BLACKBEARD'S SISTER LEADS VIBRANT GOFFS ORBY SALE AT €2.6 MILLION

Richard Knight signed for Tuesday's €2.6-million topper, a filly by No Nay Never, who is a full-sister to dual Group 1 winner Blackbeard Goffs/Sarah Farnsworth

By Emma Berry and Brian Sheerin

KILDARE, Ireland—The victory of Blackbeard (Ire) in Saturday's G1 Juddmonte Middle Park S. was really just gilding the lily of his sensational juvenile season which has also given a tremendous boost to his yearling sister, who topped the opening day of the Goffs Orby Sale at €2.6 million.

From a start to proceedings at Kildare Paddocks that could be described as relentlessly solid, the auditorium suddenly filled with people around lunchtime on Tuesday as the dark brown daughter of No Nay Never entered the ring to an almost instantaneous bidding frenzy fuelled by interested parties from China, America and Britain. In the end it was Richard Knight who prevailed, adding the smart filly to a swathe of choice individuals for an unnamed individual who, it is believed, is returning to the racing scene after a hiatus.

Even without the stellar start of her brother, whose near-faultless season for Aidan O'Brien has included victories in G1 Prix Morny, G2 Prix Robert Papin and G3 Marble Hill S., the filly was adjudged to be an appealing physical specimen.

BUICK AND MISHRIFF LIKELY TO TEAM UP FOR THE ARC

William Buick is now likely to ride John and Thady Gosden's Mishriff (Ire) (Make Believe {GB}) in the G1 Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe after Adayar (Ire) (Frankel {GB}) was ruled out of the race in favour of the G1 Champion S. at Ascot.

Prince Faisal's 5-year-old is a Group 1 winner in France, Dubai, and the UK, and, although he has yet to win in 2022, the bay has been in the top three in three of his four starts. Runner-up to Arc rival Vadani (Fr) (Churchill {Ire}) in the G1 Coral-Eclipse in July, under Prince Faisal's former retained rider David Egan, Mishriff was third in the G1 King George VI & Queen Elizabeth S. at Ascot later that month. He rebounded to take second to the G1 Champion S.-bound Baaeed (GB) (Sea The Stars (Ire)) in the G1 Juddmonte International S. in August and was last seen running fourth in the G1 Irish Champion S. at Leopardstown on Sept. 10. TAKEAWAYS

Goffs Orby Sale Day 1

- Richard Knight bought the day's top lot at €2.6 million and two more yearlings for a total outlay of €2.98 million. This season the agent has already signed for five yearlings at Arqana for €1.98 million and six at Keeneland for $4,875,000.
- Much of the pre-sale chat revolved around the strength of the American buying bench and the raiders did not disappoint with at least 25 yearlings knocked down to agents from that jurisdiction.
- No Nay Never accounted for a staggering €4,660,000 of the trade on day one. Not only did the stallion top the sale with Blackbeard's sister bringing in €2.6million, but 14 of the 16 No Nay Never yearlings consigned sold at an average of €332,857.
- The stock of Night Of Thunder (Ire) also proved popular. His 10 yearlings sold during the first session returned an average price of €209,500.
- A whopping 100 lots sold for six figures or more on day one which goes some way to illustrating the strength of Tuesday's trade. In comparison there were 139 six- or seven-figure lots across the whole of the Orby Sale last year.
- The average for the first day of trade shot up by 25% to €129,269, and the market had plenty of depth to it as well, as the median of €100,000 (+33%) demonstrates. Turnover for the 208 yearlings sold from 237 offered (88%) weighed in at €26,888,000, a rise of 37%.

Add to that the excellent record this season of her sire, the decent page of her young dam—which could yet be enhanced by a potential trip to the Breeders' Cup for Blackbeard—and a buying bench packed with international visitors, and it was a safe bet that the Glenvale Stud-consigned filly would be the day's star attraction.

A number of parties made an attempt to secure the filly, including Michael Donohoe, Amanda Skiffington, and eventual underbidder Jacob West, but none had the staying power of Knight.

"I thought she was the absolute standout of the sale, even without her brother on the page," said the agent, who bought five yearlings at Arqana for €1.98 million and then signed for another six at Keeneland for $4,875,000.

"Just as an individual, she had everything; a lovely size, lovely shape and a very athletic filly. Every time I went to see her, she came out and did exactly what I wanted. She had the brother, the sire and we're just delighted to get her."

He added of her lofty price tag, "It was at the top of where we thought she'd be but we really wanted her. We didn't want to leave here without her. It's very exciting. She'll go back to the UK but a trainer hasn't been decided on."

The filly (lot 93) is the second foal of the winning Born To Sea (Ire) mare Muirin (Ire), who was fourth in the G1 Moyglare Stud S. on just her second start for Robert Moran when trained by Eddie Lynam. Cont. p4

Blackbeard's sister heading into the ring
Sarah Farnsworth/Goffs

Four years ago she passed through the same ring as a 3-year-old and was bought for €210,000 by Laurent Benoit's Broadhurst Agency for the partners in the Newstead Breeding syndicate. Muirin also has a colt foal by No Nay Never this year.

Her consignor Ciaran 'Flash' Conroy of Glenvale Stud said, "You never expect that kind of return on any animal really. We expected her to sell very well, but we were a little more conservative in our expectation than what she made."

He added, "Blackbeard has been a wonderful horse. He's improved with every run and Aidan has done a very good job with him. [The filly] is quite similar [to him]; same physique, very strong, good limbs and a good mover."

Rousing Start to the Orby

With a top price more than €1 million in excess of last year's sale-topper, the average for the first day of trade shot up by 25% to €129,269, but the market had plenty of depth to it as well, as the median of €100,000 (+33%) demonstrates. Turnover for the 208 yearlings sold from 237 offered (88%) weighed in at €26,888,000, a rise of 37%.

A total of 104 yearlings sold for six- or seven-figure sums on Tuesday compared to 139 across the whole of last year's Orby

Sale.

Well-bred fillies were the order of the day and lot 215, a Galileo (Ire) daughter of Royal Ascot heroine Signora Cabello (Ire) (Camacho {GB}), proved predictably popular with Newtown Anner Stud coming out best at €750,000.

One of 11 Galileo yearlings in the sale, the daughter of the 2016 G2 Queen Mary winner attracted strong interest from Coolmore and Michael Donohoe of BBA Ireland, but it was PJ Colville, acting on behalf of Newtown Anner, who fought hardest.

He said, "She was our pick of the sale, we liked the cross, so let's hope she's lucky. Maurice [Regan] is trying to build a broodmare band. I'll break her in myself and we'll make a decision about where she's trained around Christmas time."

The pedigree of last year's top lot was on display again in the catalogue and the sister to Starry Eyed (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), who was third on debut for Aidan O'Brien last Friday at Dundalk, took high order at Goffs when bought by Michael Donohoe of BBA Ireland for €430,000. The agent declined to name his client, whom he described as an owner-breeder who races horses in Ireland.

Bred by Coolmore Stud and Phoenix Thoroughbreds, lot 111 is the second foal of the Grade I-winning juvenile Nickname (Scat Daddy) and was consigned by Baroda Stud. Cont. p5

He added, “Hopefully she’ll be a good racing prospect for her new owner, who is an international owner and races horses in England, and if that person wants to breed she’s a foundation mare.”

McStay had earlier bought lot 75, the Sea The Stars (Ire) three-parts-brother to Mekhtaal (GB), who was a Group 1 winner by the same stallion, for Bon Ho. The colt’s dam Miss Aiglonne (GB) (Dawn Approach (Ire)) is also a half-sister to the group winners Democrate (GB) (Dalakhani {Ire}) and Normandy Bridge (Fr) (Le Havre {Ire}).

The agent added, “Bon Ho loves Sea The Stars and he’s had a great season with Deauville Legend and James Ferguson. Hopefully that will continue with Deauville Legend, who is by the same sire, heading to Australia next month for the Melbourne Cup.”

A Night Of Thunder filly was also on the shopping list of Rabbah Bloodstock, which bought lot 220, Lodge Park Stud’s first foal of the listed-placed Skill Set (Ire) (Mastercraftsman {Ire}), for €340,000. The 10 Night Of Thunder yearlings sold during the first session returned an average price of €209,500.

