FEDERAL INTEGRITY ACT SAILS THROUGH U.S. HOUSE

Courtesy Architect of the Capitol

by T.D. Thornton

By a unanimous Sept. 29 voice vote, the United States House of Representatives passed a years-in-the-making bill that, if eventually signed into law, will develop and implement anti- doping, medication control, drug testing, and racetrack safety standard programs enforced by an independent authority whose powers would supersede the long-standing state-by-state regulation of the sport. HR 1754, which has existed in various proposed forms since 2015 and was amended Sept. 9 to match the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act (HISA) companion legislation that got introduced in the U.S. Senate that same day, passed on Tuesday after five members of Congress from both parties spoke in favor of it while no representatives voiced objections. The Senate version of the HISA (SB 4547) does not currently appear on the near-term calendar of that chamber for voting. But it was introduced by Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-KY), who determines which items come up for action, and McConnell has previously indicated he's strongly in favor of a vote happening prior to the end of the current legislative session. McConnell's press office issued a laudatory statement after the House's passage that did not indicate a timetable for a Senate vote, only noting that "work continues to pass this bill into law." If the HISA next passes the Senate, President Donald Trump would then have the opportunity to sign it into law.

AFTER HHR DECISION FROM COURT, KY RACING INDUSTRY CONSIDERS NEXT STEPS

by Bill Finley

Still reeling from a decision by the Kentucky Supreme Court that ruled that Historical Horse Racing (HHR) machines are illegal, the racing and breeding industries in the state have continued to work behind the scenes to find a way to keep the gaming machines operating. The machines have proved so popular that they handled $2.2 billion during the most recent fiscal year and contribute tens of millions annually to purses.

The court ruled that the machines, which resemble slot machines, did not fall under the legal definition of pari-mutuel gambling and, therefore, could not be approved by the Kentucky Racing Commission.

NEW JERSEY PURSE SUBSIDY CUT BY $5M 9

After a $20-million purse subsidy that was used to bolster purses at New Jersey's Thoroughbred and Standardbred tracks was left out of an initial budget proposal from Governor Phil Murphy, lawmakers have approval a final budget that will include a $15-million subsidy for the 2021 racing season.

KY TO CONSIDER WHIP PENALTY CHANGES 10

The penalty structure for the new slate of restrictive whipping regulations passed by the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission (KHRC) back on June 16 appears to be on its way to an overhaul after the KHRC Rules Committee unanimously voted Sept. 29 to present a "days instead of dollars" system to the full board for reconsideration.

The House was meeting Tuesday under a "suspension of the rules" session that is routinely employed a way to speed up voting when a large number of bills have bipartisan support and do not appear to face any objections from voting lawmakers. Debate time is limited to 40 minutes and no amendments can be offered in a rules-suspended Congressional setting.

HR 1754 was one of 26 bills up for discussion in this manner Tuesday, and although no formal vote count was tallied, it was clear from the strong chorus of "ayes" without a single dissenting vote that the measure received the required two-thirds support to be passed.

The low-key, matter-of-fact passage on Tuesday lacked any of the polarizing discourse that has defined the controversial measure within the sport over the past half-decade.

Although numerous industry organizations, including The Jockey Club, the National Thoroughbred Racing Association, various horse-health coalitions, and a number of top-tier racetracks have supported passage of the Integrity Act, other entities, including the National Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association and the Association of Racing Commissioners International, have spoken out against it, claiming at times that their input has not been sought or considered as the legislation has been crafted.

The passage with nary a dissenting House vote on Tuesday also marks a stunning turnaround for a bill that GovTrack (a legislative transparency organization that uses logistic regression analysis to rank the likelihood of passage of the 10,000 bills that come up annually in Congress) once gave only a 2% chance of being enacted back in 2015.

The five Congress people who spoke in favor during Tuesday's debate session testified mostly in general terms while advocating for the bill's passage, and at times even lapsed into congratulatory language before the voice vote came back affirmative, taking the time to thank long lists of industry and governmental supporters. There was no mention of the nuts-and-bolts implementation of the HISA, nor any detail-oriented talk about one of its most important concessions that helped to achieve a recent degree of compromise: the phasing-out of race-day medications, instead of banning them outright, like previous versions of the bill had sought to do.

Rep. Frank Pallone Jr. (D-NJ), who chairs the House Committee on Energy and Commerce, which had advanced the amended the bill to the House floor by a 46-5 vote, stressed the need for uniformity in the sport's oversight that he said can only be achieved by doing away with the current model of disparate regulation in which rules are set by the 38 individual states that allow pari-mutuel horse racing.

"The bill establishes uniform standards for medication and anti-doping control, and racetrack safety for Thoroughbred horse racing," Pallone said. "This will help ensure that we can maintain a safe, thriving horse racing industry. It also applies stronger safeguards and enforcement against performance-enhancing drugs [PEDs]. For a sport in which fans place billions of dollars of bets, trust in the authenticity of competition is crucial. The very legitimacy of the sport is undermined if the competitors and public cannot trust that all racehorses are competing on a level playing field."

Rep. Paul Tonko (D-NY), who has co-sponsored three different versions of the Integrity Act (including the current amended version), framed the House's passage of the bill as an opportunity to lock in a better future for horse racing.

"That patchwork system simply doesn't work. This national approach brings great hope to the integrity of this great industry. If horse racing is to thrive as an industry and once again capture the public's imagination, we must do better," Tonko said.

Tonko explained how the new board of the independent authority would include "voices representing a spectrum of perspectives within the horse racing industry." Yet he also stated how representation on that board would be "subject to strict conflict of interest rules." He did not offer specifics on how to achieve that difficult balance of inclusion and objectivity.

Several representatives who spoke in favor of the bill referenced an honor roll of America's great racehorses when championing for passage of the HISA. Yet Rep. Andy Barr (R-KY) spoke instead about the raw economics of the horse industry, which he said contributes between $26 billion and $50 billion (depending on the estimate source) in direct economic impact to the U.S. economy, while employing 988,394 workers.

"Advocating for this industry requires more than just celebrating its proud heritage," Barr said. "I've always believed that the future prosperity of this sport depends on uniformity of the rules of racing."

Barr, who co-chairs the Congressional Horse Caucus and who, in conjunction with Tonko, has co-sponsored three versions of Integrity Act, said that the current lack of uniformity "has impeded interstate commerce. It has compromised the international competitiveness of the industry. It has undermined public confidence in the safety and integrity of the sport, and the industry is in desperate need of certainty."

Kevin Attard Talks GI Woodbine Mile Heroine and Claim of the Century Starship Jubilee

Barr continued: "As a conservative who believes in federalism and states' rights, I nevertheless understand that the Constitution gives Congress the power to regulate interstate commerce precisely for the purpose of eliminating these kinds of impediments to interstate exchange. And as I've said many times as a limited government conservative, this legislation is not about more regulation. It is about creating a single, nationwide set of rules that will result in smarter, more effective, and streamlined regulation for the industry."

Barr said McConnell's version of the bill that the House adopted "materially improves on our previous versions by adding a focus on track surface safety and by making reasonable, minor changes that have enabled us to enlarge our coalition of support."

"I appreciate the willingness of all constituencies within the industry to compromise and to forge a consensus product," Barr concluded. "This was not easy. But it was necessary to get us to this day [and to] enable the industry to attract a new generation of fans and investors to strengthen the Thoroughbred breed."

INDUSTRY REACTIONS

CHURCHILL DOWNS INCORPORATED:

"It is critical to the future of Thoroughbred racing that the safety and integrity of our sport be governed by world-class, uniform standards across the United States. The leadership of Senator McConnell and Congressman Barr has been instrumental in our shared goal of bringing the Thoroughbred industry together to achieve this goal."

KEENELAND:

"This groundbreaking legislation and the collaborative effort behind it speaks to the commitment those of us in the Thoroughbred industry have to establish uniform safety and integrity standards across the U.S. and bring American racing in line with international guidelines."

THE JOCKEY CLUB:

"The Jockey Club has long pursued a collaborative solution within our industry to establish national reforms ensuring clean competition and improved safety for horses and humans alike. We strongly believe that the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act is vital to developing uniform and effective medication and safety regulations that will enhance the integrity and safety of American horse racing and improve the sport."

