ON THE RHODE TO VICTORY

Barry and Tom Lacy with Vida Amorosa and her Inns Of Court colt

The village of Rhode in the Irish heartland of County Offaly may be better known for its peat but it can also boast a growing reputation as home to some of the stars of the racing and breeding world.

The most recent comet to shoot to prominence having been raised on its turf is Gubbass (Ire) (Mehmas {Ire}), winner of Saturday's Weatherbys Super Sprint for Richard Hannon and owner Jassim Bin Ali Attiyah. The youngster was bred at Ballyheashill Stud in Rhode by Barry Lacy and his father Tom, the former jockey, trainer and mentor to many a young person starting out in the racing business.

"We would be known as bogland around here, so people say 'oh you're from the bog' and we have to put up with that," says Barry Lacy, whose brother Tony is one of Ireland's many 'wild geese' and was recently appointed Keeneland's vice director of sales in Lexington.

He adds, "But when it comes to the land the proof of the pudding is in the eating and the amount of good horses that have come out of this little pocket here in recent years is pretty staggering. Derek has had some amazing results." Cont. p2

PALACE PIER TO MISS SUSSEX WITH UNSATISFACTORY BLOOD WORK

Top-class miler Palace Pier (GB) (Kingman {GB}) will miss the G1 Qatar Sussex S. at Goodwood on July 28, after presenting with poor blood work in advance of the race. The Sheikh Hamdan bin Mohammed Al Maktoum colourbearer has compiled a record of eight wins in nine starts, and was last seen saluting in the G1 Queen Anne S. at Royal Ascot. He had opened his 2021 campaign with a win in the G2 bet365 Mile at Sandown on Apr. 23 and added the May 15 G1 Al Shaqab Lockinge S.

Co-trainer Thady Gosden said, “His bloods are off, and obviously it wouldn’t have been the right thing to do to try and push him into the Sussex. The next race that suits him is the [Aug. 15 G1] Prix Jacques le Marois [at Deauville]. We’ll have to miss Goodwood, which is frustrating.

“Hopefully we’ll take him to France. He obviously won the Jacques le Marois last year, so it’s a good back-up.”

On the Rhode to Victory Cont. from p1

The neighbour to whom Lacy refers is Derek Veitch, owner of Ringfort Stud with his wife Gay. Their growing number of stakes winners includes the G2 Duke of Cambridge S. victrix Indie Angel (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}), bred in partnership with Paul Hancock, as well as last year’s G2 Lowther S. winner, Miss Amulet (Ire) (Sir Prancealot {Ire}), and the last two winners of the G2 Gimcrack S. in Threat (Ire) (Footstepsinthesand (GB)) and Minzaal (Ire) (Mehmas {Ire}). It’s not completely unthinkable that the race could go to another Rhode-bred this time around as the unbeaten Gubbass already has a Gimcrack entry, through Hannon has identified the G2 Qatar Richmond S. at Glorious Goodwood as his likely next target.

"We can dare to dream," says Lacy. "Look, the horse won on Saturday and it was fantastic but we get as much of a kick out of watching Roundabout Magic (Ire) (Zebedee {GB}), who we bred, win for Simon Dow at Lingfield. He’s seven or eight, still a colt, rated in the 50s and I think he’s won eight races. I love those tough, sound horses. Horses like that, that are still sound and loving it, they give you a great kick and they are hard to find. And they don’t have to be stars but that just does your heart good."

So speaks a man who has been involved with the riding and training of horses for a lifetime. Sales-ring touches are fantastic, and fast, early 2-year-olds help a mare’s commercial value, but at the crux of it all is breeding robust individuals who will stand up to the work required, both mentally and physically, to get them to the racecourse and into the winner’s enclosure.

"Gubbass looks like he’s a black-type horse and for a mare to have a horse like that as her first foal is just wonderful," he adds. "It’s also lovely vindication for mum as she would have watched all the foals walking round from the kitchen window over the years and she called it first, that the Mehmas colt was something special."

Lacy’s mother Margaret is the sister of Paddy Behan, breeder of a superstar under another code, the nine-time Grade 1-winning jumper Altior (Ire) (High Chaparral {Ire}).

Along with the former training stable, Tom and Margaret Lacy have always kept “two or three mares” and played something of a key role in one of Ballylinch Stud’s major families as the breeders of Group 3 winner Ingabelle (GB) (Taufan {GB}).

Lacy recalls, "In the 1970s dad bought a filly by Falcon (GB) who turned out to be Bodelle (GB). She was quite a good race filly and got black type on the Flat and over hurdles. Her first foal was Ingabelle, who became an important foundation mare for Ballylinch Stud. We kept the first two foals out of her, a colt and a filly, and we still have one grand-daughter here." Cont. p3
The Ballylinch connection continues through one of the three mares currently on the farm, Gubbass's 7-year-old dam Vida Amarosa (Ire), a daughter of Ballylinch stallion Lope De Vega (Ire).

"We had originally been interested in her half-sister Queen Of Power (Ire), who ran in the Guineas at The Curragh. My brother Tony had asked me to have a look at her but for some reason we didn't end up going for her. Then this Lope De Vega filly came out of the blue," he continues.

