ON ANOTHER DAY
DOMINATED BY SUPER TRAINERS, JASON COOK WINS ONE FOR THE LITTLE GUY

The Week in Review, by Bill Finley

There were 13 graded stakes races run in North America Saturday and the combination of Bob Baffert, Chad Brown, Steve Asmussen, Brad Cox and Mark Casse won eight of them. That’s three Hall of Famers and two future Hall of Famers. Not that any of this should come as a surprise. The so-called super trainer stables seem to only be getting bigger and more powerful by the day, leaving everyone else to fight over the leftover scraps.

So what chance did Jason Cook have in the GII John A. Nerud S. at Belmont? He has a four-horse stable and in the 34 years he’s been training, had never won a graded stakes race.

Now he has.

Three Technique (Mr. Speaker), a horse Cook claimed for $40,000, won the seven-furlong sprint by 3 3/4 lengths, beating, among others, horses trained by Todd Pletcher and Bill Mott.

“To tell you the truth, it didn’t sink in until later,” Cook said. “But it was great to win a graded stakes.” Cont. Pg. 3

TRAINER JONATHAN WONG SUSPENDED FOR BANNED MEDICATION USAGE

by Sue Finley and Stefanie Grimm

The Horseracing Integrity and Welfare Unit has provisionally suspended trainer Jonathan Wong after one of his horses tested positive for a banned substance last month.

Heaven and Earth (Gormley) broke her maiden at Indiana Grand June 1 but subsequently tested positive for the prescription drug metformin, a type 2 diabetes treatment.

Wong was notified that his horses will need to be moved to the care of another trainer and potentially faces up to a two-year suspension and a $25,000 fine.

While metformin is a permitted medication by the U. S. Anti-Doping Agency (USADA) for humans in athletic competition, the National Institutes of Health published a study indicating it has an effect on athletic performance. Cont. Pg. 5

PROPOSED ORDINANCE THREAT TO GOLDEN GATE

A proposed Berkeley City Council ordinance has been introduced that, if passed into law, would put Golden Gate Fields’ future in serious jeopardy.

SPENDTHRIFT HAS OPTIONS FOR KINGSBARNS

Kingsbarns (Uncle Mo) remains a possibility for either the GII Jim Dandy at Saratoga Race Course or the GI Haskell S. at Monmouth Park
“That’s what make this sport so great. Anybody can win on any given day. That’s why we run them.”

That Cook has persevered the way he has is admirable. For the last 11 years, he has raised his daughter Peyton by himself. Cook’s wife Tracey died from sepsis when Peyton was just 2 1/2 years old. He has had to balance being a single parent, taking his daughter to her soccer games and attending parent-teacher conferences with training horses. He admits it hasn’t been easy and that he hasn’t been able to devote all his time to training.

“I have raised my daughter by myself,” the 49-year-old Cook said. “That’s one of the reasons things have been pretty slow for me. I’m spending a lot of my time going to her soccer games. There are trade offs in life.”

Cook grew up on the racetrack. His father Lois Cook was a jockey who won the 1957 Kentucky Oaks with Lori-El and finished tenth in the 1955 Kentucky Derby. Jason Cook started out as a hotwalker when he was 13 and took out his trainer’s license when he was 17. He won his first race in 1993 when he was just 19.

“I never really thought about doing anything else other than training,” Cook said. “It was what I wanted to do when I younger. At that age, you think being a trainer is the greatest thing in the world. You find out it’s not. It’s not as easy as you thought it would be.”

He won three stakes in 1996 and another in 1997, but his win totals remained modest. Based on wins, his best year was 2008 when he won 18 races. There have also been plenty of years like 2020, when he went 1-for-19, and 2018 when he was 1-for-24. He said he never got discouraged, but the right horses never seemed to find their way into his barn.

Cont.
“There are a lot of capable people that given the chance might be the next big trainer,” he said. “There’s somebody training horses somewhere out there not doing any good and the reason why is they don’t have the stock that allows them to show their talent. It all comes down to the horse. You have to have the horses.”

But he says he can see why so many owners flock to the same top five or six trainers.

“Those people who have those big stables, I’ve never begrudged them,” Cook said. “Todd Pletcher, Bill Mott, they are at the top of the game because they produce very good results. You can’t be mad at somebody because of their success.”

To help make ends meet over the years, Cook would haul horses, something he no longer does. His main client was Dale Romans.

“That was something I did to help me make a living,” he said. “I used to go to all the stakes races for Dale. I trained a few horses, I hauled horses for Dale. That’s how I got by.”

In the fall of 2021 Cook, who had just two winners on the year at the time, was surprised to see Three Technique show up in a $40,000 claimer at Churchill. Four starts earlier, he had finished third in the same John A. Nerud S. for trainer Jeremiah Englehart and owner Bill Parcells’s August Dawn Farm. Just prior to the claiming race, he RNA’d for $47,000 at the Keeneland November Breeding Stock Sale.

“It looked like they were giving up on him,” Cook said. “Yes, I was worried that it was a suspicious drop in class.”

But to be able to acquire a horse for $40,000 that had, only a few months earlier, hit the board in a graded stakes race was something Cook and owners David Miller, Eric Grindley and John Werner couldn’t resist. They weren’t alone. There were 27 claims put in for Three Technique that day.

“Someone asked me what did you see in this horse to claim him,” Cook said. “I just got lucky and hit the lottery.”

