FASIG CALIFORNIA SALE TO BE HELD TUESDAY

The fourth annual Fasig-Tipton California Fall Yearlings and Horses of All Ages Sale returns to the Fairplex Sales Pavilion in Pomona Tuesday. Bidding for the single session gets underway at 11 a.m. PST, which is 2 p.m. EST.

The catalogue is comprised of 279 yearlings, which will sell first, and 55 horses of racing age. The majority of the horses are California-breds, but there are several yearlings by Kentucky-breds sired by the likes of Mineshaft, Outwork, Coal Front, Tapwrit, West Coast, Tiznow, Frosted, etc.

“We have a very strong group of Cal-breds,” said Fasig-Tipton's Michael Machowsky. "If you race mostly in California, this is the place to get your horses. We have over 200 Cal-breds in the sale and sometimes they go and compete against the open. We also have a group of Kentucky-breds in here to give the buyers a bit of variety."

The sale comes on the heels of the two-week long Keeneland September Yearling Sale, which saw very strong trade across the board.

“All the sales have been very strong this year, from OBS through us," Machowsky said. “I think horse racing is so resilient through everything. After last year, the confidence is coming back a little bit.”

During last year’s banner sale, 177 head brought $6,933,550 with an average of $39,173 and median of $20,000.

RACING INDUSTRY PARTICIPANTS SHINE IN COMMON WEALTH OF KENTUCKY PROJECT

by Katie Petrunyak

What do an award-winning chef, a rising young country music star and a reigning champion trainer have in common?

All three are featured in the Common Wealth of Kentucky Project, an exhibit going on now through Oct. 1 at LexArts Gallery in Lexington, Kentucky. Along with chef Ouita Michel and singer Walker Montgomery, trainer Brad Cox is one of 70 Kentuckians who shared their life story for the collection, which is the culmination of a year-long project for impressionist painter Kelly Brewer and partner Beth Pride, a writer and digital storyteller.

Visitors can explore the gallery and connect with each Kentuckian on a multi-sensory level by observing the portrait of the participants, reading a short summary of their lives, or even scanning a QR code to listen to the participant’s voice as they share portions of their own story. Cont. p3

MUST BE THE MONEY RUNS TO HIS ODDS
Stefanie Grimm follows up with trainer Paul McGee after his well-bet firster Must Be the Money (Paynter) overcame a slow start to score last week at Churchill.

ECLIPSE AWARD HOSTS SELECTED
Some of racing’s most prominent on-air talent in Britney Eurton, Maggie Wolfendale and Scott Hazelton will combine to host the 2023 Eclipse Awards, which will be held Jan. 26 at The Breakers Palm Beach.

FOAL ADVENTURE BUILDS ON FOAL PATROL SUCCESS
Iain Holmes, co-founder of the successful Foal Patrol series where viewers could keep up with mares as they prepared to have their foals, is now helming the Foal Adventure series where fans can continue to follow foals of the program’s mares all the way to the racetrack.
The 2021 sale was topped by a $350,000 daughter of Triple Crown hero American Pharoah, purchased by Tom Beckerle. She was followed by a $300,000 Practical Joke filly.
“We expect a strong sale once again,” said Machowsky. “California has been improving their breeding program, bringing new, solid stallions out here. Breeders have also been investing in mares in Kentucky, in foal to Kentucky stallions and bringing them out here. We expect the solid trade we had last year.”