"In the meantime when we stumbled across this filly, as she was at the time, I noticed that Queen Of Power had had an Acclamation (GB) colt foal who went through the sale for €130,000, so I thought to myself 'he must have been nice', and it was almost another reason to use Mehmas. We'd been interested in that family for quite a few years but looking at them is one thing, buying them is something else."

As it was, Vida Amarosa wasn't too hard to buy and she was picked up as a 3-year-old at the Goffs February sale for €1,200 and sent to Mehmas the following year. Following a record-breaking start with his debutants, the Tally-Ho Stud stallion shows no sign of slowing up. And in fact the O'Callaghan family of Tally-Ho are now the owners of Gubbass's full-brother, having paid €75,000 for him at last season's delayed Goffs Foal Sale the week before Christmas.

"He was one of only about three colts by Mehmas at that sale last year and we had the impression that they were crazy about Gubbass [at Hannon's]. Word must have filtered down because it wasn't just Tally-Ho bidding on him. He was in the last 10 lots on the first day of Goffs and everybody stayed around. We thought they were hardly here for our horse, but as it turns out they were," says Lacy. Cont. p4

Vida Amorosa is being rested this year having produced a colt quite late in the season by another Tally-Ho resident, Inns Of Court (Ire).

Reflecting on the mating that produced Gubbass, Lacy says, "I suppose we broke the golden rule in a way, in that she was an unproven mare—she'd never run or had a foal—and we sent her to an unproven sire. If you were to tell people starting off, you'd tell them not to do that but we were so strong on Mehmas. We just absolutely loved him. Physically they just seemed to match each other. She was a big, scopey filly with a big walk, and Mehmas just has that quality. It made sense physically and I could see how Acclamation was working with the family."

The Acclamation colt foal out of Queen Of Power previously spotted by Lacy is now known as the listed-winning sprinter Garrus (Ire), who was recently fifth in the G1 Diamond Jubilee S. at Royal Ascot.

Gubbass was himself consigned to the yearling sales by Tally-Ho Stud on the Lacys' behalf, fetching €28,000 at the relocated Tattersalls Ireland September Sale. His appearance at the auction came at a sad time for the racing industry in the week following the death of Pat Smullen, who was easily Rhode's most famous son.

"Patrick only lived down the road from us and we can't exaggerate how much he meant to all of us," says Lacy of his much-missed friend. "I'm looking out across the paddocks now and about three fields across from me is where Patrick and Frances live, and then if I take a drive two minutes down the road I'm at Derek Veitch's, and another 15 minutes and I'm at Tally-Ho. So we're surrounded by likeminded people."

He adds, "I was at the yearling sales in Newmarket with Gubbass at the time of Patrick's funeral and it was very hard for none of us to be able to go. We lost somebody very important round here. It's hard to exaggerate the effect that it had on the local area. It was like losing your Muhammad Ali, your hero."

O’BRIEN GIVES UPDATE ON GOODWOOD TEAM

Aidan O’Brien will send a strong Ballydoyle challenge to the Qatar Goodwood Festival next week, and has a trio of colts ready to step forward in the G1 Qatar Sussex S.—Lope Y Fernandez (Ire) (Lope de Vega {Ire}), Order Of Australia (Ire) (Australia {GB}) and Battleground (War Front). Runner-up in the G1 Queen Anne S. at Royal Ascot, the MG1SP Lope Y Fernandez won the Listed Heritage S. at Leopardstown in April. GI Breeders’ Cup Mile hero Order Of Australia was last seen in action taking the G2 Minstrel S. at The Curragh on July 18 and Battleground, a Group 2 winner, exits the G1 Prix Jean Prat on July 11 with a ninth-place run.

O’Brien said of the Coolmore partners’ runners, “Order Of Australia has come out of the race [on Sunday] well. He cantered today and yesterday and he's very well. It's very possible that he could go. Obviously when he only ran at the weekend, we’d like to get him back in full work for four or five days and do the right thing for the horse."

“We have the choice of running here or going to the Lennox S., but at the moment we’re thinking of the Sussex. He worked this morning and we were very happy with him.”

He added of Battleground, “He ran a very big race in Ascot. He was a little bit disappointing the last day, but he was drawn out on a wing and he's a horse that likes to get cover. “We’ve been very happy with him since and we think Goodwood will suit him—we think he’ll leave that run behind him and come right back to his Ascot run and better. It’s very possible that he could go to the Sussex as well.”

The G1 Al Shaqab Goodwood Cup S. could also feature three from Rosegreen, with 2020 G1 Derby hero Serpentine (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), 2020 G1 Irish Derby victor Santiago (Ire) (Authorized {Ire}) and June 27 G2 Comer Group International Curragh Cup winner Amhran Na Bhfiann (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) all likely to start. Cont. p5

“We think coming back to two miles will help Santiago and Amhran Na Bhfiann the same,” said O’Brien. “There’s a chance that Serpentine will run as well. We were thinking two of the three, we just haven’t decided yet which two.”

O’Brien’s G1 Tattersalls Irish 1000 Guineas one-two Empress Josephine (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) and Joan Of Arc (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), who subsequently won the G1 Prix de Diane, both hold an entry in the G1 Qatar Nassau S.