BREEDERS' CUP LIMITED:

"This legislation gives us an opportunity to make the single most significant and far-reaching safety and integrity enhancement in the history of Thoroughbred racing by bringing our sport into the 21st century and protecting its future for generations to come."

1/ST RACING:

"At 1/ST RACING our priority is to ensure the safety of our horses and riders and we believe that the investment into equine health and safety is not on only the right thing to do, it is crucial to the future of Thoroughbred racing. The Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act recognizes that industry stakeholders including the owners, trainers, breeders, jockeys, and racetrack operators must be unified toward a new standard of equine health, safety, and welfare."

DAVE O'ROURKE, NYRA President and CEO:

"The passage of the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act in the U.S. House of Representatives paves the way for a uniform, national approach to medication control and anti-doping across the sport. Thanks to Rep. Paul Tonko (D-NY) and Rep. Andy Barr (R-KY), today's bi-partisan vote leaves no doubt as to the importance of this legislation in securing the future of horse racing in the United States. NYRA urges the U.S. Senate to quickly consider and passthe Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act."

Anti-Doping and Animal Welfare Groups

U.S. ANTI-DOPING AGENCY:

"The introduction of the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act marks a historic moment for Thoroughbred horse racing. This game-changing, bipartisan legislation will protect the health and safety of equine athletes and provide clean competitors a level playing field. USADA is honored and humbled to carry out the anti-doping responsibilities detailed in the Act, implementing uniform rules through our independent model in service of clean competition. As with Olympic sport, one set of rules, enforced independently and uniformly, is the bedrock of any meaningful anti-doping program."

WATER HAY OATS ALLIANCE:

"Without federal legislation mandating that USADA enact 'clean' drug rules, reliable testing, qualified labs and strict penalties for violators, the sport of American horse racing faces an uncertain future. With Senator McConnell's leadership and the continued efforts of Representatives Andy Barr and Paul Tonko in the House, WHOA's members look forward to the day when our great sport can rebuild its reputation, protect our beloved horses and their jockeys, and reclaim racing's place as one of America's top spectator sports."

HUMANE SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES:

"We cannot continue to look the other way when a racehorse is severely injured or killed during training or a race. This measure will advance necessary reforms that will make or break horseracing in the United States."

Trainers

DALE ROMANS (All-time Win Leader at Churchill Downs):

"My colleagues and I love this game and love our horses. We want them both to flourish with safety and integrity. It is time for me to announce I support the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act (HISA) in order to unify our medication control under the aegis of USADA, and for our sport to develop and enforce one rulebook of standards and procedures for the health and safety of horse and rider."

TODD PLETCHER, Two-time Kentucky Derby Winning Trainer:

"I thank you for your leadership and vision in sponsoring the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act (HISA) to reform anti-doping practices for Thoroughbred racing and to create a meaningful program of racetrack safety standards to better protect and nurture our equine athletes. You will have my support for this initiative, which is both critical and timely for the Thoroughbred industry."

JANET ELLIOT, Hall of Fame Trainer:

"It is high time that America joins with the rest of the racing world, and develops uniform international rules and standards. It is absurd that each state in the country has its own set of rules. In order to have top class racing we must work together to abolish all race day medication. The elimination of performance enhancing drugs is imperative for the health and safety of our equine and human athletes, and the long-term health of the breeding industry. I support the efforts made by WHOA and wish to see the progression of the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act."

Veterinary

ROOD AND RIDDLE EQUINE HOSPITAL:

"In addition to its emphasis on safety, fairness, and integrity this bill represents a step in the direction of nationwide uniformity and cooperation, which our industry greatly needs."

HAGYARD EQUINE MEDICAL INSTITUTE:

"Hagyard supports independent oversight of uniform laboratory standards, testing, and accountability. A uniform set of rules to govern horse racing's therapeutic medications will help racing achieve the highest level of welfare for the horses and jockeys crucial to our industry. Hagyard Equine Medical Institute understands that any effort that can enhance the safety of horseracing requires the support of the veterinary community. We are encouraged by the spirit of compromise demonstrated and we appreciate the collaborative efforts put forth by multiple industry stakeholders."

Industry Associations

NATIONAL THOROUGHBRED RACING ASSOCIATION:

"We thank Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell for his willingness and unique ability to bring the industry to the table to craft this comprehensive legislation. We also applaud Congressmen Paul Tonko (D-NY) and Andy Barr (R-KY) and Senator Kirsten Gillibrand (D-NY) for their pioneering efforts in support of federal anti-doping and medication control standards in the form of the Horseracing Integrity Act, which served as the basis for this historic compromise."

KENTUCKY THOROUGHBRED ASSOCIATION:

"The Kentucky Thoroughbred Association endorses the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act of 2020, to be introduced by Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell, adding independence and accountability to the original principles of uniformity in laboratory standards, testing and penalties."

NEW YORK THOROUGHBRED HORSEMEN'S ASSOCIATION:

"Horse Racing is at a crossroads. The 2019 breakdown crisis and this year's shocking indictments of veterinarians and trainers have exposed the industry's uneven commitment to both equine safety and competitive integrity. What's been obvious for years, to owners, trainers, bettors and fans--is that our industry's institutions need structural change."

THOROUGHBRED HORSEMEN'S ASSOCIATION:

"It has been our widely-expressed view that the original Horseracing Integrity Act, as proposed, should encompass mandatory equine safety and welfare standards for all racetracks and horsemen, and the creation of an investigative and enforcement arm of the industry. We intend to continue to be a constructive participant since the legislation, if enacted, will require substantial industry support and assistance."

ALEX WALDROP, NTRA President and Chief Executive Officer:

"Today's historic passage of the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act (HISA) by the U.S. House of Representatives by an overwhelmingly favorable bipartisan vote reflects broad industry support for much-needed national standards for anti-doping and medication control as well as racetrack safety. Today's action would not have been possible without the longtime support of Representatives Paul Tonko (D-NY) and Andy Barr (R-KY) who have demonstrated time and again on key issues as diverse as internet wagering and tax reform, they understand the importance of our multi-billion-dollar industry that accounts for nearly 500,000 jobs nationwide."

Kentucky Thoroughbred Association Executive Director Chauncey Morris said the sport's best hope now rests with the state's General Assembly, which could approve legislation that would make the machines legal. One way of doing so would be to pass legislation that changed the definition of pari-mutuel gambling so that it covers HHR. HHR allows bettors to wager on replays of races that have already been run. "By the looks of it, this may need a legislative fix," Morris said. "I know that everybody is sitting back and crafting their strategies on how to accomplish that."

Morris said that he does not expect anything to happen within state government until after the November election.

"I suspect we will learn a lot more about the prospects for this after the election," he said. "In the absence of a special session, you're going to have to wait for the natural beginning of the General Assembly. To be clear, it was a shocking and disappointing decision, but the decision did provide a road map on how the legislature, if they are so motivated, can change their definitions. Beyond that, everybody can speculate on what is going to happen but it will begin and end with the Kentucky General Assembly."

Chauncey Morris | Magic Millions

Morris said it is hard to predict what the General Assembly would do, but added that some of the most influential lawmakers in the state have always supported horse racing.

"We have had some conversations but you never know what is going to happen until the General Assembly starts and takes up the issue," he said. "It's not dissimilar to what we saw with the Horse Racing Integrity and Safety Act that was introduced five years ago and it just cleared a first hurdle in the House. Legislation, it works in strange ways. I will say that it is no secret that our industry has some very meaningful friendships and allies in the Kentucky General Assembly, not the least of which is Senator Damon Thayer, the Speaker and others."

Thayer, the Senate Majority Leader, is a former racing executive who has been one of the sport's biggest supporters in the state capital of Frankfort. But Thayer said he was not ready to commit to an effort to craft legislation that would legalize HH.

"I'm just not ready or willing to talk about a legislative fix at this time," he said.

"I don't have a strong level of confidence that a legislative solution is a possibility," he added.

HHR could be a thorny issue for some legislators. The push to have them declared illegal was led by the Kentucky Family Foundation, a socially conservative group that says it works on behalf of "families and the values that make families strong." In a conservative state where religious organizations have a lot of clout, there will likely be many politicians who don't want to come off as pro-gambling.

