GREATEST ADVENTURE BECKONS COURTLANDT

Greatest Honour | Lauren King

by Chris McGrath

We sometimes talk of the moment in a young horse's career when the bulb switches on. When the resulting illumination is as brilliant as was the case with Greatest Honour (Tapit) at Gulfstream last Saturday, however, it feels as though the whole sport can bask in the glow. Those few strides in the GIII Holy Bull S. when he clicked into top gear, before running clear in the stretch, not only announced his own candidature but cast into exciting new perspective the whole road to Churchill on the first Saturday in May.

The way ahead looks particularly auspicious for Tapit, whose career at Gainesway plainly deserves the final gilding of a GI Kentucky Derby success. With champion Essential Quality already setting the standard, he now also has one to head all the emerging talent in these initial sophomore skirmishes. Both horses, moreover, vindicate acorn-to-oak development by a breeding program.

And what acorns, in this case! For the second and fourth dams of Greatest Honour are Broodmares of the Year, with a GI Kentucky Oaks winner in between, and the family seeded by distaff influences of corresponding stature in Street Cry (Ire), Deputy Minister and Blushing Groom (Fr). Every forward step now, then, will only add to the appeal of Greatest Honour as a stallion prospect. As such, even after a solitary start outside maidens, he already appears potentially the most significant horse in the history of Courtlandt Farm. Cont. p3

HELLO HOT ROD GOES FROM WINNER'S CIRCLE TO FASIG SALES RING

by Jessica Martini

Hello Hot Rod (Mosler), fresh off a gritty score in the Jimmy Winkfield S. at Aqueduct last Sunday, will make his next appearance in the sales ring during Tuesday's second session of the Fasig-Tipton Winter Mixed Sale. The 3-year-old (hip 672), owned by Dark Horse Racing and Brittany Russell and trained by Russell, was a late supplement to the two-day auction and will be consigned by Elite.

Russell and Dark Horse Racing's Jodi Quinn already had a favorable impression of the son of Mosler before they purchased him for $10,000 at the 2019 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic October Yearling Sale. They had purchased his half-sister Hello Beautiful (Golden Lad) for $6,500 at the Midlantic December Mixed Sale the previous year.

Its principal achiever to date remains Grade I winner Film Maker (Dynaformer), placed in three consecutive runnings of the GI Breeders' Cup Filly and Mare Turf. But Donald Adam and his wife Donna, the farm's owners, remain as enthusiastic as ever judging from their acquisition of half a dozen yearlings in the first two sessions at Keeneland last September for $4,325,000. This reflects a new strategy over the past five years or so, Courtlandt having primarily raced homebreds to that point. For octogenarian owners, clearly, that's a pretty natural evolution.

Don and Donna Adam | Sarah Andrew

"I think Mr. Adam just felt that by the time you have planned your mating, and the gestation is 11 months, and then it's another year and a half before you're breaking them...time goes along pretty quick on you," explains Ernie Retamoza, their farm manager. "Whereas when you go to the yearling sales and you're defining athletes you think fit your program, you get them home and they're under tack within two or three weeks. But it was a process. We didn't just lead all the mares over there and sell them. We went through them case by case."

The net result is a broodmare band trimmed from around 25 to seven or eight. And actually Tiffany's Honour (Street Cry {Ire}), the dam of Greatest Honour, fell right into that mix, spending just three years on the Courtlandt books before being moved on. Yet while her stay was relatively brief, it had ample span for destiny to incorporate extremes of tragedy and hope.

As a daughter of $14-million broodmare icon Better Than Honour (Deputy Minister), and duly a half-sister to GI Belmont S. winners Rags To Riches (A.P. Indy) and Jazil (Seeking The Gold), the 4-year-old Tiffany's Honour did not meet her reserve even at $2.3 million when offered with a maiden cover by Tapit at Fasig-Tipton in November 2015--despite finishing stone last in all three starts for breeder Southern Equine Stables. And even though Courtlandt was then just beginning its transition, Adam couldn't resist the idea of a Tapit out of that family. He secured a private deal and, sure enough, Tiffany's Honour delivered a beauty.

"Just an unbelievable colt," Retamoza recalls. "Lane's End has a pretty good client media section, they take real good care of us, and we always get pictures from Alys Emson through email of our foals and mares. But with this particular colt, I got a picture one day from [long-serving farm manager] Mike Cline. Mike never sends me pictures! I thought that spoke volumes."

Tiffany's Honour had meanwhile been sent to War Front and, consistent with the new policy, was slated for sale that November. But then disaster struck: the Tapit colt was lost in a paddock accident.

"That just broke our hearts," Retamoza says. "We knew this was the reason Mr. Adam had pursued the mare, we knew what Lane's End thought of him, it had looked like everything was working out. And then this unfortunate thing happened."

Undaunted, Adam resolved to seek redress from fate and retained the mare for another visit to Tapit. With a colt safely delivered in April 2018, Tiffany's Honour was sent to Keeneland that November with a Medaglia d'Oro cover, and realized $2.2 million from Katsumi Yoshida.

Her War Front colt had been sold in the same ring a couple of months previously, for $1.1 million. Sadly he didn't work out, vanned off the track when making his second start in a maiden claimer at Belterra Park last year. As the mare's own track career had shown, even genes like these can slip their cogs in the wheel of fortune.

"Boy, it just shows you," Retamoza mused. "That gene pool, it might skip one--but when it's in place, it's strong. I think Mr. Adam understood that and he really hung his hat on getting a Tapit from this mare. All the credit on Greatest Honour goes to Mr. Adam. He found the mare at the sale, he pursued her after the RNA, and he persevered after we lost her colt. He decided to see it through. That's what makes this truly special. The plan came to fruition, and Mr. Adam did all the work himself."

Here his patron would surely demur, because this version of events modestly passes over another key contributor to the development of Greatest Honour: Ernie Retamoza. Son of a Kentucky trainer, Retamoza has long done the groundwork on the farm--and done such a good job that Lane's End have ended up sending some of their own young stock alongside the Courtlandt weanlings when they migrate to Ocala every winter. It was Retamoza, for instance, who broke in eventual Derby runner-up Code Of Honour (Noble Mission {GB}). Another elite outfit doing the same is St Elias Stable.

"That's a big endorsement and I'm humbled by that," admits Retamoza, who has been at Courtlandt since 1996. "I'm very hands-on, I'm there every moment. I bridle and saddle and handle as many horses a day as my help. With these young horses, it only takes one bad experience and you're trying to fix something for two or three weeks. So we're diligent about not making those mistakes. And I have great staff here. They know what I want, and that I'm there with them as part of the process. So, as soon as they feel like, 'Hey, that horse didn't have a good day,' then I'm directly involved. Cont. p5

"Especially at the beginning stages, the bridling and all that stuff, it's such a fine line. And as they develop--as they start to gain fitness and pick up the pace, and learn how to rate and relax--the biggest challenge is the mental side. So, what I always tell my guys is, 'I want to get them fit, but I don't want them to know they're fit.' That's the key, that's the challenge. Anybody can gallop, gallop, gallop. But there's always so many nuances you have to see."