“The two fillies we were training for it [the Nassau] are Joan Of Arc, who won the Diane, and Empress Josephine,” said O’Brien. “Joan Of Arc has been progressing lovely all season and we’ve been looking at this with her for a good while. Empress Josephine could step up to a mile and a quarter to run [in] it as well. That’s not definite, but it’s very possible.”

IRISH ST LEGER FOR BARON SAMEDI

Three-time group winner Baron Samedi (GB) (Harbour Watch (Ire))’s long-term goal is the G1 Comer Group International Irish St Leger, trainer Joseph O’Brien has revealed. A winner of the G2 Prix du Conseil de Paris last fall, the 4-year-old gelding returned this spring with a smart win in the G3 Vintage Crop S. at Navan on Apr. 25 and added the GII Belmont Gold Cup S. Stateside on June 4. In his latest run, he was fifth in the G1 Grand Prix de Saint-Cloud on July 4.

“Baron Samedi has the Irish St Leger as his main target and may have a run before then,” said the County Kilkenny trainer. “If he does run before it will be in the Irish St Leger Trial.”

CALL FOR GREATER HORSE TRACEABILITY IN IRELAND

Irish government officials appearing before the Joint Committee on Agriculture, Food, and the Marine have denied knowledge of former racehorses being transported for slaughter from Ireland to the UK.

A BBC Panorama programme entitled The Dark Side of Horseracing, which aired on Monday evening, contained footage from cameras installed covertly by pressure group Animal Aid at Drury & Sons abattoir in Swindon. The images showed horses being killed in distressing fashion, including a number of former racehorses.

Three of the horses were formerly trained in Ireland by Gordon Elliott, who is currently serving a six-month ban following the publication of a photograph showing him sitting on a dead horse on his gallops at Cullentra, Co Meath. Approached for comment by the documentary makers, Elliott attested that two of the horses had been passed on to a dealer and another rehomed separately after being retired from his yard. Another horse in the film was identified as having been trained by Gavin Cromwell.

"For me, probably, the most striking issue was around the whole area of horse slaughter," said Michael Sheahan, deputy chief veterinary officer of Ireland’s department of agriculture. "The footage from the abattoir in Swindon was probably the thing that struck home most with me."

Along with the disturbing images of horses being shot from a distance, which contravenes veterinary regulations, it was also apparent that some of the unidentified horses that were filmed had suffered injuries prior to arrival at the abattoir. It is illegal to transport animals in such a condition.

Fianna Fail politician Joe Flaherty pointed to the lack of proper traceability of horses in Ireland being an issue that needed to be urgently addressed.

He said, "We are a horse-loving nation and we greatly pride and value our reputation as an equine nation but the onus has to come to the Department of Agriculture on the issue of horse ownership. We need to get horse ownership in Ireland, the traceability and where they are sold, how they are sold and where they are exported all into one central database."

John Osborne, director of equine welfare and bloodstock for Horse Racing Ireland (HRI) and a member of the recently formed Irish Thoroughbred Welfare Council, told the Irish Times that HRI is looking at introducing a 'horse purse' linked to the new epassports for Thoroughbreds, which would guarantee a sum of money per horse.

He said, "Every passport has a sum of money attached to it. An approved charity partner can unlock this horse purse of, say €700, so that no horse dies in poverty and can’t properly be dealt with at its end of life."

He also noted that the demand for ex-racehorses to go on to other disciplines is not as strong in Ireland as in some of its fellow European nations.

"If you talk to people in the charity sector, all of them find it easier to place Irish horses on the continent than locally because we don't have as many people who want to take on a thoroughbred for leisure purposes," he said.

CHESTNUT AND INVENTIVE MEDIA PUBLISHING TO SPONSOR WILLIAM KNIGHT RACING

Chester and Inventive Media Publishing (IMP Graphics) are the new co-sponsors of William Knight Racing, the yard announced on Tuesday. Chestnut founder and Chief Executive Philip Turner and IMP Graphics Managing Director Simon Mitchell revealed the new yard kit on the Newmarket gallops.

William Knight, said, "This is fantastic news for the yard. We are delighted Chestnut and IMP have decided to sponsor us. We strongly believe the partnership will be beneficial to all parties."

Chestnut operates 14 East Anglian properties, among them award-winning pubs, inns and restaurants. Chestnut Chief Executive Philip Turner said, "This is an exciting partnership for Chestnut. It will enable us to engage with those directly connected to the yard, whilst also reaching out to the wider community of horseracing fans."

Added IMP Graphics Managing Director Simon Mitchell, "An opportunity like this doesn’t always present itself, so we are delighted we can forge this partnership with William Knight Racing. It’s our way of putting something back into the thoroughbred community by supporting a local yard with whom we’ve had a long-standing relationship. It also affords us an opportunity to showcase the services and products that we can offer the industry as a whole."

Opasan went in unbeaten in four starts last year, registering scores in the Czech Republic and Hungary, and went postward for this black-type bow coming back off a May 8 second and a June 6 win at Bratislava in Slovakia. Lobbing along off the pace in fifth for most of this stamina test, last year’s Czech Derby winner made eyecatching headway on the bridle in the straight and was driven out once shaken up for control passing the eighth pole to claim a career high in game fashion.

