ARCANGELO TO LANE’S END ON RETIREMENT

Blue Rose Farm’s Arcangelo (Arrogate--Modeling, by Tapit), a likely favorite for the upcoming GI Breeders’ Cup Classic, will enter stud at Lane’s End Farm at the conclusion of his racing career. The gray went to the head of the sophomore division with victories in the GI Belmont S. and GI Travers S. He also captured this year’s GII Peter Pan S. “It has been a surreal experience to own a horse of this magnitude,” said owner Jon Ebbert. “The day I laid eyes on him at the yearling sale, I said to myself that this is the most beautiful horse I have ever seen. I’m so blessed the way everything unfolded and so appreciative of my team. To win the Belmont, the Travers and looking as the possible favorite in the Breeders’ Cup is incredible. From the beginning of this journey, I tried to make every right decision for this horse, and now I have another important one to make. Upon his retirement, I’ve chosen Lane’s End as the perfect fit for his stallion career.” Trainer Jena Antonucci, who became the first woman to saddle the winner of a Triple Crown race when Arcangelo captured the Belmont, added, “Having the opportunity to steward Arcangelo thus far in his racing career has been the absolute blessing of a lifetime, for which I will be eternally grateful for. Watching him grow into his mental and physical greatness has been remarkable. We will be excited to see the talent of his progeny and watching Arcangelo pass along his innate ability, talent, and desire to be a champion.”

Q&A WITH LUCINDA FINLEY: A LOT RESTS ON PENDING FIFTH CIRCUIT HIS A RULING

by Dan Ross

Earlier this month, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit in New Orleans heard oral arguments in a pivotal case—led by the National Horsemen’s Benevolent and Protective Association (NHBPA)—seeking to overturn the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act (HISA) on grounds that it is constitutionally flawed.

In short, the Fifth Circuit’s pending ruling could have profound implications for the short and long-term future of the federal law.

Oral arguments in the Fifth Circuit follow a key decision earlier this year out of the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, finding the HISA statute indeed to be constitutional.

There is also a separate HISA-related case in the Eighth Circuit led by Bill Walmley, Jon Moss, and the Horsemen’s Benevolent and Protective Association (HBPA) for Iowa.

To get a handle on the various implications from the pending Fifth Circuit ruling, the TDN once again spoke with constitutional law expert Lucinda Finley, Frank Raichle Professor of Trial and Appellate Advocacy, and director of Appellate Advocacy at the University of Buffalo Law School.

The following has been edited for brevity and clarity.

TDN: When is the Fifth Circuit likely to issue its ruling?

Lucinda Finley: It could be within a month. It could be up to several months. It’s very hard to tell how long a court will take in ruling on an appeal. They don’t have any deadline.

TDN: Can we glean any kind of meaning on how they might rule from the length of time it takes to deliver that ruling?

Lucinda Finley: In general in federal appellate cases, the length of time that it takes for a ruling to come out can vary by several factors. One is how many other opinions still to be issued are backlogged in the court. Another is whether there’s disagreement within the panel of three judges. Is there going to be a dissent? Is there going to be a concurring opinion?

So, if there’s going to be more than one unanimous majority opinion, it’ll obviously take longer for the final result to be issued because multiple judges will be writing opinions and perhaps circulating their drafts amongst each other, trying to persuade someone to modify their position.

TDN: How do you think the Fifth Circuit will rule?

Lucinda Finley: I can’t predict. I have no basis to make a prediction.

TDN: Are you able to look at any other of their rulings as a potential barometer?

Lucinda Finley: No. I mean, it’s really going to come down to whether they agree with the Sixth Circuit that the changes congress made to give the [Federal Trade Commission] more rulemaking authority are sufficient to fix the constitutional problem that the Fifth Circuit previously identified.

TDN: What are the implications from the pending Fifth Circuit ruling for HISA?

LF: If the Fifth Circuit agrees with the Sixth Circuit and finds that the current amended version of HISA is constitutional, that makes it much less likely that the U.S. Supreme Court would take up the cases because there would not be a conflicting view between different U.S. circuit courts of appeals about the constitutionality of the federal statute.

Conversely, if the Fifth Circuit disagrees with the Sixth Circuit and finds that the amendments that Congress made are not sufficient to make the law constitutional, that makes it close to a hundred percent likely that the U.S. Supreme Court would take up the cases.

Having two different circuit courts in the country saying the same federal statute is and is not constitutional is not a situation that's tenable. The U.S. Supreme Court would have to resolve that one.

TDN: Just yesterday, the former president of the National HBPA said that no matter how the Fifth Circuit rules, the nation's highest court will eventually have to be called upon to settle the matter. Sounds like it's not that simple.

LF: Let me back up.

You currently have the Sixth Circuit already having ruled that the HISA statute is constitutional. You have the Fifth Circuit having heard oral arguments. A decision will come within the next few months.

You also have the Eighth Circuit considering the constitutional question, the briefs of the challengers already having been filed and the briefs of the FTC and the defenders of HISA yet to be filed. So, you have three circuit courts being asked to consider the constitutionality of HISA.

If all three of them wind up agreeing that HISA as currently written is constitutional, I don't think it's likely that the Supreme Court would hear the case.

[But] if the circuit courts disagree about the constitutionality piece, as I said, I think that makes it close to a hundred percent likely that the Supreme Court would take the case.

Will the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Side with HISA in Its Pending Decision?

Click Here to Vote!
TDN: What are the implications (either way) from the pending Fifth Circuit ruling for those jurisdictions currently operating outside of HISA’s remit, like Louisiana and West Virginia?

LF: If the Fifth Circuit rules the same way that the Sixth Circuit did and finds that HISA as amended is now constitutional, that would mean that the lower court injunctions against the enforcement of HISA in certain states would most likely be dissolved and would go away.

