

BHA ANNOUNCES DEATH OF JOE SAUMAREZ SMITH

Joe Saumarez Smith | BHA

The British Horseracing Authority (BHA) has announced the death of its former chair, Joe Saumarez Smith, surrounded by his family at home on Tuesday. He was 53 and had last month stepped down from his role at the head of the organisation after his health worsened, having first been diagnosed with cancer in June 2023.

"Our thoughts and prayers--and we are sure those of everyone involved in our sport--are with Joe's family and friends," read a statement from the BHA. "He will be hugely missed by us all.

"His wife Wanda and their children have asked us to pass on their deep thanks for all the messages of support they have received since Joe was first diagnosed with cancer in June 2023 and especially since he stepped down as BHA chair on 30 January when his health worsened. They have asked for their privacy to be respected at this difficult time."

Saumarez Smith joined the BHA in December 2014 as a non-executive director. In March 2022, he was appointed the BHA chair and in December 2022 his term was extended until June 2025.

His fascination with horse racing is said to have begun aged eight, when his maths teacher used betting odds as a means of teaching fractions. He attended his first race meeting aged 12 at Sandown Park, where he opened his first account with bookmakers Heathorns. Cont. p3

FIELD SIZES REMAIN AT THREAT FROM DWINDLING FOAL CROPS

The recently published Weatherbys Fact Book outlines the extent to which the foal crops have declined in Britain and Ireland, with the number born in Britain having contracted by 27 per cent over the last 20 years, while last year Ireland recorded its lowest figure since 2015.

With the caveat that late registrations could still boost the number of foals slightly, as of December 31, 2024, there were 8,887 foals registered in Ireland for that year. The lowest number recorded in the last two decades is 7,546 in 2012 when numbers took a sharp dip for five years around that time following the global financial crisis. The previous high had been 12,633 registered foals in Ireland in 2007.

In Britain, 4,198 foals have been recorded as born in 2024 to date, down seven per cent from 4,510 the previous year and from a high of 5,920 in 2008. Cont. p4

He also enjoyed a long and illustrious career in racing. His involvement in the sport started in 1991 when he was on the Jockey Club Graduate Programme. He also worked in the racing media, writing extensively for the Racing Post, Financial Times, The Times, The Telegraph and Bloomberg.

In the statement released by the BHA on Tuesday, Saumarez Smith is described as "one of the most influential and distinguished figures in British racing" of the last 10 years.

"Alongside his senior roles, he was a global ambassador for the sport in areas vital to the sport's overseas interests, influence and stature," the statement continues. "He played a vital convening role in drawing the racing and betting industries closer together and was a welcome source of authoritative advice and guidance to the Government, principally through his engagement with the Department for Culture, Media and Sport at both political and official levels."

The HorsePWR campaign, part of British racing's increasingly proactive approach to horse welfare, and the creation of a new Horseracing People Board (HIPB), designed to explore and improve of all aspects of our workforce's lives, were among the key initiatives introduced during Saumarez Smith's time as BHA chair.

Prior to that he was also chair of British racing's Gambling Strategy Group, playing a prominent role in matters relating to the industry's approach to gambling and the Horserace Betting Levy.

Paying tribute to his colleague and friend, BHA acting chief executive Brant Dunshea said, "It has been a great privilege to have known and worked with Joe, always providing wise counsel and tremendous support to the BHA team and to me personally, and for that we will be forever grateful. His commitment to advocating Britain's interests on the global stage was unwavering, and for that British racing owes him a huge debt of gratitude. We will miss him terribly."

Interim BHA chair David Jones described Saumarez Smith as "not just a personal friend to many of us but a great friend of racing", before adding, "Joe's enthusiasm for the sport shone through in everything he did. He had such a deep knowledge of all aspects of the industry and I and other Board colleagues will really miss his insight."

The statement also revealed that his colleagues at the BHA and his peers had nominated him for an honour this year in the Birthday and New Year Honours Lists, heralding his drive and commitment to racing in the past two years, despite having been diagnosed with stage four inoperable lung cancer.

In his citation endorsing the nomination, Saumarez Smith's friend and fellow racing fan, the Conservative peer Lord Herbert of South Downs CBE, said, "Joe has given to the BHA and racing far more than his job specification required, devoting immense time and energy to his role despite undergoing lengthy and ongoing treatment for lung cancer which has frequently exacted a severe personal toll and which has made his contribution even more admirable."