Amo ‘Branching Out’ With Frankel Colt

Ross Doyle and Kia Joorabchian of Amo Racing joined forces on the balcony to bid for lot 77, a colt by Frankel (GB) out of the G1 EP Taylor S winner Miss Keller (Ire) (Montjeu {Ire}), for €360,000. Bred by Paul Fudge’s Waratah Thoroughbreds, the colt is a full-brother to New Horizons (Jpn), a four-time winner in Australia.

“His sire has done very well, the pedigree looks good, the mare is a bit older but she has produced some good horses in the past and we just liked the way he moved,” said Joorabchian. “He looked like he was gliding.”

Ross Doyle bought nine lots on day one for a gross of €1.11 million

HORSE RACING IRELAND OWNERSHIP

Amo Racing bought the G2 July S winner and multiple Group 1-placed Persian Force (Ire) (Mehmas {Ire}) at last year’s Orby Sale for €225,000 through Peter and Ross Doyle.

Joorabchian continued, “We want to have all kinds [of horses]. We’ve had a lot of fast 2-year-olds but now we are branching out into the longer-term horses.

“We turned down a very big offer for Persian Force and he is a horse I think we will keep as a stallion. That’s what we are trying to do, create our own stallions, and I think he will be one of the first. This sale has been very good for us.”

American Takeover at Goffs

The effort Irish Thoroughbred Marketing (ITM) puts in alongside Goffs to attract the American buyers looks to be paying off in spades with Jason Taylor, Mike Fowler and more contributing to the strong trade.

American agent Bo Bromagen, who described the Orby Sale on Monday as one of the highlights of his year, signed for a Churchill (Ire) filly (lot 22) for €110,000 while Ben McElroy, famed for finding Love Reigns (Ire) and Twilight Gleaming (Ire) at this sale, picked up a Gregorian (Ire) filly (lot 126) for €130,000.

ITM chief Charles O’Neill described the American buying bench to have taken over at Goffs on Tuesday and shared hopes that 60 yearlings would make their way back across the Atlantic Ocean when trade finished. Cont. p7

He said, "It's going really well so far. They have bought about 25 and I'm hoping that, by close of play tomorrow, they will have bought 60. That's the aim."

O'Neill added, "Some of them got a shock today—there's a typhoon due to hit Florida so a lot of them are trying to get back or else they won't be able to get home for a while. Apart from that, it's been very promising and all the signs are good. They are after taking over."

The Americans may have taken over but there was still room for other international players to get involved. Notable Australian-based trainer Ciaran Maher picked up one of the quirkiest entries in the sale, a Mastercraftsman (Ire) half-brother to dual Champion Chase winner Altior (Ire) (lot 86).

Consigned by Mark Dreeling's Coole House Farm, the late

June-foaled colt was sold to Hamish Macauley and Maher for €150,000.

'Stars Align' For Lavery to Secure Half to Lady Kaya

As far as Sheila Lavery is concerned, there will never be another Lady Kaya (Ire) (Dandy Man {Ire}), but her New Bay (GB) half-brother bore a striking resemblance to the G1 1000 Guineas runner-up, which is why the trainer went to €80,000 to secure the colt from Ballylinch Stud.

Lavery has had a productive sale season, picking up the highly sought after Footstepsinthesand (GB) half-brother to Erosandpsyche (Ire) (Sepoy {Aus}) at Tattersalls Ireland last week, and admitted at Goffs on Tuesday that she'd have bought more yearlings this autumn had it not been for the staffing crisis. Cont. p8

But lot 13 was never going to be left behind. The colt may not have been the best-looking horse at the Orby Sale, according to Lavery, but it was that striking resemblance to Lady Kaya that convinced the trainer that he was worth fighting for.

She said, "All the stars aligned. He didn't fall into everyone's category because he is narrow and maybe a little bit weak but, for me, he is very much like Lady Kaya. The physical is quite similar and Lady Kaya's racing weight was only ever 415kg. The full-sister who sold here last year [the unraced Lady Primrose (Ire)] was an out-and-out Dandy Man. This horse is more like Lady Kaya--even the walk is similar."

Lavery added, "I didn't think I'd be able to get him but he wasn't everybody's cup of tea. I didn't mind the fact that he was a bit small and narrow because I knew what Lady Kaya was."

Lanwades/Staffordstown's Kirsten Rausing | Sarah Farnsworth/Goffs

Lavery's New Energy (Ire), another son of Ballylinch's hugely popular stallion New Bay, has put the stable in lights this season by finishing second in the G1 Irish 2000 Guineas.

Despite this, the trainer stated that she is not coloured by sires and puts much more emphasis on broodmare sires when it comes to stocking up at the yearling sales.

She said, "I have a certain criteria. I wouldn't follow a stallion. There are a few that I am partial to, say for example Dandy Man has been very lucky for me, but when I am looking at stallions, the broodmare sire means more to me. I'd put more importance on that. There are a few sires that I would knock off, but not many."

New Energy, last seen finishing second in a Group 2 at Doncaster, is on course to tackle the G1 Prix de la Foret and is not for sale at any price.

On future plans for her stable star and sharing how the sale circuit has gone to date, Lavery said, "Trade has been strong. I bought one at Doncaster, an Acclamation (GB) filly who I saw as a foal and really liked so I went back in and bought her there. We got a Footstepsinthesand at Fairyhouse and a very nice Dandy Man filly from Ringfort Stud.

"There is a great appetite for horses out there, which is great to see, and I'd buy more if I could get staff. That's the big problem for us and it's not getting any better. It's not just our industry, either. We're not alone in that and, given my staff work extremely hard, I'm not going to make them work any harder. I try to keep my number of horses to about 36."

She added, "John [Lavery, the trainer's brother] could have sold New Energy multiple times but he is in it for the racing and has no interest in selling. He's seen the downside of this game with Lady Kaya, he was there the day she broke her leg, so he knows the risk he's taking. But he just loves racing and loves being at the top table.

"He'll run in the Foret and, I don't know if many people will rate him for that as maybe they see him as a miler but, after his performance at Doncaster, I think he deserves to take his chance. He's improving with every start--mentally and physically--so the best may yet be to come."

Hugh Hyland Remembered at Goffs

Amid a buoyant day of trade, there was a note of sadness at Goffs at the news of the passing of Hugh Hyland of nearby Oghill House Stud.

An immensely popular man, Hyland died on Monday. With his late brother Pat, who died in February 2021, and his son John, he ran the successful Kildare-based family farm. Hyland's brothers David and Paul are also involved in the business and are the breeders, respectively, of G1 Racing Post Trophy winner Marcel (Ire) (Lawman {Fr}) and Washington DC (Ire), both of whom are now at stud. Washington DC was bred in partnership with friends and clients Chris and James McHale.

Other notable Oghill House Stud graduates include the Cambridgeshire winner Third Time Lucky (Ire) (Clodovil {Ire}) and the multiple Group 3 winner Rose Of Kildare (Ire) (Make Believe {GB}), whose Fastnet Rock (Aus) half-sister sells on Wednesday as lot 411. John Hyland is overseeing the Oghill House draft for the Orby and Sportsman's Sales.

Paying tribute to Hugh Hyland on Tuesday, Goffs group chief executive Henry Beeby said, "Oghill House Stud, Hugh and Pat, have been stalwart supporters of the Goffs sales, particularly of the foal sales, and both of them were a joy to deal with. Hugh was a lovely man with a great sense of humour. He was very patient and kind, and we enjoyed our business, which was mutually beneficial." Cont. p10

213	c	Havana Grey (GB)--Shirley's Kitten	200,000
Consigned by Mountain View Stud
Purchased by Mr Andrew Balding

This colt by Havana Grey was picked up for just 32,000gns by JC Bloodstock out of the Tatteralls December Foal Sale last year. Re-offered by Mountain View Stud, he caught the eye of trainer Andrew Balding on Tuesday afternoon, making over six times his foal price. Whitsbury Manor Stud's high-flying Havana Grey leads all European first-crop sires in several categories, including by earnings and stakes winners. The colt's dam, the dual Italian Group 3-placed Shirley's Kitten (Kitten's Joy), brought just 3,000gns at the Tattersalls February Sale in 2020 before visiting Havana Grey later that year. She is also a half-sister to the two-time stakes winner Picou (With Approval).