If the Fifth Circuit rules that even the amendments to HISA are not sufficient to make it constitutional, that would mean the injunctions against enforcing HISA in certain states would remain in effect until the Supreme Court resolves the differences of opinions between the federal circuit courts.

TDN: Does this case hold other implications at the Supreme Court level for critics of the federal administrative state?

LF: In the current term of the Supreme Court, they've just taken several cases that raise challenges to decades old, well-established administrative law precedents.

There seems to be a lot of interest in the current U.S. Supreme Court of turning administrative law on its head and reining in the authority of the federal regulatory agencies in various ways. The non-delegation doctrines that are at the heart of the challenges to HISA have not yet been the areas of administrative law that the Supreme Court seems focused on upending of changing.

But they might—if they completely change the areas of administrative law they've agreed to consider this year—maybe next year say, 'okay, we got rid of the Chevron deference doctrine, we got rid of certain other things. Now let's go after the non-delegation doctrine.'

It's a long way of saying the current U.S. Supreme Court is showing great interest in rethinking decades of rules about the authority of federal regulatory agencies.

TDN: Could this focus of the Supreme Court have any bearing on the way in which the Fifth Circuit rules?

LF: I don't think judges rule in a particular way on a case strategically in order just to get it to go to Supreme Court. I think judges rule on cases based on what they think the law is.

The Fifth Circuit is the most dominated right now of all the circuits by judges who were appointed by the Trump administration with the imprimatur of the Federalist Society, which has long had as its goal to get judges on the appellate federal courts that want to rein in the regulatory state.

The Fifth Circuit is known as the most conservative circuit in terms of what it might mean these days to be a conservative, in the legal sense. Being skeptical of giving broad discretionary authority to make rules to agencies as opposed to congress is one of the aim of being a legal conservative.

As I've told you in previous conversations, there were clearly lawyers strategizing by the opponents of HISA about what states and therefore what federal circuits they filed their challenges in. They filed them in parts of the country that go to circuit courts that they considered tilting conservative. They didn't file them in areas of the country like New York or Chicago where they think the circuit courts are not considered to be tilted conservative.

TDN: What are the implications from the pending Fifth Circuit ruling for the other HISA-related suits?

LF: Well, neither the Sixth Circuit ruling nor the Fifth Circuit ruling would be binding precedent on the eighth circuit. They're just persuasive views.

If you're the eighth circuit and you've got two other circuits who agree on the constitutionality of the statute, then reading the tea leaves, that makes it more likely the eighth circuit would also agree.

If you're the eighth circuit and you've got two other federal circuits that have completely different views, you might just kind of sit on the case for a while and wait to see if the Supreme Court takes up the matter and let the Supreme Court decide on its constitutionality.

TDN: Which gets back to your earlier point—a lot rests on this Fifth Circuit ruling.

LF: Yes. Whether the Fifth Circuit will rule the same as the Sixth or differently from the Sixth is basically everything. What happens next is going to rest completely on that.

LF: That’s an interesting question. Interesting, because right now we basically don’t have a functioning congress. Who knows how long it will be before we have a functioning congress. Right now, no federal legislation is going anywhere. But I guess my personal view is that there won’t be any strong majority push in congress to come up with something different unless the U.S. Supreme Court says HISA is unconstitutional.

By champion Arrogate, the sire of five Grade I winners in his brief career at stud, Arcangelo was bred by Don Alberto Corporation. His dam Modeling, a $2.85-million Keeneland November broodmare purchase, is a half-sister to Streaming (Smart Strike), winner of the GI Hollywood Starlet S. She hails from the family of broodmare of the year and prolific producer Better Than Honour, the dam of back-to-back Belmont winners Rags to Riches and Jazil.

Arcangelo | Sarah Andrew

“Arcangelo’s historic 3-year-old campaign fits a profile that we are very familiar with on our stallion roster,” said Lane’s End’s Bill Farish. “There’s no doubt that Arrogate’s brief career at stud has had a major impact on racing and the opportunity to stand a Classic-winning son of his with such a deep pedigree makes Arcangelo an exciting and unique prospect for Lane’s End.”

THE TDN LAUNCHES PREDICTION MARKET
by Sue Finley

The TDN has launched a prediction market, where voters “bet” on the outcomes of questions with virtual money and earn real money with their correct predictions to be donated to charity. The market was the idea of TDN writer J. N. Campbell. Several times a week, the TDN will pose a question in the TDN, on our website in a story post, and on social media, asking voters to predict the outcome of a particular story.

We are using the platform Manifold, profiled in a New York Times story, The Wager That Betting Can Change the World, on Oct. 8.

The story was on prediction markets, online sites where people can wager on future events. Manifold operates strictly with play-money, which they call mana. People making correct bets are paid off in mana, which they can use to continue to “bet” on other questions or convert into a charitable donation. If your preferred charity isn’t already listed on Manifold, you may request that it be added.

The general concept of prediction markets is that the general public’s opinion is a more accurate predictor of what will happen than any expert prognosticators. “Prediction markets, they believe, offer a better way to search for truth--rewarding those who are good at forecasting by allowing them to make money off those who are bad at it, while settling on the facts in an unbiased way,” said the Times.

First up is our poll in today’s HISA-Fifth Circuit story by Dan Ross. The question is: Will the Fifth Circuit Rule in Favor of HISA in its pending decision?

In our Darley stud fee announcement, we ask, "Will Cody’s Wish Go Out With a Win in the Breeders’ Cup Dirt Mile?"

To vote, simply click on the question above, or the poll graphic in the story, sign up on Manifold for free, and vote. You are given 500 mana to get started, the equivalent of a $5 donation to charity. You may bet as much or as little mana as you choose on the story. Once you have signed up, you may also create your own questions for others to vote on, or vote on any of the non-TDN-related questions on the site.

