

CITY OF TROY'S CHALLENGE KEEPS US ROOTED IN THE PRESENT

Ready to join the greats? City of Troy at Ballydoyle, ridden by Dean Gallagher | Racingphotos.com

by Paul Hayward

The phrase "we'll never see his or her like again" is poignant, heartfelt, and often not true. To say the all-time greatest in sport has already been and gone traps us in the past.

When Frankel won the 2011 2,000 Guineas with radiant ease, I called the sports desk of The Observer from the football match I had been sent to cover, and urged them to clear the decks for their Newmarket report.

"The 2,000 Guineas isn't meant to be won like that," I told my sports editor. A wonder horse had blazed into racing history and we needed to do it justice. The performance (never mind the result) demanded more than the standard 500-word account. A wise man, my old boss avoided journalism's cardinal sin of under-selling a great story.

Painted on the canvas of the following day's Observer was Frankel in his trailblazing pomp. And on that day the first colts' Classic acquired a gold standard for the modern age. Across Frankel's 14 wins (10 at Group 1 level) a taboo was laid down. You could say a horse was good or even great but to compare it to Frankel was heresy. Until, that is, City Of Troy came along.

BREEDER JAMES CLONEY EXCITED BY ROYAL ASCOT PROSPECT CAMILLE PISSARRO

by Brian Sheerin

During a time where rising costs and a shaky underbelly to the yearling and foal market is causing many producers to rejig their approach to the breeding season, James Cloney certainly did his bit to provide smaller breeders either side of the Irish Sea with some much-needed encouragement when Camille Pissarro (Ire) (Wootton Bassett {GB}) entered the Royal Ascot picture by making a winning debut for Aidan O'Brien at Navan last weekend.

Sold by the breeder to Coolmore's MV Magnier and Peter Brant's White Birch Farm for 1.25 million gns at the Tattersalls October Book 1 session, Camille Pissarro fulfilled a dream of Cloney's to one day produce a horse that cleared seven-figures in the ring. Cont., p4

Paul Hayward

With the usual caveat that the future stud values of these good horses is always a consideration, the connection made between City Of Troy and Frankel by his part-owner Michael Tabor after last year's Dewhurst Stakes was the boldest use of the F-word in the decade or so since Sir Henry Cecil's equine masterpiece retired. "He really is our Frankel," is the way Tabor put it.

When you re-watch both races, you see once more why this is the riskiest juxtaposition in town. City Of Troy made all in the Dewhurst Stakes for two-year-olds and surged away in the final furlong. In a Classic, Frankel obliterated the opposition from stride one.

Two lines from that 2011 racecourse commentary are immortal.

"At halfway Frankel is almost 10 lengths clear!"

And...

"At the Buses, Frankel is 15 lengths clear!"

Not normal. In fact - barely comprehensible.

But be quick if you want to have the pub debate. If City Of Troy wins the Guineas, his career path will diverge from Frankel's, rendering a direct comparison obsolete. He has been mentioned as a potential Triple Crown challenger--a quest the team's Camelot narrowly failed to complete in 2012--while a trip to Saratoga for the Travers Stakes has also been mooted by his trainer.

If Frankel's all-time No 1 standing has an exploitable crack, the story of Sea The Stars shows where it is. Two years before Henry Cecil's parting gift to racing, Sea The Stars won the 2,000 Guineas, Derby, Eclipse, International Stakes, Irish Champion Stakes and Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, from 8-12 furlongs, from spring to autumn, from England to Ireland to France. In my book Frankel's majesty is unsurpassable. Equally unmoveable is the fact that he never raced beyond an extended mile and a quarter and ran only in England.

Sea The Stars displayed greater versatility. City Of Troy may do so too. His pedigree and racing style suggest enough speed to win a Guineas and sufficient stamina to thrive at middle-distance. Frankel's offspring have won races across the distance scale. He, too, might have stayed a mile and a half but was never asked to. Cecil's genius in teaching him to settle was fully tested only in his last two outings, at York and Ascot, on Champions Day. Cont.

WE HAVE TO BELIEVE AN EQUAL, OR EVEN MORE ILLUSTRIOUS HORSE, MAY ONE DAY COME ALONG.

Taboos close off the possibility that anything could be better than the best thing you think you've ever seen. They enshrine the past as unsurpassable and trap a sport in nostalgia.

Tennis fans probably thought Borg v McEnroe v Connors would never be beaten. Then along came Federer v Nadal v Djokovic v Murray. Aficionados debated whether Pele or Maradona had set an unmatchable benchmark for football until Messi and Ronaldo came along.

Emotion and subjectivity fuel these debates. People form personal allegiances to horses and humans and rush to the barricades to defend them. Often they are not comparing like with like. Pele and Maradona faced the combine harvester tackling of their eras. The legs of Messi and Ronaldo, on the whole, have had greater protection. And so on.

To even be having this conversation in the week before the Guineas may seem sacrilegious, presumptuous, vulgar. Frankel did it all. City of Troy still has it all to do. No piece of writing can discredit a journalist quite like a preview. But this isn't a tipping piece on how good City Of Troy is. Nor is it clairvoyance on whether Frankel's hallowed status will survive the year (O'Brien's horse would need to win the Triple Crown in some style to threaten it).

The point is that we have to believe an equal or even more illustrious horse may one day come along. Otherwise we're always just venerating the past, rather than living in the present.

But the dream is only beginning with Camille Pissarro, a half-brother to Cloney's flagbearer Golden Horde (Ire) (Lethal Force {Ire}), who was bred from bargain buy Entreat (GB) (Pivotal {GB}).

Subsequent Coventry S. winner River Tiber (Ire) (Wootton Bassett {GB}) won the same maiden that Camille Pissarro picked up on Saturday and Cloney is hoping that his high-profile graduate can follow a similar trajectory.

He said, "It's very exciting. Even early doors, the rumours coming out of Ballydoyle was that he is in the top of the juvenile pecking order." Cont.