Three Technique lost his first five races for Cook, but broke through to win last year’s Knicks Go S. at Churchill Downs at 36-1, giving Cook his first stakes win in 25 years. He would go on a six-race losing streak before winning a May 27 allowance at Churchill. Cook couldn’t decide between the Nerud and the July 2 Hanshin S. at Ellis Park, the same race in which he almost beat Cody’s Wish (Curlin) last year, losing by just a neck. He decided on the Nerud because he thought his horse preferred one turn.

Prior to the Nerud, he had never started a horse at Belmont. His lone starter in New York had come in a 1997 claiming race at Saratoga.

“I’m going to try and buck the trend and win one in New York,” Cook said prior to the race. “My dad was a jockey and I like history and that track has a lot of history. My dad was one of the leading riders in the country in the ‘50s.”

With Javier Castellano aboard, Three Technique won comfortably, looking like a horse who can hold his own against top sprinters.

“I just got to sit back and watch,” Cook said. “The horse had to do all the hard work. He is a very determined horse and he always runs his race.”
BREEDERS’ CUP CLASSIC CONTENDERS ARE BRED IN KENTUCKY

On Saturday at Ellis Park, Kentucky-bred WEST WILL POWER became a Grade 1 winner with an impressive victory over a contentious field in the $1 million Stephen Foster S. (G1), a "Win and You’re In" for the $6 million Breeders’ Cup Classic (G1).

One of the first calls he got after Three Technique crossed the wire was from Peyton. She usually joins her father at the track whenever he has a horse in a race, but she didn’t make the trip to New York.

“This was one of the few trips she didn’t make,” Cook said. “She was home with some friends. She was so excited. She was crying and screaming she was so excited. I wish she would have been here.”

Cook isn’t sure where Three Technique will run next. One concern he has is that the horse doesn’t like the heat, which could be a factor later this summer in places like Saratoga. That’s a problem for another day. For now, he’s going to sit back and relax and enjoy the day he beat the big boys.

In a study of 10 men, they determined that “time to exhaustion was significantly higher after metformin than placebo ingestion,” and that “metformin improved performance and anaerobic alactic contribution during high-intensity exercise.”

Wesley Ward is currently serving a 15-day suspension for a metformin positive in a July 15, 2022 race at Monmouth. His attorney, Drew Mollica, said that the Monmouth stewards did not impose a significant fine or suspension because they agreed the metformin positive was the result of contamination. Wong has retained attorney Alan Pincus.

“Jonathan Wong has a prescription for metformin,” he said. “It is one of the most widely prescribed drugs for humans with diabetes. He uses it, and apparently, he inadvertently contaminated his horse. So they give him the notice yesterday, on a holiday weekend, you’re out of horse racing. ‘Get rid of your horses.’ We have requested a split sample and a provisional hearing, but since you’re not allowed the data pack from the lab until the split comes back, it makes it very difficult. In fact, their whole system makes it very difficult.”

On Thursday, the TDN published a report saying that HISA had temporarily suspended full enforcement of their intra-articular joint injections rules. Under HISA’s rules as written, trainers are prohibited from giving their horse intra-articular joint injections within 14 days prior to the post-time of a race, and within seven days prior to any timed and reported workout. According to HISA Chief Executive Lisa Lazarus, between 15 and 20 trainers have breached the rule surrounding intra-articular joint injections prior to a workout. The reason HISA decided to temporarily modify its enforcement of the rule was due to “confusion” among trainers about the specifics of the rules related to workouts, Lazarus said.

“It’s a nightmare,” he continued. “It’s unconstitutional. It’s unfair. And our game has been hijacked by a bunch of know-nothings posing like they know what they’re doing. Lisa Lazarus waved her mighty hand and told 20 trainers who have violated the intra-articular injection rule ‘I’m going to let you go.’ Even though there is nothing in the regulations allowing her to do so. I imagine when the names of those people come (public), there will be some pretty privileged people. But unfortunately, Jonathan Wong is not one of them. She said the trainers were confused. But confusion is not a defense to strip liability.” Cont.
“It's hypocritical. It's not in the regulations, and it just shows they don't know what they're doing. None of it makes sense. And no one will say 'boo.' ”

Pincus said that this was the second such case he has had.

“The first one I had was Mario Dominguez,” said Pincus. Dominguez’s horse Petulant Delight tested positive for cobalt May 24 at Parx. “Cobalt and the old ARCI guidelines calls it a positive at 25 parts per billion, but since cobalt is in all horses at all times, they say if you have between 25 and 49 parts per billion, the trainer should just get a warning letter. Unfortunately for Mario, if it had happened three days earlier, he gets a warning, but (now), he's thrown out of racing. They give you the notice. You're out. Horses have to be transferred to a new trainer that has nothing to do with you. You lose your owners. You lose your stalls and you lose your livelihood.”

In Dominguez's case, Pincus said that Dominguez asked for a split sample and was asked to send $2,000. He said seven months earlier, Pincus had a case where the same split sample was $750. “So the gouging begins,” said. “He is indigent, and they took away his only means of support, and like most trainers he's living month to month.” He said that Pincus had been unable to afford the fees for the provisional hearing, and had been asked for over $4,000 for the hearing. “They have put a monetary barrier toward someone getting due process,” he said. “We are now 19 days in, and he has not been charged with anything.”

Pincus said that the lack of due process “sickens” him.

“You take a person who has worked their whole life. They're not out there robbing a 7-11. They're out there working seven days a week to try to build something. You're telling me that some person comes to you on a holiday weekend and says 'good luck in your next career.' Cont.
“You’ve not been charged with anything. You have something that would have resulted in some small penalty—as well as it should. But it’s going to happen more and more and more, but the idea that you let your friends off because they were confused? It sickens me. This is the game I have been in my whole life. They’re an occupying force, and no one will stand up to them. But (trainers) are playing Russian roulette every time they go to the test barn.”