“He’s won everything there is to win in Slovakia and we had options to come to France or go to Italy, but we chose France,” explained trainer Jozef Chodur. “He’s had a tough race there so we’ll give him a six-week or seven-week break and target a group race three weeks before the Arc meeting. I don’t think he has enough experience for this year’s [G1] Prix de l’Arc de Triomphe, maybe next year.”

Opasan is the latest of seven live foals and lone black-type performer out of an unraced half-sister to Listed Ladybird S. winner Viva Vettori (GB) (Vettori [Ire]). The strong rebound which led to record results across the yearling and breeding sales in 2021 has understandably bolstered the confidence of studmasters when it comes to setting stallion prices ahead of the pending breeding season. Fees for over 300 stallions have been announced in Australia for 2021, with 29 new stallions among them, while there are 90 stallions listed with fees on rosters in New Zealand, with four new faces.

The trend of stallion fees is particularly interesting this year after the economic shock of 2020 saw a large-scale drop in prices due largely to the uncertainty of the early aspects of the COVID-19 pandemic. However, the thoroughbred industry has, until this point at least, weathered the economic aspects of the pandemic remarkably well, and confidence has returned to the market.

It's worth noting that for the purposes of this article, and reflective of the practices in each jurisdiction, all Australian-based stallions are quoted with GST included, while the New Zealand-based stallions are quoted with GST excluded.

The Top End

As a rule, the top end service fees are where there is greatest volatility and this was the case in 2020 in Australia, where four of the top five priced stallions had their prices reduced. In 2021, the upward trend of the previous five years has resumed with seven stallions to stand at a price of above $100,000, up from six last year. Six of those seven have had a price increase, including the highest-priced stallion in Australia, I Am Invincible, who jumps from $209,000 to $220,000.

Written Tycoon, who will stand his first season at Yulong Stud in Victoria at $165,000 and looks destined to claim his first title as Australian Champion Sire, has had the biggest jump in price of any stallion of $88,000. The average fee for those seven stallions which now stand in that six-figure price range has risen from $143,786 in 2020 to $158,714, this year.

In New Zealand, Waikato Stud's Savabeel is the highest-priced stallion at NZ$100,000, the same as last year, while next on the pricelist is barnmate Super Seth at NZ$35,000, who is also unchanged in his second year. Cambridge Stud's Almanzor (Fr), who had a brilliant season with his first yearlings through Australasian sales rings, stands at NZ$30,000, the same price as his new barnmate Hello Youmzain (Fr), and Waikato Stud's Ocean Park (NZ).

It's perhaps indicative of the more cautious approach and the less bullish nature of the New Zealand industry at the moment that Ocean Park is the only one of the above stallions to have had a price increase.

Across the Board

The commerciality of registered stallions does tend to drop away quite significantly towards the bottom end, which can distort or dilute statistics when it comes to comparisons on price.

For the purpose of allowing proper comparison, we have looked to filter data for the following section by analysing the 149 stallions which will stand at $7,700 and above in Australia in 2021. That list includes 27 first-year stallions, 121 stallions which stood in Australia last year and one stallion, who is back after a year off, Maurice (Jpn).

Of those 121 established stallions, 24, or 19.83%, have had a price rise from last year, 63, or 52.07%, remained at the same price, and 34, or 28.1%, saw their price fall.
A similar analysis of the 2020 stallion rosters saw just 5.26% of stallion have their price increased, 30.8% have their price unchanged and 63.94% saw their price drop from 2019.

Going back to the pre-COVID era and in 2019, 12.65% of Australian stallions had their price increased from the previous year and just 25.3% had their price fall.

Applying a similar NZ$7000-plus filter to New Zealand, it takes in 33 stallions, including 29 that stood in New Zealand in 2020. Of those 29, 10 have had a price rise, the biggest of which was the NZ$12,000 increase for Mapperley Stud’s Contributer (Ire), while only four had a decrease and 15 stayed at the same price.

Filtering the Australian list down further to the Top 50 stallions on price and we see the average price of a stallion in that bracket in 2021 is $61,710 with a median of $44,000. In 2020, the average of the Top 50 priced stallions was $51,975 with a median of $38,500, while in 2019, those figures stood at $52,580 on average and $33,000 on median.

The Rising Stars

The Australian stallion who had the biggest percentage rise in his service fee in 2021 is Capitalist, who had a brilliant first season from his progeny on the track, with 20 winners to date, headed by the G1 Champagne S. victor Captivant. Newgate responded to this success by bolstering his fee by 125% to $99,000.

Barnmate Extreme Choice, who stood at $22,000 in 2020, would have likely been in line for an even bigger percentage rise after an exceptional first crop, led by G1 Golden Slipper S. winner Stay Inside, but Newgate opted to put him in the 'Private' category due to his ongoing fertility challenges, restricting him for shareholders to access.

Other notable Australian-based stallions to have their service fee at least doubled, include the aforementioned Written Tycoon, Coolmore’s So You Think (NZ), Darley shuttlers Street Boss (USA) and Frosted (USA) and Newgate’s Flying Artie.