James Cloney | Tattersalls

"It's very hard for that to translate onto the track so you are always cautious with your thoughts. But it was a real relief to see him do it and it's hugely exciting going forward. It's quite unbelievable really because a lot of people wouldn't have thought he would be a real two-year-old type at the sales because he's a big, strong horse but the family has just been really good at producing those two-year-olds."

Cloney added, "If he can be a horse for the future it would be amazing because he's an absolutely stunning horse--very similar to his father Wootton Bassett. He's a faultless specimen."

Cloney's Book 1 achievement was one of the main talking points from the sale. A pharmacist by trade, he keeps just 15 mares along with his father-in-law at their CN Farm in County Kilkenny. The pair acquired Entreat, a Cheveley Park Stud-bred mare, at the July Sale in 2016 through BBA Ireland for just 14,000gns. Her son Golden Horde had already put the pedigree in lights with a G1 Commonwealth Cup victory but clearing a million in the ring was described by Cloney as "a dream" at the time.

He recalled, "I think it's still sinking in! It was an unbelievable result. The great thing about horse racing, it allows you to dream about these things the whole time. I was hoping that this horse could be the one to do it. Even taking the mare to Wootton Bassett, it was a pretty big financial gamble for the farm, but when we got a nice colt, we were hoping and dreaming the whole way along. He travelled strong at the sales--anyone who looked at him was keen on him. There was a lot of competition between the Wootton Bassetts at the sale--I think there were 13 others--so, for him to outclass them all, it was something pretty remarkable and thankfully that was reflected in the sales ring."

Wootton Bassett | Coolmore

Cloney has been here before. Not only did Golden Horde fly the flag for the breeder, but fellow Group 1-winning sprinter Dream Of Dreams (Ire) (Dream Ahead) features among his roll of honour, suggesting such results are far from a fluke--regardless of what the modest breeder might try and convince you.

"A good dose of luck has been helpful along the way," he says of his success. "My father-in-law is here every day and respects old farming traditions. We like buying stock with strong damlines. We're not claiming to be any experts but there is a strong focus on damsires here and it is all about the strength in depth of a mare's pedigree, regardless of size or conformation."

Obviously Pivotal ticked a box when snapping up Entreat?

"In a big way. Pivotal would have probably been at the top of our list. It's very exciting going forward now because Entreat is in foal to Justify. That was a big risk--not only by sending her to America but financially as well. Thankfully she is in foal on an early cover so hopefully there is more excitement to come."

Justify | Coolmore

"After the sales result, it was nice to be able to go and do something a little bit special. Even before the sale of Camille Pissarro, it was earmarked that we would send the mare to Justify. The stallion has gone from strength to strength and, the morning she arrived, he went on to have winners at the Breeders' Cup. She went to America late last year and the plan is for her to return home here in the coming weeks. We can't wait to have her back here. There is another dream attached to her now. We'll be holding our breath until she returns back to the yard safe and sound."

It begs the question; for a farm that was built on securing value at the sales, is there a temptation to dabble in the higher-end stock, now that the bank balance might allow you to?

Cloney explains, "We are still bargain hunting. We added three mares to the broodmare band after selling Camille Pissarro. We bought a Pivotal mare from Cheveley Park, which we stretched the budget to buy at 40,000gns, a Siyouni (Fr) and then one sexier mare called Minoria (GB) [for 115,000gns]. She might not have been for everyone, given she is by Harbour Watch (Ire), but she has already produced a Group 3-placed filly [It's Showtime Baby (GB) (Showcasing {GB})] from her first foal. We know how hard it is to produce black-type horses so, when she did it from her first produce, we said we'd try and buy her. It looks a promising family."

He added, "Selling Camille Pissarro did allow us to reinvest. Sometimes I think we have more imagination than what the market wants so it was nice to be able to get those mares over the winter. In general, the principals will stay the same."

When Dream Of Dreams burst onto the scene, Cloney was at a very different juncture of his life. The breeding business was just getting off the ground and there was a small matter of a wedding to pay for. As it transpired, the farm was forced to sell the dam of the Sir Michael Stoute-trained sprinter. While Cloney acknowledges that there is a different kind of pressure hanging over the operation some years later, he admits to being able to enjoy the emergence of his latest start that bit better.

He explained, "We've actually put ourselves under similar pressure. When we produced Dream Of Dreams, we were a little bit tight on grazing ground, so we relocated only a mile away but it meant getting a new farm up and running and putting in new facilities. There was a home found for the Camille Pissarro money very quickly! But we are in a place now where we can breed for a lifetime. It's a top-class area for producing racehorses and that has been proven by a lot of our neighbours here in Kilkenny."

CITY OF TROY STARS AMONG 14 IN 2,000 GUINEAS; FALLEN ANGEL ONE OF 20 IN FILLIES' EQUIVALENT

Karl Burke with Fallen Angel | Adam Houghton

Following Monday's confirmation stage, City Of Troy (Justify) remains the standout name among 14 colts who have stood their ground for Saturday's G1 Qipco 2,000 Guineas at Newmarket.

Unbeaten in three starts as a two-year-old, G1 Dewhurst S. winner City Of Troy is the odds-on favourite to provide trainer Aidan O'Brien with a record-extending 11th success in the first British Classic of the season. O'Brien also has G1 National S. winner Henry Longfellow (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) still engaged, plus G2 Champions Juvenile S. hero Diego Velazquez (Ire) (Frankel {GB}) and G2 Coventry S. winner River Tiber (Ire) (Wootton Bassett {GB}), although there remains a high likelihood that City Of Troy will be the sole runner from Ballydoyle.

G1 Prix Jean-Luc Lagardere winner Rosallion (Ire) (Blue Point {Ire}) and Ghostwriter (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}), who won the G2 Royal Lodge S. over the same course and distance as the 2,000 Guineas last September, spearhead the home challenge, along with a pair of unexposed all-weather graduates in Night Raider (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}) and Notable Speech (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}).