PROPOSED BERKELEY CITY COUNCIL ORDINANCE THREAT TO GOLDEN GATE FIELDS

A proposed Berkeley City Council ordinance has been introduced that, if passed into law, would put Golden Gate Fields’ future in serious jeopardy.

The proposed ordinance makes it illegal to keep a horse stabled for more than 10 hours a day and requires that every horse has access to a minimum of one-half acre pasture turnout.

While reaffirming state and federal laws surrounding animal abuse and cruelty, the proposed ordinance also makes it a crime to conduct training and racing under a “reasonable expectation” that it could substantially injure or harm the animal.

“Such reasonable belief would be based upon substantial evidence, which may include, without limitation, the animal’s physical condition, indicia of pain or suffering, musculoskeletal limitations, age or other relevant factors,” the ordinance states.

“Obviously we’re concerned,” said Craig Fravel, chief executive officer at 1/ST Racing and Gaming, a company under The Stronach Group (TSG) umbrella, which owns Golden Gate Fields.

Fravel said that he was alerted to the ordinance on Friday.
As such, TSG has not yet had a chance to conduct a legal analysis of the ordinance, or to plot a clear response, he said.

“I’m not going to over-react at this point, and just try to be constructive in our approach,” said Fravel. “There will be some time to engage and I think educate people on our safety record and our protocols and efforts that we go through.”

The proposed ordinance, introduced by Berkeley City council member Kate Harrison, has been referred to the Council Health and Life Enrichment Committee for hearings.

The ordinance would need a recommendation from the committee before being taken up by the Berkeley City Council.

Harrison declined an interview, saying that she was on vacation.

Harrison added, however, that she would discuss the proposed ordinance when committee discussions begin.

The nine-page proposed ordinance is specifically focused on horseracing and excludes other facilities within city limits where animals are housed, including animal rescue and adoption agencies.

It makes, however, several glaring misrepresentations and distortions of the Thoroughbred racing industry. This includes an erroneous suggestion that Thoroughbred racehorses, on average, live to only three to five years of age.

“Many fatalities in horse racing are euthanizations after horses suffer catastrophic injuries, cutting their lives unnaturally short,” the ordinance states.

“When CBS Bay Area reported on the most recent horse death at GGF in May of this year it cited the fact that ‘live into their 30s, but the average age of is [only] three to five years old.’”

The ordinance also states that “horse deaths continue to rise at the horse racing tracks within City limits.”

According to the Jockey Club Equine Injury Database, race-day equine fatalities are declining nationwide. Last year saw the...

lowest statistical equine fatality rate since 2009, when record keeping began—1.29 fatalities per 1000 starts. When it comes to Golden Gate Fields, the track’s equine fatality rate has been consistently below the national average since 2017. Last year, the rate was 0.56 fatalities per 1000 starts—a number less than half the national average.

“I’d like to push back pretty solidly against some of the suppositions,” said Scott Chaney, executive director of the California Horse Racing Board (CHRB), who added that the CHRB is “aware and certainly concerned” about the ordinance.

“Fatalities are not on the rise at Golden Gate Fields. The opposite is true,” said Chaney. “And while it is true that racehorses generally race from three to five, that is not their average life expectancy.”

The ordinance argues that the City of Berkeley, a charter city, has the legal authority to “establish regulations” and the jurisdiction to “protect and promote the public health, safety and welfare by establishing safeguards for animals” as long as those regulations don’t conflict with state and federal law.

“It is in the public interest to adopt an ordinance prohibiting inhumane or abusive treatment of animals held, owned, used, exhibited or otherwise kept for sport, entertainment or profit within the City limits,” the ordinance states.

Chaney is less sure of the city’s ability to establish such a law. “I believe that there would be some major legal hurdles in attempting to pass such a thing,” said Chaney.

He added, however, that the CHRB hasn’t yet conducted a thorough legal analysis of the proposed ordinance to identify what those legal obstacles might be. One possible hurdle would presumably concern how Golden Gate Fields straddles two adjacent cities, Berkeley and Albany.

The ordinance outlines a set of tough penalties, beginning with minimum fines of $5,000 per animal, per violation, per day, or imprisonment for periods between 30 days and one year.

In explanation of the proposed requirement to provide racehorses access to open pastures for a good portion of the day, the ordinance argues that how colic, laminitis, and pleuropneumonia are issues worsened by excessive confinement.

“Confining a 1200-pound animal to a 12x12 stall is akin to confining an elephant to a box car or a killer whale to a swimming pool. Equine veterinarian, Dr. Kraig Kulikowski, compared this to locking a child in a 4x4 closet for 23 hours a day, abuse punishable by law,” the ordinance states.

In recent years, Golden Gate Fields has found itself the target of animal rights activists. In March of 2021, protestors disrupted racing by running onto the track before lying in a circle with interlocking pipes. The protestors belonged to animal rights organization, Direct Action Everywhere, which seeks to see Golden Gate Fields shut down.