The project was inspired by Brewer’s mother, Jo B. Robertson, who passed away in 2020. Brewer decided that she wanted to paint portraits to honor her mother and raise money for the Jo B. Robertson Charitable Foundation, which was established to continue Robertson’s legacy of helping to educate, house, clothe and feed the less fortunate. Brewer turned to Pride, the wife of Godolphin’s Dan Pride, for assistance.
“We decided that we would call it the Common Wealth of Kentucky and that it would reveal the richness that the people who comprise this state are made of and the commonalities that we all have,” said Pride. “We hoped to do our best to break down these artificial barriers that really, at the end of the day, are not real.”
Together Pride and Brewer, along with advocate Jill Johnson, spent the next year traveling throughout the Commonwealth as Brewer painted Kentuckians from all walks of life while Pride collected their stories.
They met with Jeff Broadwater, a United States Army major general who served in Kuwait during Desert Storm and was deployed to Iraq twice, and Lou Anna Red Corn, the first Native American Commonwealth Attorney in Kentucky. They talked to Pedro Mann, a coal foreman in Eastern Kentucky, and Gentille Ntakarutimana, who was a Burundian refugee as a child and is now a legal assistant for Morgan and Morgan.
Louisville native Brad Cox is not the only racing industry member to appear in the collection. The sport is a common theme throughout the exhibit. Keeneland is represented by President and CEO Shannon Arvin along with well-known ringman Cordell Anderson. Other members of the sport who are featured include Lane End Farm’s Bill Farish, Airdrie Stud’s Bret Jones, Phipps Family Stable racing manager Daisy Phipps Pulito and Hall of Fame jockey Steve Cauthen.
“What we really tried to do is build a unique impression of who these people are and find something that maybe everyone doesn’t know about them,” explained Pride. Cont. p4

“Daisy was in the sports television industry for years and Bill was a personal aide to President George H.W. Bush. Everyone has something unique that really differentiates them, but we also found that we have so many things in common as human beings and we’re all connected through our humanity no matter our background or where we’re going.”

Participants also included political figures like Lexington mayor Linda Gorton as well as Kelly Craft, the former United Nations Ambassador who recently launched her campaign for Kentucky governor. Lexington locals will recognize names like Kentucky Sports Radio’s Matt Jones and Bluegrass Hospitality Group founders Brian McCarty and Bruce Drake.

Each of the portraits on display are available for purchase through a super silent auction format where the bid amount is hidden from the public and managed confidentially. The auction will continue through Friday, Oct. 1.

“We’re very grateful for the response,” Pride said. “We had about 400 people there on opening night and LexArts has told us that the traffic for the exhibit has been triple what they are accustomed to.”

The exhibit has also been encapsulated in the form of a book, which was written and sound-produced by Pride and features the original artwork by Brewer (the book is available in the gallery, at the Keeneland Mercantile in Lexington or can be purchased here).

As Pride reflected on the project, she said that in many ways, Kentucky horse racing represents a microcosm of the Commonwealth as a whole.

“The horse business is one of those industries where there is a lot of competition within the industry, but it’s also an industry that has external criticism,” Pride said.

“It’s the same with bourbon, parimutuel betting and coal mining. What happens is that the people in the industry are friendly competitors because they know they need to be bonded in a singular purpose of promoting and advocating for the horse and for the industry. That spirit where everyone is in it together is reflected all throughout Kentucky.”

MUST BE THE MONEY RUNS TO HIS ODDS AFTER POOR BEGINNING

by Stefanie Grimm

Hopes were high when Must Be the Money (Paynter) made his first start Wednesday for trainer Paul McGee. The betting public agreed, pushing the bay colt down into the 3-2 favorite’s slot as the field loaded into the gate at Churchill Downs. But, when the latches sprung open and the field came away, Must Be the Money was caught flat-footed and quickly found himself in chase mode at the back of the pack. Able to weave his way through the field to be an outside fifth at the top of the stretch, he rallied widest of all and, despite trying to lug in down the lane, powered past the leading pair in the final sixteenth for the clear victory.

Speaking to Paul Lo Duca after the race, winning trainer Paul McGee admitted, “Oh certainly [I was nervous] (referencing the break). He’s been breezing from the gate exceptionally well so it really threw me for a loop when he got away like that. It was a horrible start but he sure did make up for it late in the race.”