"He's a lovely animal and, whatever he does on Saturday, he's going to keep improving through the year," trainer Karl Burke said of Night Raider. "He's got a lot of scope and I'm sure he's a Group 1 horse in the making.

"I don't think I've seen a horse work better up the Polytrack in Middleham in the 23 years we've been here. He's just got an awfully high cruising speed and he can quicken off it as well. Clifford Lee rode him for the first time in a long time this morning and he said it's like driving a car with 10 gears--every time you time you move on him he goes forward.

"I'm really looking forward to seeing him run and there's no real pressure with him. There's a few horses with bigger reputations than him going into it and hopefully we can burst a few balloons."

Notable Speech is set to be the only runner for trainer Charlie Appleby, who has decided not to confirm his G1 Futurity Trophy winner Ancient Wisdom (Fr) (Dubawi {Ire}) as he seeks a second victory in the 2,000 Guineas after that of Coroebus (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) in 2022. Bucanero Fuerte (GB) (Wootton Bassett {GB}), who won the G1 Phoenix S. as a juvenile, was another notable absentee at the five-day entry stage.

In Sunday's G1 Qipco 1,000 Guineas, G2 Duchess Of Cambridge S. winner Persian Dreamer (Calyx {GB}) and Paddy Twomey's highly regarded One Look (Ire) (Gleneagles {Ire}) failed to appear among 20 fillies still in contention on Monday.

Richard Fahey's Pretty Crystal (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) has been supplemented at a cost of £30,000, setting up a rematch with the filly who chased her home in the G3 Nell Gwyn S. earlier this month, Dance Sequence (GB) (Dubawi {Ire}).

Appleby is also responsible for Meydan Listed winner Cinderella's Dream (GB) (Shamardal), but Dance Sequence looks to be the stable's first string, behind only Group 1-winning juveniles Fallen Angel (GB) (Too Darn Hot {GB}) and Ylang Ylang (GB) (Frankel {GB}) in the ante-post betting.

Fillies' Mile winner Ylang Ylang is sure to have plenty of supporters for the Ballydoyle team which is seeking an eighth win in the 1,000 Guineas, but Burke is unflinching in his belief in Fallen Angel, who ended a productive two-year-old campaign with victory in the Moyglare Stud S. at the Curragh when Ylang Ylang was down the field.

"I think they've got us to beat, I really do," said Burke. "I know Ballydoyle will give you plenty of excuses for Ylang Ylang's defeat in the Moyglare, but she's got nine or 10 lengths to make up on us." Cont.

City Of Troy | Racingfotos.com

"Obviously Charlie's filly [Dance Sequence] got beat the other day and that form doesn't look strong enough to win a Guineas. I'm sure Charlie's horse will improve, but on all known form I think we deserve to be favourite. Fallen Angel is very versatile ground-wise, anything from soft to good to firm would suit--I think the ground will be perfect whatever it is."

SNAPSHOT: FILLIES' MILE, 2014 by Emma Berry

Were you at the Rowley Mile on October 17, 2014? Those autumn meetings are always special, and that particular Group 1 race day saw Belardo (Ire) beat Kodi Bear (Ire) in the Dubai Dewhurst S. some 35 minutes after what now looks to have been a rather special running of the Dubai Fillies' Mile.

If you were there that day you can reflect on the fact that you saw the dams of this weekend's favourites for the Qipco 2,000 Guineas and Qipco 1,000 Guineas finish first and second in the Fillies' Mile. Coolmore's Together Forever (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) was already a half-sister to a Group 1 winner in Lord Shanakill (Speightstown) when she lined up to claim her own top-level win. Four years later her confusingly named full-sister Forever Together (Ire) would triumph in the Oaks. Now, Together Forever is in danger of becoming better known as the mother of the colt whose return is hotly anticipated on Saturday: City Of Troy (Justify).

Her runner-up at Newmarket, by half a length, was the G2 May Hill S. winner Agnes Stewart (Ire) (Lawman {Fr}) in the colours of Steve Parkin's Clipper Logistics. Last September Agnes Stewart's daughter Fallen Angel (Ire) (Too Darn Hot {GB}) became Parkin's first homebred Group 1 winner when landing the Moyglare Stud S.

Together Forever leads home Agnes Stewart, Winters Moon and Marsh Hawk in the 2014 Fillies' Mile | Racingfotos.com

On Saturday, she has an excellent chance of becoming his first Classic winner, though challenging her for 1,000 Guineas favouriteism is the most recent Fillies' Mile winner, Ylang Ylang (GB) (Frankel {GB}).

Adding further credence to that contest of a decade ago is the third-placed Winters Moon (Ire) (New Approach {Ire}). She didn't achieve much on the track thereafter but her celebrity is ensured as the dam of Godolphin's dual Group 1-winning juvenile Earthlight (Ire) (Shamardal), whose first runners are emerging this season.

Then in fourth there was Rockliffe Stud's Marsh Hawk (GB) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}). Her daughter Trillium (GB) (No Nay Never) claimed the G2 Flying Childers S. of 2022, narrowly beating the subsequent G1 Prix de l'Abbaye winner The Platinum Queen (Ire) (Cotai Glory {GB}).

When the British Champions Series was launched, Newmarket's major October meeting was shuffled around a bit and rebranded as Future Champions Day. Clearly it is a label which is applicable not just for that particular generation, but also for those in the decades to follow.

HORSE RACING IRELAND GROWING ENGAGEMENT WITH YOUNGER FANS

Horse Racing Ireland (HRI) have reported increased attendances at Irish horse racing fixtures in the past year, in part due to growing engagement with younger fans.