September Yearling Sale Begins Monday, Sept. 11
Lady d’Oro is freshman sire Catholic Boy (More Than Ready)’s first winner with her grass victory at Monmouth Park on Sunday afternoon. The filly was 49-1 in her debut when she finished sixth over a sealed track June 16 at the New Jersey track. Still overlooked at the windows at 14-1 here, the bay filly avoided Momma Kim (Noble Mission {GB})’s fall, who stumbled up the backstretch after clipping heels with Gold Alliance (Goldencents), which also caused Bingo’s Girl (Yoshida {Jpn}) to go down. Rounding the far turn, Lady d’Oro made up ground into the stretch and wrangling Gold Alliance past the eighth pole, she went on to graduate by 3/4 length over the late-running Madame Mischief (Into Mischief). Gold Alliance was disqualified from third and placed last for interference entering the turn.

Following the incident, Momma Kim and Bingo’s Girl walked off under their own power. Jockey Samy Camacho, who was aboard Bingo’s Girl, was sent to Monmouth Medical Center in Long Branch by ambulance for evaluation X-rays following a spill, according to track Medical Director Angelo Chinnici. Camacho, the track’s second-leading rider with 29 wins, was excused from the remainder of his mounts on the 10-race card. Jockey Jorge Gonzalez, who was aboard Momma Kim, reported no injuries.

The winner’s dam is responsible for a yearling filly by Instagrand and she foaled a colt by Good Magic Feb. 11.
Last year's GI Louisiana Derby runner-up, who was 10th in the 2022 GI Kentucky Derby, set sail right from the break and never looked back as he controlled the pace through fairly quick splits of :23.11 and :45.92. He entered the lane with a small lead over his late-challenging rivals, but easily kicked clear when asked and continued on to the wire with good energy to finish in front by three lengths as the 4-5 betting choice over 21-1 longest shot War Campaign (Declaration of War).

“We tried to keep it very simple and when he broke alertly the way he did, we just kept him on the lead,” jockey Florent Geroux said. “He handled things pretty easily from there. He’s got some good speed and stamina but I think he’s much better at this one-mile distance.”

Trainer Cox was equally impressed with the colt’s effort, agreeing that the distance and setup of Ellis’s unique 1 1/2-turn mile suits the colt.

“He’s really liked this distance at either a one-turn mile or this one-and-a-half turn configuration here at Ellis,” Cox said. “I almost took him to Belmont for [Saturday’s GI] John Nerud S. but I’m glad we stayed here. He’s been very good to us and I’m very thankful for [owners] Barry and Joni Butzow for allowing us to manage him the way we have.”

Zozos is the second and most successful foal out of his winning dam, who also produced a colt by Candy Ride (Arg) earlier this year.

Sent to the front in this compact field, the bay led through an opening quarter in :22.56 before carving out a half in :45.50. While heavy favorite V V’s Dream took her shot late, Brightwork had enough left in reserve to hold on for a half-length victory.

From the immediate family of GISW Girvin (Tale of Ekati) and Classic-placed Midnight Bourbon (Tiznow), Clarendon Fancy has a yearling filly by Volatile and a chilly foal by Yaupon.

Representing freshman sire Vino Rosso, The Wine Steward recorded that stallion's first stakes winner with a victory at Ellis Park in Sunday's Bashford Manor S. With a maiden-breaking score by six lengths against New York state-bred company May 28 at Belmont, the Mike Maker trainee shipped to Kentucky. Off at odds of 2-1 this time, the bay colt chased leaders Go Otto Go (Bolt d'Oro) and Call Me Andy (Midshipman) to the outside of the second flight. Rounding the far turn, the $340,000 OBSMAR buy went three-wide with good energy and he put away his rivals past the eighth pole to win by 2 3/4 lengths over Wilson Q.

Out of a female family which includes MGSW Isotherm (Lonhro {Aus}), GISP Giant Game (Giant's Causeway) and GSW Skelly (Practical Joke), the winner is his dam's first offspring. She has also produced a yearling colt by Authentic and she foaled a filly by Curlin Mar. 6. Click for the Equibase.com chart.
Around the far turn, the bay colt clung to a tenuous lead, but at the top of the lane, the blinkered Steve Asmussen trainee kept on to splash home by 3 1/4 lengths over Mullikin who was second. GSW High Dollar Woman (Super Saver) is a half-sister to the winner's dam. Ryvit is her first produce, but she does have a yearling colt by Collected.

Largely overlooked given the presence of MGSW Technical Analysis, who was backed down to 4-5 favoritism, Evvie Jets went to the front and led at every call Sunday. Allowed to set a comfortable pace through :23.36 and :46.77 splits, the 5-year-old kept on finding late, fending off the favorite by a half length at the wire. Haughty rounded out the trifecta.

"These are the types of races that you have to use the best judgement," said winning rider Javier Castellano. "[Technical Analysis] had speed and I had speed. I could either be aggressive and try to win the race, or be conservative and maybe get second or third. I tried to play the break and I didn't see anyone taking the lead, so I took it on myself to dictate the pace. My horse loved it. The way she did it, you can see the fractions were easy and she was traveling really well. Turning for home, when I asked her, she responded really well."

Runner up in the nine-furlong GIII Athenia S. at the Big A last fall, she returned to take the GIII Noble Damsel S. at that venue before rounding out the season another second in the Forever Together S. Nov. 20. Kicking off the 2023 season with a narrow score in the Plenty of Grace S. Apr. 16, she faded late to be sixth in Belmont's GIII Beaugay S. May 7. Following Sunday's win, trainer Mertkan Kantarmaci indicated the 1 1/16-mile GII Ballston Spa S. at Saratoga Aug. 24 was a possibility.

Kantarmaci added, "I think we should keep her in New York, in her own barn in her own home where she trains. If she's really doing good, we look a little more higher levels with her. We go by distance first. Let's see what she shows in a couple weeks and go from there."