Don Adam and Ernie Retamoza hard at work | Keeneland

It was into skilled hands, then, that the yearling Greatest Honour arrived from Lane's End in August 2019, ready to be broken alongside the yearlings recruited at the imminent sales.

"And right off the van he was 'as advertised'," Retamoza recalls. "The whole package. A big, leggy, scopey, rangy horse; correct, well-made, good bone, everything. We were excited. And he took the breaking fine, took to the training great. No issues at all. And as we got into January, February, March, when we start to get a little more serious, he was always a horse that had high energy. Always wanted to do more than you wanted--and I don't mean that in a bad way. You'd pull up after a mile, mile-and-a-quarter gallop, and he'd always be like: 'That all we're doing today?'"

Retamoza has been around enough good horses to recognize what he saw here.

"Code of Honor was very, very similar," he remarked. "You could never do enough with him in the morning. And once he got to breezing, you could almost see it: 'Yeah, this is what I was meant to do.' Greatest Honour was more imposing, as an individual; Code of Honor was a little smaller in stature, lighter in frame. But we knew he was a runner. Horses are different in terms of pedigree, how they're made, how they move. But what's always a great sign is the horse that meets you at the webbing every morning, ears forward, what's going on."

The next stage of Greatest Honour's education took him to Fair Hill, where Shug McGaughey inducts juveniles into his program.

And, as it happens, this was another respect in which the sails of this horse--as one of relatively few homebreds these days broken alongside the sales athletes--have been filled with a wind of change at Courtlandt. Because it was just around this time that the track division was transferred (while stressing undiminished regard for previous trainer Mark Hennig) to McGaughey.

There was, of course, already a relationship through Lane's End, all parties having seen things fall into place with Code Of Honor.

"The Phipps family had started to sell some yearlings, and we thought it might be an opportune time," Retamoza says. "We had a little bit of a record, breaking here at the farm for Mr. Farish, and so it just like a natural fit.

We reached out to Shug, and he was able to come and look at our young ones. We didn't want him to take anything he didn't want, we didn't know the situation on numbers or anything. We just let Shug dictate that and it's worked out beautiful."

McGaughey now has around 10 for Courtlandt, while others are stabled with Steve Asmussen. And the new regime has certainly landed running.

"Greatest Honour was only in Fair Hill about a month before Shug moved him to Belmont," Retamoza says. "Tapit has a bit of a reputation for horses that can be a little challenging, and I think at Fair Hill he was bored, wanting to do more. So, I really credit the job Shug has done getting him to this point, in terms of the mental side. Even going into this race, Shug felt like the horse was still just figuring it all out. I think that speaks volumes for how much better he can be, and that's exciting." Cont. p7

Hence the old-school grounding for Greatest Honour, who started out by closing from off the pace in a couple of sprints before stretching out to duel with Known Agenda (Curlin) at Aqueduct and then breaking his maiden on his fourth start at Gulfstream.

"It's been such a good process," Retamoza says. "I thought he grew up a ton in the race in New York, where they hooked up at the top of the lane. Very rarely do you see young maidens run that professionally for that long. And then the day he won, it wasn't the smoothest trip, the horse on his inside had some issues and he got knocked sideways. The horse has grown up a lot and it's just a credit to Shug. Because he didn't put a lot of pressure on him early, didn't ever force it."

Unfortunately, Ten For Ten (Frosted), a $410,000 Keeneland yearling who was beaten a neck in the GII Remsen S., has required a break at the farm but there are no major issues and Retamoza believes he will resume among the good sophomores in the summer. And meanwhile he's excited about the next batch off the belt, headlined by a $1.05-million Into Mischief filly whose third dam is Hall of Famer Personal Ensign.

"They're doing wonderful," Retamoza enthuses. "We do take a bit of a slower approach: bring them home, let them acclimate two or three weeks, and then begin the breaking process. And the whole time they're getting the value of going outside every morning for two or three hours. Just now we're beginning to stop turnout, and get them into more of a race-type program: put four shoes on them, bandages every day, all the stuff to prepare them for when it's time to ship in April or May. But we've got some really nice prospects and I'm delighted with how they've handled everything we've thrown at them so far."

Fulfilling times, then, for one so immersed in the mute, daily signaling of an adolescent racehorse.

"I work seven days a week, but it's never like work with these young horses," he said. "Because you're always seeing an evolution. 'Oh, man, that horse really is starting to figure things out.' Or, on the flip side: 'Why did this horse have a bad day yesterday?' So, your mind is always working. And that's the passion that drives you. To see them progress from day one on the farm, and then go on and turn into something on the racetrack. And when ultimately you end up with a horse like this, that's obviously where we're trying to get with all of them."

And you can hear in Retamoza's voice just how much the blossoming of Greatest Honour means to the whole Courtlandt team.

"Mr. Adam is an absolute gentleman to work for," he stressed. "He has been unbelievable for myself and my family. He has multiple businesses and I'm sure that all the employees would say exactly the same. Cont. p8

"Hello Beautiful had just broken her maiden at the time he was being sold, but we really liked her and we knew she had some ability," Russell said of the colt's appeal as a yearling. "He had good bone on him, he was a good-looking little horse. He had a few minor flaws that we could deal with, so it was nice we could get him bought for that price back then."

Shortly after they purchased Hello Hot Rod, Hello Beautiful won the Maryland Million Lassie S. and the Maryland Juvenile Filly Championship. She has since added wins in the 2020 Maryland Million Distaff and Safely Kept S. and opened 2021 with a win in the What a Summer S.

Despite his half-sister's accomplishments, Russell kept her initial expectations for Hello Hot Rod in check.

"I think when you buy a horse like that for that kind of money, you don't have those high expectations," Russell said. "You just hope you are going to have a useful racehorse. It's a nice price where, if they're going to be a lower level horse, you paid just $10,000. And if they are a nice horse, it's great because you only paid $10,000." Cont. p9

KENTUCKY'S HORSE RACING INDUSTRY FACES MAJOR CHALLENGE AND YOU CAN HELP TODAY

Whether or not you reside in Kentucky, you can help the horse racing industry in Kentucky as they rally support for a legislative solution that will allow historical horse racing (HHR) to remain operational in the state. The popularity of HHR gaming has helped boost Kentucky's purse structure, leading to capital investment, jobs, commerce and a more robust breeding and racing industry as a whole.

The NTRA makes its home in Kentucky, surrounded by world-renowned racetracks, farms, sale companies, horsemen, support businesses, veterinary practices, industry organizations and more. A healthy Kentucky horse racing industry affects those from across the country and world who race, breed, buy and sell in the Bluegrass state. This is why we ask everyone involved with the horse racing industry to join the effort to protect HHR in Kentucky.