The biggest jump in New Zealand in terms of percentage was Contributer (Ire) as mentioned, while Ocean Park increased 50% to NZ$30,000, and Little Avondale Stud’s Per Incanto (USA) 66.7% to NZ$25,000. Turn Me Loose (NZ), who is based at Windsor Park Stud, jumped 50% to NZ$15,000, while at the lower price levels, Sweynesse, Time Test (GB) and Telperion all jumped significantly.

The New Kids

The confidence in terms of pricing flows down to the 29 new stallions which will feature on Australian rosters in 2021. Of that group, 13 are priced at $22,000 and above, an increase of one when compared to the 2020 freshman class and six on how many first-season sires stood in that range in 2019.

The average service fee of the 29 first-season stallions in 2021 is $24,257, a slight rise on the average of last year. There are four freshmen in the $50,000-plus range, which is a relative rarity. That group is headed by Coolmore’s Wootton Bassett (GB) ($71,500), who is already proven in Europe but has never stood in Australia before and also includes Darley’s Bivouac ($66,000), Kia Ora’s Farnan and Vinery Stud’s Ole Kirk (both $55,000).

There was not a single freshman stallion over $50,000 in 2020, indicating both the quality of the top end of this crop of stallions as well as how confident the major studs have become when taking new horses to the market.

That confidence is also in evidence in New Zealand where Cambridge Stud’s new boy, Hello Youmzain debuts at NZ$30,000, while Circus Maximus (Ire) starts out at NZ$20,000 at Windsor Park. In comparison, there was just one first-season stallion, Waikato Stud’s Super Seth (NZ$35,000), who stood in the five-figure range in New Zealand in 2020.
Novara Park's King Of Comedy (Ire) and White Robe Lodge's Ancient Spirit (Ger) are the other freshmen in 2021 and both will stand their first seasons at NZ$7000.

MORE ALLEGATIONS OF DAMAGED SAMPLES IN MEDINA SPIRIT TESTING

by T.D. Thornton

An attempt by the connections of Medina Spirit (Protonico) to have a third-party lab perform a new series of tests on the colt’s bodily fluids in the wake of the colt’s GI Kentucky Derby betamethasone positive has resulted in allegations by the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission (KHRC) of a “lack of candor and contemptuous conduct by the New York Laboratory, [trainer Bob Baffert and owner Zedan Racing Stables], or both.”

According to a status report and motion for order filed in Kentucky’s Franklin Circuit Court July 19, the KHRC wants the judge in the case to compel that Baffert and/or Zedan Racing disclose what methods of testing were performed on a urine sample whose remnants allegedly came back damaged after undergoing testing July 14 in New York.

It is the second time in seven weeks that a party in this court case has alleged that samples came back contaminated from an accredited lab.

On June 1—the same date that Medina Spirit’s referee sample was announced as positive—the KHRC informed Baffert and Zedan that body fluid remnants had been damaged during transport to the split-sample testing lab.

LEGAL EXPERT BENNETT LIEBMAN ON WHO WON, WHO LOST IN BAFFERT DECISION

by Bill Finley

As a Government Lawyer in Residence at Albany Law School and an adjunct professor of law, attorney and educator, Bennett Liebman has long had his finger on the pulse when it comes to racing’s rules, regulations and laws. He has written extensively on the subjects of due process and whether or not racetracks have the right to exclude licensees, two key elements of Bob Baffert’s lawsuit against NYRA in which he sought injunctive relief to have his suspension temporarily overturned. For three years, the New Yorker was Deputy Secretary to the Governor for Gaming and Racing. For more than a decade, he was a member of the New York State Racing and Wagering Board. Cont. p4

PENNSYLVANIA HORSE BREEDERS ASSOCIATION

The July 14 new round of testing performed by the New York Equine Drug Testing and Research Laboratory was part of a court mandate in a lawsuit initiated by Baffert and Zedan Racing on June 7 that sought, in part, some form of “limits of detection” testing that could purportedly show that the betamethasone was present along with other compounds in the topical ointment Oтомax.

Betamethasone is a corticosteroid allowed in Kentucky as a therapeutic medication, but state rules require at least a 14-day withdrawal time before racing.

Attorneys for Baffert and stable owner Amr Zedan have stated a desire to prove that the Derby winner’s betamethasone positive—which has yet to be adjudicated by the KHRC—resulted from an ointment to treat a skin condition and not from an intra-articular injection.

Yet any level of detection on race day is a Class C violation in Kentucky, with no distinction listed in the rules pertaining how the substance got inside a horse.

Tim Sullivan of the Louisville Courier-Journal reported Tuesday that KHRC executive director Marc Guilfoil and equine medical director Dr. Bruce Howard transported a second urine sample to New York while accompanied by Dr. Clara Fenger and Tom Huckabee, who represented Baffert and Zedan.

Sullivan wrote that, “In signed affidavits, Guilfoil and Howard said the [New York] lab’s program director, Dr. George Maylin, initially insisted on retaining remnants of the original sample, and subsequently said he had not read the court order requiring the return of those remnants despite a June 21 email in which he had pledged to abide by that order....

“When the remnants were ultimately produced, however, the KHRC filing says the urine tube contained only one to two milliliters of ‘bloody fluid,’ a broken serum separator tube and another tube with serum that had been saved—all presented at room temperature instead of frozen, as preferred. According to Guilfoil and Howard, Maylin explained that most of the urine sample had been used up in testing, but did not provide a clear answer when twice asked what testing had been conducted,” the Courier-Journal story explained.