Winless since earlier this February, Miss New York marked her return to the winner's circle with a come-from-behind effort in Monmouth's Boiling Springs S. Longshot Cairo Sugar (Cairo Prince) and Seduction (Bernardini), sent off at 5-2, battled for the early lead along with Crypto Mama (Cloud Computing) as Isaac Castillo settled 2-1 chance Miss New Yorkin the back through fractions of :24.24, :48.11 and 1:12.73. With Shidabhuti slow to get rolling, Castillo gave his filly her cue with a three-wide move turning for home and remained clear of the Chad Brown-trained favorite at the wire.

“She had a beautiful trip today,” said winning trainer Jorge Delgado. “Isaac [Castillo] rode a perfect race. He had good position and gave her every chance to win. She beat a good group of horses today.”

He added, “She’s definitely a dirt horse. We weren't sure at the beginning, and she ran well on turf and on synthetic, so it seems like she’ll run on anything, but I think she will stay on the dirt now. She always shows up in her dirt races.”

Posting her sole victory of 2022 on Gulfstream's synthetic surface, the chestnut launched her sophomore year with a win going seven panels at Tampa Feb. 18 before finishing fourth in Turfway's Bourbonette S. Mar. 25. Sixth going a mile in Pimlico's Hilltop S. May 19, she came home an even third facing her elders over this surface in the June 10 Lady’s Secret S. Delgado added, “After the last race, when she raced against older horses, I saw some maturity from her. You can see she is starting to figure it out. The last race was a good set-up for this race.”

Sent on his way here at 5-2, the dark bay colt seized the lead from the bell, controlled the pace from that front-running spot and with nice turn-of-foot down the lane, went on to clear this condition over the surging Souper Watson (Ghostzapper) by 1 1/2 lengths. HIGH STICK (f, 4, Nyquist--Money My Honey {SP, $126,701}, by Red Bullet) just missed by a neck in her second try to break her maiden over the Horseshoe Indianapolis turf course last summer before going to the bench. The chestnut started her 4-year-old campaign just off-the-board May 14 at Pimlico when her race was switched to the main track and ended up third last time out at Monmouth June 10. As the 6-1 chance on the stretch out here, High Stick broke on top, lulled the field to sleep by controlling the fractions up front and with gas left in the tank, went on the graduate by two lengths over Libretto (Ire) (Fastnet Rock {Aus}). BIG DOUBLE COMPLETE AS AUGUSTE RODIN WINS DRAMATIC IRISH DERBY

by Tom Frary

The betting suggested that Sunday’s G1 Dubai Duty Free Irish Derby at The Curragh was a simple equation, but in the event there was a deal of disappointment and drama en route to TDN Rising Star Auguste Rodin (Ire) (Deep Impact {Jpn}--Rhododendron {Ire}, by Galileo {Ire}) completing the Derby double that had always seemed an inevitability. As the other key Derby runners White Birch (GB) (Ulysses {Ire}) and Sprewell (Ire) (Churchill {Ire}) failed to raise a fist, Ryan Moore first had to manoeuvre the unseating of Wayne Lordan on the stricken San Antonio (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) on the home turn and then work to subdue the yard’s 33-1 shot Adelaide River (Ire) (Australia {GB}).

In a finish much more tense than promised, the 4-11 favourite ultimately pulled out enough to beat Adelaide River by 1 1/2 lengths, while the 80-1 outsider Covent Garden (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) completed a remarkable eighth Irish Derby one-two-three for Aidan O’Brien 2 1/4 lengths away. This was a 15th success in the race for Aidan O’Brien and a landmark 100th in Classics for the master of Ballydoyle, but for Moore it was a welcome first Irish Derby.

MOON SHINES FOR DEUTSCHES DERBY

GLORY by Sean Cronin

Sea The Moon (Ger) (Sea The Stars {Ire}) powered to a wide-margin triumph underneath Hamburg’s stands’ side rail in the 2014 G1 Deutsches Derby and his Sarah Steinberg-trained son Fantastic Moon (Ger) ploughed the same furrow to claim a clear-cut success of his own in Sunday’s latest renewal of the German highlight.

The 31-5 third favourite was positioned well off the pace with just one of his 19 rivals in arrears for the most part. Inching forward on the home turn, he was sent wide into the straight to launch his challenge with 300 metres remaining and kept on powerfully under late rousting to prevail by 2 1/4 lengths from ’TDN Rising Star’ Mr Hollywood (Ire) (Iquitos {Ger}).

“I’ve had a lot of disappointment in this race, but Aidan had said to me that Mick Kinane didn’t win until Galileo so maybe I just needed a good one to win it,” the rider said after a tactically challenging steering job. “It wasn’t a straightforward race. There’s a big headwind down the back and a gale blowing behind you in the straight, they went very steady for the first half of the race and my horse was always in a gear too low. I’d have liked something to go on a stride quicker, I wanted to go around Wayne and then had to switch back in and the horse in front was getting a very easy time. I had to go to him early and this is a horse who when he gets to the front tends to wait a bit.”

This renewal came down to being on or near the front end, which can be no surprise to anybody who has witnessed the races that had preceded it during the three-day Irish Derby festival. It was therefore a surprise that White Birch’s jockey Dylan Browne McMonagle opted to negate the rare advantage of his mount breaking on terms by restraining him towards the back and handing the favourite a four-to-five length advantage.