"I am heartened by recent efforts in Kentucky to unify its celebrated horse industry in the face of a serious challenge to its future," said NTRA President and CEO Alex Waldrop. "Everyone associated with horse racing across the nation is urged to get behind this important effort. The time to act is now."

But Russell’s husband, jockey Sheldon Russell, knew early on the colt had talent.

“My husband does all the work on my babies in the morning and he had been on him in the morning and he liked him,” Russell said. “He said, ‘This is going to be a pretty decent little horse, we’ll have fun with him.’”

Hello Hot Rod got his racing career off to a promising start, closing to miss by just a neck in a six-furlong waiver maiden claiming race at Laurel Oct. 30.

“You’d love to win first time, but we were kind of just trying to give him a run and he nearly got his first start won,” Russell said. “Sheldon took him back and taught him something and he came with a run and nearly won it. He probably needed that race, anyway, from a physical standpoint.”

The dark bay colt came back to win by a front-running 4 1/4 lengths going seven furlongs in similar company Nov. 13 and added a one-mile optional claimer tally Dec. 13.

“We sort of expected for him to come back and win the way he did,” Russell said of Hello Hot Rod’s second start. “And I thought he would like the mile and he did everything right in that allowance race as well.”

Hello Hot Rod jumped up to the stakes ranks for his sophomore debut and went wire-to-wire in the seven-furlong Jimmy Winkfield S., digging in gamely in the final strides to keep his nose in front on the wire (video).

“I loved him to be fair, but you don’t love the one hole going seven-eighths, so that was a concern,” Russell said of expectations going into the race. “But [jockey] Trevor [McCarthy] and the horse handled it and got the job done. It’s tough in the winter, these winter tracks are hard racetracks for horses to run on and he jumped out of there and he showed some speed and he kept going. He showed he’s a tough racehorse and that’s what you want.”

Hello Hot Rod (inside) just holds on | Coglianesse

The idea of selling the colt had been percolating for some time before the final decision to enter him in the Fasig February sale.

“I had some interest [in buying him] after he broke his maiden,” Russell said. “Actually after both of his wins, we had some interest. It’s kind of the goal in the game, right? To make a $10,000 horse into a more expensive horse. This is how you make money in the game, it’s a tough game.”

She continued, “We own 50% of him and it was always in the back of our minds that we might try to sell him. I’d love to keep him in the barn, naturally, but I have some friends who work with Fasig and we bounced some ideas back and forth. After he won, it just seemed like maybe a smart business move.”

While the decision to sell may be a smart business move, Russell agreed it was still an emotional one.

“Oh absolutely, I love him,” she said. “He means a lot to us. We have his sister in the barn and he’s our other big horse, so to see him go will be sad. But who knows, maybe we’ll end up getting him back in the barn.”

Russell sees plenty of upside for potential buyers in the newly minted stakes winner.

“He’s very easy to train and he’s sound,” Russell said. “He’s not a bleeder, so moving forward with what we are dealing with with Lasix, I think that’s a huge attribute. And I think he’ll go farther. He’s smart, he has a good mind on him. He can go or he can sit, so as the races get longer, he has options. I think that’s going to be a huge thing.”

Asked how Hello Hot Rod exited his first stakes win, Russell said, “Awesome. He’s in great form.”

HELLO HOT ROD AMONG LATEST FASIG SUPPLEMENTS

Last Sunday's Jimmy Winkfield S. winner Hello Hot Rod (Mosler) is one of two new supplements to the Fasig-Tipton Kentucky Winter Mixed Sale. The sophomore colt, who has now won his last three after just missing on debut, is catalogued as hip 672 with ELiTE. Both he and hip 673 will sell next Tuesday, Feb. 9. Trained by co-owner Brittany Russell, the dark bay is half to MSW $377,100 earner Hello Beautiful (Golden Lad).

“Hello Hot Rod is an exciting addition to our Kentucky Winter Mixed Sale,” said Fasig-Tipton President Boyd Browning. “It is rare for a 3-year-old colt, coming off a stakes win, to be offered at this time of year. He is the 'now horse' for those that want a colt for the Kentucky Derby trail.”

Sessions of the sale will take place starting at 10:00 a.m. in Lexington, KY Feb. 8 and 9. Visit www.fasigtipton.com for more information.

KENTUCKY'S HHR BILL HINGES ON DEFINITION OF 'PARI-MUTUEL WAGERING'

by T.D. Thornton

The legislative fix to legalize historical horse race (HHR) gaming in Kentucky will hinge on a one-paragraph definition of "pari-mutuel wagering" that a bipartisan group of state senators want added to an existing list of definitions that pertain to regulating horse racing.

The text of SB120 was posted online Feb. 3, one day after the bill was introduced.

Senator John Schickel crafted the statutory attempt to keep HHR operational, and his measure has the backing of Senate President Robert Stivers, Senate Majority Leader Damon Thayer, plus five other legislators listed on the co-sponsor page of the bill.

Kentucky State Senator John Schickel | Kentucky General Assembly

Their effort will try to preserve what has grown into a $2.2-billion annual handle source that has bolstered Kentucky's purses over the past decade (the Kentucky Thoroughbred Development Fund's purse-money cut from HHR is three-quarters of 1% of that handle).

This source of funding was put into peril on Jan. 21, when the Kentucky Supreme Court denied a petition for rehearing an earlier judgment that called into question the legality of HHR because it didn't amount to "pari-mutuel wagering." The fight over that legal definition, led by anti-gambling activists, has worked its way through the court system ever since HHR was first allowed by the state in 2012.

Although the six-page bill includes a handful of other line items or word changes that pertain to how properties and premises are defined, the crux of the bill relates to a new definition of "pari-mutuel wagering" that has been inserted in an alphabetical list of terms where no definition previously existed. It reads:

"Pari-mutuel wagering," "pari-mutuel system of wagering," or "mutuel wagering" each means any method of wagering previously or hereafter approved by the racing commission in which one (1) or more patrons wager on a horse race or races, whether live, simulcast, or previously run. Wagers shall be placed in one (1) or more wagering pools, and wagers on different races or sets of races may be pooled together. Patrons may establish odds or payouts, and winning patrons share in amounts wagered including any carryover amounts, plus any amounts provided by an association less any deductions required, as approved by the racing commission and permitted by law. Pools may be paid out incrementally over time as approved by the racing commission.

Schickel said before he filed the bill that it will have a Feb. 4 hearing in the Senate Licensing and Occupations Committee, of which he is the chairman. That Thursday hearing, however, was not yet posted on the committee's online calendar before the late-afternoon Wednesday deadline for this story.