A bay son of GI TVG.com Haskell S. winner Paynter, Must Be the Money races for owner Silverton Hill LLC and is the first winner and second foal out of the Congrats mare Spider Walkin, herself a half-sister to GSP Bizwhacks (Fed Biz). Just a $50,000 KEESEP yearling last year, he’s now more than earned back his purchase price in just his first start. Cont. p6
“Being by Paynter, he should stretch out,” McGee continued. “And we’re hoping for good things to come.”

In a message to the TDN, McGee confirmed Must Be the Money’s next step. “Likely an allowance race at Keeneland or the Churchill November meet. [We’ll] stretch him out.”

EURTON, WOLFENDALE, HAZELTON TO HOST ECLIPSE AWARDS

Well-known television personalities Britney Eurton, Maggie Wolfendale and Scott Hazelton will co-host the 52nd annual Eclipse Awards to be held Thursday, Jan. 26, 2023, at The Breakers Palm Beach, officials from the National Thoroughbred Racing Association (NTRA), Daily Racing Form (DRF) and National Turf Writers and Broadcasters (NTWAB) announced Monday.

Eurton, a fixture on FanDuel TV and NBC Sports and the daughter of California trainer Peter Eurton, returns to the Eclipse Awards in 2023, having co-hosted each of the last three years. Hazelton, whose late father Richard trained some 4,700 winners in a 60-year career, got his start with HRTV before moving over to TVG and is one of the network’s go-to reporters for international racing, having covered several runnings of the Dubai World Cup and Royal Ascot. Also the paddock analyst for racing at Keeneland, Hazelton serves as an announcer for the company’s auctions. Wolfendale has served as paddock host and analyst for the New York Racing Association for the past dozen years and is a mainstay on the NYRA-produced ‘America’s Day at the Races’ and ‘Saratoga Live.’ Wolfendale also serves as an exercise rider to her husband, trainer Tom Morley, and has retired and retrained several of his former runners.

A VIP pre-sale of tickets will begin Monday, Nov. 7, and general ticket sales start a week later. To stay up to date on the Eclipse Awards and for additional information, click here.

FOAL ADVENTURE PROVIDING RACING FANS WITH THE FULL EXPERIENCE

Edited Press Release

With the growth of companies that offer racing fans an affordable way to experience racehorse ownership, Foal Adventure is on a mission to welcome them to the exciting world of breeding. Focused on ensuring members experience the excitement of breeding and raising a foal, Foal Adventure provides regular updates to the members, including photos, a monthly webinar, farm tours, and the opportunity to connect at the sales. Ultimately the members will get the thrill of a lifetime watching the foals turn into racehorses and compete at racetracks across the country.

“Last year, I was very excited to share pictures of my foal, and I sent the requests for updates started rolling in, and before long, I was producing a regular newsletter to an ever-growing audience,” said Iain Holmes, the Co-Founder of Foal Patrol. “When I learned Foal Patrol was sunsetting, I knew I had to expand on what I had been doing and make it available to everyone. I approached industry veteran Sean Feld, knowing that together we will be able to provide our members with a unique experience—producing high quality horses the members will be able to watch grow up, go through the sales ring and ultimately compete at the track.”

Feld explained, “When Iain pitched the idea to me, I could not say yes quick enough. With foal crops shrinking at an alarming rate, we can’t just focus on introducing fans to racing. We need to introduce them to breeding too. With the regional awards, a strong market, and the cost of keeping a broodmare and raising a foal considerably lower than having a horse in training, we are confident some of our members will go out on their own and help grow the industry.”

Foal Adventure currently has two mares available: Magic Happens, whose female family includes broodmare of the year Levee, dam of Hall of Famer Shuvee; and Lulu’s Partner, a half-sister to Disco Partner. More information is available at: www.FoalAdventure.com.

Warsachi, the even-money favorite, was never seriously challenged while earning her first stakes victory in front-running fashion. The dark bay filly grabbed the lead out of the gate and was in control through fractions of :22.26 and :46.53 before splashing clear to the wire.