According to research conducted by the Red C Horse Racing Ireland Tracker, involving over 1,000 interviews between February 8-14, 45% of people aged 18 to 34 attended a race day in 2023, up from 40% the previous year. Other notable results were as follows:

- 46% of 18-34s are interested in attending future horse racing fixtures - an increase of 13%
- 38% of 18-34s plan to attend more horse racing fixtures than last year - an increase of 11%
- 30% of 18-34s declared an interest in horse racing - an increase of 5%
- 47% of sports fans are interested in horse racing

As part of their strategy to engage the 18-34 demographic, HRI became the first sporting body in Ireland to launch WhatsApp as a platform for conversational selling in 2023. To date 3,562 people have registered, with an average open rate of 93%. Cont.

HRI also activated its first live Tik Tok campaign at this year's Cheltenham festival. This involved a live stream from the gallops each morning hosted by Bernard Jackman and Fran Berry, interviewing jockeys, trainers and stable staff, giving followers a behind the scenes look at the biggest week in the National Hunt calendar. This partnership proved extremely popular, with 1.9 million unique viewers and 3.6 million video views across the week.

Launched in March 2022, HRI'S Tik Tok channel now has over 46,000 followers, over 60% of whom are between 18-34.

Aileen Goatley, HRI's head of marketing, said, "We're thrilled to see the continued growth in positive sentiment towards the sport amongst the 18-34 age group; it tells us that our targeted communications are resonating.

"We have seen the impact across multiple festivals over the past year where this younger audience are attending regularly and enjoying the full race day experience. This is vital for us as ultimately the long-term sustainability of the sport is secured by attracting younger fans and ensuring they have a positive engagement with the sport and the race day experience.

"This is a very engaged audience who want to know more about the sport and the work that goes on behind the scenes to deliver a race day, so it gives us a great opportunity to tell the stories of the people in the industry which supports over 30,000 jobs and is worth over €2.46bn to the Irish economy."

AL SHIRA'AA RACING SPONSOR GROUP 3 ON DERBY TRIALS DAY AT LEOPARDSTOWN

Al Shira'aa Racing have been announced as the new sponsors of the race previously known as the Cornelscourt S., won in 2023 by the classy Zarinsk (GB) (Kodiac {GB}).

The G3 Al Shira'aa Racing 'Mutamakina' S., run over a mile for three-year-old fillies, will be held at Leopardstown Racecourse on Sunday, May 12.

The race will be named after Al Shira'aa's high-class racemare Mutamakina (GB) (Nathaniel {Ire}). A Listed winner and Group 2-placed when trained in France by Carlos Laffon-Parias, Mutamakina later moved across the Atlantic to Christophe Clement for whom she won four races, including the GI E. P. Taylor S. at Woodbine.

Mutamakina now resides at Al Shira'aa's Meadow Court Stud in County Kildare, where she has a two-month-old foal at foot by Wootton Bassett \(GB\).

Kieran Lalor, Al Shira'aa Racing's general manager, said, "It is an exciting opportunity to partner up with Leopardstown for this important Group 3 race over eight furlongs for fillies. We have enjoyed great success on course at Leopardstown, highlighted last year with Ocean Jewel and Atlantic Coast both winning Group 3 races.

"Mutamakina was a very important racemare for us and even more so now as a broodmare. We are delighted to recognise her talent and importance to us by adding her name to this race."

Tim Husbands, CEO of Leopardstown Racecourse, added, "We are delighted to welcome Al Shira'aa Racing as the sponsor of the Al Shira'aa Racing 'Mutamakina' Stakes. Al Shira'aa Racing's pursuit of excellence through their racing and stud operation has been exciting to watch since taking over Meadow Court Stud in 2016."

"Al Shira'aa's investment in the stud places it amongst some of the finest in Ireland. Their continued investment into the industry shows their commitment to Irish Racing."

SIS AGREES LONG-TERM EXTENSION OF SPANISH HORSE RACING COVERAGE

Dual Royal Ascot winner Equiano is a notable graduate of racing in Spain | Racingfotos.com

SIS (Sports Information Services) will carry over 500 races annually from Spain as part of its live racing offering, having extended its agreement with Spanish horse racing organisation Asociación de Hipódromos Españoles for a further three years.

Meetings staged at six of Spain's leading racecourses will continue to be broadcast by SIS, specifically at Hipódromo de La Zarzuela, Dos Hermanas, San Sebastian, Sanlúcar, Pineda and Son Pardo Y Manacor. Key contests in the 90-meeting calendar include the Gran Premio de Madrid and San Sebastian Gold Cup.

This is the latest agreement struck by SIS who recently announced the addition of premium fixtures from Korea and Poland.

Conall McSorley, head of racing at SIS, said, "The Spanish market is very important to SIS and horse racing from across the country has been an integral part of our live racing offering as it has grown in quality.

"To renew our agreement for a further three years underlines how much we value the top-class racing throughout the year and is consistent with our mission to bring operators and their customers the widest range of betting opportunities from around the world."

Rafael Marquez Ojea, president of the Asociación de Hipódromos Españoles, said, "Since 2019, SIS has been an invaluable partner in taking our races to new audiences worldwide. Extending our partnership with SIS made strategic sense as we look to further strengthen our presence within the global betting industry and ensure greater visibility for our compelling schedule of races."

Moss Tucker annexed this contest last year and added lustre to his resume with victories in the G3 Phoenix S. and G1 Flying Five before concluding a banner campaign with a close-up 11th in Arc weekend's G1 Prix de l'Abbaye at ParisLongchamp when last out. Featuring prominently in a close-up fifth after an alert exit, he tanked to the front soon after passing the quarter-mile marker and was a class above toiling rivals inside the final furlong to register a fifth black-type triumph with plenty to spare.

"That was a very good performance with 10 stone, he was very relaxed and went through the race lovely," said winning trainer Ken Condon. "Billy [Lee] said that's as good as he's felt on a seasonal return."

Ken Condon was happy with Moss Tucker | Alayna Cullen Birkett

"We had a few little things that held us up earlier in the spring, and a few weeks ago we were thinking this might come too early for him, but he's come to himself the last 10 days or so. [Breeder] Donal [Spring] is not here as I'd said two weeks ago that he was unlikely to run, so he made plans to go to Italy for the weekend."

