAAEED CAMP MULLING OTHER OPTIONS BESIDES CHAMPION S., INCLUDING ARC

Shadwell's undefeated Baaeed (GB) (Sea The Stars {Ire}), who won the G1 Juddmonte International S. on Wednesday, was set for his career final in the G1 Champion S. at Ascot on Oct. 15, but trainer William Haggas has revealed that September's G1 Irish Champion S. and the G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe in Paris at the beginning of October are also in the mix.

Speaking to ITV Racing on Thursday afternoon, the trainer said, "I was thrilled to bits, I watched it home last night with Maureen [Haggas] and it was a great watch.

"Ultimately the decision is with Sheikha Hissa and I'm sure it [Arc] will be discussed and every option is open--it's got to be after what he did yesterday.

"We'll see what evolves. I think the only chance of seeing him more than once [before retirement] is if he doesn't go for the Arc and goes Irish Champion and Champion. I think you'll only see him once [more] in England, but as I say it's not my decision. We'll discuss it and as long as the horse is OK all options are still open."

Haggas did provide an update on his 10-for-10 stable star to the Nick Luck Daily Podcast, and added, "He seems fine, he's trotted up good--he's lost a bit of weight but we're happy with him and very proud.

"I'm open to suggestions, that's always been our plan to go to Ascot but plans can change. I'm not saying for a minute they're going to, but the only thing I will say is it's nearly two months now to Champions Day and that's quite a long time."

"That's the perfect fit if he was to have another race, so that's obviously open for discussion," Haggas said of the Sept. 10 Irish Champion S. "He's in the race and we'll just see what happens but he'd have to be in pretty rude health to be going to Ireland, so we shall see."

Shadwell's Angus Gold told Sky Sports Racing on Thursday, "It was always William's plan to end up at Ascot. Obviously there was a lot of talk about the Arc yesterday and would we consider that.

"I spoke to Sheikha Hissa briefly after the race and asked if she would even be thinking of the Arc, but she said she thought it best to stick to William's plan and end up at Ascot so for the moment we'll stick with that." Cont. p16

Gold added, "I'm sure she will talk to her family when she gets home and there'll be another discussion, but that is what she said yesterday and unless William changes his mind I'm sure that is what she'll want to do."

Since taking the G1 Prix du Moulin and G1 Queen Elizabeth II S. in 2021, the bay added the G1 Lockinge S., G1 Queen Anne S., and G1 Sussex S. in May, June and July, respectively. The International was his sixth consecutive Group 1 victory. The colt has now been awarded a rating of 135 off of that effort, third to only Frankel (GB) and his own sire (136) since the rankings began 18 years ago.

The BHA Head of Handicapping Dominic Gardiner-Hill said, "I will be raising Baaeed seven pounds from 128 to 135 for his success in the Juddmonte International yesterday--a figure only bettered by Frankel and Sea The Stars since the inception of the World's Best Racehorse Rankings in 2004."

DETTORI TO RIDE TORQUATOR TASSO IN GROSSER PREIS VON BADEN

Frankie Dettori has been booked to ride 2021 G1 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe hero Torquator Tasso (Ger) (Adlerflug {Ger}) in a title defence of the Sept. 4 G1 Grosser Preis von Baden. The chestnut's regular jockey, Rene Piechulek, has been claimed to ride the Sarah Steinberg-trained Mendocino (Ger) (Adlerflug {Ger}) for owner Stall Salzburg in the 1 1/2-mile feature. Torquator Tasso was second to Pyledriver (GB) (Harbour Watch {Ire}) in the G1 King George VI And Queen Elizabeth S. at the end of July.

"Yes, it is true Frankie Dettori will ride Torquator Tasso at Baden-Baden," said part-owner Peter-Michael Endres. "Mr. Piechulek has to ride for his owner and therefore we are very happy that Frankie is going to ride our horse. We have spoken to him and he said it is a privilege to ride the horse.

"It's our plan to go to Baden-Baden and then if the race goes OK we go to the Arc again."

SON OF HEARTACHE ON DECK IN YORK'S CONVIVIAL MAIDEN

16.45 York, Mdn, £80,000, 2yo, 7fT

Aidan O'Brien trainee SALT LAKE CITY (IRE) (Galileo {Ire}), a son of G2 Queen Mary S. and G2 Flying Childers S. victrix Heartache (GB) (Kyllachy {GB}) loaded up with Group 1 entries, makes a quick reappearance after running second on debut at the Curragh earlier this month. His 18 opponents in this renowned Convivial Maiden include Martin Webb Racing's hitherto untried Ubettabequick (Ire) (Wootton Bassett {GB}), a daughter of G3 Zukunfts-Rennen placegetter Above (Fr) (Anjaal {GB}) who was the joint highest-priced filly at last year's Arqana October sale when knocked down for €350,000, from the Nigel Tinkler stable; Paul Hancock's Kevin Philippart de Foy trainee Sigmund (Ire) (Awtaad {Ire}), who is a half-brother of G1 Grosser Preis von Bayern-winning stakes producer Temida (Ire) (Oratorio {Ire}); P D Smith Holdings Ltd's Richard Fahey debutant My Harrison George (Ire) (Lope De Vega {Ire}), who is a half-brother to G1 Irish 1000 Guineas and GI E.P. Taylor S. heroine Just The Judge (Ire) (Lawman {Fr}); and Jaber Abdullah's fellow newcomer Hi Royal (Ire) (Kodiac {GB}), who is a Kevin Ryan-trained son of G1 Sun Chariot S. winner Majestic Roi (Street Cry {Ire}).