ALLEGING 'SHAKEDOWN' OVER ADW FEES, CHURCHILL TAKES TOC TO FEDERAL COURT

by T.D. Thornton

In a spat over advance-deposit wagering (ADW) hub rate fees and which entity should benefit from the pandemic-related boom in at-home betting, a subsidiary of the gaming corporation Churchill Downs, Inc., filed a federal lawsuit against Thoroughbred Owners of California (TOC) Feb. 2 asking a judge to rule that TOC can't use a state law to force CDI into either accepting lower rates, abandoning its just-signed agreement with Santa Anita Park, or entering into arbitration to settle the dispute.

In a chain of events that plaintiff Churchill Downs Technology Initiatives Company (CDT), which operates the TwinSpires and BetAmerica wagering platforms, termed a "shakedown" in its 22-page complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief, the dispute arose Oct. 28, 2020, when TOC president and CEO Greg Avioli allegedly asked CDI's then-executive director of racing, Mike Ziegler, to "voluntarily return the equivalent of 1% of the total" amounts generated from California residents wagering on those platforms in 2020."

In addition, according to the complaint, "Mr. Avioli proposed that all ADW providers agree to a 3% hub fee for the 2021-2022 term--a rate CDT has never agreed to in its history of operating in California. Indeed, at such a rate, CDT would be operating at a significant loss, and it would make little sense to do business in California or with California residents."

Greg Avioli | Getty Images

The complaint does state the fees that are currently under contract between the CDT platforms and Santa Anita, but the United States District Court (Central District, California, Western Division) has allowed those rates to be redacted at the plaintiff's request. Santa Anita itself is not a defendant in the suit.

The complaint continues: "TOC threatened that if CDT did not comply with its 'voluntary' request, it would demand arbitration pursuant to [California Business & Professions Code] section 1960447. Contrary to Mr. Avioli's false characterization, the revenue ADW providers earned in 2020 was not a 'windfall,' but the result of increased demand for online wagering."

Avioli responded to a request for comment on the lawsuit by emailing a statement, which read, in part, "On Dec. 31, 2020, TOC notified CDT that TOC would pursue the statutory remedy (available to both racetracks and horsemen in California) to seek arbitration of the amount of the hub fee retained by CDT from wagers from California residents for the calendar year 2021.

"ADW wagering in California increased by over 40% year over year statewide in 2020 while purse generation from live tracks and OTBs dropped substantially due to COVID-19 closures and restrictions.

"In 2020 CDT received over $7 million of hub fees from ADW wagers by California on Thoroughbred races. TOC's decision to exercise its arbitration rights under California law came after CDT declined to reach a voluntary settlement of the matter. The specific provision in California law... authorizing the arbitration of hub fees is nothing new and, in fact, has been unchanged in California law for more than two decades. We intend to move forward with the hub fee arbitration in an expedited manner and believe the attempt to disrupt the arbitration by CDT with this last minute federal lawsuit has no merit."

CDT, according to the suit, disagrees: "There is simply no basis for TOC to earn more money when California's horse-racing industry already retains a large majority of the revenue generated from online wagers. TOC has not contributed a single cent or ounce of effort in 2020 to the efforts and success of www.TwinSpires.com and www.BetAmerica.com, and has no right to a greater portion of their revenue.

"Although TOC wishes to confuse the issue to make it appear more sympathetic, California law already ensures that TOC is handsomely compensated any time a wager is placed on races occurring inside or outside of California," the complaint continues. "Indeed, Section 19604 ensures the California horse racing industry, including TOC, receives the majority of the money available, after winning bets are paid out, earned from a race, and that the California horsemen and horsewomen organizations do far better than their colleagues in every other state or nearly every other state."

The complaint explains this is because "When an ADW accepts wagers from California residents on an out-of-state race, the track hosting that race, which is not in California, also collects a 'host fee' as compensation for conducting it. California law caps the host fee amount at just 3.5%, in addition to capping the hub fee rate. By capping the out-of-state track's host fee and the ADW provider's hub fee, Section 19604 ensures that California's horsemen groups and racing associations receive the vast bulk of revenue earned from wagers placed by California residents, regardless of where the race actually takes place.

The complaint states that CDT did not agree to the 1% return of money to TOC, nor the demand accept a "substantially lower" hub fee in 2021. Instead, in December, CDT and Santa Anita negotiated an ADW agreement for 2021 at a hub rate "far below the statutory maximum of 6.5%."

The complaint states that same day that TOC received a copy of that hub agreement, "Mr. Avioli demanded that CDT voluntarily return approximately 0.9% of its 2020 handle, equal to $1.23 million, and reiterated TOC's intent to use Section 19604's arbitration provisions to set a hub fee rate of 4.1% or lower."

Again, CDT refused. The complaint states that TOC then sent two letters dated Dec. 31 (one for each ADW platform; referenced above by Avioli) demanding that CDT "pick one of three options: (1) abandon its hub agreement with Santa Anita Park; (2) accept an alternate hub fee of 4.1%; or (3) proceed with a hub agreement arbitration."

On Jan. 13, 2021, the complaint states that TOC did file an in-state demand to officially start the 60-day clock on a "rushed" arbitration process.

"CDT now faces nothing but untenable options," the complaint states. "It could abandon the hub agreement, meaning all of its investment in building and promoting its websites in California will be lost. It could accept TOC's unreasonable and unsustainable hub fee, which would effectively cause the same result since it is highly questionable that CDT can profitably operate at 4.1%. Or it could go to a binding, unconscionable arbitration process, which would deprive CDT of its right to access the courts, force it into a rushed process without any standards guiding the arbitrator's decision, and allow a third-party to use California law to upend its contractual rights.

"Additionally, TOC has already threatened to attempt to use these arbitration provisions in future years. This sets the stage for a continuous, protracted, and inefficient legal dispute between TOC and CDT."

The complaint sums up: "Lacking clarity, and recognizing that none of [the] 'options' provided by Section 19604 were actually fair or viable choices, CDT was forced to bring this lawsuit, seeking a declaration that TOC cannot force it to proceed to a fundamentally unfair and unconstitutional scheme and enjoining the organization from utilizing Section 19604 to force CDT to choose between abandoning its agreement, submitting to TOC's proposed rate, or arbitrating."

KEEPMEINMIND, SHEDARESTHEDEVIL WORK AT OAKLAWN AHEAD OF '21 DEBUTS

Keepmeinmind | Robert Yates

Keepmeinmind (Laoban) worked five furlongs in a bullet :59 at Oaklawn Tuesday morning in preparation for a start in the GIII Southwest S. Feb. 15. The fastest of 17 works published at the distance, the 3-year-old completed the final quarter-mile in a sharp :22.80, galloping out six furlongs in 1:11.80, seven furlongs in 1:25.40 and a mile in 1:40.40, according to local clockers. Cont. p13

Accompanied by David Cohen, the winner of the GII Kentucky Jockey Club S. last November worked over a fast track following the second break to renovate the racing surface.

It marked Keepmeinmind's fifth published workout this season at Oaklawn and the second bullet, following a five-furlong move in 1:00 Jan. 19.