Warsachi, runner-up on debut Aug. 22, graduated with a dominating 7 1/2-length victory going 5 1/2 furlongs at the Finger Lakes Sept. 5. Saichi Sweepin, in foal to Laoban, sold for $20,000 at last year’s Keeneland January sale. Her Laoban colt sold for $56,000 at the recently concluded Keeneland September sale. The mare was bred back to Thousand Words this year.

SHINY SLAM (f, 2, Lord Nelson--Slam's Honor, by Grand Slam) graduated by four lengths in her debut sprinting at Monmouth July 24, but was bumped at the start and never threatened when fourth in the one-mile Sorority S. last time out Aug. 21. The 2-1 favorite rushed up to take the lead down the backstretch and opened a two-length advantage at midstretch before just holding off the late-closing Girl Trouble (Fast Anna) to win by a half-length. Girl Trouble stumbled badly at the break, then attempted to rush up to the leaders only to be forced to check back to last. Undaunted, she inched closer along the rail and was within striking distance nearing the stretch, only to again lack racing room. She attempted to sneak through along the rail at the top of the lane, but Carlos Olivero, aboard Shiny Slam, closed off the opening. Girl Trouble then tipped outside of the favorite and, once finally in the clear, was gaining on the winner late. Shiny Slam was a $42,000 KEESEP yearling and RNA'd for $150,000 at this year's OBS March sale. She has a weanling full-sister and her dam was bred back to Mo Town. The winner's third dam, French champion Detroit (Fr) (Riverman), produced Arc winner Carnegie (Ire) (Sadler's Wells).

CAMERAS AT THE READY AS FLASH OFFERS BLACKBEARD'S SISTER

Lot 93: a sister to Blackbeard sells on Tuesday | Sarah Farnsworth

By Brian Sheerin and Emma Berry

KILDARE, Ireland--Blackbeard (Ire) has blazed a trail on the track this season and, less than a week after doubling his Group 1 tally when running out an impressive winner of the Middle Park S. at Newmarket, his little sister will go under the hammer at the Orby Sale on Tuesday, which gets underway at 9.30am.

The No Nay Never filly will be sold by Flash Conroy of Glenvale Stud and is one of the most important lots of the entire sale given the exploits of her older brother this year.

But there's only so far a yearling can piggy back off its vaunted sibling, according to Conroy, who says lot 93 has a physique to match her page.

"She's very good-looking, a lovely filly," Conroy said on Monday. "Listen, we're looking at her all year and every day that Blackbeard ran was a big day for us.

"It's very rare in this game when you get the big updates on the page but you can stand over the physical of the horse that you are going to sell. It matches up in this case."

Blackbeard has gone from strength to strength for Aidan O'Brien and the colt may not be finished yet. He has won six of his eight starts and, after following up on his Prix Morny victory in the Middle Park, O'Brien suggested he could run again before the year is out, possibly in the Dewhurst. STAYING SUPERSTAR STRADIVARIUS RETIRED TO STUD

Stradivarius, the three-time Gold Cup winner and the undisputed champion stayer of his generation, has been retired to stud. Trained by John and Thady Gosden, Stradivarius (Ire) (Sea The Stars {Ire}) won three Yorkshire Cups and two Doncaster Cups but will be best remembered for those epic Gold Cup triumphs at Ascot. Owned by Bjorn Nielsen, who told TDN Europe about his intention to support the popular chestnut at stud upon his retirement, Stradivarius will join the roster at the National Stud. The 8-year-old bows out from the game as an eight-time Group 1 winner who won 20 of his 35 starts and netted connections almost £3.5million in prize-money.

While he didn't manage to win at the top level this season, he won a the G2 Yorkshire Cup on his seasonal return, and was last seen chasing home the new kid on the block, Kyprios (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), in the G1 Goodwood Cup. Cont. p5

But Blackbeard has more than done his job as far as Conroy is concerned, with the leading consignor describing his offering as being up there with the best he has sold in recent times, which is saying plenty.