Maylin did not immediately respond to an interview request from the Courier-Journal on Tuesday.

W. Craig Robertson, an attorney for Baffert and Zedan, told the paper the plaintiffs would be responding in court, adding that, “The statements contained in the KHRC’s status report are inaccurate. We have intentionally had no direct communication with the New York lab, so we are unaware of any testing or the results.”

The TDN asked Liebman to take a deep dive into the ruling handed down last week by Judge Carol Bagley Amon of the United States District Court, Eastern District of New York that granted Baffert an injunction that will allow him to run horses at the Saratoga meet.

TDN: Baffert got the preliminary injunction he sought that allows him, for now, to race in Saratoga. That was because the judge ruled that Baffert’s due process rights had been violated. But NYRA also won when it comes to an important point. The judge ruled that NYRA does in fact have the right to exclude someone, which they may ultimately do with Baffert once he has had a hearing. So which side was the winner and which side the loser?

BL: Baffert was the clear winner here. The only real point he lost on was on NYRA’s power to exclude. And I’m not sure if [Baffert’s legal team] was really serious about that issue. On all other issues, the judge clearly ruled for Baffert. Other than the power to exclude, everything in this decision could have been written by Baffert’s attorneys. Really, everything. It’s as if the judge discounted everything that NYRA put in. It was unnecessarily anti-NYRA.

TDN: As already mentioned, the judge made it clear that NYRA does have the right to exclude Baffert, which very well could eventually happen. How, then, is it that Baffert was "the clear winner?" Why isn’t the validation of NYRA’s right to exclude a bigger deal than you make it out to be?

Bob Baffert

BL: It was generally assumed all along that NYRA and all the state’s racetracks have the power to exclude licensees. If NYRA follows the judge's decision, the course is to hold an unbiased due process hearing on whether they should exclude Baffert. Once that is done, they will have the right to exclude him.

TDN: The judge ruled that NYRA violated Baffert's due process rights because it did not give him a hearing before suspending him. Did NYRA make a strategic error by not giving him that hearing?

BL: The judge clearly thought so. It's very hard for me to sit back and judge what NYRA did or should have done. But the judge clearly thought they would have been within their rights to have given him a hearing and that they would have been much better off to have given him a hearing before they made a decision to exclude him.

TDN: At the hearing, NYRA's lawyers said that a decision would be made regarding the terms and lengths of Baffert's suspension following an Aug. 11 meeting of the Board of Directors. What's your take on that?

BL: That's not normally something the Board of Directors does. The Board of Directors' main job is approving the budget. It's not exactly a judicial body of any note. My assumption is that NYRA will likely hire one judge or a panel of hearing officers—you would expect distinguished people, perhaps former judges—and have them make the assessment. Then NYRA management would follow their assessment. You would think that's how it is going to play out. It's hard for me to imagine, although they raised this, that this is a decision that will be made by the Board of Directors. In something like this, a board of directors does not normally get involved.

TDN: Should NYRA eventually suspend Baffert, what can he do to fight back?

BL: I think they would follow the same procedures that were used to get the temporary injunction and go back to federal court. This time, I think they would follow the case of Dr. [Michael] Galvin. He was a veterinarian who got his NYRA exclusion overturned after arguing that the procedures used by NYRA were biased against him.

TDN: A big issue in this case was whether or not NYRA was a state actor. It was largely believed that if it was determined by the court that NYRA was affiliated with the state then there would be limits to what it could and could not do with Baffert vis a vis a privately owned racetrack. How did the court find on this matter?

BL: The court agreed that NYRA was a state actor and that was a huge deal. If the court found that NYRA was not a state actor then what it did would have clearly been ok. But the judge determined that NYRA was a state actor. It's a very contentious issue. I think the judge put her thumb on the scales in favor of state action. But it's always going to be a difficult issue.

TDN: Is that why, to date, Baffert hasn't taken any legal action to have the ban issued by Churchill Downs overturned? Obviously, Churchill is privately owned and not a state agency.

BL: I'm not sure if I can assess Baffert's lawyers' motivation, but Churchill is clearly a private company. The case law in Kentucky clearly gives the tracks there considerable power over licensees. The other part here is they have a bigger issue to deal with with Churchill Downs, which is the disqualification of Medina Spirit in the Derby. They might want to deal with the disqualification issue first before they challenge Churchill on the Baffert suspension.

TDN: Was the court's decision in any way a game-changer? What impact will it have on future decisions regarding due process and the right of racetracks to exclude someone?

BL: Because NYRA is so unique, you can't say this will have a huge impact on other jurisdictions and other racetracks. NYRA's unique circumstances make this a one off when it comes to other cases. What was odd to me was the judge's determination that Bob Baffert will be harmed so extensively if not allowed to race at Saratoga. That's at a track where he normally, over the last 10 years, has raced about five times a meet. On its face, banning Baffert from a track where he rarely appears doesn't seem to be irreparable harm. That's the one issue that I think might have an effect on other cases, that someone who might occasionally show up at a track can argue irreparable harm and get a temporary restraining order if they are banned.