"He might go for the [G2] Greenlands and he's entered for both [G1] sprints [King's Stand and Platinum Jubilee] at Royal Ascot. He obviously won't go there if it's lightning fast ground, so the weather will decide. Later on there is the Flying Five [again] and maybe the [G1 Sprint on] Champions Day at Ascot."

Moss Tucker is the third of six foals and lone scorer produced by a multiple-winning half to GIII Astra S. victrix Pantsonfire (Ire) (Sir Percy {GB}), stakes-winning Scandinavian champion Bomar (Ire) (Sir Percy {GB}) and the stakes-placed Liar Liar (Ire) (Dream Ahead). Easing forward to gain a share of the lead passing the quarter-mile pole, the 7-1 chance quickened to the front approaching the final furlong and was ridden out to assert by 2 1/2 lengths from Fairy Godmother (Ire) (Night Of Thunder {Ire}).

"I've a lovely bunch of 2-year-olds [this year] and I'd say the fillies are smart," revealed trainer Ger Lyons. "She was raw and did what we thought she would do, so let's see how she comes out of it. There should be huge improvement as we don't take them away on grass and this is their day out. She's all speed, she will get quicker and, at the minute, we would be thinking a [G2] Queen Mary-type filly."

Making continued headway once into the straight, the 3-1 second favourite was ridden to go second entering the final furlong and stayed on powerfully in the closing stages to defeat Fleetingly (Justify) by an ultimately comfortable two lengths.

"She did it well and got a lovely ride from Chris Hayes," said Dermot Weld. "He switched her off nicely and got her into a rhythm and she came home well in the last furlong. She was fit and well and her run in Dundalk kind of set her up for today. She's an adaptable filly as she's run well on the Polytrack and she handled the [yielding] ground there today. David Ellis CNZM bought Imperatriz for A$360,000 at the 2020 Magic Millions Gold Coast Yearling Sale and Te Akau's principal felt it was fitting that the daughter of I Am Invincible (Aus) should be offered as a broodmare prospect at Magic Millions, though she will remain at the picturesque Te Akau Stud in New Zealand while the sale unfolds on the Gold Coast in Queensland.

"Ultimately we decided that she was sold as a yearling at the Magic Millions Gold Coast Yearling Sale--that's where we would go to sell her as a breeding prospect," Ellis explained. "When people see her, she'll sell herself. She's as beautiful looking a mare as you'd ever see and she's already let down into a beautiful broodmare. It is hard to believe just how good Imperatriz looks."

On the decision to sell Imperatriz virtually, Ellis added, "We just thought that if people are interested in her they will be over to see her. It wasn't necessary to bring her over, and for GST reasons. There were no problems with travel, as we all know she's a great traveller, so there was no reason why she shouldn't travel. She's sound as anything but it wasn't necessary and Magic Millions are going to do it all online and her live cast for the sale."

Barry Bowditch, managing director of Magic Millions, added, "It's hugely exciting for Magic Millions. The team here are buzzing about the news; to have been allowed the opportunity by Te Akau Racing, David Ellis and Karyn Fenton-Ellis to sell Imperatriz is massive.

"I believe she's the most highly credentialed mare to go to auction in my time in the industry. She holds the highest rating in the world for a mare right now. With 10 Group 1 wins and sired by our Champion Sire I Am Invincible, Imperatriz ticks every box.

"I expect interest from all corners of the globe and history could be made here on the Gold Coast from a broodmare-selling perspective."

THOROUGHBRED BREEDERS AUSTRALIA ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS FOR STUD START

Applications for the Stud Start program, funded by the Thoroughbred Breeders Australia (TBA) organization, are now being accepted, the group stated via press release on Monday.

Stud Start was launched last year to compliment TBA's flagship training program Fast Track. The former is intended to provide a gateway into the breeding industry for people with little to no previous experience, while the latter is particularly aimed at individuals in rural communities looking for a career change or to re-enter the workforce, and who want to pursue a career in the Thoroughbred breeding industry.

Successful applicants will take a six-week tester program that combines online learning with a week-long learning block in Scone, where students will receive class-based education and hands-on experience with horses. In addition to putting into practice the lessons completed from the previous five weeks, farm visits, guest speakers, and networking opportunities will also be introduced. Students will be provided with accommodation during the week in Scone, and depending on the participant's travel requirements, financial assistance may also be provided.

"Stud Start will provide successful participants the confidence and skills to enter a career within thoroughbred industry. This year we are excited to offer not only face-to-face learning but a hybrid structure of online study and hands-on practice throughout the six weeks, which is a development from the launch of the program in 2023," says Madison Tims, TBA's education and projects manager.

TBA is encouraging any interested parties to apply for the program by Friday, May 17. Successful applicants will start their online portion on Monday, June 17, with the course ending on Monday, July 22.

RED GIANT DIES IN TURKEY FROM OLD AGE

Turkish stallion Red Giant (Giant's Causeway) has died in Turkey from old age, according to Turkish horseman Tarik Tekce.

A course record-setting Grade I-winner in his time on the track in the States, Red Giant initially stood at Three Chimneys and spent a period of time shuttling before moving to New Zealand's Westbury Stud in 2016. He was purchased by the Turkish Jockey Club later that year, where he would remain until his passing. In total, he sired three champions, five Group/Graded winners, and 14 listed winners across both hemispheres with his chief offspring being 2017 Singaporean champion polytrack horse Nova Strike (NZ).

Far from the only accomplished runner in his immediate family, Red Giant was kin to MGSP-US Carnera as well as GSW & GISP-US Wyomia. This is the female family of Italian champion 3-year-old filly Proskona and the extended family of notable names like French multiple Group 1-winner Act One (GB) and 2023 Broodmare of the Year Modern Ideals (GB) (New Approach {Ire}). That mare is best known as the dam of U.S. champion turf horse, multiple Grade/Group 1-winning Modern Games (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}) and his half-sister dual Group/Grade I-winner Majj (Ire) (Exceed And Excel {Aus}).