The TDN has added 11 popular racing charities to the Manifold site: New Vocations, Stable Recovery, the Thoroughbred Retirement Foundation, Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance, Old Friends, New York Racetrack Chaplaincy, Belmont Child Care Association, Thoroughbred Charities of America, The Jockey Club Safety Net Foundation, the Grayson-Jockey Club Research Foundation. Users wishing to use their mana to donate to different organizations may add them to the site as well.

NOT THIS TIME BUMPED UP TO $150K AT TAYLOR MADE FOR 2024

Not This Time (Giant’s Causeway), whose three-time Grade I-winning son Up To the Mark is a leading candidate for the GI Breeders' Cup Turf and Horse of the Year honors, will stand the 2024 breeding season for a fee of $150,000, stands-and-nurses terms, at Taylor Made Stallions. Not This Time stood the 2023 season for $135,000.

The sire of 2022 champion 3-year-old male Epicenter, Not This Time has gone from strength to strength this term, and sits in eighth position on the general sire list with better than $10.4 million in progeny earnings. The 9-year-old stallion has been represented by no fewer than a dozen black-type winners in 2023, topped by Up To the Mark, whose top-level scores have come in Churchill's Old Forester Bourbon Turf Classic at nine furlongs, the GI Resorts World Casino Manhattan S. at a mile and a quarter at Belmont Park, and most recently, the Keeneland Turf Mile first off a four-month layoff.

Sibelius earned the first top-level success of his career when proving gamest in the G1 Dubai Golden Shaheen in March. He also established a new track record when winning the Pelican S. at Tampa in 1:08.65 for the six furlongs.

Not This Time has also been represented by graded winners Next, Arzak, Gigante and Cogburn.

War Front (Danzig) will again lead the way at Claiborne Farm among its nine-stallion roster for 2024, with a fee of $100,000, the same price for which he stood in 2023.

In 2023, War Front’s yearlings sold for up to $800,000, and he is among the top 10 North American-based sires this season by percentage of black-type winners from starters (6.9%), black-type performers from starters (11.8%) and total graded stakes winners (six).

With a fee of $85,000, Nyquist (Uncle Mo) will lead the way among a total of 13 stallions standing at Darley's Jonabell Farm in 2024, including two new additions in Grade I winners Cody's Wish (Curlin) and Proxy (Tapit), according to Darley America.

Cody's Wish, out of Grade I winner Dance Card (by Tapit), is expected to make his final start in the GI Breeders' Cup Dirt Mile after winning the race in 2022. A winner of 10 of 15 career starts, Cody's Wish has never finished out of the first three during his career. He heads into the Breeders' Cup boasting additional GI victories in the Met Mile, the Churchill Downs S., and the Forego S. He matched his career-high Beyer of 112 in this year's Met Mile, the same figure he achieved in last year's Forego, which is the co-top Beyer in 2023, along with Echo Zulu (Gun Runner). In addition, his 112 Beyer last year was bettered only by Flightline and future Darley stud mate Speaker's Corner.

Proxy is expected to make his next appearance on Breeders' Cup Saturday in the GI Breeders' Cup Classic. By Tapit, he has won or placed in a total of 10 graded stakes, including a victory in the GI Clark S. and was within a nose and a neck of two additional Grade I wins in the Santa Anita H. and the Jockey Club Gold Cup. He is out of multiple GI winner Panty Raid (Include), making him the only son of Tapit out of a multiple Grade I-winning mare. The dam has also produced Grade II winner Micheline, a daughter of Bernardini.

Fees for Cody's Wish and Proxy will be announced following the Breeders' Cup.

said Darley Sales Manager Darren Fox, "It's been another fantastic year for our racing program, highlighted by the likes of Grade I winners Cody's Wish and Proxy. He was the sire of a $1.1-million yearling at Keeneland September, bringing his career total to 55 million-dollar sales horses.
Multiple Eclipse champion Essential Quality (Tapit) and dual Grade I winner Maxfield (Street Sense) will stand at fees of $65,000 and $35,000, respectively, next year. GRADE I PRODUCERS ADDED TO THE FASIG-TIPTON NOVEMBER SALE
The dams of two recent Grade I winners and of a third elite-level scorer heading to the GI Breeders’ Cup Distaff are among the latest supplemental entries to The November Sale at Fasig-Tipton.

The stakes-winning Toni Tools (Roaring Fever), cataloged as hip 254 and selling with Elite, is the dam of Candied (Candy Ride {Arg}) who ran her record to two wins from as many starts in the GI Darley Alcibiades S. and heads to California as a leading chance in the GI Breeders’ Cup Juvenile Fillies Nov. 3.

Similarly, ’TDN Rising Star’ Muth (Good Magic) will be one of the favorites for the GI Breeders’ Cup Juvenile on the strength of his impressive victory in the GI American Pharoah S. Oct. 7. His 7-year-old dam Hoppa (Uncle Mo) is back in foal to Good Magic and will be offered by Hill ’n’ Dale at Xalapa, agent, as hip 257.

Brooklynsway (Giant Gizmo), winner during her racing days of the Gill Doubledogdare S. at Keeneland and earner of nearly $725,000, sells as hip 258 from the Taylor Made draft. The Ontario-bred mare’s first foal is Adare Manor (Uncle Mo), who took out this year’s GI Clement L. Hirsch S. at Del Mar and is pointing for the Nov. 4 Distaff for trainer Bob Baffert. She is cataloged as hip 258 and is pregnant to Tapit, having produced a full-brother to Adare Manor this past March.

Other additions to The November Sale include MSW/MGSP Happy Soul (Runhappy) (hip 253) from Denali Stud; Plum Pretty S. winner One More Kelly (Not This Time) (hip 255) to be sold by Pope McLean, agent; and a weanling colt by leading freshman sire Maximus Mischief (hip 256) that is consigned by Bluewater Sales.