Even before San Antonio’s unfortunate breaking down four out, it was clear that White Birch was completely misfiring and the fact that he and Sprewell were caught up in the resulting melee had little to no impact on the result. Two out, Auguste Rodin seemed to comfortably have the measure of the pace-setting Adelaide River but all the evidence of the past few days is that Aidan O’Brien’s 3-year-old crop are finally getting to their peak. Some of those that were quiet in the spring are leaping forward now and Seamie Heffernan was on one who had made significant strides over the past month.

A few strides after the two pole, the body language of Moore and Heffernan offered marked contrast and as they went to the furlong marker it seemed possible that Adelaide River could rally for the upset. While Auguste Rodin hanging down towards the rail may not have affected the result, the overhead film showed clearly that the eventual runner-up was compromised by the intimidation more than once and the winning margin may not be the whole story. All that said, with the non-Ballydoyle contingent so far away from what was required here was a case of yet another Irish Derby resembling no more than a taxing work morning at Rosegreen.

The very real scare that Adelaide River posed in the closing stages outlines that for most of this stable’s leading lights, the danger often lies within. Just as we learnt as the Derby also-ran Sovereign (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) came back to demolish the Blue Riband hero Anthony Van Dyck (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) four years ago, the yard’s battalion members gathered in Kildare can never be discounted. As well as Sovereign, O’Brien’s other Irish Derby heroes who took major steps forward from Epsom include Soldier Of Fortune (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}), Frozen Fire (Ger) (Montjeu {Ire}) and Capri (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}). Adelaide River, who had top juvenile form having placed three times in pattern races including the G1 Criterium de Saint-Cloud, was just following past precedent.

Aidan O’Brien, who had been at pains to stress on Irish Champions Day last year that Auguste Rodin has the tendency of his high-class dam Rhododendron to pull up in front, has always pointed to the Irish Derby as a true and fair test with no excuses.

Ryan Moore was offering more complex feedback after this year’s winner had crossed the line with ears flicking every which way to the collective exhale of relief from all the cliff-jumping punters.

“When there is a tailwind on the inner track it’s not as straightforward as people think,” he said. “You can get different results with a proper wind like today and while the form will look questionable it’s just that circumstances conspired against him. He didn’t have the opportunity to give me the feel he had at Epsom because the circumstances were different, but he still won—he’s done what he had to today and wasn’t blowing and didn’t turn a hair, so there is plenty more to come. He gets a mile and a half well, but I think he would be fine at ten as it always felt like they were going too slow for me which indicates he’ll be fine coming back in trip.”

Of the trainer’s milestone moment, Moore offered his usual measured insight. “Aidan will tell you that it’s everyone else and it is, in that it is such a big team effort, but there’s a reason you get these results,” he added. “I have a good idea what makes him different. He’s seriously driven and wants the best the whole time. The amount of work he does is quite incredible. People talk about ‘genius’ and ‘attention to detail’ and there is that, but there’s also another layer and I’m privileged to see it. Probably a lot of people wouldn’t understand it.”

O’Brien gave his own slant on the outcome, which was the 19th time the Derby-Irish Derby double had been achieved. “The Curragh is very fair and very straightforward and one of the best facilities in the world, but it didn’t go right in any part of the way today with the wind blowing them sideways going down the back and the lads in front going a gear too slow,” he said. “We wanted a strong, even pace but Ryan felt he was just in two gears too low. He said he was on auto-pilot the whole way up the straight and never clicked in at all and when he got to the front, he was all starry-eyed.”

“We knew that the second horse and Wayne’s horse would handle this course much better than Epsom and it wasn’t a surprise that Adelaide River ran much better,” he added. “It looked workmanlike and that’s the fact of it, but Ryan was very adamant that there is so much more in there and we look forward to him the next day. Where that will be depends on the lads and we’ll see in a few days.”

Pedigree Notes
Auguste Rodin’s pedigree has been well dissected by now, with his dam Rhododendron winning the G1 Lockinge S. at a mile and the G1 Prix de l’Opera at 10 furlongs and finishing second in the Oaks. She is out of Halfway To Heaven (Ire) (Pivotal {GB}), another Curragh Classic heroine having mastered

Fantastic Moon’s triumph was a first win in the contest for Rene Piechulek, whose career high came aboard Torquator Tasso (Ger) (Adlerflug {Ge}) in 2021’s G1 Prix de l’Arc de Triomphe. “I was able to keep him well relaxed at the back of field as we knew the trip might be at the extent of his stamina,” he explained. “He galloped easily throughout and quickened really well into the straight where I was able to make full use of his great finishing speed. It is a very emotional moment for my wife and I, we are extremely happy.” The win was also a first edition for trainer Sarah Steinberg, who added, “This almost unbelievable. Fantastic Moon is a very ambitious horse with a big heart and it was good that Rene could settle him way behind and then make use of his great turn of foot.”

Fantastic Moon’s pathway to glory began with a perfect two-race 2022 campaign which featured a win in Germany’s premier juvenile contest, Cologne’s G3 Preis des Winterfavoriten, and he met with his only defeat when third behind My Hollywood in Munich’s G3 Bavarian Classic on seasonal debut at the beginning of May. He regained winning ways in his latest start, accounting for a clutch of reopposing contenders going 10 furlongs in Baden-Baden’s May 20 Derby-Trial.