One of the many trademarks of Kentucky Derby week during mornings on the backside at Churchill Downs is the media frenzy that never fails to ensue as dozens of outlets vie for interviews with Derby and Oaks connections. Some owners shy from the camera, others embrace their moment in the spotlight, and most fall somewhere in between.

One owner who will not be hesitating to get his horse's name out there over the next week is Brook Smith, a part-owner in GI Blue Grass S. winner Sierra Leone (Gun Runner). Cont. Pg. 3

RESOLUTE SECURES MENSA FOR 740K IN RECORD-SETTING FT DIGITAL FLASH SALE

Mensa (Complexity), the first 2-year-old winner for his freshman sire, sold on a final bid of $740,000 April 29 in the one-horse Mensa Flash Sale, a record-setting sum for the Fasig-Tipton Digital platform, the company announced Monday. Offered by Taylor Made Sales Agency, agent for D.J. Stables LLC Graduate, the colt went the way of John Stewart's Resolute Bloodstock.

Mensa is entered in Thursday's Kentucky Juvenile S. at Churchill Downs, where he has been installed as the morning-line second choice.

"We are always looking to add talented runners to our stable and we're thrilled to have such an exciting 2-year-old colt in Mensa," said Stewart. "We have already bought several horses on Fasig-Tipton Digital, and obviously love the platform. Fasig Digital delivers quality offerings to the market on a year-round basis, and all the information is right at your fingertips. We're looking forward to 'Thurby!'"

"Today's digital sale results, for our horse Mensa, is a testament to the combined efforts of Taylor Made Sales, our trainer Mark Casse, and of course Fasig-Tipton," said seller Jon Green of D.J. Stables.

And it's not that Smith will be jumping at the chance for an interview because his colt is expected to be one of the horses to beat, nor is it because the Louisville resident has been dreaming of having a horse in the Kentucky Derby all of his life. That's all true, but the real reasoning for Smith is that any chance to talk about Sierra Leone also gives him the opportunity to shout out the Backside Learning Center (BLC).

The BLC is a non-profit organization that provides support and resources for the community of racetrack workers at Churchill Downs and their families. Sierra Leone is enrolled in the BLC's "Purses for a Purpose" initiative, where a percentage of all of his earnings go straight to the BLC to fund programs that promote health and wellness, education, family empowerment and community engagement throughout the backside.

The Backside Learning Center at Churchill Downs | courtesy BLC

The way Smith sees it, this partnership with the BLC has served to increase the number of Sierra Leone fans going into the first Saturday in May.

"When you're in a situation like this, sharing it is the best thing whether it's with your partners or the people around the shedrow here," said Smith. "It's everybody's moment, everybody's horse. The way it has worked out because [Sierra Leone] is in the program, it's going to put a spotlight on the Backside Learning Center."

Trained by Chad Brown and also owned by Peter Brant, Mrs. John Magnier, Michael Tabor, Derrick Smith and Westerberg, Sierra Leone is the first Purses for a Purpose horse to run in the Kentucky Derby.

"I think other owners will really be inspired by Brook and what he's doing," said Sherry Stanley, the executive director of the BLC. "We're hoping that this is just the beginning. Hopefully we can have one Derby horse every year. That would be incredible. I think for us, this is really exciting in that it sets a precedent with a team that is so high profile and is getting so much exposure around the Derby.”

A longtime supporter of the BLC, Smith recalled how he first learned of the nonprofit by accident, citing that organization's building was close to two other places he frequented on the backside: the betting window and the track kitchen.

Since then, Smith has worked to find creative ways to get the word out on the program. In 2022, he placed a $10,000 Kentucky Derby future wager on Tiz the Bomb and announced that any winnings would go directly to the BLC. While that bet didn't bring home any checks, Smith's idea for the Purses for a Purpose initiative has provided significant funding for the BLC.

“The thing that stuck out to me was their budget,” Smith recalled of his early interactions with the BLC. “I was like, 'So you're running this with all these people, all these barns, all these folks that are working back here,' and it was minuscule. Obviously Churchill Downs supports the Backside Learning Center, but they need funding well beyond that. So I thought, 'Well what about all these people that are winning these purses? Maybe we could come up with a program where owners could contribute a percentage of their horse's purses to support the backside, because the backside is supporting their horses.'”

Brook Smith | courtesy Brook Smith

Launched in 2020, Purses for a Program has celebrated success with dozens of participants from claimers to allowance horses and even a few stakes horses--a handful of which were campaigned by Smith's own Rocket Ship Racing--but there has never been as high-profile of a participant as Sierra Leone.

Smith owns 16% of Sierra Leone and has pledged 10% of the colt's earnings to the BLC, so a chunk of that newly raised $5 million Kentucky Derby purse alone would go a long way for the nonprofit, but Smith has also said he will donate an additional $100,000 to the organization if his colt wins.

“At the end of the day, what's the difference?” said Smith. “I mean, this horse hopefully continues to race quite prolifically and likely has a career as a sire, so why not spread it around?”

This kind of philosophy is typical of Smith, according to Stanley. She said that the outgoing owner has been an irreplaceable advocate for the BLC over the past decade.

“He just has such a magnetic personality and is so incredibly positive and enthusiastic,” she said. “He has such a great heart and a belief in our mission and respect for the workers back here and for all that goes into making the industry happen. He's not the kind of person that just wants to get out a checkbook and write checks. He wants to really serve as an example for others.”

Purses for a Purpose only had just over a dozen enrolled horses at the start of Derby season, but thanks to Smith's fervent PR, the numbers have already started to grow over the past few weeks. Now Smith has an ambitious mission for the 150th running of the Kentucky Derby. He hopes to get 150 horses enrolled in Purses for a Purpose.

“Even if it was just a 1% pledge, that moves the needle,” he said. “They're looking to expand and they need a new building. Hopefully through these types of conversations, more owners will hear about it and think it sounds like a great idea. I'm not trying to tell people what to do with their money, but it seems like a no-brainer to me.”