EMPIRE-BREDS SET TO SHINE AT FASIG-TIPTON SARATOGA FALL MIXED SALE
A total of 337 horses—an increase of some 44% over 2022—are set to go under the hammer during Tuesday’s Fasig-Tipton Saratoga Fall Mixed Sale which kicks off at 10 a.m. ET at the Humphrey S. Finney Sales Pavilion in upstate New York.

“We are looking forward to it very much,” said Fasig-Tipton President and CEO Boyd Browning, Jr. “We have a great catalog of weanlings, some very interesting mares as well, and there has been plenty of action on the grounds so far. We all benefit from the great New York-bred program, the best state-bred program around.”

Browning anticipates that the market will toss up few surprises.

"I think it's going to be the same story we've seen for quite a while," he said. "The ones that are viewed as quality and 'desirable,' there will be lots of competition for them and they'll be harder to buy than buyers would expect them to be. The ones that don't have as great commercial appeal or have a little age on them or don't vet will be harder to sell. So expect continued polarization in the marketplace, but I think that we all recognize that is the market and don't really see any reason it will be any different this week or next week at the [Fasig-Tipton Kentucky] yearling sale. We kind of have an idea where the market is."

Weanlings comprise over 72% of the catalog, 244 entries to be exact, giving end-users and resellers alike the opportunity to invest in quality New York-bred bloodstock. Buyers will have a compelling group of sires from which to choose, including the New York-based Central Banker, Fog of War, Galilean, Honest Mischief, Slumber (GB), Solomini and War Dancer. With increasing frequency, New York breeders send their mares away from the Empire state to be bred, and sires domiciled outside New York with weanlings on offer include Army Mule, Beau Liam, Bolt d'Oro, Cairo Prince, Classic Empire, Dialed In, Game Winner, Hard Spun, Independence Hall, Known Agenda, Liam's Map, Maximus Mischief, Medaglia d'Oro, Mitole, Tacitus, New York-bred Tiz the Law, Vekoma and Yaupon.

Held for the first time in 2012, the Saratoga Fall Mixed Sale has grown in popularity over the years, moving in tandem with the increasing strength of the New York-bred program. "From a commercial perspective, the foals became more viable, people wanted to have an outlet in New York to sell their New York-breds and we always try to be responsive to the market," Browning said about the sale as a concept. "We don't create the market, but we try to serve the market and it was evident there was a need and an opportunity to do business here."

"I think when you think of Fasig-Tipton, it's synonymous with one word--Saratoga. We've been selling horses there for over 100 years, it's a huge part of what we do and who we are. Our premier yearling sale is held in New York every year and the New York-bred program is a good complement to our activity. We're fortunate to do a lot of business here."

The first horse through the ring during last year's Saratoga Fall Mixed Sale crossed the six-figure threshold, one of nine $100,000-plus transactions during the single-session auction. A trio of weanlings shared top honors in 2022: fillies by Malibu Moon and Not This Time and a colt by Vekoma each sold for $150,000, which helped bolster the overall statistics. The average of $32,392 represented a 44.3% increase over 2021, while the median price doubled to $20,000.

FORMER OWNER OF TOP CANTERBURY STABLE IMPRISONED 4 1/4 YEARS FOR 'PONZI' FRAUD

by T.D. Thornton

Jason Dodd Bullard, who was accused of perpetrating an eight-year “Ponzi” scheme that bilked friends and investors out of $3.1 million that he spent, in part, on building a 24-horse Thoroughbred stable based at Canterbury Park, got sentenced to 4 1/4 years in federal prison Oct. 12. The order out of United States District Court of Minnesota also includes a mandate that Bullard repay what he stole from his victims.

Bullard’s stable, Empire Racing, LLC, was the co-winningest owner in terms of victories at Canterbury in 2019. The outfit finished third in wins there in 2021 even though the Minnesota State Racing Commission suspended his license that September when the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) charged Bullard with felony wire fraud. A judge subsequently ordered the Empire horses to be placed under receivership.

Bullard, 59, admitted in a pre-sentencing report that he once lived “high on the hog” on the money of as many as 200 victims. But, Bullard wrote, since pleading guilty and entering into a consent judgment that has already paid back $1 million, he now “lives in a small apartment in Louisville, hundreds of miles away from his wife and kids, trying to make a small transportation business work.” He added that he wants to pay back to victims the full court-ordered $3.1 million amount, and “do what he can to right his wrongs.”

Federal prosecutors depicted Bullard differently in their own pre-sentencing report filed with the court: “For several years before 2014, Jason Bullard engaged in what he described as foreign currency investing. There is a lack of clear evidence what he was actually doing, but there is no doubt that the returns he reported to investors were illusory by the time 2014 arrived," the feds stated.

"By all accounts, Bullard's outward lifestyle reflected success; the investors sure thought so," the prosecution's report continued. "But in 2014, Bullard made a fateful choice: instead of coming clean and telling his investors that his program did not work, he took the easy and greedy way out. He continued to tell investors a lie—that his foreign currency program, which no longer existed, was successful. And he continued to accept investments based on this lie.

"Bullard's scheme did not end because he got a conscience or ran out of investors," the feds stated. "It was an investigation by the SEC that brought his reckless and unlicensed scheme to a close. "Bullard spent their money on virtually everything but what he said he would," the feds stated. "He and his family spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to support a comfortable lifestyle, financed a horse racing stable among other things, and in 2015 bought a large, beautiful house across from a lake in Shakopee, the city where Canterbury is located."
For SOLOMINI

$700,000 two-year-old WYNSTOCK. Scored impressively in the 10th at Santa Anita Sunday, 1 mile, maiden special weight
(Click for VIDEO, sponsored by FanDuel TV)

“WYNSTOCK Ran them off their feet”

Coming home 7 ½ lengths ahead of the field of six others that included juveniles by
BOLT D’ORO ($60,000 fee 2024), AMERICAN PHAROAH ($60,000 fee 2023),
MEDAGLIA D’ORO ($100,000 fee 2023), MALIBU MOON ($35,000 fee 2021),
DISTORTED HUMOR (Private in 2021) and QUALITY ROAD ($200,000 fee 2023).