"This is a conservative state and this kind of caught everybody by surprise and now we have to find another alternative," Morris said.

Thayer said he was keeping an eye on what steps might be taken by Exacta Systems, an HHR manufacturer. The Boynton Beach, Fla.-based company issued a press release last week that said it will introduce a new HHR system that will be legal based on the guidelines set forth in the Kentucky Supreme Court ruling.

"While we are disappointed with the Court's decision, we do appreciate the clarity that the Court has provided as it pertains to HHR in Kentucky," Exacta Systems President Jeremy Stein said in a statement.

"After several years of litigation, we now have certainty on how HHR systems must operate in the state. In anticipation of this ruling, Exacta has devoted several months of development time to produce an alternate HHR system that complies with the Supreme Court decision. After reading opposing legal briefs and hearing the questions asked at oral arguments, we wanted to have an alternative system in place that addressed the objections raised by opposing counsel and the various Justices, as a contingency in the case of a negative ruling. The updated Exacta system is fully compliant with the requirements as articulated by the Supreme Court, and we are excited to present our updated system to the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission in the coming days."

The Supreme Court decision was announced last Thursday, but the state's HHR operations have yet to be discontinued. The Family Foundation has called on the tracks to cease operating the HHR machines. Kentucky Horse Racing Commission Executive Director Marc Guilfoil was not available Tuesday to clarify why the machines were still in operation.

NEW JERSEY PURSE SUBSIDY CUT BY JUST $5 MILLION by Bill Finley

Monmouth Park | Sarah Andrew

After a $20-million purse subsidy that was used to bolster purses at New Jersey's Thoroughbred and Standardbred tracks was left out of an initial budget proposal from Governor Phil Murphy, lawmakers have approval a final budget that will include a $15-million subsidy for the 2021 racing season.

The money will be divided evenly between the two breeds.

"I am pleased that the governor has seen fit to give us back 15 of the $20 million that is going to go support purses next year," said Dennis Drazin, Chairman and CEO of Darby Development, which manages Monmouth Park.

"Since it was taken out of the budget, we have worked hard on this and, fortunately, through leadership in the Senate and the Assembly, as well as a lot of our local politicians who supported the effort, the Governor saw fit to put it back in the budget. We would have liked to have had the full $20 million, but given that he is cutting everybody, I am thrilled that the Governor has our back and recognizes the importance of the industry and how important it is to save a lot of jobs and keep us competitive."

Though Monmouth will have $2.5 million less to put toward its purse account, Drazin said he didn't anticipate that there would be a purse cut next year.

Approved prior to the 2019 meet, the purse subsidy was a much-needed shot in the arm for New Jersey racing that brought its purse levels up to a point where they were competitive with neighboring states that benefit from revenues from casinos.

JCSA REVEALS PLANS FOR 2021 SAUDI CUP, ISSUES UPDATE ON MAXIMUM SECURITY

by Bill Finley

In a press briefing held Tuesday, The Jockey Club of Saudi Arabia announced that the 2021 running of the $20 million Saudi Cup would be held Feb. 20, one week earlier than the date for the inaugural edition of the world's richest race. The announcement was made by HRH Prince Bandar Bin Khalid Al Faisal, Chairman of the JCSA, who, during a Q-and-A session with the media, also addressed the situation concerning Maximum Security (New Year's Day) and his former trainer Jason Servis. Shortly after Maximum Security crossed the wire first in the 2020 running of the race, Servis, his trainer, was among 27 individuals indicted for allegedly giving his horses performance-enhancing drugs. The JCSA announced that his owners would not be paid their $10-million share of the purse pending a further investigation. Prince Bandar indicated that the JCSA will base its final decision on the outcome of the legal preceding against Servis in the U.S.

"We will have to await what are the results of this investigation (in the U.S.) and act accordingly," Prince Bandar said. "There are only two choices ahead of us. Either Maximum Security and his team are vindicated and therefore we can pay out the prize money and this becomes history. If not, as per our rules, there will be a disqualification and the prize money will go to the horse who finished second and all of the prize money after that will be adjusted. These are the only two options available to us.We are very encouraged that the U.S. is taking a very serious position when it comes to performance-enhancing drugs and we all know what happens in the U.S. matters." Cont. p10

Maximum Security | Jockey Club of Saudi Arabia

Prince Bandar | Jockey Club of Saudi Arabia

Despite the Maximum Security situation, the inaugural running of the Saudi Cup and several supporting stakes races was widely viewed as a major success in terms of the quality of horses that came in from all over the world to participate.

"It's hard to overstate the success of Saudi Cup 2020 when you consider that in year one of a brand-new international racing event, we attracted some of the very best horses, trainers, and jockeys in the world," Prince Bandar said. "We witnessed 22 individual Group or Grade 1 winners, who had accumulated an impressive 34 wins at that level between them. That would be an excellent statistic for even the most well-established race meetings in the world, let alone to have that caliber in year one."

In an effort to continue to build the event, the JCSA has increased the purses of three races on the undercard, which will raise the total amount of prize money paid out over the two-day meet from $29.2 million to $30.5 million. The most significant increase will come in the Saudi Derby, a 3-year-old race run at 1,600 meters on the dirt. Its purse will go from $800,000 to $1.5 million. About 10,000 fans attended the 2020 Saudi Cup, and Prince Bandar said efforts are underway to increase the attendance in 2020 by about 30 percent. He acknowledged, however, that the COVID-19 pandemic has meant those plans may be subject to change. He anticipated that, at the very least, owners will be able to attend the races come February.

"Take into account that the situation here in Saudi Arabia is a lot better picture than most parts of the world," he said. "The question is how accessible will the Kingdom be come February to people from all over the world. That largely depends on how the COVID-19 pandemic turns out in the upcoming months. We will arrange for the teams around the horses and the owners to attend. It remains to be seen what we can do when it comes to spectators."

JCSA Director of Strategy and International Racing Tom Ryan said it was too early to know which horses will be pointing toward the Saudi Cup. But the JCSA's presentation included a video clip from Bob Baffert, who said he would be pointing Mucho Gusto (Mucho Macho Man) to the race. Owned by Prince Faisal bin Khaled bin Abdulaziz of Saudi Arabia, Mucho Gusto finished fourth this year.

The International Jockeys Challenge, to be held Feb. 19, will also return and will include seven female jockeys, five international male jockeys and two Saudi-based riders. The jockeys will compete for $100,000 plus 15% of prize money. The 2020 challenge featured the first ever appearances in Saudi Arabia by female jockeys.

KY TO CONSIDER WHIP PENALTY CHANGES TO ELIMINATE FINES, EMPHASIZE SUSPENSIONS by T.D. Thornton

The penalty structure for the new slate of restrictive whipping regulations passed by the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission (KHRC) back on June 16 appears to be on its way to an overhaul after the KHRC Rules Committee unanimously voted Sept. 29 to present a "days instead of dollars" system to the full board for reconsideration.

In essence, a series of escalating disciplinary actions will replace the suspension-plus-fine system that was originally based on a percentage of the purse being taken away from riders who violate the "six underhanded strikes per race" rule (with only two of those strikes allowed in succession and with whipping in the first furlong of races not counting against the six strikes).

Sarah Andrew

On Tuesday, committee members debated whether removing the monetary fines would provide enough of a deterrent to keep jockeys from violating the new rules, which have not yet gone into effect. They also discussed how the Kentucky penalty structure might or might not contribute to nationwide uniformity, as a number of other jurisdictions are also in the midst of implementing new anti-whipping rules.

Trainer Wesley Ward, a retired champion jockey, told fellow committee members that, "I don't think that fining them is going to make any difference at all. The days is what really stops things.

"I've been in both situations," Ward continued. "As a rider, you're getting down into the race, and if you can hit [your mount] they win. [So] I think a lot depends on the rider and the significance of the race. That's number one. And when you talk about the [GI] Kentucky Derby, you're not going to stop the guys [from whipping beyond the rules]. They're going to take a [suspension] or whatever if they feel they need to do that to win the race. Now on an everyday Wednesday or Thursday, I think they're going to adhere to the rules."