Sierra Leone | Sarah Andrew

The team at the BLC will be plenty busy during Derby week, but after the weekend's festivities they will shift their focus to planning for their upcoming 20th anniversary celebration. When the organization opened its doors in 2004, there were two employees. Now the count is up to almost 20.

In 2023, 93 adults were actively enrolled in the BLC's English language class and 47 youth participated in after-school programming. 33 individuals received therapy from an on-site social worker and 40 families participated in the BLC's weekly fresh food market.

"We're making a great impact," said Stanley. "We've opened up our programming to families and children, which was an important gap that we needed to fill. We feel like we're doing important things and really transforming lives."

As for Smith, there will be a lack of sleep but an abundance of anticipation in the coming days as he waits to watch Sierra Leone enter the starting gate. When asked that familiar question of how it feels to have his horse running in the Kentucky Derby, he described the experience as surreal.

"I really just want the horse to continue to do as well as he has," he said. "He's in great hands. He certainly has a good mind and spirit. He just loves to be out there, whether it's training or racing. I think it's too early to say he's special, but at the same time, so far, so damn good."

And what would a victory come Saturday mean for Team Sierra Leone?

"It would be a moment in history in a lot of ways, but mainly for the Backside Learning Center," he said. "Hopefully that will be an over-the-top moment where more people will think about supporting the services they provide to the community here."

Green continued: "Having purchased and now sold the highest priced horses in digital sale history, it's obvious that we are true believers of that platform. We would like to thank Resolute Racing and sincerely wish them the best of luck with this worthy colt."

At $740,000, Mensa is the most expensive offering on Fasig-Tipton Digital to date, eclipsing the previous record of $600,000 set earlier this month when broodmare Eileen's Dream sold with her Curlin foal at foot and bred back to Charlatan.

"We would like to thank the Greens and Taylor Made for the opportunity to sell this record setting colt on Fasig-Tipton Digital," said Leif Aaron, Fasig-Tipton Director of Digital Sales. "His webpage had 2,500 individual visitors, which is remarkable for just a single horse."

“WALK ON” IS A HEART-BREAKING BUT INSPIRATIONAL STORY by Bill Finley

The cover of Walk On | Stephen Panus

Up until August 9, 2020, Stephen Panus was leading the type of life that many of us envy. He was the president of the Jockey Club's America's Best Racing brand, lived in an affluent community in Connecticut and, most importantly, had a close-knit family that he adored. There was his wife Kellie and sons Jake and Liam, both of whom were special in their unique ways.

"Jake was an immense, magnetic personality who lived his life uplifting others," Panus writes in his recently released book "Walk On."

It's not that Panus took his family and his life for granted. It's just that he knew nothing else and never thought that it could all be taken away from him with one phone call from a doctor informing him that Jake, then 16, had been killed in an automobile accident. Jake was not the driver but his girlfriend was and she was driving under the influence and drove the car off the road.

"There are losses that indelibly alter your life and upend how you view the universe," he writes. "Losing Jake was just that for me and my family. It was soul-crushing."

He no doubt wrote the book not just to memorialize Jake but in hopes that putting his thoughts down on paper would help ease the pain. The Panus family struggled mightily, but was determined to find a way out. Among their efforts was the creation of the Jake Panus Walk-on Football Endowed Scholarship, thus the name of the book. Father and son were diehard fans of the University of South Carolina football team and the scholarship is awarded each year to a "walk on" on the team, the players who rarely play and are not on scholarship. They also set up a scholarship fund for students living on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in Oglala County, South Dakota. In the summer of 2019, Jake participated in his first church youth group mission, which sent him to the Indian reservation. There he was struck by and moved by the poverty and the hopelessness that seemed pervasive among the younger members of the tribe.

Panus never pretends that, eventually, all might became right with his world or that things would ever again be the same as they were before that awful August day in 2020. But he refused to let the death of his child destroy him. While filled with grief, he also was filled with hope. That hope came from his desire to tackle his grief head on and keep doing so until he could find a way out.

"The exercise of chronicling my grief after losing and embarking on a migration from pain to purpose has been grueling yet necessary. As it turns out, I may have [finally] written myself out of the darkness of my circumstances and mustered the mettle to walk on in my life," he writes toward the end of the book.

In life and from a young age, Jake Panus taught his parents, his brother and anyone he touched how to be kind, humble, honest, grateful, forgiving and hopeful. Following his death, it was if he had left a blueprint for all others to follow on how to have a rich and fulfilling life dedicated to bringing happiness to friends, family, even strangers. A blueprint of how to overcome your fears, how to keep pushing forward and how to live life to its fullest.

"Don't waste another hour or day allowing a life setback, challenge or obstacle to devour you," Panus writes. "The ability and power source to conquer this resides within you."

He knows that he will always grieve for his son and that there will always be a hole in his soul when it comes to Jake. But he never loses his fighting spirit or his quest to come out of this ordeal as undamaged as possible. Be authentic, have integrity and humility, be honest, learn to forgive and, most of all, be resilient.

"There it was in black and white," Panus writes. "I had a choice. It really was that simple. I could move toward the light one small step at a time, or I could allow the darkness to further engulf my spirit and destroy me."

Walk On was not meant to be a self-help book, but, for anyone who suffered through a terrible loss, that's exactly what it is. Panus's sadness is evident from the first page to the last but so is his determination to not let his grief destroy him. For anyone who has suffered a loss or is struggling through, what Panus writes is inspirational. He offers hope.

"Undoubtedly, we each need support in grief, but the trek to accepting or being able to fill the cracks of one's heart with light instead of pain is a solitary one," he writes. "And what I have come to genuinely embrace is that the intensity of my grief over losing Jake unabashedly matched the intensity of my unconditional love for my son." Cont.