EUROPEAN NEWS

"He's in good order and I think William Buick will be riding him," Gosden senior told Sky Sports Racing. "The ground was sticky and holding in Ireland and he wasn't in love with that, but he was doing his best work at the end.

"He got a little bit out of it, he has won over a mile and a half, he's won a Prix du Jockey Club, he's won on soft ground.

"I'm perfectly aware of the quality of the race but it doesn't have an outstanding star in it, to that extent a lot of people have been tempted.

"He's pretty experienced, he's been around the world this horse, we haven't been frightened wherever he's run. He's won Saudi Cups, he's raced in France, he's raced in Ireland, he's raced in England--he's very international.

"He's run on dirt, on soft turf, on heavy turf as a 2-year-old at Nottingham, and firm ground and sand tracks.

"He's a very versatile horse and all being well, he'll be going to stud in France at the end of the season."

MISHRIFF TO STAND IN FRANCE FOR SUMBE IN 2023

Treble Group 1 winner Mishriff (Ire) (Make Believe {GB}--Contradict {GB}, by Raven's Pass) will retire to France to stand at Sumbe's Haras de Montfort et Preaux at the conclusion of his racing career later this season. The 5-year-old is set to run in Sunday's G1 Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, with a tilt at the Breeders' Cup also on the cards.

Prince AA Faisal's homebred landed Classic honours when winning the G1 Prix du Jockey Club and returned as a 4-year-old to win the world's richest race, the $20-million Saudi Cup. Cont. p13

Mishriff will stand in France in 2023 | Sumbe

Afterward, he claimed further Group 1 success in Dubai and Britain in the Sheema Classic and Juddmonte International. Trained by John and Thady Gosden, he has won seven of his 19 races and more than £11 million in prize-money, a tally he could yet enhance in Paris this weekend. It was announced on Tuesday that Mishriff will be partnered in the Arc by Britain's champion jockey-elect William Buick.

Haras de Montfort et Preaux, which was until recently home to leading French sire Le Havre (Ire), who died in March, is one of several prestigious stud farms owned under Nurlan Bizakov's Sumbe banner, which includes Haras du Mezeray and Hesmonds Stud in England.

A statement released by Sumbe on Tuesday afternoon read, "We are delighted to announce that we have reached an agreement with Prince Faisal that Mishriff will stand as a stallion at Sumbe in 2023. Prince Faisal is a very successful owner/breeder and has raced many champions who have gone on to become excellent sires.

"We believe this is great news for French breeders after the recent loss of two incredible stallions, Le Havre and Wootton Bassett (GB) [to Ireland]. Since the untimely death of Le Havre earlier this year we have been actively looking for a nice stallion prospect.

Nevertheless, Mishriff was our main target--he won the Prix du Jockey Club, the ultimate stallion-making race, in a highly impressive time. Mishriff has been unbeaten in France and his achievements in 2021 were nothing short of extraordinary--that year's world champion turf horse, he won the world's most expensive race in Saudi Arabia on dirt, the Dubai Sheema Classic at Meydan in record time, as well as the Juddmonte International S. by six lengths. Although he has nothing more to prove as a champion, we hope he finalises his career in a style that befits his level."

It concluded, "Mishriff is a son of Make Believe, the winner of Poule d'Essai des Poulains, from the family of Invincible Spirit (Ire), Kodiak (GB), Pinatubo (Ire) and many others. His great granddam, Rafha (GB), won the Prix de Diane, making him French in several generations. An outstanding-looking horse, he has won over £11,700,000 in prize-money and we cannot wait to introduce Mishriff to breeders."

OVERSUBSCRIBED ARC TO BE LIMITED TO 20 RUNNERS

The maximum number of runners in the 2022 G1 Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe on Sunday, Oct. 2 will be 20, France Galop announced on Tuesday. The 2022 racing code and the specific race conditions limit the number of runners to 20 and this is the number that will be retained. If needed, elimination or balloting procedures are as follows:

- Runners with the lowest rating will be eliminated sequentially. The rating is decided by the France Galop Handicapper Service.
- In the case of horses with the same rating, eliminations will be made in the ascending order of prize-money won for victories and places throughout the year 2022, with a draw in case of a tie in prize-money earnings.

Wednesday marks a €120,000 supplementary stage, with final declarations released on Thursday. Star Australasian mare Verry Ellelegant (NZ) (Zed {NZ}) sits 22 in the order of entry and would need two higher-ranked defections to participate.

Rated 116p by Timeform, the lightly-raced 3-year-old is joined by G2 Dante S. third Bluegrass (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) (lot 678), who is rated 107.

Eddie's Boy (GB) (Havana Grey {GB}) (lot 643), who won the G3 Prix Eclipse, will go through the ring from the The Castlebridge Consignment, while other 2-year-olds of note include G2 Royal Lodge S. second Dubai Mile (Ire) (Roaring Lion) (lot 768A) from Kingsley Park. Eve Lodge Stables' listed winner Rocket Rodney (GB) (Dandy Man {Ire}) (lot 1138) and the Listed Chesham S. second Pearling Path (Fr) (Holy Roman Emperor {Ire}) (lot 674) from Baroda Stud are also set to sell.

Godolphin and Shadwell Estates will offer 28 and 14 lots, respectively, with a notable lot Shadwell's group winner Mujbar (GB) (Muhaarar {GB}) (lot 657). Juddmonte's 23-lot draft contains the 97-rated Special Envoy (GB) (Frankel {GB}) (lot 1086) among others.

Andrew Balding's Park House Stables' draft of 47 features G2 July S. winner Tactical (GB) (Toronado {Ire}) (lot 1059).

Tattersalls Chairman Edmond Mahony said, "The Tattersalls Autumn Horses-in-Training Sale has a remarkable record of producing top class winners with no less than 76 individual group/listed winners in the last three years bought at the sale including seven Group/Grade 1 winners. That continued success is the key to the sales enduring appeal to both domestic and international buyers and this year's catalogue has all the ingredients to appeal to the customary global audience including the significant, high-class consignments from Godolphin, Juddmonte Farms and Shadwell Estates."

KING CHARLES III'S FIRST RUNNER TO RACE AT SALISBURY

Educator (GB) (Deep Impact {Jpn}), trained by William Haggas, will be the first runner for The King at Salisbury on Thursday, Sept. 29. Previously His Majesty had runners in the colours he shared with the Queen Consort when they were the Prince Of Wales and the Duchess Of Cornwall, respectively. However, Thursday will be the first time the royal colours will take to the racecourse in his name. Educator was one of two horses who galloped up Warren Hill in the royal silks as a tribute to the monarch at Newmarket's Open Weekend earlier this month. He will start in the Radcliffe & Co. H.

Tom Marquand, who will ride the 3-year-old, told Sky Sports Racing, "Having ridden for The Queen they will remain some of the proudest moments of my career for the entirety of it. Riding the first runner [for the King] is a moment to cherish as well.

"Educator is a lovely horse, he's shown a bit of character at home and he thankfully got his head in front at Newmarket at the start of the season.

"He's obviously an important runner, it will be a sad day and a happy day at the same time."

Added British Horseracing Authority Chair Joe Saumarez Smith, "The loss of Her late Majesty was keenly felt within the racing and breeding industries given her lifelong passion for the sport, and so we are naturally thrilled to see that the horses previously owned by her will race on in the ownership of His Majesty King Charles III."

Educator will be the first runner for King Charles III | PA Media

"Her late Majesty Queen Elizabeth II left an indelible mark on our sport and her legacy will continue to be felt, not only through the horses that will continue to run in the name of King Charles III, but also those she bred who are yet to be seen on the racecourse in the years to come." Cont. p15

He added, "We wish Educator and King Charles III the very best of luck on Thursday and keenly look forward to further successes in those famous royal silks on British racecourses."