Rules Committee chair Mark Simendinger candidly admitted that, "I guess my feeling is that the chances of us getting this right the first time is probably not real high. I would just like to get started and see how it goes. And once we start seeing whether it's working or not working it's going to become more apparent to us what we have to do to make the changes that we have to."

The KHRC's Safety and Welfare Committee will next need to sign off on the changes, with the full commission likely voting on the new penalties at its Oct. 20 meeting.

According to an edited and redlined set of the new proposed penalties, seven or more strikes of a horse by a riding crop in a race shall result in penalties as follows:

- First offense: a verbal warning.
- Second offense: One to three-day suspension (discretion of the stewards, for this item and those below).
- Third offense: Three to five-day suspension.
- Fourth offense: Five to 10-day suspension.
- Fifth offense: 10 to 15-day suspension
- Sixth offense or more: Up to one-year suspension.

The stewards will retain the discretion to assess a suspension of up to one year for an egregious misuse of the crop, regardless of the number of times that the jockey struck the horse or the number of times that the jockey or driver had previously violated this regulation.

If a jockey rides for six consecutive months without a crop violation in any jurisdiction, then his or her penalty schedule is reset, such that subsequent crop violations will constitute a first offense.

The stewards and commission shall consider any mitigating or aggravating circumstances properly presented when assessing penalties pursuant to this administrative regulation.

A rider cannot receive multiple disciplinary actions on the same race card without verbal confirmation of any prior rule violations by the stewards. Failure of prior notice will result in a single violation recorded for the race card.

A suspension may be increased if it is determined that an appeal of stewards' ruling under this regulation is deemed "frivolous."

FAIR GROUNDS MUST PAY RECORD FINE IN CLEAN WATER ACT SETTLEMENT

by T.D. Thornton

In an attempt to resolve years of federal Clean Water Act (CWA) violations at its Fair Grounds racetrack in New Orleans, Churchill Downs Louisiana Horseracing Company, LLC, has agreed to pay a $2.7-million penalty--the largest civil fine ever paid by a concentrated animal feeding operation in a CWA matter.

Under the terms of the settlement announced Sept. 29 by the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Department of Justice (DOJ), the limited liability company that runs Fair Grounds must also implement $5.6 million in operational changes and construction projects to eliminate the unauthorized discharges of manure, urine, and wastewater from the track's stable area.

"We are pleased to announce an agreement with Churchill Downs to address years of CWA violations at its Fair Grounds racetrack in New Orleans," said principal deputy assistant attorney general Jonathan Brightbill of the Justice Department's Environment and Natural Resources Division. "This consent decree will stop the flow of untreated process wastewater into the local sewer system, which leads to local waters used for fishing…in a way that recognizes the challenges presented by the racetrack's urban location."

Fair Grounds | Sarah Andrew

According to the joint EPA/DOJ press release, the federal complaint alleges that Fair Grounds violated the CWA, "including the terms and conditions of its Louisiana Pollutant Discharge Elimination System permit. Specifically, the complaint alleges that since at least 2012, Fair Grounds has regularly discharged untreated process wastewater into the New Orleans municipal separate storm sewer system that leads to the London Avenue Canal, Lake Pontchartrain, the Mississippi River, and ultimately to the Gulf of Mexico."

According to the release, Fair Grounds's permit prohibits any discharge unless there is a significant rain event (i.e., when 10 inches of rain falls in 24 hours).

"In violation of their permit, Fair Grounds has discharged wastewater after as little as a half-inch of rain, as well as in dry weather," the EPA/DOJ release stated. "The complaint alleges that unauthorized discharges of contaminated wastewater occurred more than 250 times between 2012 and 2018. The untreated wastewater contains manure, urine, horse wash water, and other biological materials that are 'pollutants' as defined by the CWA, the facility's permit, and the applicable EPA and Louisiana Department of Environmental Quality regulations."

The release stated that the consent decree "includes a provision requiring Fair Grounds to implement additional remedial measures if these measures do not successfully eliminate unauthorized discharges."

The settlement was lodged Tuesday in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana and is subject to a 30-day public comment period. The penalty is due within 30 days of the effective date of the consent decree, the release stated.

TAYLOR MADE PURCHASES ANOTHER STANDARDBRED STALLION by Bill Finley

Taylor Made Stallions has purchased the trotting stallion Pastor Stephen (Cantab Hall) and will stand the horse next year in Indiana, it was announced Tuesday.

The purchase marks the second time since 2018 that Taylor Made has made an investment in harness racing. In 2018, the Taylor operation was part of a deal to import New Zealand champion Lazarus. A pacer, he won two of six starts in the U.S. in 2018 and now stands at stud at Deo Volente Farms in New Jersey.

In its early days, Taylor Made was heavily invested in Standarbreds and its president, Duncan Taylor, has said the recent investments in Standarbreds has been a way to help return the operation to its family's roots.

Pastor Stephen was the champion 2-year-old trotting colt in 2010 when winning six of 11 starts and earning $653,748. He went four for 11 during his 3-year-old campaign before retiring due to an injury. He was later sent to Sweden to stand at stud.

According to the press release announcing Pastor Stephen's purchase, he was bought for an undisclosed sum.

GOVERNOR SIGNS SEN. DODD'S HORSE RACING SAFETY LAWS

Gov. Gavin Newsom signed a law from Sen. Bill Dodd, D-Napa Tuesday to improve horse racing safety across California and build on reforms adopted last year. Additionally, the governor signed a second horse racing bill, co-authored by Sen. Dodd and Assembly member Adam Gray, D-Merced, incorporating recommendations from the California Horse Racing Board.

"The horse racing industry must accept and adopt forward-thinking solutions as the health and welfare of the sport's human and equine athletes are paramount to their future in California," said Gov. Newsom. "These bills are an essential step to create a safer and more transparent horse racing experience for everyone involved and can serve as a model for other states to follow."

"Making horse racing safer for horses and jockeys is critical for the future of this sport," Sen. Dodd said. "Thanks to Gov. Newsom for signing my bill, which will help ensure track conditions are right and horses are fit before they hit the starting gate."

In 2019, Sen. Dodd wrote Senate Bill 469 and followed this year with Senate Bill 800, which incorporates reforms recommended by the CHRB, including improved veterinary medical review prior to races and increased transparency in drug testing. The second bill, AB 1974, provides additional safeguards.

FALL STEEPLECHASE SCHEDULE, STARTING OCT. 4, TO BE LIVESTREAMED

The National Steeplechase Association (NSA) announced Tuesday that the fall season's first sanctioned race meet, The Foxfield Fall Races, will take place Sunday, Oct. 4 in Charlottesville, VA. While the races will run without spectators and under strict health and safety protocols, the NSA will livestream the races, feature commentary from the industry's experts and strong competition by steeplechasing's top horsemen.

In making the announcement, NSA President Al Griffin said, "This year has provided plenty of challenges for our sport, yet we continue to persevere. Despite the onerous regulations and protocols, we were able to run all of our races at Saratoga for the first time in a long while. We are in the process of indoctrinating a great group of young jockeys to American Steeplechasing this fall. Everyone is stepping up and making the most of our limited opportunities. Our fall live streaming opportunity is due to the generosity of our sponsors: Brown Advisory, Charleston Post and Courier Newspaper, Bruton Street (Charlie Fenwick, Charlie Noell, Mike Hankin) and The Virginia Equine Alliance. This unprecedented support will allow us all to view steeplechasing at a time when spectators are not allowed at the race meets."

Steeplechasing enthusiasts are encouraged to livestream here at 12:30 p.m. EST. The races offer opportunities for a broad swath of the steeplechase community's horses in training.

The Foxfield Fall Races will feature seven races with the sport's prominent owner/trainer/jockey teams in the field. Although the races will be run without spectators, NSA owners and other essential horsemen and officials will be allowed on the property.

BREEDERS' CUP OFFERS $5K PREAKNESS SPIN TO WIN

The Breeders' Cup announced the $5k Preakness Spin to Win contest, which highlights the GI Preakness S, scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 3 at Pimlico Race Course. The grand prize is $5,000, while five additional winners will receive $250 gift cards which can redeemed at the Breeders' Cup Shop.