"Blackbeard is the top 2-year-old sprinter around. Watching him win, that's what this game is all about. If you don't get a kick out of that, you may as well give this game up," Conroy added, "We've had some very good horses in recent years and she is another. We sold Minzaal (Ire) (Mehmas {Ire}), Pretty Gorgeous (Fr) (Lawman {Fr}), and Flotus (Ire) (Starspangledbanner {Aus}), so we've had a good old time of it. This filly has all the physical attributes that you look for. She's a really good filly."

Staffordstown's Rare Jewel

At the Lanwades/Staffordstown boxes on Monday much of the talk centred on Kirsten Rausing's five-time Group 1 winner Alpinista (GB) (Frankel {GB}), who heads to the Prix de l’Arc de Triomphe on Sunday.

"I'll be off my food by Sunday," joked the filly's trainer Sir Mark Prescott as he tucked into soup and sandwiches handmade by Catriona Oxx and reminisced about Sea The Stars (Ire) with her husband John, who also trained Sinndar (Ire) to win the Arc in 2000.

Rausing herself admits that she will probably be a "bundle of nerves" by Sunday, and Alpinista is not her only star filly to be travelling to Longchamp as dual Group 2 winner Sandrine (GB) (Bobby's Kitten) is being aimed at the G1 prix de la Foret. But before thoughts can turn to Paris she has the equally important task of selling a half-sister to two more Group 1-winning Lanwades graduates, the brothers Time Warp (GB) and Glorious Forever (GB), both of whom are by the stud's late stallion Archipenko. Their younger sister, set to sell late on Wednesday as lot 490, is the sole yearling by Dubawi (Ire) in the catalogue, making her something of a standout. "I have a really nice Sea The Stars filly also and obviously we wanted to separate them, so the Sea The Stars goes to Tatts and the Dubawi filly came here. My thoughts were that there would be fewer Dubawi yearlings here, and in fact she's the only one," said Rausing.

"She was always an outstanding filly and she merits her place in the limelight. Her brothers both won the same Group 1 in Hong Kong, and the elder brother (Time Warp) won a further two Group 1s."

Staffordstown, the Irish sister stud to Newmarket-based Lanwades, topped this sale in 2007 when selling the filly subsequently knowns as Jane Eyre (GB)—a half-sister to Alpinista’s dam Alwilda (GB) (Hernando {Fr})—for €2.4 million to Coolmore.

ALL WITH YEARLINGS SELLING at Goffs
Two years ago, for the more humble sum of £110,000, Rausing sold recent St Leger winner Eldar Eldarov (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}). Meanwhile the International success of Lanwades continues, with the likes of Zaaki (GB) and Le Don De Vie (GB), both by Leroidesanimaux (Brz), reaping group-race success in Australia.

Rausing continued, "I think I am right in saying that we have sent 11 Lanwades-breds down to Australia in the last few years. All 11 have run, one has only run once, ten have won, and seven have won black-type races. I suppose what it means is that I seem to breed horses that go distances the Australians like."

No matter how out of fashion middle-distance races become in various parts of the world, there are few breeders who wouldn't dream of winning the Arc, and Rausing is justified to travel to Longchamp with high hopes of doing just that.

Of Alpinista she added, "She's obviously very special, as were her ancestresses Albanova (GB), her granny, and Alborada (GB), her great aunt in human terms."

Staffordstown also offers four colts by the Lanwades first-season sire Study Of Man (Ire), including lot 236, who is out of the Group 3 winner Starlit Sands (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}) and is a half-brother to the dam of the aforementioned Sandrine.

Altior’s Brother ‘Going Down Like A Bomb’

Fresh off the back of another productive September Yearling Sale at Tattersalls Ireland, Mark Dreeling of Coole House Farm offers the quirkiest colt at the Orby Sale in lot 86, a Mastercraftsman (Ire) half-brother to Altior (Ire), one of the greatest two-mile chasers in modern times.
Dreeling admitted that the colt, who was a late June foal, was always going to struggle to make it to a National Hunt foal sale, even if that would have been the most natural place to sell Paddy Behan's youngster.