"Last time we dropped her in, she never lost her position and kept galloping and Dylan said that day she wanted a mile and two," assistant trainer Brendan Powell said. "He made plenty use of her over a mile today, stacked them up and started stretching them from three-and-a-half out. He said she won nicely and would go further. DEPTH TAKES MARKET TO GIDDY HEIGHTS

Keeneland

by Chris McGrath

The phrase is traced to Bob Hope, apparently when challenged by a heckler during one of his military morale-boosters to explain why he wasn't in uniform. "Don't you know there's a war on?" he replied. "A guy could get hurt!"

It would have been perfectly legitimate for one of the Keeneland auctioneers to respond in similar vein to the torrent of bidding that elevated the September Sale to unprecedented highwater marks. Somehow, the kind of factors that traditionally send markets into nauseous free fall have failed to stem a breathless bull run in international bloodstock. Don't these people have televisions, or newspapers?

The market's resilience through Covid was startling enough. Many of us sought to explain that by a pent-up thirst to make the most of life, after being so bleakly confined. There was also the sense that the most affluent tier of society, on which our industry so candidly depends, had been insulated from the kind of financial stress being experienced lower down the pyramid. After all, the wealthy had benefited through the previous decade from the liquidity deployed (via cash-doping instruments such as quantitative easing) to put out the fires of the banking crisis; and those taps had never really been turned off, even after the flames abated. But now we have runaway inflation, we have the horrifying return of territorial invasion in Europe, we have ubiquitous forecasts of recession. And still the value of Thoroughbreds continues to soar. Cont. p3

TAKING STOCK: DR. SETTLE'S DREAM IS A WINNER by Sid Fernando

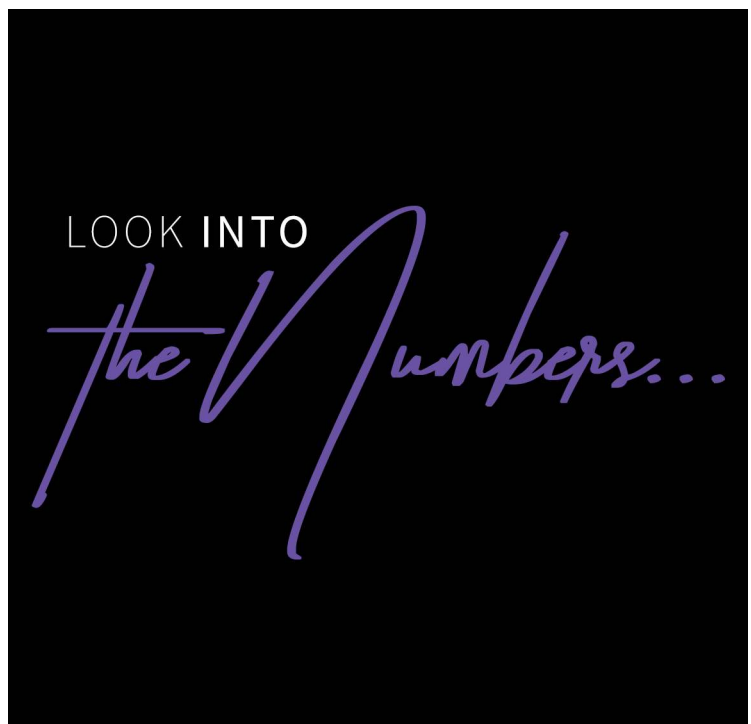

Was it divine intervention?

As the story goes, sometime in late 1923 or early 1924, a Kentucky pastor, Rev. Dr. Thomas Settle, convinced some state legislators in Frankfort not to end legalized gambling in Kentucky by repealing parimutuel wagering, much to the relief of the Kentucky Jockey Club and other concerned horsemen. Most ministers may have taken the opposite tack at the time, but not Dr. Settle, and this made him stand out. A well-travelled Englishman who'd found his way to a small congregation on Main St. and Bell Ct. in Lexington, Dr. Settle had loved horses from youth and worked at a track early in life, and he also had personal and practical experience with gambling (which he regretted). He argued that repealing the law that made wagering at the track legal would lead to the proliferation of unregulated and illegal gambling with bookmakers, which he considered a greater evil. Cont. p8

Depth Takes Market to Giddy Heights

The table below shows that the average cost of a North American yearling, in 2022, has breached $150,000 in a market that has passed another historic barrier, for this stage of the calendar, at $500 million. This is calculated from aggregate business at Fasig-Tipton's three summer auctions--the July Sale in Lexington, plus the elite and New York catalogues at Saratoga-combined with turnover at Keeneland over the past two weeks, where transactions spanned $2,000 to $2.5 million. Together, as such, these comprise a comprehensive snapshot of the marketplace at all levels.

Turnover at the September Sale advanced 14.9% on last year to exceed $400 million for the first time (missed by a few cents in 2006); while the Fasig-Tipton summer calendar advanced in step by 14.2% to achieve a record aggregate of its own at nearly $109 million.

Collectively, an additional $66,236,200 has been spent on North American yearlings so far this year, an increase of 14.8% to $514,389,200. That represents an 86.6% gain on the equivalent stage in 2012!

These numbers translated to record averages of $209,411 for Fasig-Tipton, up a staggering 20% on 2021; and $142,429 for Keeneland, an increase of just under eight%. Blended, the average yearling is costing you $152,774 in 2022, up $13,510 or 9.7% on this time last year.

Now a lot of this has a very edifying impetus. A number of regions, not least Kentucky itself, have been developing a purse structure that threatens to introduce something resembling coherence—even, whisper it, viability—to investment in Thoroughbreds. Nor should we forget our collective debt to those who have heroically restored the sport in California from an existential brink, renewing geographical balance to opportunity. And of course the circuit there has meanwhile produced a racehorse that has made even a seven-figure tag look cheap.

Mike Repole | Keeneland

But perennial growth, in a market like this, is impossible. Capitalism has always depended on cycles, requiring troughs to generate the conditions for the next peak. Just conceivably, globalization may have so skewed the system that the elite can remain blithely immune to street-level difficulties. But if recession does end up penetrating the entire economic organ, the way it always has in the past, then we must give Cassandra her say. Because the bloodstock market has tended to absorb trends from the wider economy slowly, whether in recession or recovery.

The Dow Jones, having plunged 33.8% in 2008, recovered 18.8% as soon as the following year and maintained solid gains annually until 2015. The overall North American bloodstock market, in contrast, lost 21.2% in 2008; 32.2% in 2009; and another 6.5%, even on those compound losses, in 2010. It was not until 2011 (up 18.2%) and especially 2013 (up 27.9%, in tandem with the biggest spike in the Dow Jones) that its own recession leveled out.

For the time being, however, we must acknowledge a wholesome depth to the current market. Vendors always complain about polarization, about a soft center and all-or-nothing engagement (often contingent on vetting). But this feels different. Among the many records set at Keeneland, perhaps the most significant was one of 82% clearance. While 30 seven-figure sales headlined the feel-good stories at that auction, the fact is that they only narrowly surpassed the 27 recorded in 2018. In each case, moreover, their collective cost represented a very similar portion of overall turnover: nine% this year, against 9.7 per cent in 2018. (The spike to 11.4% in 2019, by the way, was largely the work of the ill-fated $8.2 million daughter of Leslie's Lady and American Pharoah). As the table below demonstrates, however, the median across the two weeks was wildly higher this year, at a record $70,000 against $50,000 in 2018.

$1 MILLION+ SALES AT KEESEP
	agg	#hips	% gross	sale median
2022	37,750,000	30	9	70,000
2021	18,950,000	15	5.2	65,000
2020	18,850,000	15	7.6	37,000
2019	40,900,000	22	11.4	47,000
2018	36,525,000	27	9.7	50,000
2017	19,950,000	13	6.5	55,000
2016	13,900,000	9	5.1	40,000

This depth is reciprocated by the sheer breadth of investment, with no fewer than 88 different signatories to dockets together worth $1 million or more.

For years, people asked queasily what would happen to the market if deprived of support from a family that had, globally, done so much to assist the evolution of a commercial breeding industry. As recently as 2019, Godolphin and Shadwell topped the September action with an outlay of $16 million and $11.07 million respectively for a total of 28 yearlings. Since then, we have mourned the passing of Shadwell's founder Sheikh Hamdan, albeit that firm did acquire four yearlings for a total $2.5 million this year. And Sheikh Mohammed, meanwhile, has become conspicuous by his absence at this sale.