For more information on the $5K Preakness Spin to Win, which continues through 6:45 p.m. ET Oct. 3, visit www.breedersCup.com/Preakness. Winners must be legal residents of the U.S. and Canada (excluding Quebec) and be at least 18 years of age at the time of entry.

"Now that the Preakness S. has become a part of the Breeders' Cup Challenge "Win and You're In" Series, the anticipation and stakes are higher than ever before as fans wait to see which horse will win and go on to compete in the $6-million Longines Breeders' Cup Classic Nov. 7," said Justin McDonald, Breeders' Cup Senior Vice President of Marketing. "The Preakness presents the perfect opportunity to engage the horse racing community during one of the sport's biggest days and we're hopeful that this contest will drive additional awareness and viewership surrounding the race as well."

To participate, players spin the digital wheel and will be assigned a Preakness runner at random. Six winners will be selected from the pool of entrants who were assigned the winning horse of the Preakness.

BREEDERS' CUP LAUNCHES 12TH BETTING CHALLENGE

Registration for the 12th Breeders' Cup Betting Challenge (BCBC), which will be held in conjunction with the Breeders' Cup World Championships at Keeneland Racecourse Nov. 6-7, is now available at www.breedersCup.com/BCBC. This year's BCBC total cash prize pool is expected to be $1 million based upon a minimum of 400 players registered. Due to COVID-19 restrictions, players will not be able to participate at Keeneland this year. All BCBC tournament play will be conducted online at www.TVG.com, the official Breeders' Cup wagering partner, www.Xpressbet.com, NYRA Bets and at designated satellite locations at Monmouth Park in Oceanport, N.J., and Gulfstream Park in Hallandale, Fl. Additional satellite locations, such as Santa Anita Park and Del Mar in California, will be announced at a later date if they are able to host players.

For the 2020 BCBC, a $2,500 buy-in and $7,500 betting bankroll ($10,000 total) are required of each player. All buy-in monies are applied to the prize pool. Players can bet into the Win, Place, Show, Exacta, Trifecta and Daily Double pools with their $7,500 bankroll over the two days and keep all monies earned from their betting.

"The excitement and prestige of playing in the Breeders' Cup Betting Challenge continues to grow as the ultimate test in live-money Thoroughbred racing tournaments, with horseplayers tackling the large and ultra-competitive fields of the World Championships races," said Tim Schram, BCBC Tournament Director.

Additionally, the 2020 BCBC will feature a $3-million National Horseplayer Champion (NHC) Tour bonus that will be awarded to any horseplayer who wins the BCBC and the NTRA Horseplayers Championship (NHC) in January 2021. As part of a reciprocal agreement with the NHC, Thomas Goldsmith, winner of this year's NHC in February, is eligible for a $3-million bonus should he win this year's BCBC. Players can earn free entry into the BCBC by winning a BCBC Qualifying Tournament. For details on upcoming live and online qualifying tournaments, go to www.Horseplayers.com.

In the 2019 BCBC, a record 457 players entered the competition and Brad Anderson of Sarasota, Fl. won after making a $25,900 wager on 9-2 Vino Rosso in the Longines GI Breeders' Cup Classic, the final race of the tournament. Anderson finished with a total score of 145,040 points and, with a first-place prize of $343,000, saw total winnings of $488,040.

TEXAS '21 THOROUGHBRED DATES SET, MINUS RETAMA by T.D. Thornton

With Retama Park opting to race only Quarter Horses in 2021, Sam Houston Race Park (46 dates) and Lone Star Park (42 dates) will make up the bulk of the Thoroughbred schedule in Texas next year. The Texas Racing Commission (TRC) approved the changes and granted the requested slate of race dates at its Sept. 29 meeting.

Retama had switched its schedule to exclusively Quarter Horses this season, swapping out Thoroughbred dates to other tracks in deference to the COVID-19 pandemic. It will continue that format into 2021.

Sam Houston's 2021 schedule will span Jan. 8-Apr. 3.

"Their request was originally for a 39-day Thoroughbred meet," said TRC chief steward Ricky Walker. "But because Retama Park has requested to run a straight Quarter Horse meet this year and has agreed to transfer some Thoroughbred purse money, Sam Houston agreed to add seven days to their request."

Lone Star is scheduled to race Apr. 16-July 18.

The Texas Thoroughbred Association (TTA), which oversees the accredited Texas-bred incentive program, had representatives testify both in writing and via videoconference at Tuesday's meeting stating that the organization cannot support any Lone Star dates request that features:

A) fewer than 49 dates
B) anything less than a four-dates-weekly race schedule.

A Lone Star official explained that the track remains open to the idea of requesting additional race dates at a later time, depending on how the pandemic affects business and projected purses over the next six months.

Gillespie County Fair was approved for its traditional eight-date mixed meet over four weekends in July and August.

The TTA stated in a Twitter posting after the meeting that estimated daily average purses at Sam Houston will be $235,000, with seven of the meet's 13 weeks featuring four racing dates per week. Lone Star, under the three-day weekly format, projects to pay out $225,000.

William Hill: Caesars Palace-owner in 'advanced' talks over £2.9bn offer

Caesars Entertainment, the Las Vegas casino-owner, says it is in advanced takeover talks with William Hill over a possible £2.9bn bid for the bookmaker. The US firm said William Hill's board had indicated it is minded to recommend its cash offer of 272p a share. William Hill has also received a takeover approach from US private equity firm Apollo. But Caesars said if William Hill chose Apollo, it would jeopardise a joint venture between the companies. BBC

SECOND CHANCES: SPEAKER'S CORNER

by Steve Sherack

Click above for a replay of Speaker's Corner's debut third at Saratoga Sept. 7

In this continuing series, TDN's Senior Editor Steve Sherack catches up with the connections of promising maidens to keep on your radar.

How much buzz was there ahead of Speaker's Corner (c, 2, Street Sense–Tyburn Brook, by Bernardini)'s debut run on closing day at Saratoga?

Considering patient Hall of Fame trainer Bill Mott's two-for-48 record with debuting juvenile runners sprinting in dirt maiden special weights at the Spa the past five seasons (stat courtesy DRF Formulator), the Godolphin homebred was nonetheless hammered down as the 3-5 favorite facing eight rivals on the GI Runhappy Hopeful S. undercard.

The bay's flashy worktab included a five-furlong move from the gate in :59 4/5 (3/20) Aug. 24 and a four-furlong bullet in :46 (1/109) Aug. 31, respectively.

Not off to the sharpest of beginnings from post two, Speaker's Corner raced on the inside in some traffic and was urged along by Junior Alvarado in seventh through an opening quarter in :22.39.

Still with plenty to do approaching the quarter pole, he was tipped out off the turn for home and finished with interest down the lane to just grab third, beaten 6 3/4 lengths by good-looking second-time starter Team Merchants (Nyquist).

Speaker's Corner earned a 59 Beyer Speed Figure for the effort.

Speaker's Corner was produced by an unraced daughter of GI Breeders' Cup Distaff heroine Round Pond (Awesome Again), a $5.75-million acquisition by Sheikh Mohammed's operation at the 2007 Fasig-Tipton November Sale.

This same Street Sense over Bernardini cross is also responsible for Godolphin's unbeaten GISW Maxfield and recent GIII Oklahoma Derby winner Shared Sense.

"As with most first-time starters, he was quite green," Godolphin President Jimmy Bell said. "Hopefully, he got some needed racing experience and we look forward to seeing him stretch out in the not-too-distant future. He's shown above average ability throughout most of his works. Time will tell."

Speaker's Corner has returned to the worktab since his unveiling with a pair of moves over the Oklahoma training track, including a five-furlong breeze in 1:02.89 (7/9) Sept. 25.

PEACE AND JUSTICE HAS FIRST WINNER AT PRESQUE ISLE

Like a Saltshaker (Peace and Justice) became the first winner for his freshman sire by War Front with an authoritative victory against open company at Presque Isle Tuesday. Fourth when unveiled at this oval Sept. 10, he worked a bullet half-mile in :46 4/5 here Sept. 22 in company with his stablemate Spankhurst (Speightster), who debuted in this event. Receiving Lasix for the first time in this second attempt, the PA-bred was bet down to 2-1 favoritism from an 8-1 morning-line quote. Breaking on top, the bay he was pressed through an opening quarter in :22.37 and a half in :45.18. Shaking free of his foes in the lane, Like a Saltshaker charged clear with ease to graduate by 3 1/4 lengths. Summerfest (Summer Front) was the runner-up. The winner is the first foal out of With Sprinkles, who produced a filly by Uptowncharlybrown in 2019 and a colt by that same sire this year. She was bred back to Boisterous.