"Did it the right way again," said Robertino Diodoro, Oaklawn's leading trainer in 2020. "I love that his works have been very consistent. Again, I always say take each day at a time, but his works have been very consistent--consistently good--since he's been here."

Diodoro indicated he plans to come back with an easy half-mile work and a "couple of stiff gallops" next week leading up to the Southwest, Oaklawn's second of four GI Kentucky Derby points races.

"I'd like it to be Tuesday [Feb. 9]," Diodoro said of the maintenance breeze. "But it could be adjusted by a day or two because it looks like a little bit of [weather]."

GI Kentucky Oaks heroine Shedaresthedevil (Daredevil) returned to the work tab Monday morning at Oaklawn, covering three furlongs in :36.60 in preparation for her 2021 debut, possibly the Mar. 13 GII Azeri S. Under exercise rider Fernando Espinoza, she breezed following the first renovation break for newly minted Eclipse Award-winning trainer Brad Cox. Clockers had the 4-year-old galloping out a half-mile in :49.80 over the fast track.

"Really, really good," Cox said after the work. "We were just looking for like :38, and she honestly looked like she was going :38. Just well within herself. Just nice and easy. We're not going to get in a big hurry with her, just kind of pick it up a little bit each week. Couldn't have asked for a better first work back."

Shedaresthedevil was a finalist for an Eclipse Award as the country's champion 3-year-old filly of 2020 after winning four races, including the Kentucky Oaks and Oaklawn's GIII Honeybee S. She hasn't started since finishing third in the GI Spinster S. Oct. 4 at Keeneland, her first start against older horses.

Following the Spinster, Shedaresthedevil received a 60-day break before resuming light training in mid-December in Kentucky. She arrived at Oaklawn Jan. 9. Cox said the 1 1/16-mile Azeri, Oaklawn's final major prep for the GI Apple Blossom H. Apr. 17, is possible for her 2021 debut.

"It's going to get close there," Cox said. "We're just going to have to kind of really watch her and let her tell us if she's ready for that, but that would be the first logical target."

BLOODSTOCK AGENT LIZ CROW JOINS WRITERS' ROOM

On a monumental day in her personal life, star bloodstock agent Liz Crow joined the TDN Writers' Room presented by Keeneland Wednesday for an in-depth discussion. Calling in via Zoom as the Green Group Guest of the Week, Crow talked about her pride in the enormous success of her now dual-champion $100,000 purchase Monomoy Girl (Tapizar), the status of the sale market after a tumultuous 2020, what traits she looks for when buying horses and much more.

"She's taken us on an incredible ride to so many different racetracks and experiences and has done so much for my career," Crow said of Monomoy Girl, who was named Champion Older Female at last week's Eclipse Awards after taking the Champion 3-Year-Old Filly title two years ago. "It's felt like a family because we've spent so much time together rooting her on. All of us get so nervous. Brad Cox, that's the only horse he legs the jockey up on. His heart is pounding out of his chest for the entire post parade. We all feel that way. It's been one of those stories that's never going to be topped for all of us that have gotten to experience her. And Spendthrift running her next year, it's so good for racing. She's a comeback story."

Asked about her approach to buying horses, Crow said, "The most important thing for me is to be thorough. I have a team of short-listers, and a team of people that help organize me at a sale. If there are 4,320 horses, we look at all 4,320 of them. We consider all of them, no matter the pedigree, the consignor, the breeder. We go through the process on each horse. As far as when the individual comes out, the first thing I like to look at is their attitude. So often we can forget that these horses are not machines. The way they act in the paddock, the post parade, loading in the gate, the way they're handled in the barn, all that really matters. Then from there, I start looking at their conformation, assessing them from their hip to shoulder, to the way their neck sits in their shoulder. The walk is a little bit overrated to me, especially at 2-year-old sales when you get to see them gallop and breeze. The way they move on the track is so much more important." Cont. p14

PAT LAMBERTY, FORMER SUFFOLK TV HOST AND CENTENNIAL FARMS REP, DIES AT 43

Mary Pitt

by T.D. Thornton

The New England racing community is mourning the loss of Patrick R. Lamberty, known for his work as a Suffolk Downs broadcast handicapper in the early 2000s, then later as the head of client management and sales for the Centennial Farms bloodstock and racing syndicate in his native Massachusetts. He was 43.

Lamberty died Dec. 16, 2020, in Pompano Beach, Florida. But it was not until Feb. 2 that news of his death began circulating among friends via an online tribute archive hosted by a cremation company that provided services for Lamberty.

No cause of death was listed on the tribute page. In the final years of his life, Lamberty fought to overcome an opioid addiction, according to friends who had extended help to him.

"P-Lam," as he was fondly known, grew up as a multi-sport student athlete in the seacoast city of Revere, just a few furlongs from Suffolk Downs. He first became enthralled by horse racing when he and some neighborhood buddies would sneak into the track to watch the late-afternoon races when high school classes were done for the day.

In 1997, while earning a degree in business management studies from Boston University, Lamberty won an internship to work in the press box at Suffolk Downs. He spent several summers at Monmouth Park in a similar capacity.

Lamberty's aspiring knowledge of Thoroughbred pedigrees combined with a gregarious personality made him a natural fit for earning his way onto the Suffolk Downs "Paddock Preview" broadcast team in 1999. His confident willingness to take on additional on-air talent roles led to co-hosting a nightly TV replay show, a weekly radio program, and eventually serving as a backup race caller. He later parlayed this work into a TV handicapping gig for the New York City Off-Track Betting Corporation.

In 2003, Lamberty took great pride in forming a small Suffolk-based racing stable with those same hometown buddies with whom he used to sneak into the track. Their very first acquisition ended up exceeding expectations to race at Saratoga.

Lamberty later rose through the ranks at Centennial Farms, where he was the point-person for the syndicate's clients into the early 2010s. He especially relished his roles in helping to select young horses at sales and giving insights on the progression of racing prospects.

Friends who recalled a storm-soaked P-Lam celebrating with unbridled enthusiasm at Monmouth after Corinthian splashed home first in the 2007 GI Breeders' Cup Dirt Mile for Centennial will probably never encounter a happier rain-drenched racetracker.

Lamberty later moved to New Orleans and then Florida to try his hand at various bloodstock ventures and racing partnerships, and he also represented several jockeys as an agent. He was divorced with no children.

Those who knew of his deep compassion for making sure horses were always well-treated are asking that donations honoring Lamberty's memory be made to benefit a Thoroughbred welfare program of the donor's choosing.

"How fitting that the first foal by this regally bred group-placed son of War Front from the immediate family of Galileo (Ire), would be out of a half-sister to Grade I winner Crisp," said John G. Sikura, President of Hill 'n' Dale Farms, which stands the 6-year-old stallion. "That's what happens when you have great partners like Glen Hill Farm who sent the mare to Lost Treasure."