TDN: The Jockey Club filed an amicus brief in support of NYRA. Did that have any impact?

BL: The main reference to The Jockey Club is in a footnote. There's only one other reference, on how over the past 10 years Baffert had never gone a year without racing at a NYRA track. From reading her decision, it doesn't appear as if The Jockey Club brief had much of an impact. It is minimally referred to in the decision.

TDN: Are there any other unanswered questions?

BL: One is whether or not NYRA will appeal [Judge Amon's decision]? I don't know. Instead of doing that they can simply go ahead and give him a hearing. Another question is whether or not NYRA will give Baffert stall space? There was nothing in the ruling that covered that. There's an easy way around that. He can easily find some place to stable at off track. I don't think NYRA's exactly going to make Clare Court available to him.

LIVE OAK'S BLUE HEN BROODMARE WIN APPROVAL EUTHANIZED AT 29

Win Approval, a Live Oak Stud foundation mare and the 2017 Broodmare of the Year, was euthanized July 19 due to the infirmities of old age, the farm announced Tuesday. She was 29.

By Canadian Horse of the Year With Approval out of the graded stakes-placed and stakes-producing Hoist the Flag mare Negotiator, Win Approval left an indelible mark on the industry as a producer of champions.

The Live Oak homebred is the dam of eight winners from 10 foals, including a pair of champions—World Approval (Northern Afleet), 2017’s Champion Turf Male, and Miesque’s Approval (Miesques Son), Champion Grass Horse in 2006—and four graded stakes winners. In addition to her national honor, Win Approval was also named the Florida Broodmare of the Year by the Florida Thoroughbred Breeders’ and Owners’ Association (FTBOA) in 2006, 2016, and 2017. All told, her runners amassed earnings of $8,936,808.

“She will be missed, but never forgotten,” said Charlotte Weber.

Win Approval’s additional graded stakes winners also shared an affinity for the turf. Revved Up, a 1998 Florida-bred son of Sultry Song, banked $1,548,653 and Kentucky-bred Za Approval, a 2008 son of Ghostzapper, earned more than $1.3 million, with both winning multiple graded stakes on grass.
MULTIPLE SAFETY-RELATED VIOLATIONS
RESULTS IN 4 1/2-MONTH BAN FOR JOCKEY
SALLES

by T.D. Thornton

After racking up three safety-related riding penalties--two of which caused racing accidents within the first four weeks of the meet--jockey Leo Salles has been suspended by the Woodbine Racetrack stewards through Dec. 5.

Salles, 27, a Brazilian native who has previously ridden in the Middle East, told the Toronto Sun that he accepted responsibility for the latest accident on July 11 and won’t be appealing the ruling, although he did term the suspension as overly harsh.

“I think I deserve some days, but I just think it was extreme,” Salles told the Sun. “I apologized. I care about my [jockey] friends. I just think it is part of horse racing. We know this game is dangerous and this could happen to everybody.”

Salles’s 2020 season at Woodbine also ended prematurely because he had to sit out a 45-day suspension issued for “endangering the health and safety of another jockey and his horse” in an Aug. 9 race.

On Woodbine’s 2021 season-opening card June 12, Salles racked up suspensions in back-to-back races: One was for three days for causing interference. The other was for 10 days for causing a spill that sent Rafael Hernandez, last year’s leading rider at Woodbine, to the hospital with a hairline vertebra fracture.

On July 11, Salles’s 58-1 maiden mount appeared to be out of contention near the back of the pack when he angled the horse outside but not clear of a tiring rival on the far turn, causing heels to clip and Keveh Nicholls to be thrown to the track (Nicholls resumed riding later that week).

Salles has a 2-for-39 riding record at the current Woodbine meet. He told the Sun that this season has been a “nightmare” for him.

“I just think my riding style doesn’t match with the rules they have up here,” Salles added.

BILL SELLERS TO RETIRE AS LANE’S END FARM STALLION MANAGER

Lane’s End Farm’s longtime stallion manager Bill Sellers will retire in September after 39 years of service. Sellers has overseen the management and care of influential Lane’s End stallions including the legendary A.P. Indy, champion sires Kingmambo, Smart Strike, Dixieland Band, Gulch, Lemon Drop Kid, Mineshaft and City Zip in addition to current top stallions Quality Road, Candy Ride (Arg), Union Rags and Twirling Candy.

Sellers has been a valued member of the Lane’s End Farm team since 1982, when he was hired in a foreman capacity to work with the farm’s first yearling crop and with mares and foals. He became stallion manager at the beginning of the development of the Lane’s End stallion division in 1985. In this position, he established the foundation of best practices that would ensure the health and safety of the stallions and result in smooth management of the breeding shed.

Will Farish, Lane’s End Farm owner, said, “Bill Sellers has contributed significantly to the success of Lane’s End as a leading Thoroughbred breeding farm. Billy’s exceptional diligence and hard work have been instrumental in building the Lane’s End stallion division into a world renowned operation known for the highest level of horse care and management. We take this opportunity to thank Billy for dedicating his career to Lane’s End Farm. We will miss him greatly and wish him the very best in his retirement.”