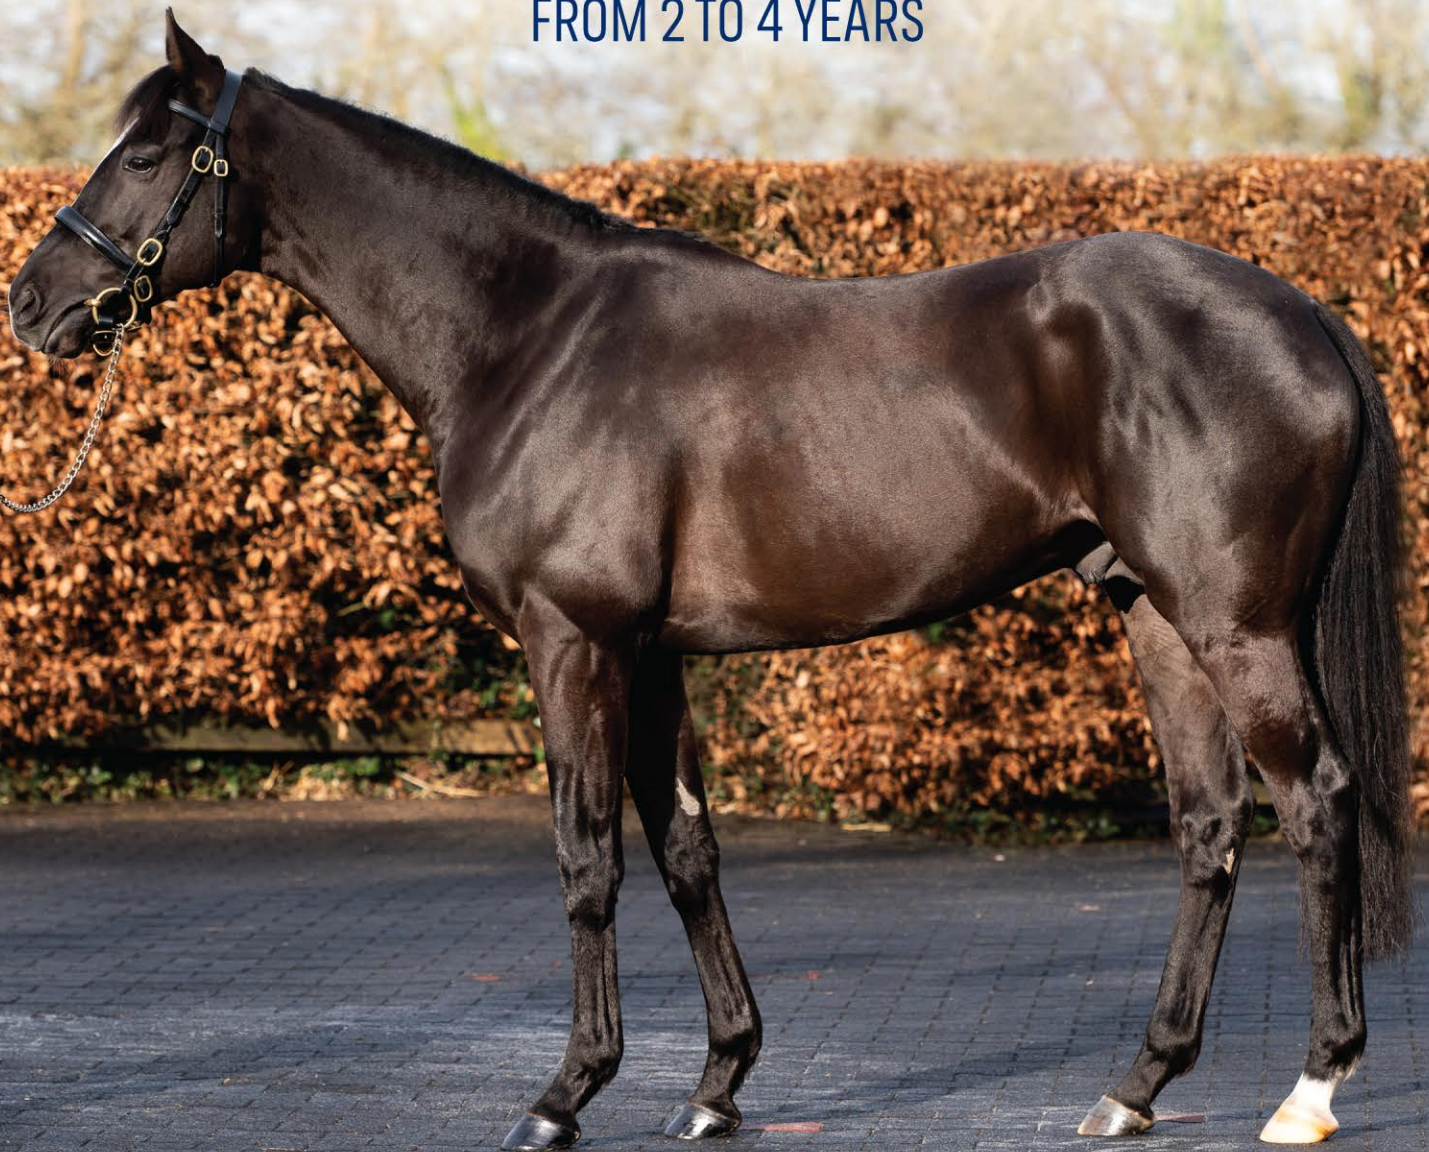

Similar tribute was paid by Sir Francis Brooke, chair of Ascot Authority Ltd, who said, "Joe has been an outstanding international ambassador for British racing, successfully promoting the sport around the world and deepening relationships in all jurisdictions." Cont. p4