WYNSTOCK added the extra distance Sunday in his third career start. Away at 13-1, the $700,000 OBS April grad was ridden for the front straight from the gate and held the lead despite pressure early from Ario (Bolt d’ Oro). He turned that rival back into the turn and was much the best into the lane, opening up at will to graduate by 7 ½ lengths.

The seventh winner for his freshman sire (by Curlin), WYNSTOCK is out of a half-sister to GSW Untrapped. Timberlea returned to Solomini for 2024.

Ponzi-styled fraud is named after the 1920’s con artist Charles Ponzi, although the concept itself is centuries old. It involves a swindler luring investors with claims of being able to deliver outrageously fantastic returns on opaque or difficult-to-understand business deals, with the fraudster initially paying back investors only by recruiting new speculators and their money into the scheme in a “robbing Peter to pay Paul” fashion.

Similar to a “pyramid scheme,” once the pool of available suckers dries up, the operation crumbles and the deceit becomes evident to investors left with nothing. Yet Ponzi bilking often goes unreported to law enforcement, primarily because investors can be embarrassed about admitting they were suckered into a swindle.

Bullard’s ownership stats on Equibase date to 2014, but Empire Racing didn’t come into being until 2016, when the feds stated that the Ponzi scheme had already been operational for two years.

Empire had a 147-132-106 record and amassed $2,446,965 in earnings from 734 starts. The stable was ranked 56th in North America for victories in 2021, 30th in 2020, and 24th in 2019.

Beyond being a seasonal mainstay at Canterbury, Empire Racing also competed at tracks in the southwest, the mid-Atlantic, and in Florida.

The Facebook page for Empire Racing remains active, but it hasn’t been updated since its last horses raced at Canterbury in 2021.

“Our goal at Empire Racing is to give everyone who wants to invest with us, a unique and memorable experience,” one Facebook recruitment pitch stated.

Bullard must report to prison Dec. 12.

POUND FOR POUND TO BLUE STAR RACING

Multiple stakes winner Pound for Pound (Redding Colliery--Buttercup's Song, by Unbridled’s Song) has joined the stallion roster at Blue Star Racing in Scott, Louisiana. The 8-year-old stallion, who was named Louisiana's champion 2-year-old in 2017, was a three-time stakes winner at Fair Grounds. On the board in 20 of 29 starts—including 10 stakes races—he won nine times and earned $507,958.

“We are thrilled to add a local Louisiana legend and Champions Day classic winner to our stallion roster,” said Dex Comardelle of Blue Star Racing. “With new legislation raising purses across the state, along with breeders’ awards boosted to 25%, now is the time for breeders to invest in Louisiana.”

KENTUCKY HORSE PARK HOSTS MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR FUNNY CIDE

A memorial service for the late dual Classic winner Funny Cide (Distorted Humor) was held at the Kentucky Horse Park Oct. 8, where the 'gutsy gelding' lived out his retirement at the Hall of Champions on the grounds.

During the event, attended by fans of the New York-bred as well as Sackatoga Stable's Jack Knowlton, officials at the Horse Park announced that a statue of Funny Cide would be added to the Memorial Walk of Champions.

“Funny Cide was a true champion,” said Lee Carter, Kentucky Horse Park President. “Adding this statue allows us to continue to share the story about the Gutsy Gelding with future generations.”

Added Knowlton: “We are on to the next chapter. We’re going to work to have a statue that will be fitting for him.”

A celebration of Funny Cide’s life, the Funny Cide Send-Off, was held at Siros Restaurant in Saratoga Springs Aug. 16. The event featured retired racecaller Tom Durkin, trainer Barclay Tagg, assistant trainer Robin Smullen, and Hall of Fame Jockey Jose Santos. The event raised $12,500, which marks the lead contribution towards the statue.

Anyone wishing to donate to the memorial statue through the Kentucky Horse Park Foundation may do so here.

2021 JUVENILE WINNER CORNICHE

Corniche (2019 bay colt, Quality Road—Wasted Tears, by Najran)

Lifetime record: Ch. 2yo colt, MGISW, 4-3-0-0, $1,263,500

Breeders' Cup connections: B-Bart Evans & Stonehaven Steadings (KY); O-Speedway Stables; T-Bob Baffert; J-M Smith.

Current location: Coolmore America/Ashford Stud, Versailles, Ky.

The time Corniche, a $1.5-million OBS topper and 'TDN Rising Star', spent on the track might have been brief, but it was bright. Undefeated in three starts at two and a dual Grade I winner, he was simply better than the rest.

“Corniche was always a dominating colt on the farm and so good looking as a foal,” said Leah O'Meara of Stonehaven Steadings, who co-bred the Juvenile winner. “We always had high hopes for him. He gave us the first round of excitement when he breezed so well and went on to top the OBS April 2-year-old sale. But truly, the most impressive shock we were able to witness was his Breeders' Cup win... the way he broke strongly outside in post 12, was able to clear the field, and take an inside trip truly blew us away. Then of course he held on to take the 2-year-old championship and subsequently the Eclipse Award—we are truly blessed to have had a hand in a horse as great as him!” --Jill Williams

A $92,000 OBS April grad, Monday’s 9-1 shot was allowed to run loose on the lead up the backstretch, running the opening quarter in :21.95. Dancing Spirit began to reel her in from second as the top pair turned for home but Greavette was game to the inside and held off the challenge to get her head down on the wire first. Convertible has not produced a foal since Greavette but visited Tonalist for 2024. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by FanDuel TV.