Lost Treasure--Little Miss S colt

Tracey Caudill of Watershed Equine, which bred the foal, reported, "Little Miss S had a magnificent Lost Treasure colt this morning. If they all are like him, you guys have a goldmine of a stud. The only foal I've had to compare to this Lost Treasure colt is the Army Mule I foaled last year for Hugh Moore out of the mare Deceive."

EXPENSIVE QUALITY ROAD COLT DEBUTS AT FAIR GROUNDS

Find New Roads in the ring at Keeneland September | Keeneland

7th-FG, $55K, Msw, 6f, 3yo, 4:54 p.m. ET

The most expensive yearling and second-priciest progeny overall of superstar sire Quality Road to sell in 2019, FIND NEW ROADS, will open his account in this New Orleans dirt sprint Thursday afternoon. Hammering to Tom Durant for $950,000 at Keeneland September, the bay is out of a daughter of GSW Welcome Surprise (Seeking the Gold), herself a half-sister to dual champion and legendary super-sire A.P. Indy (Seattle Slew) as well as Classic winner Summer Squall (Storm Bird). Trained by Bret Calhoun, Find New Roads shows a series of encouraging and stamina-building drills, including a six-furlong move in 1:13 1/5 (1/3) over the local main track Jan. 18. Also set to be unveiled is Gary and Mary West's Prime Time Player (Ghostzapper). Bought for $430,000 at KEESEP, the chestnut has also recorded several quick breezes, including a five-furlong spin from the gate in 1:00 4/5 (4/29) here Jan. 25. His future may ultimately be on grass, however, as he's out of a daughter of five-time turf GSW Plenty of Grace (Roberto), who is also a half to champion grass mare Soaring Softly (Kris S.), and most of the other black-type in the family has been earned on the lawn.

IN ORDER OF PURSE:

9th-Gulfstream, $41,700, Alw (C)/Opt. Clm ($62,500), 2-3, 4yo/up, f/m, 7f, 1:23.46, ft, 4 1/2 lengths.

LAKE AVENUE (f, 4, Tapit--Seventh Street {MGISW, $716,000}, by Street Cry {Ire}), a four-length victress of the GII Demoiselle S. as a juvenile in 2019, failed to find the mark as a 3-year-old in a four-race campaign highlighted by a third to eventual champion Swiss Skydiver (Daredevil) in the GII Fasig-Tipton Gulfstream Park Oaks. Looking to get back on track after running sixth last out in a Churchill optional claimer Nov. 26, the chestnut was given a 31-10 chance here and broke a beat slowly. Traveling in sixth behind a :22.97 quarter, the chestnut crept closer while three wide past a :46.35 half and set her sights on longshot pacesetter Dance d'Oro (Medaglia d'Oro) nearing the furlong grounds. Sweeping to the front soon after, Lake Avenue kicked clear from there for a sharp, geared-down 4 1/2-length success. Dance d'Oro held for the place at 37-1. The winner is a half to Marking (Bernardini), GISP, $426,200. Her dam, a multiple Grade I winner who cost a cool $1 million as a Fasig-Tipton February 2-year-old in 2007, is responsible for a juvenile full-brother to Lake Avenue named Shreveport and was bred to Into Mischief last spring. Lifetime Record: GSW, 8-3-1-1, $251,037. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.

R ADIOS JERSEY (f, 3, Adios Charlie--Marion Theatre, by Montbrook) dominated by 12 3/4 lengths when unveiled at 9-10 against $35,000 maiden claiming company on debut here Dec. 13 and was knocked down to 7-10 to repeat against Florida-bred allowance foes. Away a step tardily, the $12,000 OBS March pickup recovered to move all the way up to second and stalk Foolish Heart (Chitu) through a :22.36 quarter. Drawing on even terms past the five-sixteenths pole, the chalk encountered a stubborn pacesetter through the lane, but started to prove best outside the sixteenth marker and edged clear to a 2 1/2-length score. Foolish Heart held on for second money. The winner's dam has a juvenile Uncaptured colt and foaled a colt by Greenpointcrusader last season before visiting The Big Beast. Sales History: $12,000 2yo '20 OBSMAR. Lifetime Record: 2-2-0-0, $43,700. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.

6th-Fair Grounds, $50,000, (S), Msw, 2-3, 3yo, f, 5 1/2ft, 1:06.74, fm, 2 lengths.

HALF KOO KOO (f, 3, Half Ours--Unfriendly Koo, by Friendly Lover), sent off at 5-1 for this unveiling, settled in a two-wide fourth through a :22.72 opening quarter. Launching her bid at the quarter pole, the half to Social Misfit (Porto Foricos), SW, $648,572, poked her head in front in mid-stretch and drew off to win by a two-length margin over Hotmolly (Custom For Carlos). The winner's dam, Unfriendly Koo, produced a Cloud Computing colt last season and was bred back to Star Guitar. Lifetime Record: 1-1-0-0, $30,000. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.

O/B-Earl & Keith Hernandez (LA); T-Sam B. David, Jr.

10th-Gulfstream, $40,000, (S), Msw, 2-3, 3yo, f, 7 1/2ft, 1:29.51, fm, neck.

BIG BAND LUZZIANN (f, 3, Big Band Sound--Luzziann, by Songandaprayer) showed a few upbeat breezes at her Tampa home base for this career bow, including a five-furlong gate bullet in 1:02 1/5 (1/6) Jan. 27, and was well supported to be 11-2 at the off. Settling in a ground-saving sixth behind a three-way pace battle through a :24.02 quarter, the homebred started to draw in past a :48.17 half, tipped into the clear three deep at the top of the lane and finished strong in the final sixteenth to tag Causingahullbaloo (Malibu Moon) by a neck. The winner's unraced dam has a juvenile Tapiture filly and was bred to Star Guitar last term. Lifetime Record: 1-1-0-0, $24,000. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.

1st-Penn National, $30,948, Msw, 2-3, 3yo, 1m, 1:40.84, gd, 21 1/4 lengths.

BLUEBERRY MASH (c, 3, Country Day--Song of Broadway, by Tiznow) made no impact when running last on debut over six local furlongs Dec. 30 and was backed as a 41-10 proposition stretching out here. Breaking smartly from the rail, the homebred quickly established command and dictated terms through splits of :23.93 and :48.01. Leaving odds-on first Unorthodox (Upstart) in his dust by the quarter pole, the bay romped clear in the lane and hit the wire 21 1/4 lengths to the good despite never switching leads. Unorthodox completed the exacta. The victor's dam was bred to Khozan last season.