However, the consignor, flanked by the enthusiastic breeder at Barn M, described himself as pleasantly surprised about how well the colt has been received by buyers.

Dreeling said, "He was foaled late so it was always going to be a struggle to get him to the National Hunt foal sales. We contemplated bringing the half-brother by Camelot (GB) here a few years ago but decided against that.

"This lad came along and we thought he might be a novelty horse here and he’s gone down like a bomb. Paddy was astute in his thinking. Himself and his wife Rosie have done all the hard work. Goffs were eager to have him and we said, 'why not?' He's going down terribly well."

Monte Solaro (Ire) (Key Of Luck) has been a dream broodmare for the Behans, with four-time Cheltenham festival hero Altior flying the flag for the pedigree, and Tuesday's offering is likely to be the last out of the 22-year-old.

However, Behan will continue to breed from the family after revealing that he recently struck a deal to buy Princess Leya (Ire) (Old Vic (GB)), a half-sister to the legendary dual Champion Chase winner.

Stradivarius was a late absentee in the Lonsdale Cup at York last month due to a bruised foot, with the horse taking longer than expected to recover from the problem.

"He has been trotting and cantering but it has taken longer to get over the bruised foot than we thought," Nielsen said.

"We felt it would be unfair to ask him to come back again as a 9-year-old next season after his enforced time off. Cont. p6
With the leaves on the turn and rugs back on the horses after the hottest summer in many a year, it may feel as though we are coming to the end of the season but by juvenile Group 1 contests in Europe we are really only halfway through.

So far, No Nay Never’s sons Little Big Bear (Ire) and Blackbeard (Ire) (No Nay Never), both trained by Aidan O’Brien, have claimed three between them—the Phoenix S., Prix Morny and Middle Park S., while the Joseph O’Brien-trained Al Riffa (Fr) became the first Group 1-winning juvenile colt for Wootton Bassett (GB). Only the two fillies’ races have fallen outside the clutches of the O’Brien family, with Tahiyra (Ire) (Siyouni {Fr}) following her talented big sister Tarnawa (Ire) (Shamardal) to Group 1 glory in the Moyglare Stud S. for Dermot Weld, and Ralph Beckett claiming one for Britain in Saturday’s Juddmonte Cheveley Park S., in which Lezoo (GB) became a first top-level winner in the northern hemisphere for Zoustar (Aus).

Through the next month we have the seven Group 1 races for two-year-olds which will perhaps have more of a bearing on next year’s Classics. On Saturday, Aidan O’Brien was quick to point to Blackbeard being more about the big sprints next year than the Guineas.

"It has been a fairytale from start to finish. Until this setback he had never been medicated and had never missed an engagement through injury."

John Gosden showered Stradivarius with praise following the news of his retirement on Monday.

He said, “Stradivarius has been the most extraordinary and unique racehorse throughout his career. He has always maintained his total commitment and enthusiasm. He exhibited joy in his training and has given enormous pleasure to everyone, both on and off the track.”
However, his stable-mate Little Big Bear, who shares his damsire Bering (GB) with Stradivarius (Ire), has more notable stamina influences on his bottom line, not least his sensational Arc-winning great grand-dam All Along (Fr) (Targowice), which may well help his claims in mile contests and perhaps beyond.

Lezoo owns a properly fast pedigree, while Tahiyra can plainly be considered of enormous Classic potential. Al Riffa is by a sire who won the Marcel Boussac and was perhaps found wanting at the mile but has had no problem producing a champion middle-distance three-year-old in Almanzor (Fr). The fact that Al Riffa is out of a Galileo (Ire) mare clearly bolstered his stamina claims, which are enhanced deeper into his pedigree by his extremely classy third dam My Emma (GB) (Marju {Ire}), winner of the Yorkshire Oaks and Prix Vermeille and a half-sister to Gold Cup and St Leger winner Classic Cliche.