Suzanne Eade, CEO of Horse Racing Ireland also paid tribute and said, "Like everyone in the horse racing and breeding industry, I am saddened to learn of the passing of Joe Saumarez Smith.

"It was an honour to have worked with and known Joe through his role as chair of the British Horseracing Authority and his involvement with the International Federation of Horseracing Authorities. Joe's enthusiasm for the sport was there for all to see and he will be remembered as someone who had a great desire to develop racing through international cooperation.

"On a more personal level, I found Joe to be most generous with his time, kind-spirited and the best of company. I want to offer my deepest condolences to his family, friends and colleagues."

Further details regarding memorial arrangements for Saumarez Smith will be announced at a later date.

In his foreword to the Fact Book, Simon Cooper, director of the Weatherbys General Stud Book said, "In 1959, 65 years ago, the combined foal crop for Britain and Ireland was a little over 4,000, and 20 years later in 1979 it had doubled to 8,621. This continued to grow over the following 20 years and by 1999 our total combined foal crop stood at 13,115, before peaking in 2007 and 2008 at over 18,000, a 435 per cent increase in 50 years. That steady recovery since the financial crisis appears to have stalled, at least for now."

He continued, "Of additional concern, there has been a disproportionate reduction in stallions compared to broodmares for the last 15 years: in round numbers stallion numbers have halved in that short period compared to a 25 per cent reduction in broodmares, resulting in us having the highest ratio of stallions to broodmares in the world at 1:60."

Indeed, there has been much comment regarding the fact that only three new Flat stallions – Vandeeck (GB), Bradsell (GB) and Issac Shelby (GB) – retired to stud in Britain for the 2025 season along with the potential dual-purpose sire Eldar Eldarov (GB).

The number of retirees was larger in Ireland but overall stallion numbers are dwindling. To date, there are 189 stallions registered in Ireland, down from 221 in 2023 and 239 in 2022. In Britain there are 107, which represents a drop from 125 in 2023, 136 in 2022 and 147 in 2021. The team at Weatherbys expects the 2024 figures to rise slightly as new stallions are officially registered.

There are 7,580 active broodmares recorded in Britain, again down from 8,191 in 2021, while 14,418 were recorded in Ireland. The 15,193 registered mares in Ireland for 2023 had risen from 14,852 the previous year and 14,505 in 2021.

France remains the biggest importer of both Irish-bred and British-bred horses, accounting for 1,074 combined in 2024. Whether or not President Trump's tariffs will affect the number being imported to America from these isles in years to come remains to be seen, but last year there were 304 Irish-breds and 117 British-bred horses permanently exported to the USA, making America the second-largest buyer of British and Irish bloodstock.

Saudi Arabia imported 230 horses combined, while Italy accounted for 90 British-breds and 229 Irish-bred horses. Another 182 were exported to Australia from Britain and Ireland last year. Cont. p5

When it comes solely to broodmares, India was the top importer of British mares (61) in 2024 while 53 left for France, 46 for Australia and 37 for Japan. In regard to Irish broodmares, 117 were exported from Ireland to France, 75 to America and 22 to Italy.

Cooper referred to the impact the smaller breeding pools could have on field sizes at the races. He said, "The optimum field size for maximising turnover is 11 or 12 runners. Declining foal crops on both sides of the Irish Sea and, recognising that 60 per cent of the Irish foal crop is exported to Britain to race, potential average fields sixes of six to eight will have an enormous impact on the health and sustainability of our combined racing industries."

MICHAEL O'SULLIVAN RECEIVING 'BEST OF CARE' AFTER THURLES FALL

Michael O'Sullivan | PA Media

Jockey Michael O'Sullivan remains in intensive care following a fall at Thurles last week.

Dr Jennifer Pugh, chief medical officer of the Irish Horseracing Regulatory Board (IHRB), issued an update on X on Tuesday which read, "Michael continues to receive the best of care in the intensive care unit at Cork University Hospital.

"Michael's family remain overwhelmed by the support and well wishes they have received over the last number of days."

O'Sullivan's mount, the Gerard O'Leary-trained Wee Charlie

(Ire), was one of three fallers at the final fence of the two-mile Racing Again February 20th Handicap Chase at Thurles on Thursday, February 6, with two other runners badly hampered and unseating their riders.