Godolphin's Grade II winner Lake Avenue (Tapit) draws clear to a facile 4 1/2-length allowance tally Wednesday at Gulfstream. "She didn't break well at all and in these kinds of races you want to at least break good so you can move forward," said winning rider Junior Alvarado. "But I just think she was much the best. Even with breaking a little slow like that, making my move a little bit wide, having the best horse just helps. She just kept going to the wire. She ran a pretty impressive race." | Ryan Thompson

VIRTUAL REALITY FOR TATTERSALLS 2021 OPENER

Park Paddocks will be empty of humans and horses for the February Sale, which will be staged online | Tattersalls

By Emma Berry

When the curtain came down on the 2020 December Sale, all participants could have been forgiven for hoping that it would be the last we would see of Covid-restricted sales. Regrettably, the situation in Britain has subsequently worsened, meaning that Tattersalls, which managed to stage all of its scheduled sales last year, along with a few extras and a few delays, has been forced to conduct its first auction of 2021 entirely online.

The mixed February Sale is perhaps the one through the year which could withstand some disruption best but it is nevertheless a very useful sale and one which has produced its fair share of success in its 20-year existence. Cont. p2

COLTS LINE UP FOR UAE 2000 GUINEAS AS CARNIVAL CONTINUES AT MEYDAN

The 1800-metre G3 UAE 2000 Guineas is one of two group races on the third card of the Dubai World Cup Carnival, and drew a sextet of entries led by Godolphin's Naval Crown (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}). The 104-rated bay, tops for the field, has never been off the board in five starts. Listed-placed at second asking at Ascot in July, the Charlie Appleby trainee graduated by 4 1/2 lengths in a 1400-metre York maiden on Aug. 21. His final two runs of the season were both thirds—in the Sept. 6 G3 Prix la Rochette at ParisLongchamp and when tiring after setting the pace in Saint-Cloud's G3 Prix Thomas Byron on Oct. 2. The Guineas is his dirt bow.

If the colt won, it would be a third UAE 2000 Guineas for Appleby, who said, "He is a solid little horse and we debated whether to keep him to turf or try the dirt, but his work at home, on dirt, has been very good, so we thought it was worth a crack."

Next on ratings is Mouheeb (Flutter) from the yard of Nicholas Bachalard at 95. A winner at first asking at Jebel Ali in December, he was runner-up in a one-mile conditions affair locally on Jan. 14, one better than dual Meydan winner Zhou Storm (GB) (Due Diligence).

Bachalard said, "He had a very hard race in the trial, but seems to have come out of that in great shape, so we hope, he has a live chance." Cont. p5

Indeed, Venetias Dream (Ire) (Librettist) is an example of the value that can be found in February. Sold for just 1,000gns in 2013, she was subsequently bought back from Turkey when Charm Spirit (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}), a son of her half-sister L'Enjoleuse (Ire) (Montjeu {Ire}), burst onto the scene, and Venetias Dream has since found fame in her own right as the dam of last year's G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches winner Dream And Do (Fr) (Siyouni {Fr}).

Results such as this keep optimistic breeders returning to these midwinter sales, and this one in particular usually offers a chance to see some new sires at the TBA Stallion Parade. This year, potential buyers will have to be content with sitting in front of their computer screens, scrolling through form and videos, rather than patrolling Park Paddocks.

The brave new world of online sales may be suboptimal in this regard but it has nevertheless been embraced by buyers and vendors, particularly as the alternative while lockdown continues is to have no sale at all.

Mark McStay of Avenue Bloodstock is based within hollering distance of Tattersalls in Newmarket and in lieu of being on the sales ground this year he has put in plenty of work ahead of the sale, both on the computer and at racing yards and studs. He said, "The better quality videos and photographs, and the more information online, such as veterinary certificates and heights and weights for horses in training, has been great. There needs to be, and I have found that there has been, an increased transparency and disclosure from the vendor when you ring up to ask about a horse."

TATTERSALLS AND THEIR COMPETITORS HAVE MADE AN INCREDIBLE EFFORT AND THEY ARE TO BE COMMENDED FOR STILL BEING ABLE TO HOLD A SALE.

Mark McStay

McStay continued, "In certain instances where possible I have been able to do socially-distanced and Covid-safe visits to stud farms and training yards to inspect animals of interest, so I think that all of those things make it workable. It's not ideal--we'd all rather be inspecting horses thoroughly and maybe reinspecting a second time, but that isn't practical." Cont. p3

He continued, "In the situation that we're in Tattersalls and their competitors have made an incredible effort and they are to be commended for still being able to hold a sale. The fact that they've been sensible and are going to hold a second sale in six weeks' time, which hopefully people will be able to attend, is also a big benefit."

McStay avers that demand for horses in the UK remains high, with an increasing number of overseas buyers involved in public auctions and private purchases.

"Whether it be a broodmare or a horse in training, the market for a good horse is stronger than ever," he adds. "However, it is very selective in the middle tier and the bottom end of the market has had a huge drop, and it will continue to drop until the prize-money issue is resolved.

"Thankfully, people love our game, they love racing, and people want to win the top races around the world so the demand for a good horse is still high. Our product in the UK is becoming more and more export-orientated. A lot of the horses I would buy, and the same for a lot of other agents, will continue their careers in Australia, America, Hong Kong or Dubai. That unfortunately is a reflection on our prize-money."

So what potential gems can be found in this year's February catalogue, which started out with 497 horses but had been depleted by the withdrawal of around 200? One which won't be found in the book but is a wildcard entry online is the last horse to sell on Thursday, Noble Yeats (Ire) (lot 256A). The 6-year-old son of Yeats (Ire) is an unusual entry for this sale and would be more likely found in a Tattersalls Cheltenham Sale in a normal year. The gelding recently won a Thurles bumper by 19 lengths for trainer Emmet Mullins and is entered in Saturday's G2 Goffs Future Stars Bumper at Leopardstown. Cont. p4

Noble Yeats was also runner-up on his sole point-to-point start and was third on his bumper debut in late December.

Coloratura Soprano (Ity), a Golden Horn (GB) half-sister to last season's G2 Oaks d'Italia winner Auyantepui (GB) (Night Of Thunder {Ire}) is among the horses offered by the Castlebridge Consignment. The 3-year-old (lot 162) has been trained in her first three starts by John Gosden.

Oakshott Bloodstock consigns the sole mare in foal to Showcasing (GB) in the catalogue in 8-year-old Little Voice (lot 39), a dual-winning daughter of Scat Daddy who has a yearling filly on the ground also by the Whitsbury Manor Stud stallion. Part of the continuing Broughton Bloodstock dispersal is lot 63, Carter's Grove (Ire), a Lilbourne Lad (Ire) half-sister to the useful stallion Sir Prancealot (Ire) (Tamayuz {GB}) and to listed winner Nice Applause (Ire) (Royal Applause {GB}). The 8-year-old mare is sold with an early May cover to young stallion Le Brivido (Fr). Her yearling filly by Charm Spirit (Ire) features later in the sale as lot 96.

Among the horses in training in the opening session is the Daniel and Claire Kubler-trained Chitra (GB) (lot 146). The hardy 5-year-old is a rare sprinter by Sea The Moon (Ger) who has won seven of her 34 races over five and six furlongs.