In the event, however, the defection of spenders apparently able to bid indefinitely has only cleared the field for competition. The best prospects have not become more affordable, in themselves. But they have become more accessible. As a result, competition has been intensified, not diluted, even as powerful domestic interests have increasingly collaborated in pursuit of common targets.

This September it was only by a single nod to the rostrum that the charismatic duo behind Repole Stable and St. Elias Stables edged out another powerful partnership to finish the auction once again as leading buyer: their $12,840,000 outlay (for 31 yearlings) shading Donato Lanni's $12,825,000 on behalf of SF/Starlight/Madaket. But that was barely half the story, as West Bloodstock signed as agent for Repole Stable for 27 additional head at $7,940,000; while Michael Wallace corralled 15 at $4,475,000 for St. Elias Stables. These extra investments weighed in respectively as the fourth and eighth highest of the sale; and that's besides a series of individual plays with other partners.

The latter included M.V. Magnier, whose $1.1-million Curlin colt with Repole Stable was one of a handful such investments made with partners. Magnier, representing the Maktoums' traditional antagonists at Coolmore, actually signed for only a couple of colts outright. With the strength of the dollar steepening the gradient against overseas currency, Hideyuki Mori had to settle for five head at $2,545,000, compared with a dozen at $4,415,000 in 2021. That left agent Richard Knight's dazing spree in the second session as the only really striking external contribution to the top end of the market, his total spend (#7 for the sale) comprising $4,875,000 across half a dozen hips.

So much for the joys of being able to travel freely again! In the longer view, however, what we saw is consistent with ongoing European mistrust of Kentucky sires, and the lamentable transatlantic schism between perceived dirt and turf bloodlines. As for the corresponding local neglect of grass stallions, there was at least some belated respect for two outstanding turf stallions recently lost to the Bluegrass: English Channel tipped six figures for the second year running, after averaging no more than $33,167 only in 2020, while Kitten's Joy averaged $138,632 for 19 yearlings (up from $103,457 last year).

As anticipated from the conspicuous distribution of his stock towards the front of the catalogue, this sale proved another major landmark in the career of Quality Road. With several proven titans approaching the evening of their careers, the 16-year-old Lane's End stallion sealed his accession to that level by again keeping even champion Into Mischief (58 sold at $525,776) from the top of the averages, processing 37 at $533,514. That was a further advance on the $472,794 by which Quality Road shaded Curlin and Into Mischief in 2021, having the previous year slipstreamed Medaglia d'Oro, Into Mischief, Tapit and Curlin at $339,939.

The much younger Gun Runner meanwhile maintained his stratospheric rise, processing 40 hips at $461,875, good enough for third with yearlings still conceived off his $70,000 opening fee. (And remember that his current weanlings came into the world at $50,000! What kind of fee, you wonder, will register the upgrade in his mares guaranteed in 2023?)

As always, however, most curiosity was reserved for those newcomers who nowadays comprise the bedrock of the commercial market. Their window of opportunity is so fleeting as to make it seem almost cruel to examine their performance too closely, when really they should not be judged at all until their stock reaches the racetrack. But if that's how the market will insist on behaving, then that's how we must assess their debuts to this point.

Obviously there are several auctions still to come, but the pyramid of business to date plainly provides a valid sampling. The table below charts those sires whose debut crops have so far mustered at least 10 sales.

Now some people feel it's a little strange that sires are given a pass on stock they can't sell. The difficulty is that a yearling that fails to reach its reserve will sometimes be among the very best of a sire's crop, its vendor only receptive to the kind of offer that can't be refused. Equally, however, an RNA can often reflect a simple failure of traction. Arguably data should give some credit to the sire who processes a high percentage of his stock. For the little it may be worth, then, our table also includes average revenue per hip into the ring, as an extra snapshot of how he might be working out, overall, an investment vehicle. Because while the table is sorted according to average sales, we do know that the market tends to be pretty obedient in that respect. Year after year, first crops tend to end up being valued more or less in line with the pecking order invited by opening stud fees.

Just as well, then, that Omaha Beach has done exactly what he was priced to do, averaging five times his opening fee at $222,548. He has looked value throughout, to be fair, and has certainly been kept in the game with consecutive fee cuts since siring these yearlings. Having retained his opening fee, equally, Audible has arguably done no less than required in averaging a whopping 6.5 yield.

If these two haven't put a foot wrong, others who have not done quite so well-in what remain, after all, extremely early skirmishes-have tended to have their fees trimmed as an incentive to keep the faith. But I think one or two sires deserve a little extra attention, at this stage, if we put on the pinhooker's hat.

Again, this is an inexact exercise. Different horses are different projects. But let's take a look at the advances made by these stallions between their weanling and yearling averages, as a possible gauge of the kind of physical progress their stock can make.

Omaha Beach has excelled in this respect, certainly, essentially doubling his weanling average. But let's shine a torch at the other end of the spectrum.

While cheaper stallions are obviously obliged to make pretty brisk gains just to cover keep, smaller breeders are grateful even for modest margins.

Flameaway owes his vivid climb on these indices partly to a single $425,000 colt at Saratoga, but his weanling median of $17,500 has also been hoisted at a comparable rate, to $50,000. Overall, his revenues, for sales achieved and per hip into the ring, respectively represent almost nine and seven times his fee. Darby Dan knows how to put numbers behind a cheap young stallion and perhaps Flameaway, who beat Catholic Boy and Vino Rosso on the Derby trail, will take his chance after the fashion of Dialed In.

Apart from anything else, his third dam is a turf matriarch and, with his flexible sire-line, the son of Scat Daddy merits close attention from European breeze-up pinhookers seeking an export bargain.

Omaha Beach | Autry Graham

Another who started with a very big book on the same basement fee, Maximus Mischief, achieves the highest ratio of all per hip into the ring (7.5 times his fee; also nearly nine times his fee on sales completed) after finding homes for 57 of 66 yearlings offered to date. He has added 53% to his weanling average and, with his profile, looks a blatant vehicle for the next pinhooking cycle, too.

Preservationist was unfortunate that the colt he got into Book I—a rare achievement for a $10,000 sire—had to be scratched from the September Sale. Even without his star turn, however, he achieved some outstanding dividends, including colts at $280,000, $260,000 and $250,000 deeper in the catalogue. Overall he has put two-thirds onto the average value of his weanlings, and his yearling sales are averaging 5.5 his fee. This guy offers exemplary genetic depth, remember, and don't be deceived by the hold-ups that delayed his bloom on the racetrack.

He got a 31/2 Ragozin breaking his maiden over six furlongs, and the platform he has already built for himself suggests that there will be precocity to match that speed.

All these are just straws in the wind, of course, and far-sighted supporters of some that have failed to achieve gaudy overnight dividends will be wisely content to wait until actually able to test the water on the racetrack. Because there's one big problem with a market like this one: it fosters the perilous fallacy that a Thoroughbred foal is brought into the world to stand on a dais for a minute or two. For the good of the breed, ultimately we must reinforce the connection between commercial value and racetrack performance.

In the meantime, however, let's toast those hard-working and skillful people who have celebrated a bumper harvest. While the factory operations naturally headed the consignors' table by gross, the averages were again dominated by smaller outfits. All of us, scrolling down that list, will recognize names that warm the heart: friends, maybe kinsmen, lots of small farms that we admire.

Hats off to them, and also to those energetic and ambitious rivals, Keeneland and Fasig-Tipton, who have provided a trading environment equal to the current boom. Even if the cold winds out there soon come blasting through their pavilions, perhaps the next Flightline will meanwhile be getting to know the feel of a saddle on some dreamer's farm. Because we started with a person named Hope--and really that's every single one of us.

Apparently his Oscar-like performance swayed enough lawmakers to put the brakes on the Bennett Bill. Dr. Settle's delivery was compelling without being over the top, and it was characterized with such words as "voiced," "spoken," "tell it," "preach," and "narrate." For his efforts, grateful horsemen in the state and from across the country who'd heard of his defense raised money to build him a new church in Lexington, and inscribed on a plaque within its tower walls is this poignant acknowledgement: "To the Glory of God This Church Is Given to Him by the Lovers of the Horse From All Over the Country As A Token of Appreciation of Their Father's Goodness to His Children - Man." It's dated 1926.