JASPER NOIR (c, 2, Frosted--Funny Bay, by Medaglia d’Oro), a useful sixth and not beaten far in his Sept. 2 bow at Kokura, was the 43-10 third choice for the connections of the Breeders’ Cup-bound Jasper Krone, also a son of this Darley sire. Driven along to lead after the opening 100 meters, the chestnut covered his opening four furlongs in :45.8 and had plenty left for a final sprint, scoring by an eased-down 3 1/2 lengths. Produced by an unraced half-sister to MGISW Stanford (Malibu Moon) and SW & MGSP Hedge Fund (Super Saver), Jasper Noir fetched $35,000 at the 2021 Keeneland November sale and caught the eye of these connections at this year’s OBS March Sale, hammering for $280,000. The colt’s third dam, Show Me the Roses (Storm Cat), was a close relative to champion and GI Breeders’ Cup Juvenile winner Johannesburg (Hennessy). Sales history: $35,000 Wlg ’21 KEENOV; $280,000 2yo ’23 OBSMAR. Lifetime Record: 2-1-0-0, $36,776.

DANON SWITCH (JPN) (c, 2, American Pharoah--Switch In Time {Ire}, by Galileo {Ire}), fourth in a nine-furlong turf newcomers’ event June 25, showed marked improvement with a switch to the dirt, finishing a good second going this distance Sept. 16. Duly favored at 4-5 to go one better, the bay was reasonably handy to the pace through the opening stages, but did not appear to be traveling over the rain-affected strip and was under the bat three furlongs out. A good eight to 10 lengths out of it turning for home and still with plenty to do at the eighth pole, he hit top gear and drove past the spent pacesetter to take it by 1 1/4 lengths. Out of a daughter of dual Grade I winner Switch (Quiet American), Danon Switch was a $350,000 in utero purchase at Keeneland November in 2020 and fetched ¥150 million ($1,359,264) from this big-spending outfit at the 2021 JRHA Select Sale. Switch In Time is the dam of a yearling Duramente (Jpn) filly and a filly from the first crop of Contrail (Jpn) that sold to DMM Co Ltd for $1.2 million as a foal this past July. Sales history: $350,000 in utero ‘20 KEENOV; ¥150,000,000 Wlg ‘21 JRHAJUL. Lifetime Record: 3-1-1-0, $59,308.

LADY O'REILLY REMEMBERED AS ARQANA RETURNS TO ACTION

Portraits of Lady O'Reilly adorn Arqana’s sales complex | Emma Berry

By Emma Berry

DEAUVILLE, France--First went the Irish, then the French. For some, it was a woeful weekend in the sporting world outside horseracing as the Rugby World Cup quarter finals left only England standing among the European nations to go forward to the next round at the Stade de France.

Plenty of sales folk huddled around the screen at Deauville racecourse on Sunday evening to see the home team’s dreams shattered, but by Monday morning the focus was fully back on the horses and the next week of yearling action ahead.

Before the rugby started, those present at Arqana had gathered in remembrance of Lady Chryss O'Reilly, who died only days after attending the August Sale. Frederique de Chambure, Henri Bozo, Marina Marinopoulos, Nicolas Clement and Aliette Forien all spoke movingly of their longstanding friendship with the owner-breeder and in the bright sunshine of Monday morning, it was hard not to feel that an extra shadow had been cast over Yard B on the sales grounds. The Haras de la Louviere yearlings were there as usual, in their traditional spot, but for the first time their breeder is not present.

Orchestrating the viewings and juggling cards like the dab hand that he is, Mick O'Dwyer paused for a moment to reflect on his long association with Lady O'Reilly’s draft. Cont. p3

CLASSY SON OF MEHMAS OFF TO STUD: LUSAIL TO STAND AT HARAS DE BOUQUETOT

Haras de Bouquetot has a classy son of Mehmas (Ire) to look forward to in the stallion ranks for 2024 after announcing that the G2 Gimcrack S. winner Lusail (Ire) will join the roster.

Trained by Richard Hannon, Lusail also landed the G2 July S. as a juvenile. He was beaten just a head in the St James’s Palace S. as a three-year-old and was also placed in the Prix Jean Prat that same season. He retires to stud aged four and will embark on stallion duties next year as a 5-year-old.

Hannon heaped praise on the speedster upon his retirement on Monday, and said, "Lusail is a speed car, one of the easiest and most relaxed horses I have ever trained. Showing exceptional quality on courses from 1200m to 1600m, Lusail has an excellent temperament, equal to his talent." Cont. p5

WEIGHING IN ON CITY OF TROY

Dominating G1 Dewhurst S. winner City Of Troy (Justify) is rated against several Dewhurst luminaries.

SEXTET ADDED TO TATTERSALLS ONLINE

Six wildcard entries have been added to the upcoming Tattersalls Online October Sale.

HIGHFIELD PRINCESS HEADS TO HONG KONG SPRINT

G1 Prix de ‘Abbaye victress Highfield Princess (Fr) (Night of Thunder) will bypass the Breeders’ Cup and make her next start in the Dec. 10 G1 Hong Kong Sprint.
"I've been doing this now for 17 years," he said. "It's business as usual in a way, but she is very much missed. Everybody loved her."

Sixteen yearlings are being presented by Haras de la Louvière this week, including a filly from the final crop of Le Havre (Ire) whose first three dams were all bred by Lady O'Reilly. As lot 473, she comes through later in the week, on Thursday, and is a daughter of Hailstorm (GB), a treble winner and herself a daughter of Verglas (Ire), winner of the G2 Coventry S. in the familiar black-and-white hoops.