With regard to next season’s Classics, if that isn’t wishing our lives away too quickly, the action of the next month will start to drop some proper hints as to which horses we should be dreaming about over the winter. Isa Salman and Abdullah Al Khalifa’s homebred G2 Rockfel S. winner Commissioning (GB) (Kingman {GB}) certainly looks like she will be one of them, and the Gosden trainee could yet return to the Rowley Mile a week on Saturday for the G1 Fillies’ Mile or head to the Breeders’ Cup in a bid to extend her unbeaten run this season before being wrapped up until spring.

Polly Pott (GB) (Muhaarar {GB}) is an intriguing prospect, having progressed from a handicap mark of 68 to win her last four starts, culminating in the G2 May Hill S. at 40/1 for her retiring trainer. More intriguing still is that she will move to the stable of Ben Pauling at the end of the season when Dunlop hands in his licence. Pauling is better known as a National Hunt trainer but, perhaps spurred by the dual-purpose success of the likes of Alan King and Ian Williams, he has now set his sights on training some Flat horses. Having a team which includes Group 2 winner—who may yet be supplemented to give Dunlop one last hurrah in the G1 Fillies’ Mile—is not a bad place to start, especially considering the success of late of Polly Pott’s family, which includes the Group 1 winners Accidental Agent (GB) and Mohaather (GB).

Lezoo Delivers on Many Fronts

There were lots of smiling faces as Lezoo returned to the winner’s enclosure at Newmarket on Saturday. Jamie McCalmont, who with Kelsey Lupo had bought the filly under the Atlas Bloodstock banner for €110,000 at the Arqana Breeze-up Sale, had also signed up Blackbeard as a foal for Coolmore the previous year for 270,000gns at Tattersalls. The agent clearly had at least two reasons to be cheerful, especially on behalf of his clients and Lezoo’s owners Marc Chan and Andrew Rosen. For Chan it was the second Group 1-winning 2-year-old in consecutive seasons following the Criterium International success of Angel Bleu (Fr), who is also trained by Ralph Beckett.

Roger O’Callaghan was presumably settling in his draft of Orby yearling at Goffs on Saturday but he could have been permitted a little skip of joy through the sales grounds when first Crypto Force (GB) (Time Test {GB}) won the G2 Beresford S. then Lezoo claimed her success. Both were graduates of the Tally-Ho Stud team of breezers this season, with Crypto Force, who was bred by Andrew Tinkler, having gone through four sales in his two and a half years.

Team Tweenhills was of course delighted with Lezoo’s breakthrough win for her sire Zoustar, who had been greeted with a degree of scepticism by the European market despite his success in Australia.

“He’s doing exactly what he did in Australia,” exclaimed David Redvers at Newmarket. “I couldn’t dream that he would do it to the same extent, but he had a champion two-year-old filly in his first crop there [Sunlight] and he could well do the same here. They are not early, precocious 2-year-olds. You get the odd one but as a rule they are autumn two-year-olds, and what we saw in Australia was dramatic improvement from two to three, so that is obviously what we are all looking forward to.”
And most importantly of all, it was great to see the people responsible for the existence of Lezoo, Andrew and Jane Black of Chasemore Farm, on the winner’s rostrum to receive their prize as the filly’s breeder.

“IT’s amazing, and if Noble Style hadn’t had colic we could have also had the favourite in the very next Group 1 race,” said Andrew Black, speaking to TDN between the Cheveley Park S. and the Middle Park S.

Noble Style (GB) (Kingman {GB}), who is unbeaten this year in three races including the G2 Gimcrack S., was sold by Chasemore Farm 10 days before Lezoo, the pair having featured in Books 1 and 3 of the draft respectively at the Tattersalls October Sale. While Lezoo is out of the Red Clubs (Ire) mare Roger Sez (Ire), Noble Style also has Red Clubs in his pedigree as the sire of his grand-dam Ceiling Kitty (GB), who died in 2016 after foaling her Chesham Stakes-winning son Arthur Kitt (GB) (Camelot {GB}). Noble Style’s dam is the Listed winner Eartha Kitt (GB), a daughter of Pivotal (GB).