CURTAIN UP FOR IRELAND'S FLAGSHIP SALE IN DONCASTER

By Emma Berry

DONCASTER, UK—It's crunch time for the European yearling market, with both Ireland's and Britain's major auctions being staged in the next fortnight. The major obvious difference is the relocation of the Orby Sale, which takes place over the next two days, to Doncaster. An expected difference, however, is a reduction in trade from some of the boom years the bloodstock market has enjoyed since the recovery from the major recession of 2008.

Considering the unprecedented backdrop to the sales calendar of 2020, the breeze-up sector and the early yearling sales have held up reasonably well, and it is of vital importance that the Orby Sale, the flagship auction of the Goffs calendar and one which has thrived of late, continues that trend.

It is fair to say that the mood on the sales ground at Doncaster settles somewhere between weary resignation that this year has been so trying in myriad ways, and a cautious optimism thanks to an increase in footfall on Tuesday as more trainers arrived in Doncaster. Cont. p2

PERSIAN KING TO STAND AT HARAS D'ETREHAM

MG1SW Persian King (Ire) (Kingman {GB}–Pretty Please {Ire}, by Dylan Thomas {Ire}) will stand at Haras d'Etreham in 2021, Etreham announced on Tuesday. The stud and SF Bloodstock in association with Darley and Dayton Investments will be involved with the three-time Group 1 winner's stallion career. A fee for the Sept. 6 G1 Prix du Moulin hero, who will join Almanzor (Fr), Hello Youmzain (Fr), City Light (Fr) and Scissor Kick (Aus), will be announced later. His final race will be the G1 Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe on Oct. 4.

Nicolas de Chambure of Haras d'Etreham said, "We are very pleased to have made an agreement with Dayton Investments and Godolphin to partner in the stallion career of Persian King. This is a very positive sign for France and demonstrates their confidence in our breeding industry and racing system." Cont. p4

What is unwavering is the praise from a range of participants for the Goffs team, which took decisive action to wrest the sale from its natural home of Kildare and has pulled out plenty of stops to ensure as pleasant experience as possible even under the ever-increasing restrictions being imposed on the public amid the ongoing coronavirus crisis.

International participation is crucial to the yearling market at this level and while it is impossible for the full range of potential overseas buyers to be present this year, vendors will have felt heartened to see several familiar faces from America in South Yorkshire over the last few days, including Justin Casse and Ben McElroy.

Agent Richard Frisby observing social-distancing rules | Emma Berry

"I actually left Keeneland early so I could quarantine in Ireland before I came here," said Casse, who is visiting Doncaster for the first time. "There are some horses that I am involved with in training in Ireland, so I got to spend a week watching them and looking at a few foals and yearlings, and horses I own, then I came over here on Sunday."

He continued, "It's nice to get out, because by this time of the year usually I'd have made six trips across the Atlantic. It's good for the mind to be out doing something. I don't think anyone is going to be shell-shocked by what the market does. We're all bracing ourselves for impact, so to speak. I don't know how many Americans are coming over but I've done my best to let those who might be interested know that I'm here. I've found the sales grounds very accommodating and very easy to navigate. There's plenty of space and I've gotten through the horses quickly."

Casse will not be alone in longing for a return to normal for next year's sales programme. He added, "This is an important sale for Ireland and I look forward to getting back there. I love Ireland and I like the sales grounds and the hospitality but this is a more than acceptable alternative."

Plenty of the Irish vendors on the sales ground this week are also operating at Doncaster for the first time and have had to employ some quick thinking to organise transport and accommodation for the horses and staff. The Irish National Stud, with its draft of 12 yearlings, including representatives of the stud's first-season sires Decorated Knight (GB) and National Defense (Ire), is one such consignor.

"We are used to going just 20 minutes down the road to get to Goffs so this has been a huge logistical effort to get the horses here, but the alternative was no sale at all," said Irish National Stud CEO Cathal Beale. "Credit to everyone for putting it on. The traffic to the doors has been fantastic and there seems to be quite a buzz about the place today so we are cautiously optimistic of a good sale. Goffs have gone to huge trouble and the sales complex is excellent."

A giant marquee to the side of the sales ring is just one new feature at the Goffs UK sales complex this week, and it is one that will certainly come into its own as Tuesday's warm sunshine gives way to the forecasted rain. Certainly the good weather so far this week has helped to keep spirits high among vendors, and Peter Fagan of Deerpark Stud was another who fulsome in his praise of the sales house. Cont. p3

He said, "It hasn't been an easy season for anyone but Goffs has done an excellent job to get this on. They've made a huge effort."

The Goffs complex in Kildare would usually be awash with Irish trainers and, at a time of year which is equally busy on the racing front, a number of them have made the trip to the UK, including Jessica Harrington, Joseph O'Brien, Michael Halford and Andy Oliver. No travel, even across the Irish Sea is without its complications at present.

With governments across Europe now frequently tweaking rules and restrictions as the coronavirus infection rate rises to levels previously seen in the early days of lockdown, it surely can't be taken for granted that the 2020 sales season will continue without further disruption. For the time being, a couple of days in sunny Donny will be appreciated all the more by those who are just grateful that the wheels of the industry are able to keep turning, even if, as expected, it transpires to be at a reduced rate.

Trained by Andre Fabre throughout his career, the bay was named a 'TDN Rising Star' at two and in his final race that year, saluted in the G3 Autumn S. at Newmarket for Ballymore Thoroughbred Ltd. Godolphin joined Ballymore in the ownership of Persian King and he picked up right where he left off, taking the G3 Prix de Fontainebleau and G1 French 2000 Guineas in quick succession, before running second in the G1 Prix du Jockey Club. This season he has added the G2 Prix du Muguet, G1 Prix d'Ispahan and Prix du Moulin to his ledger. His only performance out of the top two in his 12 starts was a fourth in the G1 Prix Jacques le Marois in August. His earnings stand at $1,292,499.

"Persian King has shown great courage and consistency in all his races," said trainer Andre Fabre. "He is a very calm horse, very relaxed but with a high cruising speed and explosive acceleration. He showed his quality at 2-years-old by beating two future Group1 winners at Newmarket and he progressed further at three and four. I am delighted that this magnificent horse will remain in France and join one of this country's leading studs."

The second foal from his winning dam, Persian King was bred by Dayton Investments Ltd. in Ireland. His dam is a half-sister to G1 Prix Ganay hero Planteur (Ire) (Danehill Dancer {Ire}), who ran second in both the G1 Prix du Jockey Club and G1 Grand Prix de Paris. Farther back are French Highweight, MGSW & G1SP Policy Maker (Ire) (Sadler's Wells) and G2 Prix Maurice de Nieuil hero Pushkin (Ire) (Caerleon), who ran second in the G1 Prix du Cadran. The outstanding European Horse of the Year Peintre Celebre (Nureyev) is under the Group 3-winning fourth dam Petroleuse (Ire) (Habitat). Petroleuse is kin to English Horse of the Year and French Classic victress Pawneese (Ire) (Carvin II {Fr}). Cont. p5

Anthony Stroud said, "Persian King was a magnificent yearling on whom we based high hopes. He represents a very interesting stallion prospect and I am delighted that Dayton Investment and Godolphin retain their involvement in his future stud career in France. Haras d'Etreham boasts a rich history and a dynamic roster of stallions, so this represents an ideal partnership."

ROUGET DUO IN GOOD FORM FOR ARC

White Birch Farm's MG1SW Sottsass (Fr) (Siyouni {Fr}) and Shadwell's GSW Raabihah (Sea The Stars {Ire}) worked in tandem at Deauville in advance of the Oct. 4 G1 Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe on Tuesday. If either delivers in the G1 Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe at ParisLongchamp, it would be a first for trainer Jean-Claude Rouget. The 2019 G1 Prix du Jockey Club hero took the G1 Prix Ganay second up this term and was runner-up in the G3 Prix Gontaut-Biron at Deauville in August. Only fourth in the G1 Irish Champion S. on Sept. 12, Sottsass will attempt to go two better than a third in last year's edition.