Religion, politics, and money have long been historically intertwined in horse racing in Kentucky, and what's actually known nowadays as Historical Horse Racing (HHR), Kentucky's equivalent to the slots that has propped up racing and breeding in other states, is very much a part of the present landscape in a state that's the center of the breeding industry in the U.S.

HHR games have fueled purse monies in Kentucky to such an extent that the recent Kentucky Downs meet, for example, featured $150,000 maiden races, $500,000 Listed races, and several $1 million Grade II and Grade III events. HHR, to understate it, has been a boon to Kentucky horsemen, but horsemen take nothing for granted now. They know winds can change path in a heartbeat, and they have organized groups like the Kentucky Equine Education Project (KEEP) to advocate for Kentucky's most famous industry. Several of the movers and shakers behind the scenes are the younger generation like Case Clay of Three Chimneys, the chairman of KEEP, and Price Bell of Mill Ridge, a board member.

Kentucky, let's face it, is a socially conservative state, and despite its starring role in the racing/breeding industry as the home of the GI Kentucky Derby--the most famous race in the country--and of such outstanding stallions, among others, as Gainesway's Tapit, sire of the undefeated Flightline, widely considered the best horse in training on the planet at the moment; Spendthrift's Into Mischievous, sire of Flightline's chief challenger, Life Is Good; and Three Chimneys's Gun Runner, who is represented so far by a jaw-dropping six Grade I winners from his first crop of 3-year-olds, including two Grade I winners and five overall stakes winners Saturday, there's still plenty of opposition to HHR from those who view it as nothing more than a game of chance that's a contributor to moral and societal decay.

This friction between anti-and pro-gambling forces in Kentucky has existed for more than a hundred years, and horsemen have walked a tightrope protecting their interests for just as long. They're just better organized now than during the time of Dr. Settle, but, ironically, a parimutuel issue was once again at the center of the most recent storm that could have had dire ramifications. In February of 2021, HHR, which has been around for a decade, had to be legally written into law as a parimutuel game by Kentucky legislators after the Kentucky Supreme Court said parts of it were not and were therefore potentially illegal. After heated debate, both the House and the Senate passed legislation that included HHR within the definition of parimutuel betting, and it was signed into law by Gov. Andy Beshear on Feb. 22, 2021.

But Case Clay said it "came down to the wire," and the final score--the votes to pass in both chambers were comfortable enough on the surface--didn't represent the closeness of the game.

"The HHR vote underlined the relevance of KEEP," said Clay. "Relationship building with legislators is an important function of KEEP, and it's something we work on to advocate for the industry."

Headley Bell, managing partner at Mill Ridge and Price Bell's father, understands relationship building. Mill Ridge threw a party on the Thursday evening after the first four days of selling at Keeneland, and guests included members of the Lexington community outside racing circles, as well as those within it. Linda Gorton, the mayor of Lexington, and Steve Kay, the vice-mayor, were also present, as were representatives of Horse Country Inc., a group of farms and businesses that provides educational tours "dedicated to sharing the stories of Kentucky's Horse Country." Mill Ridge, with its storied history, is one of many destinations.

Dr. Settle's Dream

Oscar Performance (Kitten's Joy) stands at Mill Ridge and occupies the same one-stall stallion barn that once housed the excellent sire Diesis (GB) years ago. Oscar got his 10th first-crop winner Friday when first-time starter Dr. Settle's Dream won a New York-bred maiden special on turf at Belmont-at-Aqueduct for Byron Nimocks's Circle N Thoroughbreds.

The win was particularly satisfying for Headley Bell, not only as another winner for the farm's sire, but also because he'd bought the colt for new friend and client Nimocks at OBS June for $30,000 through his Nicoma agency. And how about this? Bell is a longtime member of the Good Shepherd Episcopal Church on Main St. and Bell Ct. that Dr. Settle built, and Bell said that Nimocks's family "is very involved with the church" as well, hence the name of the colt.

Headley Bell | Sid Fernando

Dr. Settle's Dream was bred by Scott Pierce in New York. His first two dams, Voiced, by War Front, and Spoken, by Unbridled's Song, respectively, haven't yet produced any stakes horses, but his Storm Cat third dam Tell It has a stakes winner to her credit, and his fourth dam is Preach, a Grade I winner by Mr. Prospector and the dam of the highly influential stallion Pulpit. The fifth dam is the Honest Pleasure mare Narrate. Not only that, the colt's first seven dams were bred by the Hancocks of Claiborne (the dam was bred by Claiborne in partnership with Adele B. Dilschneider), and Dr. Settle's Dream's seventh dam is Monarchy, a full-sister to Round Table. Bell was no doubt attracted to this long and deep line of Hancock mares, and perhaps their names elicited a smile when he'd zeroed in on the colt.

The gregarious Price Bell is general manager at Mill Ridge and runs the farm's day-to-day operations. I ran into him outside the Mill Ridge consignment on the Sunday before the Keeneland sale began, and we had a conversation about Mill Ridge's past. He reminded me that it was Bull Hancock who'd purchased Sir Ivor for Raymond Guest at the 1966 Keeneland summer sale, paying $42,000 for the future English Derby winner and European champion that Alice Chandler (as Mrs. Reynolds W. Bell), Headley's mother, had bred. Hal Price Headley, Alice Chandler's father, was one of the founders of Keeneland, and Bull Hancock's father, A. B. Hancock Sr., was one of its first trustees.

One thing led to another as we were discussing history and the relationships between the two families, and Price said he had an interesting article for me to read. From his phone he sent it to me right there. It was copy from the Indianapolis Sunday Star from Jan. 16, 1927, and it was about Rev. Dr. Thomas Settle and the church that he built after defending parimutuel wagering in Frankfort. Later that week when I spoke with Headley and Price Bell at the Mill Ridge party, they convinced me to visit Dr. Settle's church the next day--on Friday, the dark day of selling. This was one week before the horse named after Dr. Settle won in New York.

The Church

Dr. Settle's dream was to build a magnificent church in the English Gothic style, and he realized that dream through the largesse of horsemen, who'd originally offered the minister $50,000 to put toward a house and car after his performance in Frankfort. As the story goes, Dr. Settle demurred and instead asked for donations to build a church for his community, and industry members from Kentucky and across the country responded heartily. One report states that the Thoroughbred Horse Association--Hal Price Headley was the organization's first president--alone raised more than $180,000. A.B. Hancock, Sr. was a big contributor, as were Col. E.R. Bradley of Idle Hour, J.E. Widener of Elmendorf, H.P. Whitney, Max Hirsch, and Charles Berryman (manager of Elmendorf), among many others.

Good Shepherd Church | Sid Fernando

Dr. Settle's attention to detail is evident in the structure as it stands today. The stained glass windows, for instance, are intricate, ornate, and expensive, and the museum-grade wood carvings are from Oberammergau, Germany, which is noted for its highly skilled craftsmen. (The well-known Oberammergau Passion Play's star at the time was the potter Anton Lang, who played Christ in the 1922 production.)

Lang toured the U.S. in 1923--he was on the cover of Time magazine that year--and brought with him craftsmen from Oberammergau who exhibited their carvings. It's highly likely that Dr. Settle saw or read about this and commissioned expensive works for Good Shepherd subsequently.)

There's a cautionary aspect to the Dr. Settle story, too. In his quest to realize his dream, Dr. Settle spent more than he had, and by the time he left Good Shepherd in 1929, he left the church so heavily in debt that it took years for the congregation to get clear.

But his dream survives as a magnificent house of worship for newer generations of Lexingtonians, and that's what matters.

It matters, too, that horsemen played a role in realizing Dr. Settle's dream.

TWO PARX TRAINERS, JOCKEY SUMMARILY SUSPENDED AFTER SEARCHES

by Bill Finley

Parx-based trainers Miguel Penalzoa and Cesareo Marquez and jockey Edwin Rivera have been summarily suspended by the Pennsylvania Racing Commission after recent investigations found the three to be in possession of contraband. The trainers were found to be in possession of hypodermic needles, syringes and injectable substances, while Rivera was caught with an electrical device.