Successful in a July 29 extended 12-furlong Wolverhampton novice event in her only prior start, Juddmonte's homebred 3-year-old filly Haskoy stepped forward to claim a career high on black-type bow here. The January-foaled bay was positioned at the tail of the field after breaking from an outer gate. Bustled along with a half mile to go, the 13-2 chance made relentless headway racing in isolation on the far side inside the final quarter mile and stayed on in resolute fashion under a Ryan Moore drive to deny Time Lock, another Juddmonte homebred representative, by a neck in the dying strides.

"That was magic and they are two good fillies," commented Juddmonte's Barry Mahon. "The winner has always been good, but she had a bad injury last year. Ralph [Beckett] has liked her since he got her, but we didn't think she'd know enough today. Ryan [Moore] said the penny only dropped in the final furlong and William [Buick aboard Time Lock] said his filly didn't see the other one as she had more to give. Neither of them would be troubled by going further, but they've no fancy entries."

Beckett added, "I'm not sure I've ever had one win a black-type race just 20 days after making its debut. I'm sure I might have as I've trained enough of this type, but I can't think of one. I thought she was very professional and we might have a look at the [G2] Park Hill at Doncaster now."

Haskoy is the first of three foals produced by Listed Haras de Bouquetot Fillies' Trial victrix Natavia (GB) (Nathaniel {Ire}), herself kin to G1 Sun Chariot S. heroine Spinning Queen (GB) (Spinning World).

Spinning Queen, in turn, is the dam of the stakes-winning duo Trade Commissioner (Ire) (Montjeu {Ire}) and Gallipot (GB) (Galileo {Ire}). Another of Natavia's siblings, Amber Queen (Ire) (Cadeaux Genereux {GB}), produced GIII Jimmy Durante S. victrix Tezzaray (GB) (Bated Breath {GB}) while the winner's third dam Lady Blackfoot (Ire) (Prince Tenderfoot) is responsible for three Grade I performers headed by GI Hollywood Derby-winning sire Labeeb (GB) (Lear Fan). Natavia has a yearling filly by Kingman (GB) and a weanling filly by Siyouni (Fr) to come. VIDEO.

Trapped behind rivals at halfway, the grey was angled out of the pack by Sean Levey and despite having five lengths to make up a furlong out motored to the front in the dying strides to prevail by a head from Washington Heights (GB) (Washington DC {Ire}). "He's had three months off and it showed today," his rider said. "He hit the line fast and I wasn't sure if he was in front or not. The way he was working at home, I thought he'd make easier work of it. They go fast in a sales race and he was off the bridle straightaway. He's used to travelling, but he didn't know how to at that pace. For him to keep picking up all the way to the end, it says a lot for him and he'll learn from that. He's very straightforward, an absolute dude to deal with and he'll come on for this run." Furthering the cause of his first-season sire sensation, the winner is out of a half to the G3 Prix du Palais-Royal winner Rosso Corsa (GB) (Footstepsinthesand {GB}) from the family of the triple Grade II scorer Home Of The Free (Hero's Honor) and her Grade III-winning full-sister Poolesta who was also runner up in the G2 Lowther S. Also connected to the triple Group 1 winner Gold And Ivory (Key To The Mint) and the G1 National S. hero Heart Of Darkness (Glint of Gold {GB}), Lady Estella's yearling filly Tilaawah (GB) (Showcasing {GB}) is heading to the Tattersalls October Yearling Sale Book 3. Charterhouse, unsuccessful in 11 prior attempts at black-type level, lined up here coming back off a third in last week's G3 Desmond S. last week and bettered a third-place finish in last year's renewal of this contest to secure a belated first stakes triumph. Occupying a slot in mid division after an slick departure from the outside stall, he made headway into contention with three furlongs remaining and stayed on strongly once seizing control approaching the eighth pole to win with plenty in hand.

"He got a great ride from Scott [McCullagh], who filled him with confidence all the way and didn't go for him too early," reflected George Murphy, son of the winning trainer. "I think he likes to be coddled along through his races and that was brilliant. He has been busy enough the last few weeks and deserves a little break now. I think a mile is spot on for him."

Charterhouse is the sixth of eight foals and one of two scorers produced by a multiple-winning half-sister to G3 Lancashire Oaks victrix Ela Athena (GB) (Ezzoud {Ire}), who hit the board in five elite-level contests. Descendants of Ela Athena include G2 Doncaster Cup and G3 Henry II S. victor Pallasator (GB) (Motivator {GB}), stakes-winning G2 Prix de Malleret third Elas Ruby (GB) (Raven's Pass) and the stakes-placed duo Alphonsus (GB) (Invincible Spirit Ire}) and Elas Diamond (GB) (Danehill Dancer {Ire}). FAIS NOUS PLAISIR (FR) (c, 2, Birchwood {Ire}--Romanne {Fr}, by Dr Fong) broke well to race in second before slipping to third at halfway in this debut. regaining second on the home turn, the 77-5 chance was roused into action passing the quarter-mile marker and kept on well under continued rousting in the closing stages to deny long-time leader Sylphid (GB) (Zoffany {Ire}) by a half-length nearing the line.