The rest of the meeting was abandoned after the second race as the air ambulance arrived to take O'Sullivan to hospital.

The rider shot to prominence in 2023 when he celebrated two winners at the Cheltenham Festival, notably landing the G1 Supreme Novices' Hurdle aboard Marine Nationale (Ire).

FRANCE GALOP ANNOUNCE FURTHER CHANGES TO THE ENTRY PROCESS IN BLACK-TYPE RACES

France Galop has approved changes to the entry process in Group 2, Group 3 and Listed races, following a meeting of its Board on Tuesday, December 17.

The new measures will mirror those for Group 1 races which were implemented in 2024 and have guaranteed sustainable funding of the Owners' Pool (Poule Proprietaire). The Owners' Pool contributes to the financing of black-type contests on the Flat, including 32% of the prize-money offered in Group 1 races last year. It stems from the entry and supplementary entry fees paid by owners for their horses to participate in black-type races.

To ensure consistency in the process, the entry fee for Group 2, Group 3 and Listed races now stands at 0.65% of the total prize-money, falling in line with that for Group 1 races. The impact is a drop in the entry fee of 29.5% for Group 2 races and 37.5% for Group 3 races. The early closing stage for these events has also been moved forward for 2025, from four and a half weeks prior to the race to five and a half weeks.

Second entries, those which fall between the early closing stage and the supplementary deadline, are also part of the revisions to the entry process. They will now close at the latest on the Tuesday of the week preceding the race and the fee has been standardised at 2% of the total prize-money.

The three Group 2 races run over the Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe weekend are the only exceptions to the rule. Whilst their second entry fee remains at 2% of the total prize-money, their second entry closing is positioned on a Tuesday in mid-September.

In addition, the supplementary entry fee in Group 2, Group 3 and Listed races now stands at 7.2% of the total prize-money, with the aim of standardising entry fees in all Pattern races. This percentage is already applied to Group 1 races, except for the Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, the Qatar Prix du Jockey Club and the Prix de Diane Longines.

WORLDWIDE NEWS

ROMANTIC WARRIOR UNLIKELY TO TACKLE DIRT AGAIN AFTER SAUDI CUP OUTING

Trainer Danny Shum has all but ruled out a tilt at the G1 Dubai World Cup with his Hong Kong Horse of the Year Romantic Warrior (Ire) (Acclamation {GB}), with the G1 Dubai Turf set to be the next port of call after his appearance in the $20-million G1 Saudi Cup at King Abdulaziz Racecourse on Saturday, February 22.

The three-time G1 Hong Kong Cup winner arrived in Saudi Arabia on Monday ahead of what will be his debut on dirt in the Saudi Cup, after gaining the tenth Group 1 victory of his glittering career when having his first start in the Middle East in last month's Jebel Hatta at Meydan.

Shum and owner Peter Lau resisted the temptation to test Romantic Warrior on dirt in the G1 Al Maktoum Challenge, which took place on the same card as the Jebel Hatta, and will instead roll the dice in Riyadh when the seven-year-old contests the world's richest race.

"Wherever we finish in the Saudi Cup it is 99 per cent certain he will run next in the Dubai Turf," Shum said of future plans for the world's highest-earning racehorse of all time.

"The Dubai Racing Club have already accepted my entry for the Dubai Turf but not the Dubai World Cup yet, as we want to see how Romantic Warrior finishes the race here, but he will almost certainly go for the turf race."

Explaining the decision to target the Saudi Cup, Shum continued, "It wasn't an easy decision for the owner as we missed the Gold Cup and Stewards' Cup in Hong Kong. If we stayed there we could win on the turf easily, but Peter really wanted to try the challenge of the world's richest race and come to the Saudi Cup. We are really looking forward to it.

"James [McDonald, jockey], Peter and I discussed about running first on dirt in the Al Maktoum Challenge and thought that might be better. But Peter and I had a lunch meeting and he made a very good point. He said we should run on the turf in Dubai as he could have a [bad] experience on the dirt there, and that the Dubai and Saudi dirt is different. He could win or run really well in Dubai, but that doesn't mean he can run well in Saudi.

"So, we went to the Jebel Hatta knowing we can win easily--and we will keep the dirt a secret. Maybe he will be very good on it, or maybe he can't handle it, but we won't be disappointed if he loses so long as he is happy and sound."

Shum also confirmed that Romantic Warrior's travelling days are likely to be behind him after a potential start on Dubai World Cup night. In addition to his top-level victories in Hong Kong and Dubai, he is already a previous winner of the Yasuda Kinen in Japan and Cox Plate in Australia. Cont. p7

The trainer added, "I talked to the owner before I left and he probably won't run overseas anymore and we will keep him in Hong Kong for three or four races every season. We'll keep him healthy and happy and hopefully he can do good."