"Sottsass and Raabihah both worked well this morning," Rouget told the France Galop notes team. "I'm of the opinion that Sottsass is on much better terms with himself at this stage of the season. His race in Ireland did him a power of good. He should give a good account of himself on Sunday.

"As things stand, I have [him] in the same condition as last year; so I'm rediscovering the same horse as I did in the lead up to the 2019 race. This year, I haven't managed to get in the same condition as now owing to the racing calendar which has been perturbed by the pandemic. However, neither have I wished to go overboard, so as to ensure that that he's a fresh horse come the Arc, which has always been his objective."

"He knows the score, having acquitted himself well in the race last season, so he has the right to be concerned at the finish again. I share the opinion that he hasn't shown the required level of form to win the Arc this season, but I believe that he will run well and finish in the first three."

A winner when unveiled in January, Raabihah added the Listed Prix de la Seine in May and, although only fourth in the G1 Prix de Diane on July 5, bounced back with a win in the G3 Prix de Psyche. She was second in the Sept. 13 G1 Prix Vermeille at ParisLongchamp, her first attempt at the Arc distance.

Added Rouget, "Raabihah is similarly in peak condition. Our only question mark is the ground. This isn't in the sense that she would be inconvenienced by a heavy track; for we simply don't know as she has yet to tackle very soft conditions."

TELECASTER WITHDRAWN FROM ARC AFTER SETBACK

Castle Down Stud's MGSW Telecaster (GB) (New Approach {Ire}) has been withdrawn from Sunday's G1 Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe after a setback. The Hughie Morrison trainee was set to receive his favoured soft going, as more rain fell in Paris overnight and the forecast calls for more wet weather later this week in the Paris area. The 2019 G2 Dante S. winner relished the heavy going in the G2 Grand Prix de Deauville when last seen on Aug. 30.

"It's a real shame, but this is what can happen with horses--he's just wasn't 100% sound this morning," said Castle Down Stud's Mark Weinfeld. "We're absolutely gutted. It's nothing too serious, but it's just sod's law.

"He's in the G1 Champion S. at Ascot [on Oct. 17]--and as I haven't heard what the vet has said, I'm not sure if he'll make that or not. We just need to know what the problem is. It would be nice if he made Ascot, because that is likely to be soft ground too. It's rather deflated the week, though."

Weinfeld added, "I think he'll probably stay in training next year. "I was hoping we'd have had a good offer from a stud by now--but nothing has come yet, so we could continue next year and hope for a wet year. We're all very disappointed. But the horse is in one piece, and we live to fight another day."

Other defectors at this entry stage are: G1 St Leger winner Logician (GB) (Frankel {GB}) for Juddmonte and John Gosden, and Joseph O'Brien's quintet of Buckhurst (Ire) (Australia {GB}), Crossfirehurricane (Kitten's Joy), Thames River (GB) (Free Eagle {Ire}), Degraves (Ire) (Camelot {GB}) and New York Girl (Ire) (New Approach {Ire}), leaving a field of 15. UK JOCKEYS BENEFIT FROM ADDITION TO ELITE TRAVELLER EXEMPTION PROTOCOLS

Following a submission to Public Health England, there is now an addition to the British Horseracing Authority's Elite Traveller Exemption (ETE) protocols for elite sportspeople and essential support staff, which is effective immediately. The ETE applies for frequent travellers for competition in a country not covered by the travel corridor exemption, thus jockeys, trainers and stable staff who make frequent trips abroad for competition at COVID-19 secure venues in non-exempt countries may choose to register for a "Frequent Private Traveller" (FPT) option. This ruling will directly benefit the jockeys, trainers and stable staff in particular who will be engaged at the two-day G1 Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe meeting at ParisLongchamp on Oct. 3-4.

The FPT programme requires weekly testing and daily post-travel monitoring with the BHA Chief Medical Adviser Dr. Jerry Hill, individuals who travel to compete at international venues on day-trips and via private transport will be exempt from the full period of self-isolation on their return. Following their return to the UK, all personnel participating in this programme must self-isolate for seven days and are only exempt from this condition to train or compete. For the new FPT option to apply, individuals must register with Dr. Hill at least four days before their first trip abroad. Cont. p8

Alignak (GB) (Sea the Moon {Ger}) (lot 693), a listed winner and sporting an RPR rating of 110, will be sent through the ring as one of 22 from Sir Michael Stoute's Freemason Lodge Stables. A son of the German Champion Older Mare Albanova (GB) (Alzao), he is a half-brother to GSW Algometer (GB) (Archipenko); SW Alwilda (GB) (Hernando {Fr}), the dam of SW & G1SP Alpinista (GB) (Frankel {GB}); and MSW All at Sea (GB) (Sea The Stars {Ire}).

The ever popular Juddmonte draft of 26 features the listed-placed Emissary (GB) (Kingman {GB}) (lot 1126), a half-brother to European highweight and MG1SW Workforce (GB) (King's Best). Ballydoyle has a quartet of GSWs amongst its consignment of 47 in the forms of: G1 Phoenix S. third and G2 July S. victor Royal Lytham (Fr) (Gleneagles {Ire}) (lot 289); G2 Ballysax S. scorer Nobel Prize (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) (lot 714); lot 713, two-time group winner Royal Dornoch (Ire) (Gleneagles {Ire}); and G3 Derrinstown Stud Derby Trial S. hero Cormorant (Ire) (Kingman {GB}) (lot 717).

The largest consignment in the sale is Shadwell with 97, among them 18 horses rated over 95 by Timeform. The Castlebridge Consignment fields 81 and 69 will go through the ring from trainer Richard Hannon's East Everleigh operation. Other large consignments belong to Mark Johnston's Kingsley Park (64), Richard Fahey's Musley Bank (46), Roger Varian's Carlburg Stables (35), and Andrew Balding's Park House Stables (34).

In 2019, 985 horses sold for a gross of 25,393,400gns. The average was 25,780gns and the median was 12,000gns. Topping the sale was the 625,000gns Summer Sands (GB) (Coach House {Ire}) to Joseph O'Brien.

"The unique diversity of the Tattersalls Autumn Horses in Training Sale is the key to its enduring appeal to both domestic and international buyers," said Tattersalls Chairman Edmond Mahony.

"Every year the sale produces top-class Flat and National Hunt performers and this year's catalogue has all the ingredients to appeal to the customary global audience. We have already seen our live internet and telephone bidding facilities widely embraced, particularly at the recent July and August Sales, and we will continue to explore every possible avenue for buyers to participate at all of our sales despite the prevailing challenges."

ENBIHAAR RETIRED AFTER SUSTAINING A MINOR INJURY

MGSW & G1SP Enbihaar (Ire) (Redoute's Choice {Aus}--Chanterelle {Fr}, by Trempolino) has been retired due to injury, Shadwell's Racing Manager Angus Gold announced on Tuesday. The John Gosden trainee and 2019 English Highweighted Older Mare at 14 furlongs and above was pointing for this weekend's G1 Qatar Prix de Royallieu.

"Enbihaar will miss the Royallieu as she is currently at Shadwell Stud," said Gold of the €500,000 Arqana August yearling. "She had a minor injury, and as a result has been retired--very sadly. She's been an absolute star, and I wish we had a few more like her--with her enthusiasm and ability.

"It was sad not to win a Group One. But she did very well to win what she did, and she was a real torch-bearer for us for the last few years. She was beautifully trained--I must say that. It's very sad, but it was fantastic to keep her in training this year to win a couple more group races. She's given us a lot of fun, and obviously we'll give her a proper chance at stud."

A winner of the G2 Lancashire Oaks, G2 Lillie Langtry S. and Doncaster's G2 Park Hill S. as a sophomore, the Haras du Mezeray-bred ran third in the 2019 Prix de Royallieu. A rare returning 4-year-old in these colours, she duplicated a victory in the Lillie Langtry S. and, in her final start, won York's G2 Lonsdale Cup on Aug. 21. She retires with a mark of 12-7-1-2 and $636,973 in earnings.