According to a press release from the Organization of Racing Investigators, investigators from multiple jurisdictions assembled the week of Sept. 19 and conducted barn searches and stopped cars at the backstretch gates at all three of Pennsylvania's thoroughbred tracks. The effort was led by Jason Klouser, director of enforcement, Pennsylvania State Horse Racing Commission. The investigators came from Pennsylvania, Texas, California, Arizona, Florida and Kentucky.

The search at Parx that caught the three individuals took place on Sept. 23, the day before the running of the GI Pennsylvania Derby. The Organization of Racing Investigators dubbed the team sent to Parx the "Pennsylvania Derby Racing Integrity Team."

"By establishing a strong presence, the Racing Integrity Teams at each site protected Thoroughbreds, ensuring that equine safety and integrity were the top priorities," the press release read. "The investigations at Parx produced some important results, after sweeps at the gate and stable areas."

According to the ruling posted on the Pennsylvania Racing Commission's website, a search of Penalzoa's barn and tack room uncovered two loaded syringes and a needle. Under Pennsylvania rules, no person, except a commission veterinarian, racetrack veterinarian or veterinarian licensed by the commission, may possess or use a hypodermic needle, hypodermic syringe capable of accepting a needle and injectable substances of any kind, type or description on the licensed racetrack grounds, in that person's custody, control or possession.

Penalzoa has been training since 2015 and has 172 winners from 1,360 starters for a winning rate of 13%. He is 15-for-107 on the year at Parx. He had a positive for dexamethosone during the 2021 Monmouth meet and received a 15-day suspension. That same year he had a positive for Methocarbamol at Parx and was fined $1,000.

According to the ruling, Marquez was found to be in possession of multiple loaded needles and syringes. Represented by attorney Alan Pincus, Marquez appeared at a hearing before the board of stewards on Sept. 26, where the ruling was affirmed.

Marquez is in his first year of training and is 3-for-73 on the year for a winning rate of 4%.

According to the commission's ruling, after his car was stopped at the backstretch gate, Rivera was found to be in possession of two electrical devices. A hearing for Rivera was held Sept. According to the press release, he refused to testify. The press release also noted that under Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority regulations a jockey found with an electrical device faces a ban of up to 10 years.

Rivera has been riding since 2007 and has 847 career winners. He has 42 winners on the year at Parx and is in tenth place in the standings.

According to its website, the Organization of Racing Investigators, Inc. is "comprised of professionals responsible for investigations associated with professional horse racing" and its members "are employed by government, police, and regulatory entities as well as private security firms and racetracks." The description on the website continues: "ORI members actively investigate race fixing, horse doping, animal abuse, drug abuse, money laundering, cyber crime, fraud, conspiracy, and a host of other infractions of the laws and rules that govern professional horse racing and pari-mutuel activity. ORI members assist with the most expansive and aggressive drug testing program in professional sports, conduct background investigations, and cooperate with law enforcement agencies at all levels of government."

MR. BIG FILLY TOPS 'SOLID' FASIG-TIPTON CALIFORNIA SALE

by Dan Ross & Jessica Martini

POMONA, CA - The Fasig-Tipton California Fall Yearlings and Horses of Racing Age Sale produced 14 six-figure lots, led by a filly by Mr. Big who sold for $250,000 to Todd Tomazic. Numbers declined from last year's lively renewal of the auction, with 205 head grossing $6,257,100 and the average falling 22% to $30,522 and the median dipping 15% to $17,000. The buy-back rate was 25.7%. It was 24.4% in 2021.

"It was a very solid session," Fasig-Tipton President Boyd Browning, Jr. said at the close of business Tuesday. "There was lots of traffic and activity at the barns before the sale and there was spirited bidding on the majority of the horses. There still remained some selectivity in the marketplace--you have to have acceptable conformation, and, like at every sale in the world, you have to jump through the vetting hoops. But I thought, all in all, it was a good follow-up to an exceptional year last year."

A year ago, 177 horses sold for $6,933,550 for an average of $39,173 and a median of $20,000. The top lot of $350,000 was one of 17 yearlings to bring six figures.

"We probably didn't have quite as much sire power from out-of-state sires this year in the catalogue, but we knew that going in," Browning said. "But I think that's truthfully part of the rebuilding process where people are starting to have confidence and hopefully a couple of good yearling sales in a row will give breeders more confidence that there will be better quality horses that are Cal-breds. Not that there aren't some nice Cal-breds now, but I think it's a restoration of confidence in the marketplace. I think we are seeing some real indications of that amongst the breeders that sold horses today."

Hockey Dad (Nyquist) (hip 335) brought the highest price during the horses of racing age section of the sale when bloodstock agent Kim Lloyd went to $175,000 to acquire the 4-year-old on behalf of Gary Hartunian's Rockingham Ranch. Bred and campaigned by Reddam Racing, the bay colt was third in last year's GII Del Mar Derby and GIII Jeff Ruby Steaks.

Tomazic Goes Big

Todd Tomazic, who has been a minority owner on some racehorses in the past, jumped into the fray at the Fasig-Tipton California Yearlings Sale Tuesday when purchasing three yearlings, led by a sale-topping daughter of Mr. Big (hip 228) who sold for $250,000.

"I am not new to being a fan, but I'm new to being an owner," Tomazic said. "I've been a minority investor in some horses, but I hadn't even been to an auction before."

Tomazic was being advised at the sale by Terry Knight, farm manager of Legacy Ranch, which raised hip 228 for breeder George Krikorian.

"I did not expect to spend this, but they liked him so we bought him," Tomazic said. "[Picking horses] is not my forte, but if my trainer likes him, that's what I like. He's a guy who has owned a lot more horses than I have."

The sale-topping yearling, who was consigned by Havens Bloodstock Agency, is out of Misszippityslwda (City Zip) and is a full-sister to multiple stakes winner Big Sweep. Krikorian purchased the mare for $22,000 at the 2016 Fasig-Tipton February sale and resold her, in foal to Mr. Big, for $11,000 at this year's CTBA February sale.

"We raised her for George and sale prepped her," Knight said. "She's just kept getting better and better and we've liked her more and more."

Pete Parrella, Todd Tomazic & Terry Knight | Fasig-Tipton

Also Tuesday, Tomazic went to $105,000 to acquire a filly from the first crop of GI Breeders' Cup Classic winner Vino Rosso (hip 189). The yearling is out of Keep the Magic (Malibu Moon) and was also bred by Krikorian and consigned by Havens Bloodstock Agency.

Tomazic's Pomona shopping spree was completed by a filly by another Breeders' Cup Classic winner, Accelerate (hip 36), who was purchased for $35,000 from the Harris Farms consignment.

The yearlings will be sent to Legacy Ranch in Lodi, California to be broke.

"We will see what they can do with them," Tomazic said.

Siegel Stays Busy in Pomona

Samantha Siegel of Jay Em Ess Stable, following the advice of the late bid-spotter Pete McCormick, bid aggressively to secure a pair of yearlings for matching $200,000 price tags late in the Fasig-Tipton California Yearlings Sale Tuesday. She first went to that figure to acquire a filly by Good Magic (hip 241) and came back 10 hips later to purchase a daughter of Stanford (hip 252) for the same price. Both yearlings were consigned by Stormy and Guy Hull's Washington-based Critter Creek Farm.

"She was beautiful," Siegel said of hip 241. "To get a Cal-bred by a good freshman sire like Good Magic, whose horses are selling well as yearlings and 2-year-olds, we actually thought we would have to give more. Hopefully we can have some fun with her without the Kentucky sales price."

The yearling is out of Nine Point Nine (Tribal Rule), a half-sister to stakes winner Sweet Saga (Slew's Saga).

Hip 252 is out of Open Mic (Unbridled's Song) and is a half-sister to stakes-placed No Cover Charge (Kafwain). Her third dam is Words of War (Lord at War {Arg}).

"She is really beautiful, too," Siegel said. "She is a big, strong filly with a great walk."

Stormy Hull was co-breeder of both yearlings and, along with Lynn Baker, purchased Open Mic, carrying the Stanford filly, for $11,500 at the 2021 CTBA January sale.