COLONIAL DOWNS MEET BEGINS WITH RECORD OPENING DAY HANDLE

Colonial Downs kicked off its 2021 racing season Monday with a record opening day handle of $2.66 million, spurred by a four-pack of $100,000 Virginia-restricted turf stakes races, and the return of fans to the New Kent track now in its third year under ownership of the Colonial Downs Group.

"We would like to thank the horsemen, our fans on and off site and our team for starting the meet on the right foot," said John Marshall, Executive VP Operations for the Colonial Downs Group. "What a delight it was to see 2,500 fans at Colonial Downs on a Monday afternoon with such enthusiasm. We appreciate our fans for wagering a new all-time Colonial Downs all-source handle opening day record. Looking at today's card, Colonial Downs has arrived at a whole new level."

GOFUNDME CAMPAIGN STARTED FOR INJURED RIDER VINCE HALLIDAY

A GoFundMe.com campaign has been started for jockey Vince Halliday, who suffered serious injuries in a July 15 race at Delaware Park.

According to his wife, Stephanie Pastore, Halliday's injuries include: two small brain bleeds, a C-4 neck fracture, several thoracic fractures, a sternum fracture, a scapular fracture and a broken elbow.

Riding the filly Tua (Normandy Invasion) in a maiden claiming race, Halliday went down when his mount clipped heels with another horse. Pastore said that while there have been no signs of paralysis, Halliday has a difficult period in front of him.

“There’s not going to be any surgery required for his fractures, but it’s going to be a long, long rehab. Knowing Vince, I am sure he will want to go back to riding,” Pastore said that the bills are already piling up. Halliday has won two races this year and his mounts have earned $75,165. Unfortunately, when you are a jockey, if you’re not working you’re not making any money," she said. "I work in retail, and I haven’t been going to work. So, it’s the same for me. I’m not making any money if I’m not working. There are things in place to help jockeys out, but with all the medical bills and trying to pay our mortgage, it’s going to require some help."

Jennifer Shannon, who organized the GoFundMe, posted an update Tuesday that read, “Vince remains in the ICU at Christiana Hospital. His brain bleeds have stabilized however he still has not gained the ability to use his arms. The injuries to Vince’s neck and lungs have made it very difficult to breathe on his own. Doctors have had no choice but to intubate to keep his oxygen levels up."
“He is unable to speak or swallow on his own,” Shannon continued. “Attempts to remove the breathing tube have been unsuccessful. Additional MRI’s have shown multiple fractures to vertebrae and an additional fracture in his sternum.

“His wife Stephanie has been at his side and is relentless in aiding his recovery and encouraging Vince to stay strong. Vince is very frustrated that he cannot move his arms, speak, or breathe on his own. Vince was able to nod at letters in the alphabet to communicate. Anyone that knows Vince will not be surprised to learn that he asked about the well-being of Tua, the filly that fell with him, Vince was happy to learn she will be okay.

“Vince and Stephanie are grateful for the support and the outpouring of love for Vince. Please continue to pray for Vince and Stephanie during this difficult time.”

Handy from the fence to attend the pace, the bay edged clear in the stretch with the help of some spirited left handers. The winner hails from a Pin Oak family responsible for Peaks and Valley, Higher Power, Alternation, et al. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by TVG.

OXANA (f, 3, Uptowncharlybrown--Its My Town, by Cowtown Cat) did little running in her turf sprint unveiling at Monmouth June 7, but returned 17 days later over this strip to air by 18 lengths in PA-bred company, good for a 96 Beyer Speed Figure. Installed the prohibitive 1-2 favorite here, the dark bay pressed a foe from the two path through an opening quarter of :22 flat and took a narrow advantage into a sharp :44 4/5 half. She proved superior to her competition in the stretch, and cruised to the wire much the best. The winner bounced off the rail while working :10 1/5 at last year's Fasig-Tipton Midlantic sale. She has full siblings born in 2019 and 2020 and while her dam failed to produce another Uptowncharlybrown foal in 2021, she was bred back to him for 2022. Sales history: $65,000 2yo '20 EASMAY. SEQUIST (f, 2, Nyquist--Secret Garden {Per} {G1SW-Per}, by Flanders Fields), off at 9-2 while drawn to the far outside, broke inward at the start and settled in a well-back sixth through an opening quarter of :22.11 set by Musique (Tiznow). She worked her way into a clear spot out wide in upper stretch as Musique fended off Gina (Maclean's Music--Music Note) up top. Sequist continued to gather momentum in the late stages, and rolled over the top of Musique to prevail by a widening length. Gina held third. The winner is the first foal out of a G1 Polla de

Bernardini. She has a yearling half-sister by Cairo Prince. Sales

WOW WHATA SUMMER (c, 2, Summer Front--Loan Guarantee, by Malibu Moon) earned a first-out victory with some help from the stewards Tuesday. Off at 3-1 in this event restricted to Virginia-bred or certified juveniles, the dark bay sat off the pace and out wide early. He followed the sweeping move of Capt.
Candy (Imagining) into the lane, and appeared to come up a half-length short of that one in the run to the line. Wow Whata Summer’s rider Feargal Lynch soon launched an objection against the winner for forcing his mount out around the turn, and the stewards ruled that a change was warranted. The winner has a yearling half-sister by Mshawish and a foal half-brother by Desert Party. Sales history: $24,000 RNA Ylg '20