With Ecurie des Monceaux, Lady O'Reilly's Skymarc Farm bred Vespertilio (Fr) (Nigh Of Thunder (Ire)), who won the G2 Debutante S. just a few days before her co-breeder’s passing. That filly’s half-brother by Camelot (GB) will be one of the earliest horses into the ring on Tuesday when presented by Monceaux as lot 14.

We also cannot mention the Monceaux draft without a reminder that lot 59 is a full-brother to Sottsass (Fr). He was bred by the farm from the celebrated mare Starlet’s Sister (Ire) (Galileo (Ire)) and is offered alongside three yearlings in the draft from the first crop of his Arc-winning brother.

Arqana’s October Sale usually plays second fiddle to its flashier August cousin but October is challenging for bragging rights this year as the sale from which Paddington (GB) (Siyouni (Fr)) graduated two years ago, also from Monceaux. August of course played its trump card a little later with Ace Impact (Fr) (Cracksman (GB)). Only on Sunday, Iresine (Fr) (Manduro (Ger)) gave another reminder of why it is worth seeing out the week and trying to unearth a bargain in the later parts of the sale.

To his G1 Prix Ganay victory in the spring he added the G2 Prix du Conseil de Paris, and he is now taking aim at Equinox (Jpn) and Liberty Island (Jpn) in the Japan Cup. At his best yet at the age of six, Iresine was picked up as a yearling at the Arqana October Sale for €6,000 and his earnings, including those vital French owners' premiums, are now in excess of €1,000,000.

As the season rolls on, more and more new stallions are being announced for 2024. France in particular looks set to benefit from a bumper new crop. We already know that Ace Impact is off to Haras de Beaumont, which will doubtless be inundated with visitors once breeders descend on Deauville for the breeding stock sale in early December. Jean-Claude Rouget’s top three-year-old of the previous season, the Prix du Jockey Club and Eclipse winner Vadeni (Fr) (Churchill {Ire}), joins Siyouni (Fr) and Zarak (Fr) at the Aga Khan's Haras de Bonneval.

While doing the yearling rounds on Monday morning, Fabrice Chappet said that he was looking forward to one last outing with his stable star Onesto (Ire) (Frankel {GB}) in the Breeders’ Cup Turf at Santa Anita before he takes up residence at Haras d’Etrenham, while Lusail (Ire) (Mehmas {Ire}) has just been announced as the latest recruit to Al Shaqab's Haras de Bouquetot. In recent months, plenty have made reference to the need for France to plug the gaps left by the likes of Le Havre and Wootton Bassett (GB). In the case of the latter, the Prix de l’Abbaye winner Wooded (Ire) will be among an increasing number of sons of Wootton Bassett attempting to follow in the footsteps of their illustrious father. He has his first runners next year, and 37 members of his first crop are up for grabs in Deauville this week.

Wooded, who is another Haras de Bouquetot stallion, was given an extra boost on the pedigree side this year courtesy of his brother Bucanero Fuerte (GB), winner of the G1 Phoenix S. and G2 Railway S. during a productive season.

"That’s what we are looking for now in France," says Al Shaqab’s Benoit Jeffroy. "Wootton Bassett is gone and Siyouni is getting to an age where he hasn’t got another 10 years in front of him, so we are looking for the new boys. Wooded has a proper chance. He has some good-looking stock. They have the depth and they can move. He had the speed, so let’s hope he can pass it on.”

At the same time as Wooded retired, Al Shaqab also took charge of a stallion prospect with a slightly different profile in Robert Ng's Romanised (Ire) (Holy Roman Emperor {Ire}), who was a star for Ken Condon’s stable over four seasons. His major wins included the Irish 2,000 Guineas, followed the next year by the G1 Prix Jaques Le Marois and G2 Minstrel S., and he returned to win the latter for a second time at five.

"We are very happy to be able to stand a horse like Romanised," said Jeffroy. "We can only thank Mr Ng and Rupert Pritchard-Gordon for entrusting him to us and to France. Actually his stock have sold really well, because he only stands for €7,000, so the return on investment has been good for the breeders so far. It’s hard to find a Guineas winner and a Jacques Le Marois winner, and he has been very well received. "We all know that we have to go through a number of stallions to find horses that will be the next good ones, the improvers, so we keep dreaming now.”
Romanised’s sole August Sale yearling, a half-sister to the Group 2 winner Boscaccio (Fr), was paid rather a compliment when bought by Edouard de Rothschild’s Haras de Meautry for €170,000, and he had another four sold through the V.2 Sale for €87,000, €65,000, €55,000 and €27,000. He looks a stallion to keep an eye on and has another 37 slated to sell this week.

Frankel (GB) was all the rage, as usual, during Book 1 of the Tattersalls October Yearling Sale, where one of his sons became the most expensive yearling sold in Europe this year. There is just one Frankel on offer this week in Deauville and unsurprisingly he is bred in the purple. Catalogued as lot 95 from La Motteraye Consignment, the colt is a half-brother to the dual Grade I winner A Raving Beauty (Ire) (Mastercraftsman {Ire}).

Another with the potential to star towards the end of Tuesday’s session is lot 210, a filly from the first crop of Ghaiyyath (Ire) whose brother New Mandate (Ire), by another Dubawi-line stallion in New Bay (GB) is a group winner in England and Australia, while further generations of the family include dual French Classic victrix Avenir Certain (Fr) (Le Havre {Ire}) and successful young sire Mehmas (Ire).

Business gets underway at 11am on Tuesday, while the following three days all begin at 2pm before a final 11am session again on Saturday.

Lusail: a classy son of Mehmas | Haras de Bouquetot

Haras de Bouquetot manager Benoit Jeffroy commented, "We are delighted to welcome a multiple Group-winning two-year-old, precocious and fast, of the quality of Lusail, and to give French breeders the opportunity to access a son of our rising star Mehmas, who also won the July Stakes at two." Cont. p6
He added, "Lusail is a tough and consistent horse, who has also performed at the highest level at three, and whose mother is a sister of a champion sprinter who won a Group 1 at Royal Ascot."