"Those guys sold two really, really nice fillies," Siegel said of the Critter Creek consignment. "They did a great job. They looked great."

Siegel's Jay Em Ess also purchased a colt by Smokem (hip 52) for $90,000 and a colt by Mr. Big (hip 105) for $50,000 Tuesday in Pomona.

The yearlings will be trained by Brian Koriner.

Of her take-no-prisoner bidding style, Siegel said, "Pete McCormick told me how to bid. They will go up in little increments forever, but if you make a big move, it's a little different. I got aggressive with my bidding. That's the way I was taught."

Mandella Strikes for Mitole Filly

Trainer Gary Mandella struck early in the Fasig-Tipton California Yearlings Sale Tuesday when going to $190,000 to acquire a filly by champion sprinter Mitole (hip 58) on behalf of owner Tom Nichols.

"She looks fast and she looks early," Mandella said of the yearling's appeal. "Tom Nichols has a lot of faith in buying at this sale. We've always had something that can last when we've come here. And this one looks as good as anything we've gotten here. We are happy to take this one home."

Bred and consigned by Richard Barton Thoroughbreds, the dark bay filly is out of Whim (More Than Ready) and from the family of stakes winner Saratoga Humor and multiple graded winner Heart Stealer. Barton purchased the 10-year-old mare, with the filly in utero, for $40,000 at the 2020 Keeneland November sale.

Mandella had a few other yearlings on his short list, but admitted his shopping might be over after the six-figure purchase.

"I think we spent the budget," he said. "We were hoping to get that one for a bit less and try for a few a bit later, to be honest, but I liked that one and we went ahead and used up the budget."

Repole in Action on the West Coast

Mike Repole, a major buyer at the Keeneland September sale, took his buying spree to the West Coast when purchasing a filly by Kantharos (hip 180) for $115,000 Tuesday in Pomona.

"I thought she was a nice filly," said trainer Michael McCarthy, who signed the ticket on behalf of Repole. "She caught my eye earlier in the week. She looked fast."

Consigned by Barton Thoroughbreds, the yearling is out of multiple stakes-placed Imperial Pippin (Empire Maker), who is a daughter of graded winner Apple of Kent (Kris S.). She was bred by Richard Barton Enterprises, which purchased Imperial Pippin with the filly in utero, for $16,000 at the 2020 Keeneland November sale.

Repole, in partnership with St. Elias Stables, was the leading buyer at the Keeneland September sale with 31 yearlings purchased for $12,840,000. On his own, Repole was the auction's fourth-leading buyer with 27 head purchased for $7,940,000.

“He is a guy with a vision,” McCarthy said. “And he thought it was a great idea to take advantage of the state-bred program.”

Sir Prancealot Filly to Mathis and Jawl

A filly by Sir Prancealot (Ire) (hip 143) will be heading to the Golden Gate Fields barn of trainer Andy Mathis after selling for $100,000 Tuesday at the Fasig-Tipton California Sale. The gray yearling is out of Do Dat Blues (Lydgate) and is a half-sister to stakes winner Mo See Cal (Uncle Mo). She was bred by Rozamund Barclay, Sydnee Brown and Dena Murdock and was consigned by McCarthy Bloodstock.

“She impressed me when I saw her,” Mathis, who was bidding on behalf of owner Michael Jawl, said. “She's the right size with a really nice walk. She seemed really smart. From the first time I saw her to when she was in the ring, she never flinched. And we like the Cal-bred angle.”

Of plans for the filly, Mathis laughed and said, “Win some stakes--we better for $100,000. She looks the part and hopefully she runs the part.”

A few hips later, Mathis signed the ticket at $75,000 to acquire a filly by Smiling Tiger (hip 150) on behalf of Robert D. Bone.

Mathis, who has been training since 2001, is coming off a bang-up Del Mar meeting where he had 12 wins from 41 starts.

GULFSTREAM CHAMPIONSHIP MEET OFFERS $13.6 MILLION IN STAKES PURSES

Gulfstream Park's upcoming Championship Meet will offer 60 stakes--35 graded--worth $13.6 million. The stakes line up is headlined by the $3-million GI Pegasus World Cup Invitational, which will be run Jan. 28, and the $1-million GI Curlin Florida Derby, to be run Apr. 1.

Gulfstream's Jan. 28 card will also include the $1-million Pegasus World Cup Turf Invitational and the $500,000 GIII Pegasus World Cup F/M Turf Invitational, as well as four other graded events.

The Florida Derby is the culmination of Gulfstream's series of Triple Crown preps. The series will kick off Jan. 1 with the $150,000 Mucho Macho Man S. and will be followed by the $250,000 GIII Holy Bull S. Feb. 4 and the $400,000 GII Fountain of Youth S. Mar. 4.

The Florida Derby card features 10 stakes, including six graded events.

"This year's Championship Meet will continue Gulfstream's tradition of hosting many of the top horses, horsemen and women, jockeys from around the world, and some of the sport's most spectacular events," said Aidan Butler, 1/ST RACING. "With races like the Pegasus World Cup Invitational, Florida Derby, Fountain of Youth and Gulfstream Park Oaks--along with the opening of Gulfstream's new world-class turf course--we believe this winter season will be one of the sport's most anticipated and popular meets."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Frederick B. Peterson, VMD

I would like to thank TDN for publishing the interview with Curtis Burns in last Wednesday's edition. Wherein, Curtis addresses the excessive wear that occurs at the toe of an all aluminum racing plate on the front feet. The excessive wear not only influences break over at the protraction phase of the stride (too early) but also affects the integrity of the hoof.

Curtis recommends to HISA that they consider allowing a low profile hardened steel wear plate insert in the fuller of the shoe at the toe of the front feet. This will slow down the rate of wear significantly. The Queen XT racing plate has a low profile wear plate insert that protrudes only 2 mm from the shoe at the toe.

During the past 55 years that I have been practicing veterinary medicine, I have been privileged to work with some excellent farriers. Curtis Burns is one of them. I have had the good fortune to work with Curtis over the past 15 years. He is innovative, experienced, intelligent and competent. He has designed and created the polyflex shoe, which I believe is like the "Second Coming," it's usefulness is incredible. He has also developed other devices for the hoof that have been widely used.

Amending HISA's current rule that forbids toe grabs in front to allow for a low profile wear plate on the front feet (Queen XT racing plate), when necessary would be in the best interest of the horse. In summary, Curtis Burns's observations of the excessive wear problem and his recommendation to ameliorate it should be strongly considered and accepted by HISA. He agrees that the old standard toe grab used for traction can be hazardous to the horse because it allows for a long toe and under run heels that creates a broken backward pastern axis and delays breakover during the protraction phase on the leg. breakover during the protraction phase on the leg.

KIARAN MCLAUGHLIN TO RECEIVE BILL MOONEY AWARD

Kieran McLaughlin will be presented with the National Turf Writers and Broadcasters' Bill Mooney Award for displaying courage in the face of tremendous adversity. McLaughlin, long a leading trainer, has battled multiple sclerosis for more than two decades.

"I'm incredibly honored to receive this award," said McLaughlin, who currently works as a jockey's agent for Luis Saez.

McLaughlin joins four prior Mooney winners--the award's namesake who died after a long battle with cancer in 2017, retired jockey Joy Scott, retired jockey and owner Rene Douglas and horsewoman Martine Bellocq.

"It's remarkable the way he's handled the adversity of MS all these years; you wouldn't even know it," said McLaughlin's longtime friend, colleague and fellow former Lukas protege Todd Pletcher. "He's met it head on, never relinquished his pursuit of excellence, whether it was training and now as an agent for Luis."

McLaughlin will be honored at the NTWAB's 62nd annual Awards Dinner at Malone's Prime Events in Lexington Nov. 2.

Other honorees at the NTWAB Annual Awards Dinner will be Jim "Mattress Mack" McIngvale (Mr. Fitz Award); Eclipse Award-winning photographer Barbara Livingston (Joe Palmer Award); Chris Lincoln (Jim McKay Award); and Mike Welsch and Tom Pedulla (Walter Haight Award), along with other writing award winners to be announced that evening.