Her dam is a half-sister to Group 1 winner Amonita (GB) (Anabaa), and a full to MGSW Cox Orange (Trempolino), herself the dam of G1 1000 Guineas third Vista Bella (GB) (Diktat {GB}). Besides Enbhihaar, Chanterelle has also thrown GSP Silent Attack (GB) (Dream Ahead) and SP King Bolete (Ire) (Cape Cross {Ire}).

PHILIP FREEDMAN NEW ROR CHAIRMAN

Owner/breeder Philip Freedman has been named the new Chairman of Retraining of Racehorses (RoR) charity, the British Horseracing Authority and RoR announced on Tuesday. Freedman, part of the sport's tripartite Member's Committee as the Chair of the Horsemen's Group, succeeds Paul Roy. His term will begin on Jan. 1, 2021.

"I am delighted to be taking over as Chair of Retraining of Racehorses," said Freedman. "As someone who has spent much of their life working with horses and within the racing and breeding industries, I recognise the importance of ensuring that the horses we breed and train for racing are also provided with a fulfilling second career.

"Under Paul's stewardship RoR has made considerable progress and become a highly respected organisation throughout the wider equestrian world and with fellow equine welfare charities. I am looking forward to building on that progress and working with the Horse Welfare Board to help them deliver the industry's welfare strategy."

"It has been a great honour to chair RoR for the past seven years, and I'm proud of the progress that has been made to improve the welfare and aftercare of thoroughbreds," said Roy. "I wish Philip, the trustees and the team the best of luck as they look to ensure that through the work of RoR British racing remains a world leader in the aftercare of retired racehorses."

Plying his trade in a mix of conditions races, handicaps and listed contests, the industrious Keats may be one of Ballydoyle's lesser lights despite his outstanding pedigree but he has shown an admirable attitude on more than one occasion. Second in the nine-furlong Listed Listowel S. a week previously, the close relative of Churchill (Ire) stuck close to the early pace set by Free Solo and after mastering that rival a furlong from home may have been idling as he made his breakthrough. "I thought he was unlucky last week, but he handles all types of grounds and I wasn't surprised he won," jockey Seamie Heffernan said. "He felt like there was more to come from him and he is still unexposed and still babyish. He has won a listed race today and he ran very well a few days ago, so he is hardy and is up for it now."

Keats is a full-brother to two black-type winners headed by the G3 Denny Cordell Lavarack & Lanwades Stud Fillies' S. scorer Aloof who was placed in five others in that category. His half-sister Meow captured the Listed Curragh S. and was second in the G2 Queen Mary S. before producing the aforementioned G1 English and Irish 2000 Guineas hero Churchill and the fellow Galileo-sired Group 1 winner Clemmie (Ire) who emulated Keats's dam Airwave by winning the Cheveley Park S. Airwave was an outstanding sprinter who did stretch out to a mile when winning the G2 Ridgewood Pearl S., but her Galileos are understandably generally some of the quicker ones. Airwave's half-sister Jwala (GB) (Oasis Dream {GB}) took the G1 Nunthorpe S., while their unraced half-sibling Vasilia (GB) (Dansili {GB}) is responsible for this month's G1 Haydock Sprint Cup hero Dream of Dreams (Ire) (Dream Ahead). Covered exclusively by Galileo since 2009, Airwave's yearling filly is by Caravaggio. Click for the Racing Post result.

ASCOT ADVENTURE (GB) (c, 2, Mayson {GB}--Kasumi {GB} {SW-Eng, $151,380}, by Inchinor {GB}) was off the pace through the initial stages of this debut. Coming under pressure to close approaching the two pole, the 10-3 chance swooped for control entering the final eighth and was ridden out to assert by 1 3/4 lengths from Shelly Banks (Ire) (Fast Company {Ire}). "I had him ready early, but he got weak and we had to wait until now," explained winning trainer Andy Slattery. "He is named Ascot Adventure because we thought he might be a Royal Ascot type, but he just took a bit of time. He has a great temperament, he's a lovely horse and is very fast. I was a bit afraid of the ground because, being by Mayson, he'd probably be better with a little ease. He'll probably be sold and I'd love to keep him, but I don't think that'll happen." Kin to a yearling colt by Charming Thought (GB), Ascot Adventure is the fourth of five foals and second scorer out of Listed Pipalong S. victress Kasumi (GB) (Inchinor {GB}). The February-foaled chestnut's third dam Thundercloud (GB) (Electric {GB}) is a half-sister to Classic winners Julio Mariner (GB) (Blakeney {GB}), Juliette Marny (GB) (Blakeney {GB}) and Scintillate (GB) (Sparkler {Ire}). COOLMORE SNAPS UP SANTA ANA LANE FOR THE EVEREST

Santa Ana Lane | Bronwen Healy

By Georgie Dennis

Veteran sprinter Santa Ana Lane (Lope De Vega {Ire}) will be looking to make it third-time lucky in The TAB Everest after being snapped up by Coolmore for the $15-million sprint feature. The Anthony and Sam Freedman-trained Santa Ana Lane has secured a slot for next month's The Everest.

The five-time Group 1-winning sprinter will run in Coolmore's slot in the $15-million showpiece and co-trainer Sam Freedman was delighted their stable star has locked in a spot in the race.

"We're very privileged to have him run in his third Everest in a row," Freedman said. "He's come back in good form and he'll run first-up Saturday.

"It's good for Coolmore, they're good clients of the stable and they've obviously waited and watched everything unfold and hopefully they've made the right decision."

Santa Ana Lane was runner-up to Yes Yes Yes in last year's race and was second in the G1 TJ Smith S. over the same course earlier this year, after winning the Group 1 feature in 2019 and Freedman believes he can turn the tables in this year's edition of the race.

"His best performances have been in fast run races over 1200 metres around a bend or down the straight but I think, provided there is enough pressure on with a horse like Nature Strip, it could be set up for a horse coming off the speed this year, which is a bit different to what it's been in previous years," he said.

"With a strong speed, he should hopefully be closing off really well and his best pattern is running in his Grand Final second-up and he'll get that heading into this race as well.

"We've kept this as his target regardless of whether he had a slot or not so it's hugely rewarding for the whole stable and hopefully he runs well on Saturday with nice improvement heading into The Everest."

The gelding will have his one and only lead-up run in the G2 Gilgai S. at Flemington on Saturday, the same lead-up he had for last year's The Everest, and Freedman believes he is in good order ahead of his return but whatever he does this weekend, he will only improve on in his target race.

"He's really well," the co-trainer said. "He's a very good track worker but it's always hard to get a guide with him because we don't do much with him at home.

"His trials have been very customary for him. He's never been a real flash trialer but his latest one was very solid by his standards, so he's in good order.

"He's fairly forward, The Everest is only in a couple of weeks so he's got good improvement there. He's probably 80 to 85% fit at this stage but this run should top him off for that race."

At 8-years-old, it's likely Santa Ana Lane will be the most senior runner in the $15-million race but Freedman said his age is no concern for the stable.

"He's not getting any younger and he's probably not getting any faster but if he can reach close to his peak then he's going to be right in the race," he said. "He probably tapered off his form towards the end of his last campaign but we think we can get him back to his best."

Back-to-back for Coolmore

Coolmore celebrated success in last year's The Everest with Yes Yes Yes and they are hopeful they can make it back-to-back wins.

"Coolmore has a long-standing relationship with the Freedman family and we are delighted to partner with Anthony and Sam with Santa Ana Lane in this year's Everest," Coolmore's Tom Magnier said. "Santa Ana Lane is out of a Fastnet Rock mare and he is one of the best sprinters we have seen in the past decade.

"Anthony and Sam are very happy with the horse and we believe if he brings his best, he will be hard to beat."

Santa Ana Lane is owned by the William Street Syndicate and they are hopeful it will be third time lucky for their superstar sprinter.

"It's very exciting to have Santa Ana Lane in the race for the third time," said William Street Syndicate co-manager Michael Clemenger. "It's great to join with Coolmore to race our five-time Group 1 winner and we are hopeful he can go one better than last year."