On behalf of breeder Lordship Stud, New England Stud consigns lot 153, Swiss Kiss (GB) (Dansili {GB}). The winning 10-year-old mare is in foal to Acclamation (GB) on a May 22 cover and is a daughter of Lordship's successful broodmare Swiss Lake (Indian Ridge {GB}), whose 12 winning offspring include the Group 3 winners Swiss Spirit (GB) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}) and Swiss Diva (GB) (Pivotal {GB}).

The sale is conducted online on Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. Potential buyers, once registered, can place bids via the Tattersalls internet bidding platform or on the telephone to a member of staff.

Dubai Previews Cont. from p1

Also on Thursday is the G3 Firebreak S., which marks the return of Sheikh Hamdan bin Mohammed Al Maktoum's G1SW Matterhorn (Ire) (Raven's Pass). The 6-year-old entire has progressed steadily through the ranks, and, after running third in this race last year, he stretched out in trip to take the G1 Al Maktoum Challenge Round 3 by daylight on the front end in March.

Meydan veteran Kimbear (Temple City) receives a slight class break after running eighth in the G2 Al Maktoum Challenge R1 on Jan. 21.

Naval Crown | Racingfotos.com

Kimbear | DRC/Erika Rasmussen

The 7-year-old Doug Watson charge is a two-time group winner in the UAE after success in the 2018 G3 Burj Nahaar and 2020 G2 Al Maktoum Challenge R1, with the re-opposing Secret Ambition (GB) (Exceed And Excel {Aus}) second both times.

Watson told the Meydan notes team, "He needed that first run, probably more than we realised, but is training very well and seems in great form. We have put a visor on him so, being drawn one, I guess we will have to be quite positive and go forward."

The latter, who struck at the Group 3 level at Jebel Ali in January of 2019, reversed fortunes with Kimbear with a one-length score in the Listed Dubai Creek Mile in December of 2019. He is also a two-time Firebreak bridesmaid in 2019 and in 2020. Trained by Satish Seemar, the 8-year-old entire ran third in the G3 Jebel Ali Mile on Jan. 22.

Assistant trainer Bhupat Seemar said, "The Jebel Ali Mile was only 13 days ago, but he seems to have recovered well. Drawn widest of all in six is probably not ideal, but he has run well in this before and never has a bad race."

The oversubscribed Listed Dubai Sprint is a six-furlong contest on turf, and Ekhtiyar (GB) (Bated Breath {GB}) represents the Doug Watson barn. Bearing the Shadwell colours, the gelding, a dual runner-up in the 2019/20 G3 Nad Al Sheba Turf Sprint, returned to take fourth after a 320-day break in a handicap at Meydan on Jan. 21.

Richard Barnes's Could Be King (GB) (Bated Breath {GB}) has been MSP at the listed level throughout his career and he added another runner-up effort in the Listed Testimonial S. at The Curragh in October. The gelding was a one-paced fifth, one behind GSP Silver Line (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}) and one better than MGSP Final Song (Ire) (Dark Angel {Aus})--both of whom run for Godolphin--in the Jan. 21 G2 Al Fahidi Fort for trainer Ken Condon. Dubai Previews Cont.

Godolphin fields the majority of the entrants in the Listed Meydan Cup over 2810 metres of sod, with seven entered. MGSW Ispolini (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}) was off the board in the Jan. 21 Listed Dubai Racing Club Classic most recently and looks to rebound for Charlie Appleby. French Group 3 winner Moonlight Spirit (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) and listed winner Ghostwatch (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) are also signed on for Appleby. GSP Dubai Future (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}) ran second in a listed handicap here on Jan. 21 for Saeed bin Suroor, while Global Heat (Ire) (Toronado {Ire}) saluted for the same yard in a Jan. 14 handicap.

Communique (Ire) (Casamento {Ire}), second in a German Group 1 this past fall for Mark Johnston, now races for Salem bin Ghadayer and bids to improve off a 12th in a listed handicap here on Jan. 21. MSP Chouain (Fr) (Rajsaman {Fr}) represents trainer Miroslav Rulec and won a Deauville contest on Dec. 27.

HKJC GRANTED ADDITIONAL SIMULCAST DAYS

The Hong Kong SAR Government has granted the Hong Kong Jockey Club permission to increase its maximum number of simulcast days per year by 14 days, from 23 to 37, and for simulcast days to take place during the summer beginning this year. This new arrangement will address the demand of Hong Kong residents to bet on overseas races during the nation’s summer break in racing, and should also help curtail illegal betting. The HKJC said the change will also promote the globalization of horse racing.

A statement from the Hong Kong Jockey Club on Wednesday read, “During the summer break of Hong Kong’s racing, it is the peak season of overseas racing particularly in Europe, and the illegal and offshore bookmakers have taken advantage of this time gap to lure Hong Kong people to place bets on overseas races. As such, the approval of extra simulcast days in the summer will effectively address the existing illegal gambling issues while at the same time generate additional betting duty as well as charities donations, and create additional job opportunities which will benefit the Hong Kong community as a whole.”

SIR DRAGONET READY FOR ORR CHALLENGE

Sir Dragonet | TDN AusNZ

by TDN AusNZ

G1 Cox Plate winner Sir Dragonet (Ire) (Camelot {GB}) heads a field of 10 for Saturday's first Australian Group 1 of 2021, the CF Orr S. A strong trial at Geelong convinced trainers Ciaron Maher and David Eustace to push on with a plan to kick off the import's autumn campaign in the Orr. Sir Dragonet (Ire) "The timing doesn't worry me at all," Maher told Racing.com in reference to The All-Star Mile five weeks later. "I'd rather have a big stallion like him fit and ready to go, so hopefully the rain comes and he can take his place.

"There's a bit (of rain) forecast for Friday and whether it comes or not, we'll wait and see. A Dead 4 is normally a Good 3 so maybe we'll need a Soft 5." Glen Boss will take the ride. The field also contains previous Group 1 winners Humidor (NZ) (Teofilo {Ire}), Fifty Stars (Ire) (Sea The Stars {Ire}) and Streets Of Avalon (Magnus).

CUMMINGS CONFIDENT IN ANAMOE

by TDN AusNZ

Trainer James Cummings is relishing the prospect of getting smart colt Anamoe (Street Boss {USA}) back to the track in Saturday's G3 Blue Diamond Prelude (C&G) at Caulfield.

Anamoe was an impressive last-start winner of the Listed Merson Cooper S. at Sandown in November and Cummings feels he is ready to make a substantial impression this autumn.

"Of the 2-year-olds we've sent to the races this season he has registered the best performance," Cummings said. "Our feeling is that with a horse like Anamoe the best course would be to let it all unfold naturally and we might be duly rewarded. He's won at 1000 metres after all and we wouldn't want to see him ripping along when we don't want him to. "He's worked stylishly in preparation for this and we're looking forward to stepping up to this race."