Lusail's stud fee will be announced soon. He will be available for visits at Haras de Bouquetot during the Arqana breeding stock sales.

THE BEST SINCE FRANKEL? WHAT THE RATINGS SAY ABOUT CITY OF TROY

We can believe what our eyes are telling us. That was the verdict from Timeform on Monday, with the ratings gurus placing City Of Troy a joint second in terms of winning performances posted in the Dewhurst this century. The one horse rated higher than Aidan O'Brien's bright young star? You guessed it, the mighty Frankel, who those closest to City Of Troy drew parallels with after that stunning victory at Newmarket on Saturday.

"He really is our Frankel," said Michael Tabor, one of the part-owners in City Of Troy after the Dewhurst demolition.

"I know the way Aidan speaks. We're all optimists, but this horse is special. No question, he's the real deal."

He added, "That's what we feel at this moment. Maybe down the line we'll have egg on our face, but I like to talk before the event and I really feel this horse could be anything."

High praise indeed. It seems as though Tabor was not alone in his summarisation of the performance with Timeform rating City Of Troy 125p. That puts him alongside Pinatubo, Teofilo and New Approach for what they achieved in their respective Dewhurst victories. Meanwhile, Frankel achieved a rating of 126 for his Dewhurst triumph in 2010.

City Of Troy has raced just three times and remains unbeaten after pulling over three lengths clear of the 107-rated Alyanaabi in the Group 1 contest.

The bookmakers were suitably impressed and slashed City Of Troy into even-money favouritism for next year's 2,000 Guineas. Not only that, but he is now just 5-2 to win the Derby, while some firms are quoting odds of 10-1 for City Of Troy to do what no horse has done since Nijinsky in 1970 by winning the Triple Crown.

To provide further context to what the figures suggests City Of Troy achieved on Saturday, horses like Too Darn Hot, Shamardal [124 apiece], Rock Of Gibraltar, Air Force Blue [123 apiece], Sir Percy and Dawn Approach [122 apiece] were all rated behind him.

The best since Frankel is how many key industry figures labelled City Of Troy after Saturday. The ratings would suggest the same.

SIX WILDCARD LOTS ADDED TO TATTERSALLS ONLINE OCTOBER SALE

Six wildcard entries have been added to the Tattersalls Online October Sale, which will take place Oct. 18-19 via the Tattersalls website, bringing the catalogue to a record of 96 lots.

The latest additions are headlined by three-time winner The City's Phantom (GB) (Free Eagle [Ire]) (lot 100), consigned by Richard Spencer's Sefton Lodge Stables. The 6-year-old gelding was second in a Class 3 at Newmarket last month and will be offered with an official rating of 80. The 15-year-old mare Ira Brevis Furor (Ire) (King's Best) (lot 98) has already produced a black-type performer and sells believed to be in foal to Rajasinghe (Ire) as part of the TS Equine consignment.

HIGHFIELD PRINCESS WILL SKIP BREEDERS’ CUP IN FAVOR OF HONG KONG SPRINT

Trainers House Enterprises Ltd.’s G1 Prix de l’Abbaye de Longchamp Longines winner Highfield Princess (Fr) (Night of Thunder {Ire}) will make her next start in the G1 Hong Kong Sprint at Sha Tin on Dec. 10, trainer John Quinn revealed. The mare’s connections had originally expressed interest in sending the 6-year-old to the Breeders’ Cup at Santa Anita Nov. 4, but have opted to skip a trip to California in favor of a journey to the Far East.

“All being well, we’re going to go to Hong Kong with her,” Quinn said. “It gives the mare a bit longer, which is probably the main thing. It’s six furlongs in Hong Kong and the ground can be rattling hard in America—at Santa Anita it can be like the road. We just thought all in all we’d plump for Hong Kong.

“She’s come out of the Abbaye well, she’s in great nick so we’re happy. We just want to keep her in good form and have her in good nick and we’ll give it a twirl.”

FINAL LEG OF 2023 CORINTHIAN CHALLENGE SET FOR SATURDAY

The final race of this year’s three-race Corinthian Challenge is set to take place at Leopardstown on Saturday, Oct. 21. The Corinthian Challenge Charity Race Series, which has raised in excess of €500,000 since its inception in 2016, provides aid to Injured Irish Jockeys.

Corinthians participate in three races during the course of the challenge, each time at a different racecourse. Kildare’s Damien Moore is currently on top of the leaderboard with 17 points, followed by Michael O’Neill and Martina Dempsey with 10 points each and Katy Brown and Niamh Ashe with five points, closely followed by Aimee Murphy with three points.

“In 2014 IIJ [Injured Irish Jockeys] was set up to increase awareness and raise vital funds to support our injured jockeys,” IIJ Chairman Ruby Walsh said. “The Corinthian Challenge is our biggest annual fundraiser, and we salute all those who participate in it each year. I wish all the contenders the very best of luck in Leopardstown next weekend, I hope they enjoy every minute of it because they are all stars! The Challenge could not exist without the continued support of trainers, owners and stable staff of competing horses and the co-operation of participating racecourses and IHRB officials. We are really grateful to all these people.”

To find out more about each challenger and to support them, visit the Corinthian Challenge website.

The winner is a half-sister to Dubawi’s G2 Al Maktoum Challenge R2 runner-up Al Nefud (GB) and Listed Cocked Hat S. runner-up Aldous Huxley (Ire). The dam, who was third in the G2 Lancashire Oaks, is kin to the G1 Fillies’ Mile heroine White Moonstone (Dynaformer) who is responsible for the listed-placed Bridestones (Ire) (Teofilo {Ire}) and the dam of that sire’s G3 UAE Oaks-placed Last Sunset (Ire).