Pedigree Notes

Fantastic Moon, who becomes the third Group 1 winner for his sire, is the second foal and lone scorer produced by a winning half-sister to G3 Sveas Minnelop victor Fearless Hunter (Ger) (Alhaarth {Ire}) and Listed Arnfinn Lund Minnelop third Fil Rouge (Ger) (Lord Of England {Ger}). The March-foaled bay, who is from the family of MGISW sire Street Boss (Street Cry {Ire}), is kin to a yearling filly by Starspangledbanner (Aus) and a weanling filly by Masar (Ire). Cont. p7

BUCANERO FUERTE AND UNQUESTIONABLE POST WOOTTON BASSETT EXACTA IN RAILWAY THRILLER by Sean Cronin Usurped for favouritism by ‘TDN Rising Star’ Unquestionable (Fr) (Wootton Bassett (GB)) in Sunday’s G2 GAIN Railway S. at the Curragh, Amo Racing and Giselle De Aguiar’s G2 Coventry S. third Bucanero Fuerte (GB) (Wootton Bassett (GB))–Frida La Blonde (Fr), by Elusive City) gained a measure of compensation for that Royal Ascot reversal with a thrilling victory over his main rival in Sunday’s renewal of the six-furlong staging post.

Bucanero Fuerte, a debut scorer over five furlongs on opening day here in March, was swiftly into stride and allowed a gap to build while racing second behind stablemate Lightening Army (GB) (Soldier’s Call (GB)), who established a clear advantage by halfway. Easing closer approaching the quarter-mile marker, he locked horns with Unquestionable with 1 1/2 furlongs remaining and refused to yield under a late drive, outbobbing the 15-8 favourite by a short-head in a nip-and-tuck thriller. The pair were 4 1/2 lengths clear of the remainder, headed by the runner-up’s Listed First Flier-winning stablemate His Majesty (Ire) (No Nay Never) in third.

“He’s a tough horse, we took a chance running him back so quickly after [Royal] Ascot and he didn’t let us down,” trainer Adrian Murray said. “[Assistant trainer] Robson [Aguiar] said he was on fire during the week and we had no other option only to go for it. He’s entered in the [G1] Phoenix S. and he could go to France, but we are not sure yet.”

“We’ll give him a bit of a break now as he’s had two quick runs. He’s a big, backward horse and we are not going to rush him. We’ll definitely step him up in trip as that’s what won it for him today. We made plenty of use of him because we knew he would see it out. He likes a bit of dig in the ground and, if anything, it was a bit quick for him today.

Winning rider Rossa Ryan added, “He was very gutsy, the other horse never laid down and this lad stuck his neck out. I’d imagine he’ll be a lot happier when he goes up to seven [furlongs] with a bit more juice in the ground. He’s got a lovely cruise control and he gave me a super feel throughout.”

“He’s got a great mind to top it all off, so I’d say the future is bright with him. Credit to Adrian Murray and his team, they were confident he’d bounced out of Ascot well and it was a big test coming up against one of Aidan’s that was fresh and hadn’t been to Ascot. They’ve pulled a nice way clear of the rest.”

BANNER DAY FOR SEA THE MOON INITIATED BY MUSKOKA IN HAMBURG'S STUTEN-MEILE by Sean Cronin

More was to come for Lanwades Stud resident Sea The Moon (Ger) (Sea The Stars (Ire)) after his 3-year-old daughter Muskoka (Ger) set the ball rolling on a banner day for the sire, Hamburg’s Deutsches Derby undercard punctuated by a dominant success for the Henk Grewe trainee in the G3 Brummerhofer Stuten-Meile.

May’s Listed Henkel-Stutenpreis victrix employed patient tactics in rear until making headway into contention on the turn for home. Angled towards the centre of the track for a clear passage soon after passing the quarter-mile marker, she would not be denied once into the clear and ran on powerfully under a final-furlong drive to gain the upper hand nearing the line for a career high.

“The race was run at a quick pace, which suited her, I had a good trip throughout and she has great acceleration," winning rider Augustin Madamet told GaloppOnline. Trainer Henk Grewe added, “Everything fell into pace for her, the pace was fast and the track was soft. She is good on firm ground too, but she’s a few pounds better on softer tracks. The [Aug. 6 G1 Preis der] Diana [at Dusseldorf] is the goal, but the question mark is the [11-furlong] distance."

Pedigree Notes

Muskoka, who becomes the 15th pattern-race winner for her sire, is the fifth of seven live foals and one of three scorers from as many runners produced by an unraced half-sister to G1 Poule d’Essai des Poulains and G1 Prix du Jockey Club-winning sire Brametot (Ire) (Rajsaman (Fr)) and G3 Walter Nilsens Minnelop runner-up Mulan (Ger) (Marju (Ire)). She is kin to the unraced 2-year-old colt Master Of Light (Ger) (Adlerflug (Ger)) and a yearling filly by Reliable Man (GB).

The April-foaled chestnut’s second dam Morning Light (Ger) (Law Society) is a half-sister to MG1SW German cornerstone Monsun (Ger) (Konigsstuhl (Ger)) and hails from a family which also features GI Breeders’ Cup Juvenile Fillies Turf heroine Aunt Pearl (Ire) (Lope De Vega (Ire)) and G1 Prix du Cadran victrix Molly Malone (Fr) (Lomitas (GB)).

DIANA-BOUND PRINCESS ZELDA WINS AT HAMBURG by Tom Frary

The least-experienced filly in the line-up for Sunday’s G3 Hamburger Stutenpreis, Gestut Hachtsee’s homebred Princess Zelda (Ger) (Zarak {Fr}) overcame that obstacle to remove any that may have been placed in her way ahead of the upcoming G1 Preis der Diana. Held up towards rear early by Lukas Delozier, the 11-2 shot who had scored on debut at Hannover in late May produced a withering run inside the final yards to overhaul Kassada (Ger) (Sea The Moon {Ger}). At the line, there was a neck between the Henk Grewe-trained winner and that 9-10 favourite who had been so impressive in Hoppegarten’s G3 Diana Trial.