“The tragedy is that we sold Roger Sez,” Black continued. “Theoretically we kept two [Red Clubs] fillies but then one of the two died and I wish I hadn’t sold her because I’ve left myself light, so there is a little bit of regret that I wouldn’t normally have.”

He continued, “I believe in Red Clubs and I believe in his pedigree, but I always felt that the mares that I have by him are a little bit neat. So they are interesting genetically, but I want to layer on top of that to get my broodmares. So, the Shamardal daughter of Illaunglas, or the Pivotal daughter of Ceiling Kitty, those to me were just a bit more interesting because you’ve taken Red Clubs, who tended to get them a bit neat, and then you’ve put a bit more size into them. So, to my thinking anyway you’re getting something along the lines of a perfect receptacle—nicely genetically balanced with but of that kind of Red Clubs intensity.”

David Redvers at Goffs | Sarah Farnsworth

How the son is now on the same steep upward curve as his sensational sire
Roger Sez has in fact been through the December Sale twice in the last two years, sold by Chasemore to Rabbah Bloodstock, who then sold her on to Melchior Bloodstock last winter for 28,000gns.

Hail the Handicap Kings

Though it’s the time of the year for black-type races left, right and centre, there’s always plenty of interest to be derived from the heritage handicaps, and the Cambridgeshire didn’t disappoint in that regard. The four-year-old winner Majestic (Ire) provided the biggest result for his late sire Conduit (Ire) to date, as well as for his owner-breeders Nick and Liz Hitchins.

Unraced until March of this year, having recovered from a fractured pelvis and then being subjected to a wind operation after his debut in a Kempton bumper, Majestic pulled himself together to win on his handicap debut in mid-August off a mark of 79. Having squeaked into the Cambridgeshire on the joint-lowest mark of 86, his bumble-bee silks could be seen weaving their way through the field to land a second major handicap victory for Mick Channon this season after the Lincoln win of Johan (GB) (Zoffany {Ire}) on his first start for the stable in March.

At the Curragh on Sunday the smartly-bred Waterville (Ire) (Camelot {GB}) landed the spoils in the value-boosted €600,000 ‘Friends of the Curragh’ Irish Cesarewitch. Sent off favourite, the half-brother to Irish Oaks winner Sea Of Class (Ire) and the Italian Group 1 winners Final Score (Ire) and Charity Line (Ire), was hardly a surprise victor but it was the manner of his last-gasp neck win over Echoes In Rain (Fr) (Authorized {Ire}) that had onlookers heaping praise on jockey Wayne Lordan. With just six starts to his name, the three-year-old Waterville looks to have a bright future in Cup races next season.

Rebel With a Cause

William Buick can do no wrong this year and, after winning the Cheveley Park S. for Ralph Beckett, he headed over to Cologne for Charlie Appleby to snare his second Group 1 win of the weekend in the Preis von Europa aboard Rebel’s Romance (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}).

Following a lacklustre start to the year in Meydan, Godolphin’s statuesque four-year-old has really come into his own since returning to Britain, where he won twice as a juvenile. Rebel’s Romance is now unbeaten in his four starts since June 25, starting in the Listed Fred Archer Stakes at Newmarket and progressing through the G3 Glorious Stakes and then the Grosser Preis von Berlin, the first of his two consecutive Group 1 wins.
Both stakes races at Cologne on Sunday fell to British trainers, with the Mark and Charlie Johnston-trained juvenile Sirona (Ger) (Soldier Hollow {GB}) taking the Listed Winterkonigin-Trial.

The filly is owned by Jayne McGivern, who recently bought Golden Horn (GB) to stand as a dual-purpose sire at Overbury Stud and who also owns some smart National Hunt mares, including the dam of Constitution Hill (GB) (Blue Bresil {Fr}).

McGivern has joked she is “going over to the dark side” by rekindling her Flat ownership, and Sirona, who is now two from three in the early stages of her career, looked a smart prospect for next year in her four-length triumph.