DERBY 150 COUNTDOWN: QUIET MORNING AT CHURCHILL MONDAY

T O Password | Renee Torbit/Coady Media

After a busy weekend of works, it was a relatively quiet morning for the 20 contenders for Saturday's GI Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs Monday. Only two Derby horses are expected to have published workouts this week, with Forever Young (Jpn) (Real Steel {Jpn}) and T O Password (Jpn) (Copano Rickey {Jpn}) scheduled to work Tuesday morning. A day before those works, both Japanese runners followed similar routines Monday, warming up in the mile chute for a half-hour before galloping a mile and a half and then returning to the chute to cool down before walking back to the Quarantine Barn.

Trainer Brad Cox's Derby trio, GII Louisiana Derby winner Catching Freedom (Constitution), GIII Stonestreet Lexington S. winner Encino (Nyquist), and GI Toyota Blue Grass S. runner-up Just a Touch (Justify) all returned to the track Monday to jog an easy mile following Saturday works.

"All three horses exited their works in good shape," Cox said. "They'll gallop the rest of the week and be ready for Saturday."

Jockey Florent Geroux, who won the 2021 Derby via disqualification aboard Mandaloun (Into Mischief), will be aboard Just a Touch Saturday and was on hand at Churchill to watch the colt train Monday.

"I'm really excited about his chances," said Geroux. "He's light on experience, but he's a very talented colt. I think he's ready to run a big race."

The Chad Brown-trained duo of Sierra Leone (Gun Runner) and Domestic Product (Practical Joke) also returned to the track Monday following Saturday works. Both jogged the wrong way once around the Churchill Downs oval during the 7:30 a.m. training period.

While Blue Grass winner Sierra Leone has garnered most of the attention, Brown said not to overlook Domestic Product, who will be making his first start in the Derby since winning the Mar. 9 GIII Lambholm South Tampa Bay Derby.

"The horse has really been giving a great appearance here at Churchill, he's really glowing and beaming with energy," Brown said. "I couldn't be more pleased with both of the Derby colts. Knock on wood they just go into the race this way. Domestic Product, he's a hell of a nice horse. He just looks terrific."

Granpollo Stables' Grand Mo the First (Uncle Mo) galloped two miles t 6:30 under Amel Macias for trainer Victor Barboza Jr. An expected longshot in the Derby, the colt is coming off a distant third-place finish behind likely favorite Fierceness (City of Light) in the GI Curlin Florida Derby, but Barbazo sees a different scenario Saturday.

"This time it will be different, a different race," Barboza said. "The pace will be quicker this time. The last time, nobody fought him. He got away with :24 and :49 and nobody fought him. This will be different."

Ribble Farms, Michael Eisterman, Earl Silver, Kenneth and Dave Fishbein's Honor Marie (Honor Code) galloped 1 1/2 miles at 7:30 a.m. Monday under regular rider Maurilio Garcia.

The bay colt, second in the Louisiana Derby, will be the first Derby mount for jockey Ben Curtis.

"I came over to North America in November and I never thought I'd be riding in the Kentucky Derby," said Curtis, a native of Ireland who was riding in Europe. "It's a fantastic opportunity on a horse who I think could show up brilliantly on Derby Day. His stamina is there, his pedigree is there and everything he's shown to this point says he will stay for the 1 1/4-mile. There's question marks on others in the race, but he crosses off a lot of those question marks."

Curtis continued, "He's a very laid back, professional horse. A lot of the good ones are. They know how to keep their cool and use the right energy when it matters when the gates open. The way he goes through a race he likes to warm up into it. He puts himself in the right spots. There's a long stretch here and I think it will suit his running style very well."

Honor Marie won last year's GII Kentucky Jockey Club S. under the Twin Spires.

The eight-day Los Angeles County Fair meet at Los Alamitos, which runs from June 22 through July 7, will include three stakes races. Leading the trio is the $200,000 GII Great Lady M S., which will be run July 6. The 6 1/2-furlong race is for fillies and mares and was won a year ago by Eda (Munnings).

The $100,000 Los Alamitos Derby will be run June 29 and the $100,000 Bertrando S. for 3-year-olds and up bred or sired in California will be run June 22.

Racing will be conducted Saturday through Sunday the first two weeks (June 22-23 and June 29-30) of the Los Angeles meet and then Thursday through Sunday (July 4-7) the final week.

Post time will be 1 p.m.

HRRN AND KEENELAND PARTNER FOR 'WINNING COLORS WEEK'

1988 GI Kentucky Derby winner Winning Colors (Caro {Ire}) will have her accomplishments recognized throughout the week via a partnership between Horse Racing Radio Network and Keeneland Sales, the pair announced Monday. Coverage of 'Winning Colors Week' began April 29 and will continue through May 4 with tributes to Winning Colors held on air and displayed across the network's various social media channels. The Derby winner, purchased by D. Wayne Lukas from Keeneland as a yearling in 1986, was named Champion 3-year-old Filly and inducted into the Hall of Fame in 2000. Horse Racing Radio Network will also take the opportunity to celebrate the late A.P. Indy during GI Belmont S. week June 3-8.

GRAY LIGHTNING (f, 3, Social Inclusion--Fairy Gray, by Cat Thief) opened her career with a 6 3/4-length romp against $40,000 maiden claimers at this track and distance last November. Second in a six-furlong optional claimer Dec. 20, she returned with a front-running 14 1/2-length demolition of a Mar. 18 optional claimer for her breeder's Wynter Racing Stable and trainer Tyler Servis. Purchased for $370,000 at the Fasig-Tipton April Digital Sale three weeks, the gray filly remained in Servis's barn and was making her first start for NR Club as the 1-5 favorite. She zipped right out to the early lead and was unchallenged through a quarter in :22.72. She scampered further clear on the turn, completed the half-mile in :45.99 and sailed under the wire geared down and 12 1/4 lengths in front of You're the One (Bandbox) in second. Fairy Gray produced a filly by Pat on the Back this spring. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by FanDuel TV. Lifetime Record: 4-3-1-0, $101,320.