“I didn’t think that she could beat Kassada, as she was only having her second outing and you could see her inexperience today, but Lukas Delozier rode a great race,” commented Wilhelm Feldmann, the owner-breeders’ racing manager and who had been involved in the selection of the card’s Derby onewtwo Fantastic Moon and Mr Hollywood.

Pedigree Notes

Princess Zelda’s dam Petite Duchesse (Ger) (Dai Jin {GB}) is a half-sister to the G3 Prix Contant-Biron winner Petit Chevalier (Fr) (High Chaparral {Ire}) related to the classy Lord Glitters (Fr) (Whipper) whose tally of pattern-race victories include the G1 Queen Anne S. and G1 Jebel Hatta. Racing in a close-up second under Aurelien Lemaitre throughout the early stages, the €27,000 Tatts Ireland September graduate gained the lead approaching the furlong pole and clung on as Salva Mea lunged late.

At her best over five furlongs at two, Exxtra had finished runner-up in the Listed Prix des Reves d’Or at Vichy last May and fourth in the G3 Prix d’Arenberg at ParisLongchamp in September but offered little evidence that she had progressed markedly when fourth last month in Chantilly’s Listed Prix Marchand d’Or over this trip. Finding something more in this black-type breakthrough, she tracked the leaders before hitting the front a furlong out and forging into the clear.

“She had won well on her seasonal return, but then had a setback and unfortunately missed the only two group races for sprinting three-year-olds, the Prix Sily and Texanita,” Yann Lerner explained. “Her last race brought her on for this and with the perfect trip she won in very good style. She will have to face the older horses now, so we’ll take time to make a decision and we might also try her over seven.”

The dam is a daughter of the five-times group-winning Rolly Polly, who is also the second dam of the triple top-level winner Raging Bull (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}) and last year’s G3 Prix des Chenes scorer Kubrick (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}). Commanche Falls is the benchmark of consistency with a tally of eight handicaps among his overall nine wins, but had failed to strike in six prior attempts at black-type level heading into this charge. The dual Stewards’ Cup winner lined up as the 5-4 pick coming back off a third in May’s G2 Duke of York S. and raced in mid division through halfway. Busted along approaching the quarter-mile marker, he inched ahead entering the final furlong and was driven out to secure a breakthrough victory.

“He always takes a while to warm into his races and you’d be worried if he wasn’t like that,” said assistant trainer Chloe Dods. “He’s really chilled at home, he doesn’t sweat at all and Connor [Beasley] thinks he will be a better horse in a better race. The races for him in the UK are quite limited so that’s what he was showing us earlier in the year, reflected trainer Jessica Harrington. “He had allergies and kept scoping wrong after his races, but we’ve been able to treat them since the [Irish 2000] Guineas and he’s alright now. He loved going around that bend and, for a big horse, he goes on that quick ground. That was really good and I’d say he will come forward from that and get a bit of confidence.”

Bold Discovery arrived here with a clean bill of health after a posting a pair of sub-par performances and graduated with a game display in this fifth black-type start. He backed up a third in last term’s G3 Killavullan S. with a second in Leopardstown’s Apr. 2 G3 2000 Guineas Trial on seasonal return before posting off-the-radar efforts behind Paddington (GB) (Siyouni {Fr}) in May’s Listed Tetrarch S. and G1 Irish 2000 Guineas. Stalking the tempo in second into the straight, the 18-1 outsider powered ahead approaching the eighth pole and kept on resolutely under a late drive to withstand the persistent threat of Tarawa.

“That’s what he was showing us earlier in the year,” said assistant trainer Chloe Dods. “He had allergies and kept scoping wrong after his races, but we’ve been able to treat them since the [Irish 2000] Guineas and he’s alright now. He loved going around that bend and, for a big horse, he goes on that quick ground. That was really good and I’d say he will come forward from that and get a bit of confidence.”

Pyrus, who was off the mark at Cologne in June, and the Saint-Cloud runner-up Orofina could not be separated at the end of this Hapag Lloyd-Rennen for BBAG graduates. Held up further back than Orofina, who traded at 5-1, the 7-2 favourite Pyrus had ground to make up as the filly struck the front approaching the furlong pole. Delivering a sustained effort towards the final quarter-mile and was ridden out to assert by 1 1/4 lengths from Diantha (Ger) (Zarak {Fr}). Airplay becomes the seventh winner from as many runners produced by a daughter of G2 Prix de Pomone and G3 Deutscher Herold-Preis victrix Abitara (Ire) (Rainbow Quest). The March-foaled chestnut is kin to a stakes-placed quartet headed by G2 Union-Rennen runner-up Areo (GB) (Medicean {GB}) and G3 Mehl Mulhens Trophy third Ability (Ger) (Mastercraftsman {Ire}).

Airplay was a handy third along the fence for most of this sophomore bow. Rowed along in early straight, the 11-5 chalk came under sterner urging inside the final quarter-mile and was ridden out to assert by 1 1/4 lengths from Diantha (Ger) (Zarak {Fr}). Airplay becomes the seventh winner from as many runners produced by a daughter of G2 Prix de Pomone and G3 Deutscher Herold-Preis victrix Abitara (Ire) (Rainbow Quest).
